

ALLEGHENY FOOTBALL TEAM TO MEET GROVE CITY SATURDAY

Blue and Gold Is Under-dog In Battle With Rival; Conceded Fighting Chance

It will be a desperate, determined Blue and Gold team which will rally forth next Saturday to meet its traditional rival, Grove City, on the latter's soil.

A victory for the Alligator will be particularly desirable for several reasons. In the first place, Allegheny's gridders have yet to taste the sweets of victory, and are anxious to reward their faithful followers who have patiently looked forward from game to game with hopes of victory. Then, of course, the Grove City game is always the most important event of the year on the football program. Ever since the Dartmouth game Coach Crum has been preparing for the game with the Grovers, carefully nursing along his injured stars and using them as little as possible. If Allegheny should win but one game on their schedule, and that was with Grove City, the season would be a success. The Blue and Gold aggregation could then claim rank with the best class B teams in the district. Five long years have elapsed since the Alligator last tasted the Crimson blood. Last year Allegheny appeared to have a good chance to win, holding a lead of 7-0 at the end of the first half. However, Grove City took advantage of some poor punting to score two touchdowns, one on forward pass and the other on a long end run by the fleet-footed Day.

Grove City this year has a great team—perhaps one of the greatest in its history—as is attested by the fact that Geneva fell by a score of 34-0, and Westminster by a count of 19-6. On the other hand Allegheny could do no better than tie Geneva, 13-13, and lose to Westminster, 7-6. However, drooping Allegheny hopes have been suddenly raised by the news of Waynesburg's victory over the Crimson by a tally of 12-7. The Grovers, under the expert coaching of Charles Berry, have developed a powerful scoring machine. Waleski, former Allegheny player, is their outstanding star. He is at present the leading scorer in the Tri-state district. Allegheny's hopes of victory depend largely upon the effectiveness with which they can stop the little Crimson flash.

It is a little too early to predict who will start for Allegheny. Needless to say, Allegheny will have her strongest lineup in action, Storrie and Martin will probably be at the ends, Pichitino and Showers at the tackles, Knapp and Gibson at the guards, and Morse at center. In the backfield Berger, Gamble, Varano, Smith, Balser, and Slaughter will all most likely see service. Bob Garbark, smashing fullback, may see no more action this year. In the first play of the Thiel game he suffered another injury to his game leg. His services will be greatly missed when the team has only a few yards to go for a first down. His place next Saturday will be taken by Varano or Balser. The fans will probably see an interesting duel between Gamble, of the Blue and Gold, and Waleski, of Grove City. Both are fast men who are liable to break away at any time for a long run or a touchdown.

Chapel Exercises on Monday Conducted By Prof. H. T. Lavelly

Professor Horace T. Lavelly led the devotional services which constituted the chapel exercises on Monday, November 4. His talk had for its keynote "God is the heart of religion," and was constructed upon part of the seventeenth chapter of St. John as the text.

From his observations in the Philosophy Department, Professor Lavelly has come to believe that many students fail to realize that religion is not an outgrowth of superstition, but that it is an experience very necessary in one's life. He went on to say that "religion cannot justifiably be identified with a particular individual expression of it."

The speaker admitted the possible truth of the statement, so often made that colleges fail to build up the spiritual and moral life of their students. However, points out Professor Lavelly, the colleges are only partially to blame in view of the fact that the Church and the Sunday School do not send to the colleges students so trained in religion that a knowledge of the sciences is unable to tear down that religious training. Nevertheless, the professor believes that Allegheny College, with its Christian atmosphere and ideals, is making possible a realization of the right type of religious experience.

of the best teams in its history. The Blue and Gold was favored to beat the Crimson by a wide margin. The Grovers sprung a big surprise by defeating their opponents, 27-0. This year Allegheny is decidedly the underdog, but is not without the hope of turning the tables on their opponents and duplicating the proceedings of five years ago.

Coach Hammett is among those who have seen the Crimson play this year and he concedes the Blue and Gold little chance of winning on Saturday unless they display an unusual amount of fight. Grove City has a fighting outfit and Coach Crum's men will have to exceed their opponents in this respect if they are to have a look-in on Saturday. The Grovers are in none too good a frame of mind for the contest. They are still smarting from the sting of a 12-7 setback administered to them by Waynesburg last Saturday. Any over-confidence that Coach Berry's men may have had has been completely removed by the Waynesburg reversal.

Encouraging from an Allegheny point of view is the advance that the team has been making of late. In all of the recent encounters the Blue and Gold have been displaying consistent improvement, and it may be that Saturday will be the day that the losing spell is broken. Allegheny is sure to have a strong forward passing attack on Saturday, with Berger doing the passing. Walter's exhibition of passing last Saturday was one of the finest witnessed for some time. Those passes which were not completed were no fault of the passer.

STAND ON FOUNDATION'S REPORT MEETS APPROVAL

LETTER COMMENDING POSITION OF ALLEGHENY COLLEGE IS RECEIVED

Allegheny College has taken a definite stand in regard to the report of the Carnegie Foundation on the subsidizing of college athletics. The position of the College was stated in last week's issue of The Campus. The following is a letter concerning that statement. We invite other expressions of opinion.

Pittsburgh, Pa.
November 2, 1929.

Editor, The Campus
Meadville, Pa.

Dear Sir,
Congratulations on the editorial in the current issue of The Campus on Allegheny's position in regard to the Carnegie Foundation Report on Athletics. Your statement is the finest I've yet seen on the subject. Particularly good is your placing of responsibility upon the College (including Trustees) through representation on the Athletic Board; and your sweeping aside of hypocritical denials. It was a brave utterance. If hypocrisy could be done away with, and if college faculties would honestly enforce eligibility rules (as I believe Allegheny does), I believe the problem of professionalism and the evils of college athletics would very largely disappear. While I do not think the college itself (I mean the Trustees) should "subsidize" athletes, I see no reason why individuals or groups should not aid any bona fide student they may choose to help, always provided there is no hypocritical pretense that no aid is being given.

Sincerely yours,
FRED L. HOMER.

STUDENT PASTORS ARE GIVEN NEW CHARGES

It was announced last week by District Superintendent Doctor Murray, of the Meadville District of the Methodist Church, that Charles Lunn, pastor of the Deer Creek Methodist Church, will be transferred to the Fifth Ward Chapel in Meadville. The church has been remodeled lately and the dedication service will take place next Sunday, November 10. To fill the charge held by Mr. Lunn at the Deer Creek church, District Superintendent Doctor Murray also announced that Raymond Draffin would henceforth be the pastor there.

Both young men are members of the present Junior Class of Allegheny and have been extremely interested in Christian work throughout their college careers. The present position is the first full-time charge held by Mr. Draffin. Mr. Lunn had charge of the Deer Creek church last year and was well liked by his many friends in that district. He preached his farewell sermon last Sunday. Both young men will enter upon their new work next Sunday.

PLAY PRODUCTION CLASS ENJOYS CLEVELAND TRIP

STUDENTS ARE ENTERTAINED BY ALUMNI DURING THEIR STAY IN CITY

The Play Production Club of Allegheny enjoyed a very profitable weekend as the guests of the Cleveland Alumni Association. Under the leadership of Miss Alice Spalding, and Professors Benjamin and Boettcher as lieutenants, the club was conducted on its trip to Cleveland, where it saw two plays and was lavishly entertained by the alumni of Cleveland. The following is the students' description of the trip:

We left Meadville Saturday morning at eight o'clock, a half an hour late. Proceeding down to "the diamond" we picked up Miss Spalding, who, alas, had been standing in the damp for more than a half hour. However, everything was soon back to normal, and all had settled down to a peaceful trip when four puffing monsters of the Erie railroad delayed us for another half hour. The cooling down from this insult took a good while, but at Conneaut Lake the singing began, and we certainly had a jolly time. Despite three detours, we arrived at Cleveland in time to eat lunch.

After a most refreshing repast we walked to the playhouse and made a short but thorough inspection of the exterior and lobby.

The Cleveland Playhouse is divided into two theatres, the Francis E. Drury Theatre, and the Charles S. Brooks Theatre. Thus from one work-shop two stages are fed and two plays are run at the same time.

On entering the Charles S. Brooks Theatre, we were surprised to see bare brick walls, unornamented, except in the back by a single highly colored drape about a yard and a half wide and the length of the wall. The ceiling was made of plain pine boards, stained once, and old pews were used for seats. We learned that the bricks had been purchased from a razing firm, and the pine used for economy's sake. The appearance of the room, however, was very pleasing in its rough simplicity.

The play was "The Fan" by Goldoni, done in the 17th century manner with all the flourishes, double plot, slapstick, and lightness. The "Fan" was written for those people who come to a theatre and pay no attention to the play. Its plot moved rapidly; there was a good bit of yelling and gesticulating; and the whole thing moved with such lightness and speed as to make it thoroughly delightful. The slapstick especially was admirably done.

DISTINCT CHANGES ARE MADE IN SIZE AND CONTENTS OF MAGAZINE

On Friday, November 8th, the first edition of the Allegheny Literary Magazine will be issued to the students. A great deal of work has been put on this issue and it is anxiously being awaited by the students. Something entirely new in the line of a Literary Magazine will be presented, the book being a distinct departure from its predecessors.

The magazine will be a prototype of the book which Timothy Alden edited in 1916 and called "The Allegheny Magazine, or A Repository of Useful Knowledge." The staff of the Literary Magazine has been working for over a month preparing for the first issue of the periodical and the time and energy devoted to this issue insures its success.

A second novel feature of the magazine will be the change in its size. The dimensions of the magazine have been reduced considerably. The new Lit Magazine will be small enough to fit into a vest pocket, and for that reason, it will be easy to carry around. Included in the material of the magazine will be a summary of Timothy Alden's magazine, which was read at great length during his day.

Miss Marjory Cole is acting as editor for this issue, having been appointed to carry on the work of John Walton, resigned, until a new editor can be selected. Miss Cole hopes that the first issue of the magazine for this year will far surpass any previous issue of the Allegheny Literary Magazine.

Allegheny Girls to Hold Formal Dance And Dinner Nov. 22

Women are at least asserting themselves at Allegheny. It is not easy to make one's voice heard when one is outnumbered, but Allegheny women are about to speak in a language that is never ignored. They are soon to issue invitations to a dance. It is to be an all-college affair, but this time the women are the power behind the committee. The secret is out; on November 22 the women will hold a formal dance in Hulings Hall.

There are rumors afloat which say that the girls will be granted late permission; that they will serve a mid-night supper; that there will be dancing in both the gym and the large living room; that the green parlor and the lounge will be reserved for those not dancing; that the men positively have to appear "a la lux."

Y. W. C. A. PLANS TO START MEMBERSHIP DRIVE SOON

A membership campaign will be started by the Y. W. C. A. about the middle of this month. The following is a statement from the president of the organization:

"Many of the girls have questioned in their minds the value of the Y. W. C. A. and of assisting that organization in its work on the campus by contributions and by service. It is believed that some information and explanation which has not been published before will clear up much of the misunderstanding of the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. at Allegheny, and a summary of the past services of the Y. W. C. A. during this fall and its plans for the future.

"The first part of the year's program took place during Freshman Week. The picnic on Friday afternoon, September 13, was in charge of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., instead of the faculty as in previous years, as was the vesper service on Sunday of that week. On September 17, the evening before classes began, the Y. M. and Y. W. held an all-college "get-acquainted" social so that the upper classmen might become familiar with the freshmen as individuals before they became identified with groups.

"On Friday evening, October 4th, Y. W. representatives were on the Home-Coming reception committee in Arter Hall. There were also Y. W. members at Hulings who acted as encyclopedias for alumnae who were anxious to know what class-rooms were where, who is on the present faculty, where they could find Doctor Elliott, when they were to get a chance to go through Caffisch Hall, and the many other things interested alumnae would want to know. At the noon cafeteria luncheon Y. W. members helped to make folks comfortable by telling them where they could find chairs and helping them to dispose of paper plates and napkins.

"The Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. were also responsible for having Secretary of Labor Davis and Dr. George W. Wellburn as chapel speakers, for the 'hum-talent' chapel service last Friday, and for securing Dr. Barton Rees

Pogue for chapel and for an evening address.

"No person can be blamed for refusing to pay money where no results can be seen. The Y. W. C. A. does not want any girl to pay the one dollar membership dues if she does not feel that it is money well spent. But if each girl in the college would pay two dollars, the budget could be raised easily without special tag days or campaigns. The budget for this year is five hundred dollars, which is two hundred dollars less than was raised on our campus three years ago with fewer students than we have now. So far 118 girls have paid membership dues. Some faculty members have already given money and others have pledged their assistance."

"Here is the Y. W. C. A. budget for 1929-30:

Isabella Thoburn College	$100.00
National Y. W. C. A.	50.00
Student Friendship Fund	50.00
Eagles-Mere Loan Fund	200.00
Supplies, Books, Equipment, etc.	15.00
Speakers, Parties, etc.	85.00
Total	$500.00

"Several years ago the Allegheny Y. W. C. A. pledged itself to pay $100 a year in support of the Isabella Thoburn College in Lucknow, India, and it is felt that the close connection of the Thoburn family with Allegheny warrants this annual gift. The Student Friendship Fund helps to support the International House in New York City, an institution where students from all over the world can feel at home and mingle with other students. Formerly the Eagles-Mere Fund was a gift fund, but it has been decided that more service can be rendered by loaning the money to students, for in this way the fund will increase from year to year. "It is hoped that this article will serve to explain the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. and will show that it is a worthwhile organization. The students are not asked to contribute very much, for if each one helps a little, a large sum can be raised and the work of the Y. W. C. A. may be carried on as usual."

THIEL ELEVEN SUCCEEDS IN TYING ALLEGHENY TEAM, 0-0

Coach Crum's Men Outplay Lutherans But Fail To Score; Allegheny Registers Eleven First Downs

Superior in every department of play but lacking the punch to score the necessary points, Allegheny's football team once again was deprived of a victory last Saturday, this time Thiel being the opponent which was fortunate enough to stave off an Allegheny victory, the score of the contest being 0-0. Although no rain fell during the contest, the field was soft and muddy and the offense of both teams was considerably handicapped.

There could be no question as to the margin of superiority that Allegheny enjoyed over her opponent from Greenville. From the kickoff to the final whistle Allegheny was in command of the situation at all times and was ever keeping their opponents on the defense. Time and again an Allegheny score would seem to be just in the offing; then something would go wrong—a pass would be intercepted, the ball would fall in the end zone, or a reverse would fail to work, and the time for scoring would be postponed. And when the final whistle blew, Allegheny was still attempting to register a touchdown.

A certain Mr. McGlinchey, who was designated by the title of umpire, was responsible to a large extent for Allegheny's failure to score. Late in the final quarter, Storrie, standing across the goal line, extended his arms to receive a pass from Berger that would win the game, but before the ball reached its destination, a Thiel player had so violently interfered with the receiver that he was unable to capture the ball. Six thousand fans saw the foul committed; the umpire did not.

COLLEGE TO INAUGURATE DEBATING FOR FRESHMEN

SQUAD OF TWENTY REPORTS TO COACH ANDERSON AT FIRST MEETING

Twenty men from the Freshman class, comprising the freshman intercollegiate debating squad, met with Coach Hurst R. Anderson in the English Language Seminar Room of the Library Wednesday evening, October 30, to consider plans for their debating activities for the coming year.

The faculty is introducing an entirely new procedure this year in regards to debating; three distinct groups having been formed; they are the freshman group, the women's team, and the men's varsity team. "It is hoped," said Mr. Anderson at the meeting, "that the freshman group, by constant training, will be able to carry on the debating prestige of Allegheny during the next three years."

In order to encourage more interest in debating, the faculty has decided to give college credit for participation. Any freshman participating in an intercollegiate debate will receive one hour's credit. Participation in varsity debating, which includes upperclassmen only, offers three hour's credit.

The freshman team will debate two colleges sometime next March. The question will be: "Resolved, That college education should be limited to those of special ability."

The group will meet every Monday evening at 8:00 P. M., and every Wednesday evening at 7:00 P. M. Those included in the group are: L. Bramer Carlson, James Mansell, Harry Thomson, John J. Perkins, Wm. F. Saunders, S. F. Carey, Jr., Sanford Corcoran, Bigelow Popa, Wm. Boettcher, Knighton Waite, Frank Goodrich, Morris Faverman, Howard Lauffenburger, Bob Willcutt, Douglas K. Marks, Charles Stanton, Clarke Beiler, G. Louis Haberman, W. R. Craig, and Wm. E. Roos.

GIRLS OF HULINGS HALL CELEBRATE HALLOWE'EN

All of Hulings Hall bedecked itself in the orange and black of Halloween when, last Wednesday night, the little lassies disguised their divine figures and faces by various assortments of boy friends' clothes, gym bloomers, and pajamas, and came downstairs to enjoy a four course dinner. The dining room was amusingly decorated with cats, and witches, and the proverbial Halloween crepe paper. Music during the meal made the evening doubly delightful. One group of girls dressed as members of a bridal party, and between courses enacted the bridal procession. Informal "thank you" was sung to Miss Dale and Vera Dawson who planned the party and dinner.

Mary Brockman, '28, is teaching in the public schools of East Chicago, Illinois, and enjoying her work very much.

If he had, a touchdown would have been awarded Allegheny and the first victory of the year would have been tucked away. But Mr. McGlinchey had eyes that saw not.

The first quarter was a punting duel with both teams usually kicking on the third down. Garbark, carrying the ball on the first play, was injured and was unable to reenter the game. Thiel was in a scoring position only once, Myers intercepting a pass from Berger and running it back to the Allegheny 23-yard line. Myers was thrown for a two-yard loss when he attempted to round left end. On the next play McManus intercepted a pass from Schilling on the 24-yard line; Allegheny was then penalized 5 yards for unnecessarily delaying. A pass, Berger to Smith, was good for 18 yards. Unable to gain further, Smith punted at the quarter ended.

At the start of the second period another exchange of punts gave the ball to Allegheny on its own 20-yard strip. Berger gained one yard at right end, but Allegheny sustained a 15-yard penalty for holding on this play. Instead of punting out of danger Berger tossed a pass to Storrie for 24 yards, failing to make the first down by 2 inches. Varano added two yards and first-down through right guard. Berger was stopped without gain by Garthwaite at right tackle; trying the same place, he gained 7 yards. With a loss and an incomplete pass on the next two plays, Storrie was called on to punt. Wardle receiving, who returned the ball to the Thiel 43, only to fumble there. The fumble was recovered by Berger for Allegheny. After advancing the ball to Thiel's 17-yard line, Allegheny lost it on downs.

Opening the third quarter, Wardle ran back Slaughter's kickoff to his own 30-yard line, where three line plunges added 9 yards. Allegheny held on the fourth down and took the ball on the 40-yard line. Berger gained 5 yards off right tackle; Balser, on a reverse, was stopped without gain. The next play was one of the prettiest of the game, a perfectly placed pass from Berger to Martin gaining 19 yards, taking the ball to the Thiel 16-yard line. Slaughter lost two at left tackle and Berger made up the loss on the next play. Slaughter's pass was intercepted by Schilling on Thiel's 4. Schilling punted and Slaughter returned it from the 35-yard line to the 20. An incomplete pass in the end zone gave Thiel the ball on the 20-yard line.

In the final period Schilling punted from his own goal line to the Allegheny 40, where Gamble took the ball and returned it to Thiel's 37. Berger gained 2 at right tackle, Gamble lost one on a lateral pass at right end, Berger threw a pass to Storrie for 21 yards and first down on Thiel's 15-yard stripe. Gamble lost a yard on an out-of-bounds play. On the second down Berger tossed a pass to Storrie in the end zone. Just as Storrie was about to receive the ball, he was fouled by Schilling and the ball was grounded. Although the interference was deliberate and committed in the open, Umpire McGlinchey refused to allow the pass as completed and gave the ball to Thiel on the 20-yard line as the game ended.

Thiel gained a total of 58 yards and made 2 first downs, one being on a penalty; Allegheny gained 240 yards and 11 first downs. Garthwaite and Dimperio played best for the visitors. Pichitino and Martin were best in Allegheny's line, with Berger, Gamble, and Varano vying for honors in ground gaining. Smith and Slaughter played especially good games.

Paintings and Laces From Spain Shown in Display in Library

In the display case of the library there is being exhibited a group of six water-colors, some samples of laces, and a neckerchief. The pictures were painted by Condella, the leading artist of his day. They depict the Moorish section of Seville in clear, striking colors, and they have excellent shadow-effects. The neckerchief, made of wine-red silk, is hand painted by the same artist.

In addition, samples of modern and ancient laces are displayed there. The former were made just outside the walls of the Alhambra. This gives them their touch of romance; but it is the antique black lace mantilla which recalls a picture of Old Spain to our minds—guitars, serenades under trellised balconies, and gay cavaliers.

All these articles were loaned by Miss Jeanne Melville, who is now doing graduate work in Allegheny, but who travelled recently through Spain.

UNCARVED MONUMENTS

November is a historical monument for those who recall the history of the development of Allegheny College. Let us review a portion of that history.

In the year 1817 a charter was granted to the new institution known as Allegheny College, and the first Commencement exercises of the institution were held that same year. For a period of five years instruction was given in the home of Doctor Alden until Bentley Hall was completed. At this time the Trustees petitioned the Presbytery of Erie to take Allegheny under its patronage, but were refused, and as a result, the attendance greatly decreased and the annual state appropriation of one thousand dollars was withdrawn. Doctor Alden resigned, and Bentley Hall stood deserted until 1833. In that year, Homer J. Clark, who had come to Meadville as pastor of the First Methodist Church, influenced the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Church to take over the patronage of the then extinct Allegheny. In November of 1833 the College was opened, this time permanently, except for a period of one year due to a shortage of funds, with the Reverend Martin Ruter, D.D., as its president.

Now that November, 1929, is upon us, we must remember that at this particular time, ninety-six years ago, the first permanent procession of students in and out of proud Bentley was begun; that many of our campus traditions sprung up synonymously with that procession; that the existence (the basis of our present campus, class relationships, social life, and educational system) of Allegheny College was permanently established.

GROVE CITY

Every year Allegheny's football team plays a game that is of more interest than any other game played all season. That game is always with Grove City. For the past four years the outcome of the game has been very unsatisfactory from the Allegheny viewpoint. The team has been rated in each game on a par with the Grove City team in the last four struggles, and yet, for some reason, the punch that was necessary for a victory was lacking at the vital instant and Allegheny was forced to suffer defeat.

This year the situation appears even more bleak for the Blue and Gold. The team has not as yet won a single victory, while the Grovers boast of a formidable record of wins, with only one defeat to mar their record. Allegheny is decidedly the under-dog in Saturday's battle, for Coach Berry's men hold victories over Geneva and Westminster, while Westminster defeated Allegheny and Geneva played us to a tie. It is not difficult to see which team will enter the game the favorite. Those who have seen Grove City play concede Allegheny a very slim chance to win on Saturday. It is a fighting chance—and that is all. If Allegheny can out-fight her opponent, she will win. It will require a tremendous amount of fight to swing the victory to the Allegheny camp. The team has played well in the last two encounters and has fought consistently. If the added fight and punch necessary for a win is mustered for Saturday, players and students alike will have to do considerable in the way of creating a fighting spirit. Why should not students, with the band, attend the practice on Friday? Similar plans fell through last week. Do not let that happen again. Every one be on hand Friday and then attend the game on Saturday. Grove City must be defeated.

A LITTLE COOPERATION, PLEASE

Fraternity men and women have been very negligent to date this year in the matter of having their pictures taken for the Kaldron. Only a small percentage of the pictures have been taken so far. The editor of the Kaldron would greatly appreciate the cooperation of the students in this matter, as it greatly facilitates his work. If the scheduled time for having your picture taken is past, get down to Wetherby's Studio as soon as possible so that the work on the Kaldron will not be unnecessarily delayed.

THE SCRUBBING BRUSH

Ask me, "Is it raining? Was it raining? Will it rain?" Yes. It was raining, it is raining, and it will rain. As per Al Jolson (know him?), "You ain't seen nothin' yet." This is a wet town, and I'm not talking about Prohibition. Dear little Freshmen and all others who haven't been aware of the deplorable weather, get out your slickers, trenchcoats, golashes, overshoes, or what have you, and be Paul Sipish. (For the benefit of the uninformed, I mean "Be prepared," as the Boy Scouts have it.)

Speaking of the weather, the stock market took a big flop last week. Some of the boys at the S. A. E. house took advantage of the situation—'Tis an ill wind that blows nobody good—and bought some shares of Consolidated Something at rock-bottom prices. They have the right idea. Take the advice of an expert in the stock game that the only way to make money is to buy low and sell high.

I was insulted the other day. It happened like this: I says, "Did I ever tell you the story about the Scotchman?"

He says, "I don't know. Was it funny?"
I says, "Sure, it was funny."
He says, "Then you didn't tell it to me."

On occasion Carl can be serious, and now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the Republican Party. What I am trying to say is that our cheerleaders deserve a big hand. Time out for cheers, shouts, and huzzahs. In all seriousness I fear that without Juddy Johnstone and the rest of the gang in white knickers (I don't mean the ump or referee), the stands would scarcely whisper. As it is now, we do our whispering after the game.

Doc Myford and Al Widmann didn't sell many cigarettes over the past week-end. Many of the fraternities had Father's Day.

A number of the boys on the hill washed their faces on last Thursday and went down to the join the Halloween parade. When the time came to award the prize for the most original costume, the judges grabbed a little kid with a purple dink. "G'wan," he said, "I wasn't even playing."

The Park Theatre has been holding a beauty contest for the selection of "Miss Meadville." We noticed that none of the girls from Hulings participated.

Please see me at my office at the earliest opportunity.

Resignation of John Walton Received by Publications Board

At a meeting of the Publications Board of the College, held on Monday afternoon, October 28, the resignation of John Walton, editor of the Literary Magazine for this year, was accepted by the board. The reason for the resignation was given as physical inability. The first issue of the Lit Magazine, which is scheduled to appear in the near future, will be edited by Marjorie Cole. She will endeavor to carry out the policies of Mr. Walton.

The board took no action in selecting a successor to Mr. Walton. Careful consideration will be given to the candidates for the position made vacant by the resignation. Copy for the first issue of the Literary Magazine is now in the hands of the printer. It is expected that the magazine will embody many new features this year. The changes in the magazine had been planned by Mr. Walton before his resignation.

"Our Shadow Life" Subject of Address By Chapel Speaker

On Wednesday, October 30, Mrs. Lulu Loveland Shepard of Salt Lake City addressed the students in chapel with "Our Shadow Life" as her subject. Mrs. Shepard, a nationally known lecturer and clubwoman, is a member of the D. A. R., has spoken several seasons from the Chautauqua platform, and has been president of the Utah W. C. T. U. for twelve years.

In her talk Mrs. Shepard drew an analogy between the shadows cast by physical objects and those which our characters project. She stated that in a spiritual and moral sense man has a shadow life which determines largely his worldly position. According to her philosophy, in school we build up a great workshop—the mind—which will enable us to attain success if properly outfitted, but which will render our lives useless should the wrong elements be allowed to enter.

Mrs. Shepard discussed thought transference and pointed out that we receive the greatest possible benefit from our religion only when we allow Christ to flash the thoughts of God on our minds. Every activity of our lives leaves a thought impression; we alone can determine the nature of that impression.

Campus Clippings

Believe this or not! Co-eds at the U. of Missouri have devised a novel method of keeping in touch with their several dates. They make pajamas out of the handkerchiefs acquired from the unsuspecting males.

Latest efforts to keep the campus safe for study were discovered recently when the Dean of Haverford College requested the speedy departure of two magazine agents who were giving away suppressed books with each subscription sold.

Seniors at Lehigh this year are being distinguished from the common herd by their canes which they will carry throughout the year in an effort to establish a lasting tradition. The canes are well made and designed for use after graduation as well as during the last year at college.

Even though clothes don't make the team, it seems more than likely that other colleges will adopt the leather jacket affair worn by Fordham—especially since N. Y. U. fell before the Fordham Rams.

Shades of the Spanish Inquisition! Co-eds at the U. of Washington who are behind in their studies are not allowed to smoke!

An old sophomore custom at Lafayette has been revived—much to the chagrin of chapel speakers. The custom is one of drowning out the speaker's remarks by a very energetic stomping of sophomore feet. Of course that applies only when the lecturer talks on over his allotted time, but whoever heard of a chapel speaker that didn't.

Middlebury students are agitating for a smoking room in their library.

TRIP TO CLEVELAND

Letter, the stage-manager, showed us everything and answered all questions.

The evening performance, "Olympia" by Molnar, was by far the high water mark of the trip. Sidney Howard says of the play, "... it lets loose Molnar's unique genius for having perfectly preposterous fun with a pleasantly preposterous story." The play was done in a thoroughly professional manner, and was highly entertaining from start to finish.

The trip was especially valuable in that it showed the Play Club just what can be done by amateurs. It gives us an ideal—something well worth working for. We received many valuable suggestions, and with them the Allegheny Play Shop should certainly "rise and shine."

The column is back again, aged two weeks now. It is thriving quite well, thank you, as can be seen by its increased size. This week finds the first write-up about our Alumni in the column. It is no more than fitting that our first article should be about Mrs. F. G. Miller. She lives across from the college chapel, where she can easily keep in touch with everything and can be kept in touch with. This story about Mrs. Miller is the first of a series that will be published each week in the ensuing issues of The Campus. The column wishes to thank Mrs. Miller for her co-operation, hoping that she is going to enjoy the articles in the future about other alumni as much as we hope they enjoy this one. Next week Mr. Charles Gill is to be the alumnus whose life and activities will be reviewed.

MEETINGS THIS WEEK ARE:

ALL-COLLEGE DANCE

The second All-College Dance of the year was held on Saturday, November 2, 1929, in Cochran Hall. Whether it was a bargain dance, Halloween party, or Student Senate Scuttle has not exactly been determined. It seems that everybody was so busy having a good time that no one stopped to decide what the dance was. The dancers distinctly remember, however, that Kress' Orchestra played, and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Townsend chaperoned. According to the stage, punch and wafers were served throughout the evening. There was not much else—Oh yes, the good time almost caused the price of $1.25 to be forgotten almost.

ALPHA CHI SIGMA ELECTION

Nine men were elected to membership in Alpha Chi Sigma, honorary chemical fraternity, at a meeting in the chapter rooms in Carnegie Hall last Tuesday evening. The "bombasts" selected on the basis of their record in the chemistry department were Irwin Winter, Paul Younger, Fred Clark, Harold Crandall, John Gregory, John Rumsey, Gifford Jones, Ralph Goodrich, and Burdette Barris. The initiation for these men will be held in the near future.

PHI BETA PHI INITIATION

Phi Beta Phi held its semi-annual initiation Tuesday evening, October twenty-ninth, at Alden Hall. The new members are Claire Rodkey, William T. Bean, Benjamin H. Anderson, Glenn Lewis, and Nicholas R. Varano.

PHI DELTA THETA FATHER'S DAY

Phi Delta Theta held their Father's Day over the week-end of November 2, 1929. Those present were the Messrs. Frederick Haberman, W. J. Harner, J. W. Hall, F. W. Jones, P. M. Gibson, J. D. Seltzer, H. C. Kanangise, C. M. Stone, W. D. Lewis, C. T. Greer, Sankey, George Gilbert, Markle, Corcoran, Trout, Harner, Pennington, O. J. Graham, M. E. Graham, S. S. Swartley, W. F. Woodring, Blackman and sons. A banquet was held at the chapter house Saturday evening, and a program of events followed.

ALPHA CHI RHO FATHER'S DAY

Alpha Chi Rho held its annual Father's Day on November 2 and 3, 1929. Those attending this event were the Messrs. Gardner, Rassel, Siple, Bryan, Hanson, Lawry, Jeffords, MacDonald, Spencer, Thompson, Garbark, Price, Allgood, Lauffenburger, Fannin, Knorr, Cares, Gorden, Bean and McCartney. The Allegheny-Thiel game was attended in the afternoon, and a banquet was served at the chapter house in the evening. After the banquet an informal reception was held.

PHI GAMMA DELTA FATHER'S DAY

Phi Gamma Delta held its annual Father's Day on the week-end of November 2, 1929. Those in attendance were the Messrs. Shaffer, McCleary, Crandall, Meadowcroft, M. W. Winterbottom, E. L. Winterbottom, H. S. Patterson, V. C. Patterson, Miles, Grimm, Fickinger, Younger, Showers, Knapp, Wheelidon, Daker, Pore, Stanton, Blair, R. M. Brown, W. E. Brown, Myford, Horne, Ayres, Hummel, Beller, and Hill. The game at Montgomery Field in the afternoon was attended by the boys and their fathers. A banquet was served at the chapter house in the evening. Following this a short entertainment was given by the sons.

PHI DELTA THETA PARTY

Phi Delta Theta held a costume party at the chapter house, Friday evening, November 1, 1929. Guests in attendance were Florence Wheelock, Clara Hinkley, C. C. Collier, Margaret Short, Dr. Robert Ellsworth, Sidney Highbey, Robert Wilson, Helen Pratt and Troy Pringle. Chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee. The music was furnished by Howard Walker and his orchestra. Refreshments were served at intermission.

Victor M. Leffingwell, '21, Sharon, is a student of medicine in Rush Medical School, Chicago.

DELTA TAU DELTA PARTY

Delta Tau Delta held a Halloween Party at their chapter house, Friday evening, November 1, 1929. Guests attending were Lucius Bugbee, Oscar Spencer, Charles Bair, Harold Kelley, George Muckinhaupt, Arthur Ellis, and George Underwood. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Townsend. Refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served. Musical entertainment was furnished by Kress' Olympians.

THOBURN CLUB HEARS LECTURE

The regular bi-weekly meeting of the Thoburn Club was held on Thursday evening, October 31, 1929. The place of meeting for the night was changed from the French Seminar room in the Library to Bentley Hall in order to use picture slides of China. Prof. H. T. Lavelly spoke on some of his experiences in China.

NEW YORK BANQUET

Those Allegheny alumni living in the vicinity of New York City who have not already done so are urged to communicate immediately with P. A. Beck concerning the alumni dinner to be held in New York. The dinner will be held on November 15th at 6:30 P. M. at the Town Hall Club, 123 W. 43rd St., New York City. Reservations may be made by applying to Mr. Beck, who may be reached at 68 William Street, New York City. A splendid program is being arranged for the evening and a large turnout of Alleghenians is expected.

FRATERNITY GUESTS

Guests over the week-end at the fraternity houses were: Delta Tau Delta: Mr. George Underwood, of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mr. George Archibald, of Oil City.

The Reverend Albert K. Travis, '02, is now located in Ford City, going there from Donora, Pennsylvania.

Who's Who Among Our Alumni

FLORENCE G. MILLER

There are few things quite so thrilling as the discovery of a perfectly lovely person within our very midst. Such a discovery makes one feel that he has been overlooking so many things that he should have seen. That is exactly how we felt when we met Mrs. Florence Grauel Miller. If it were only for her literary endeavors, Mrs. Miller would be well worth knowing. But the fact that she herself is an Alleghenian and still shows a pleasant interest in campus activities makes her doubly interesting to us.

Mrs. Miller lives almost directly across from the college chapel in a charmingly furnished home. She was a member of the class of 1908 and is the wife of ex-Senator Miller, a trustee of the college. Among her literary works are "Following the Gleam," published in 1925, the Centennial Pageants of both Stone and Greenville Methodist Episcopal Churches, some work in both prose and poetry, and a new volume to be released this week, "Our Own Pioneers."

Until her recent illness, Mrs. Miller was very prominent in the club work of both Meadville and Keystone Heights. Of the local organizations, Mrs. Miller is a member of the Women's Club, the Women's Literary Club, and the University Women's Club. Mrs. Miller has been very active in the Women's Club at Keystone Heights. She is also a member of the League of American Penwomen.

However, Mrs. Miller did not achieve all her prominence since graduating from Allegheny. While on our campus, she was quite active, being a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Quill Club, and the assistant editor of the Literary Magazine. She was the student speaker at a Washington's Birthday Dinner, which at that time was quite an honor. After graduation, Mrs. Miller kept up her literary interest, though not writing to any great degree for some years.

The last two years have found Mrs. Miller engaged in a most delightful task. She has been writing a volume of connected short stories built on facts and characters in early Meadville life. This book is entitled "Our Own Pioneers," and, as mentioned above, is to be released this week. The work has required much reading and intensive study of early local history. Mrs. Miller has exhausted the details of the primary events in the founding and maintenance of the city and has most skillfully blended them into a series of delightful short stories covering a seventy-five year period. The subject matter is varied, discovering for us the early pioneers, the capture by the Indians, Roger Alden and his family, the laying out of the town, the Burr conspiracy, Meadville's part in the War of 1812, the first school in Meadville, the canal and the railroad, and John Brown's daughter, around an incident in whose life the plot twines.

The story probably most interesting to us as college students is that one entitled "Timothy Alden, Glorious Failure." Mrs. Miller has written this interesting story of the founding of our college as only one could who has lived on Allegheny's campus for four beautiful years. It tells of Alden's struggle for funds and legislative support. It contains an impressive picture of the laying of Bentley's cornerstone. After the ceremony was over, according to the story, and the spectators had all gone, Timothy Alden stood quietly "and pictured in the glowing sky, a fair green campus where students hurried from building to building, in their eager search for knowledge. The sun dipped lower behind the western hills but still enclosing in its rosy light the solitary, motionless figure with uplifted head, standing on the newly laid cornerstone, at the beginning of a path of withered flower petals that led down the hill."

Allegheny is quite proud to include Florence Grauel Miller among her alumni because of her literary successes and because of her personal charm.

Paul M. Hillman, '11, is pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Kearney, Nebraska, having been appointed to the charge last September. Kearney is the seat of the largest state normal school in Nebraska, and Doctor Hillman's church there is one of the largest in the state, with more than a thousand members. The Hillmans were in Grand Island, Nebraska, for four years before going to Kearney.

Clara Belle Leet, '05, is now living in Cleveland, 2028 East 83rd Street. She was formerly in the Hennepin Avenue High School, Minneapolis.

M. W. Doolittle, '24, is a teacher of biology in the Warren Harding High School, Bridgeport, Connecticut.

A REAL CIRCULATING LIBRARY AT SHARTLE'S STORE

Responding to the demand for good, clean books and a well conducted Circulating Library we have installed the same. The new book you heard discussed last night or saw reviewed this morning is here in our Library awaiting your selection—if new and popular. You can obtain the book you want. The service is prompt and pleasing, the books are clean and inviting. Members find that they read more and better books because we receive 30 new books each month.

Come in and see the most attractive service Library in the world.—Womrath's.

"Eyes"
blind flying!

Three new G-E contributions to the conquest of the air

LINDBERGH, flying blind much of the way, hit Ireland "on the nose" as he winged toward Paris. Now, as an aid to air navigation comes the magneto compass, a product of General Electric research, which gives pilots a navigating instrument of extraordinary accuracy. Meanwhile, two other General Electric contributions to aviation have been developed—the electric gasoline gauge and the radio echo altimeter. The ordinary altimeter shows only height above sea level. The radio echo altimeter warns the pilot of his actual distance above ground or water by flashing green, yellow, and red lights on the instrument board.

Every year hundreds of college-trained men and women enter the employment of General Electric. Research, similar to that which developed "eyes" for blind flying, is one of the many fields of endeavor in which they play an important part.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM TO MEET GENEVA IN FINALE

BLUE AND GOLD HARRIERS WILL HOLD TRIALS ON FRIDAY TO SELECT TEAM

Although little has been heard of the cross country team of late, the harriers are working hard and regularly preparing for their third and last meet of the year. The team has already run two races this year, winning over Westminster and losing to Pitt. The final race of the year will be with Geneva on the local course on the sixteenth of this month.

In the Pitt meet at Pittsburgh on October 19th, Paul Dreibelbis, the only member of last year's championship team who is still on the squad, was the first runner to break the tape, sporting a lead of over 250 yards. The next four places, however, were captured by Pitt men, enabling them to win the meet by a score of 21-34.

Next Friday afternoon Coach Hammett will run a trial race to determine the composition of the team that will meet Geneva in the final race of the season. Some of the freshmen have been developing consistently and it would not be at all surprising if they would displace some of the regulars.

Geneva has always been a hard nut for Allegheny runners to contend with. Twice the Blue and Gold have met the Covenanters in the last meet of the season, with the Tri-state championship at stake, and on both occasions the Allegheny team has been successful. Coach Hammett's men are anxious to continue their record of wins over Geneva, although the Pitt defeat eliminates the Blue and Gold from any chance for the Tri-state laurels this season.

Fraternity Leaders Attempt to Arouse Football Interest

On Monday, October 28, Mr. Townsend, manager of athletics, invited the heads of the eight fraternities to dinner at the Kepler Hotel, and after a delightful repast, broached the subject of boosting the spirit for the Thiel game. After much discussion as to how this could be best accomplished, it was decided that, in addition to arousing the spirit of the players by talking up the game and conceding Allegheny a fighting chance of winning, each fraternity was to select some motto or saying to be printed on banners to be hung in front of each house.

When this plan was placed before the members of each fraternity, brains were wracked to find a suitable slogan for arousing the fighting spirit of the players and for informing outsiders that a battle to the finish was in store for the boys from Greenville before they tucked another scalp under their belts.

Then came the game. A scrappy bunch of Methodists, keyed to the highest pitch, went onto the field and completely outplayed the highly touted bunch from Thiel, yet were held to a scoreless tie. The question is, did all this spirit make or break our team? Our answer is that it certainly did help, for only the breaks of "Lady Luck," reported to have been seen lurking about Thiel territory, kept the "Alligators" from giving some unfortunate Freshman an all-night job in Bentley Hall.

JUAN RODRIQUIS WILL SPEAK AT CHAPEL SOON

Juan Rodriguez, a native of the Philippine Islands and an authority on international relations and policies, will be the chapel speaker on November 18, 1929.

Mr. Rodriguez will probably talk on some international problems; possibly on the subject of Philippine independence. In the evening he will again speak in Ford Memorial chapel. Mr. Rodriguez will be in the administrative room in Bentley Hall in the afternoon from two until four o'clock. Anyone wishing to meet Mr. Rodriguez should see Mr. Lunn at the Beta Upsilon house for an appointment.

This and That

THE UMP

Allegheny didn't win. Neither did Thiel. The game was a scoreless tie, but somehow it didn't seem to bring much satisfaction to a team's supporters. But the game Saturday brought satisfaction in more ways than one. Clearly outplaying Thiel, the team was handicapped by the additional burden of combating against an additional man on the field. Not an adversary in uniform, but against a man who, at times holds the destiny of the game in his hands. To say the least, the officiating of Saturday's game was terrible. When an official cannot see a flagrant foul such as was committed shortly before the game ended, little hope is ever held for the winning of games. A man placed in charge of twenty-two fighting athletes must be competent. A certain official last Saturday was not qualified to hand down decisions.

STATISTICS

The better team didn't win Saturday. If statistics are the basis of winning games, Allegheny was three or four touchdowns better than Thiel. The first downs were eleven to two for Allegheny. Thiel gained, on their running plays, forty-eight yards the entire game. Allegheny gained over two hundred and forty. Allegheny completed half their passes and intercepted three. Such a record is usually sufficient to win several games. But don't give up. There are three more games, and Grove City comes next. Stick to it.

COMING GAMES

The next two games are with Grove City and Waynesburg. Grove City took one on the chin from Waynesburg

Saturday, 12 to 7. This proves that neither team can be invincible. Anyone picking the score before hand would gladly have given Grove City a three or four touchdown margin. Perhaps the Crimson was a little over confident. But it is possible to take two bumps in a row. The game this coming Saturday is THE game of the season. Beat Grove City and the season is a success. It will atone for past defeats. There is no reason why it can't be done.

HEARD AT THE GAME

"Just look at that nice new towel they're using to wipe the ball with. I wonder who has to wash it?"
"Thanks for the extra foot, referee."
"I wonder if he is hurt or just fooling."
"Oh look, did you see him take the ball away from him?"
"What do they talk about when they go into that circle or whatever it is?"

LEWIS-RICHARDSON

On August 28, 1929, Olga Marie Lewis, ex-'26, was married to Robert James Richardson of Athens, Georgia, in Trinity Episcopal Church, Mountsville, West Virginia. Mrs. Richardson was graduated from Columbia University in 1927 and is now adjunct professor of Physical Education at the College of Agriculture, University of Georgia, Athens. Mr. Richardson is a graduate of the University of Georgia, '24, and now on the faculty of the College of Agriculture. Both Mr. and Mrs. Richardson are working for M. S. degrees at the University, in bacteriology and psychology respectively. Virginia W. Lewis, '19, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, attended the wedding of her sister.

Vera Foster Lewis, '13, and family, recently moved from Asheville, North Carolina, to Bellfontaine, Ohio.

Carl V. Graham, ex-'26, has been transferred from Gurley, Nebraska, to the charge at Brady Island, Nebraska.

Arthur W. Doane, '19, is a concrete engineer with the Portland Cement Association, and is located at present at 167 Commonwealth Avenue, Buffalo, New York.
