A handwritten note on a page with various entries. The text is partially legible and contains a mix of dates and personal comments. Some text is illegible due to handwriting style and condition of the page. The content seems to be a collection of notes or thoughts, possibly related to academic or personal matters. The page includes references to dates such as 1924 and 1930, and mentions of a person named "Perry" and "Wheeler." The handwriting is in cursive and varies in legibility.
