Letter: Gertrude Chandler to Ida M. Tarbell, March 11, 1932

Chandler, Gertrude

http://hdl.handle.net/10456/39271

The copyright owner of this item is unknown. It is the responsibility of the researcher to identify and satisfy the holders of all copyrights.

All materials in the Allegheny College DSpace Repository are subject to college policies and Title 17 of the U.S. Code.
My dear Miss Tarbell:

Apparently, the March 19, 1922, newspaper article is the earliest date that I can fix in connection with Mr. Bush and his idea of a Committee of Business Men. I suspect that anything prior to that time was most informal. As you know from the correspondence in the months following, especially in the fall of 1922, he became very active and very serious about the matter.

I am attaching a letter which Mr. Gwynne, Executive Vice-President of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, wrote Mr. Bush at the time that I received the file of letters. I may have told you that during the time that Mr. Bush wrote his letters in 1922, he was President of the Chamber of Commerce.

Although it may be beside the point, the following covers the high points of Mr. Bush's conversation with me today. He wrote President Harding, who referred the matter to Secretary Hughes. Secretary Hughes suggested that the Morgans be consulted, and Mr. Lamont and Mr. Bush went to Washington to see him, Secretary Hughes. Upon their return to New York Mr. Lamont got in touch with Mr. Morgan who was in Europe.

Most sincerely yours,

[Signature]

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East 19th Street,
New York City.

Enc.