Jane Addams - My dear doublet Allyn settlement is a "method" - in discussing an organization of settlements - at Hull House in London - W. W. (Robert of Boston leading -

The patent of supremacy of their misjudged and she speaking of the people who come to her at home where she believes to speak of her work now in Chicago course & their utter in-compassion) At this meeting she speaks of the misuse of mid settlement law she was told in Atlanta of a settlement which turned out to be a day-nursery & a gym of one who was a log's club.

Mr. Harcourt's son home from Kimberly mines where he has been a manager talks of the necessity of keeping "boys" - Kaffie's nature in compounds - explains conditions & restrictions & reasons for it all - It is plainly wrong in Miss A's eyes. The sweet service of her work & vice as she questions & the pitiful misdeeds on the back of the human & in the management of it. There is infinitely working - she objects at every point with argument & half apology for her refusal.
She would do much rather sympathize.
