Dear Madam:

Your Article in the August issue of the Pictorial Review, "A Home of Your Own," interests me very much. My wife and I have been investigating the loans secured through the Federal Housing Administration for building a home. But since reading your article we are very interested in the home you describe made of sheets of steel. I believe you said this is made by the American Rolling Mill. Can you give us more information about this?

A stamped envelope is enclosed for your convenience; and we would thank you for information as to where to investigate about the cost of this material or how to go about securing the information we need. Does this company finance the building of one of these houses--or could the material be secured for a FHA loan? I think we would build a home that would cost between $2500 and $3000.

Thank you for any information you can give us.

Yours truly,
W. A. Smith, Jr.
