

June 15, 1932.

Dear Mr. Goodell;

How grateful I am to you for your letter of June 8th forwarded to me in the country.

I am so glad that you think my article reflects the spirit of the work at Naumkeag and that I have touched the points fairly well, that is the essential points.

I am grateful to you for the suggestions, of course, most grateful. I did miss the point about the stretch-out. I thought it involved new machinery. I can easily correct the statement.

Now as to the name of the Company. In the talks before the Taylor Society and in all the correspondence I have had, Naumkeag has been used - never Pequoit, but I do understand the point and I think that it can be easily taken care of.

Since I saw you I have had interesting letters from both Mr. O'Connell and Mr. Smith - interesting and cordial and both of them say that they will be glad to see me if I will go to Salem, which one of these days I count on doing.

I am working on the documents you left with me the other day and will return them soon. I cannot begin to tell you how grateful I am to you for your help in these matters.

With all good wishes, believe me,

Very sincerely yours,

Mr. Frances Goodell,
