My dear Mr. Hammonds:

In my forthcoming sketch of Mr. Owen D. Young I have quoted two or three times from your unpublished history of the General Electric, giving you credit. The quotations have aroused the interest of my publisher - Macmillan Company - and I have a letter from one of their editors asking about the manuscript, and if you would consider letting them see it. If you are agreeable to this suggestion shall I send over the manuscript I have here or have you something else you would prefer them to see.

I shall be glad to do anything in the matter which will further your interest.

Very sincerely yours

Mr. J. W. Hammond
