

February 10, 1932

Dear Mr. Titterton:

Your understanding about the illustration ^{for} of the life of Owen D. Young is mine. I am still waiting for those that Miss Chandler has promised me but you can depend upon it that I will have a selection, possibly with alternates, in your hands next Monday. Also, ~~the~~ manuscript, though I warn you that ~~improvement~~ ^{to} make not a few changes in the galleys.

What will be your procedure? Do you and your associates go over the manuscript and make suggestions before it is put into type? I should like that.

I promise to be on hand D D - V - Monday afternoon, so if you think it will make Mr. Latham's return happier to have the Young there you can count on it.

Very sincerely yours

Mr. L. H. Titterton
The Macmillan Company
60 Fifth Avenue
New York City

Digitized Image, 2011. The Ida M. Tarbell Collection, 1890-1944, Allegheny College Pelletier Library.