Dear Miss Russell:

I have been out of town for some time on a piece of work that kept me too occupied for letters. Hence, the delay in answering yours of September 21st.

Indeed, I shall let you know promptly if I hear of anything that seems possible. I have never forgotten my promise to do just that. But you know how barren openings have been in the past month. I am hoping that after election there will be a steady, slow revival and I shall keep my eyes and ears open for you.

It is good of you to speak kindly of the Young book. Between you and me it is not a very good book, nowhere as good as it ought to have been or would have been if I could have taken more time and done it under different circumstances. However, it is not the last book that will be written on Mr. Young as I am thinking.

With all good wishes

Sincerely yours
