

February 29, 1932

Dear Mr. Titterton:

Here is the Young manuscript - final - as far as it goes, for I want to add a few pages at the end, possibly a short chapter, but that I will get to you at the end of the week. The Preface too is bothering me but it will be short, within two pages.

I have marked as an Appendix what is called, The Young Fundamental Library. In a recent article in The American Magazine there was a footnote just mentioning it and offering to send the list to anyone who would ask for it. They already have sent out over five thousand copies and tell me that the requests are coming in still. I rather think you could sell books on the strength of that list with a very interesting introduction which precedes it, if you can't sell them on the strength of what I have written.

I am sending over two more pictures - Mr. Rice and one that I did not include in the original list, that of Mrs. Young. I want very much that this be made a full page, also that a full page should be given to Mother Young. The only picture now lacking I think, is that of Mr. Coffin and that will be here in a day or two.

Very sincerely yours

Mr. L. H. Titterton
Macmillan & Company
60 Fifth Avenue
New York City

Digital Image, 2011. The Ida M. Tarbell Collection, 1890-1944, Allegheny College Pelletier Library.