

ALLEGHENY COLLEGE

Faculty Scholarship Collection

The faculty at Allegheny College has made this scholarly article openly available through the Faculty Scholarship Collection (FSC).

Article Title	Why eat extrafloral nectar? Understanding food selection by Coleomegilla maculata (Coleoptera: Coccinellidae)
Author(s)	Choate, Beth and Lundgren, Jonathan G.
Journal Title	BioControl
Citation	Choate, B. and Lundgren, J.G. (2012). Why eat extrafloral nectar? Understanding food selection by Coleomegilla maculata (Coleoptera: Coccinellidae). BioControl , 25: 359-367
Link to article on publisher's website	https://doi.org/10.1007/s10526-012-9501-z
Version of article in FSC	Published version
Link to this article through FSC	https://dspace.allegheny.edu/handle/10456/46348
Date article added to FSC	June 7, 2018
Terms of Use	This article was accepted and published in BioControl (2013), Choate and Lundgren. All rights reserved. The published version of this document is located at https://doi.org/10.1007/s10526-012-9501-z .