

120 BROADWAY NEW YORK
ROOM 2555

April 15, 1935.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

It is extremely nice to hear from you again. I hope you will take ample time in the country so that when you come back you will feel fully restored. When you do feel like coming down it would give me great pleasure if you would take luncheon with me, and then we can turn over to you after lunch the Insull testimony and any other material which might be interesting.

Josephine and the baby are both well and happy. You will be interested to know that the former (the baby's writing is still somewhat childish) has just had a story accepted by the Atlantic Monthly. We do not yet know when it is to appear.

When the weather is warm what we should really like is to have you pay us a little visit in the country. Would you consider it?

Faithfully yours,

Samuel Case
