

November 19, 1937

Dear Bart:

You know Viola Roseboro of course. She is eighty years old on December third. Do write her a little note. You know she is a shut in with all sorts of difficulties and bearing them all so gallantly. She would so love to hear from you particularly on Bert's account. The address is 173 Rockland Avenue, New Dorp, Staten Island.

I am off to the Farm with my clock tomorrow. Then will come the great question of where it shall go. Just now I am thinking of putting it over the mantle in the little front room. What do you say? At any rate the location will be carefully considered and you may be sure I shall enjoy it wherever it is and think of you and Wetherford with affection every time I look at it.

Devotedly yours

Mr. Maitland Bartlett
121 Madison Avenue
New York City