Pageant Given By Terrapin

The months of the year constituted the central theme of the swimming pageant presented by Terrapin club last Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. The pageant, under the direction of Miss Mary Morison of the physical education department, was a huge success, with many people being turned away because of the crowd.

Plans for the event were made entirely by the girls, who made the costumes and decorations and organized the formations for each month. January ushered in the New Year with a toast in champagne. A huge floating heart completed Valentine's day in February; while in March the Lion and the Lamb gamboled. A burlesque ballet for April Fools' day and a Spring Waltz in May completed the first months of the year. Next were a typical June wedding and a patriotic Fourth of July. The old swimming hole in August led to the opening of school in September. Ghosts danced for October's Halloween and peace on Armistice day appeared in November. A winter scene and Christmas in December carried the theme to completion.

Miss Mary Morison was featured in a diving exhibition, as well as several of the Terrapin members who participated in the regular theme.

Girls who swam in the show included Anne Hartman, '47, Margaret McKay, '47, Nancy Sutton, '44, Jean Merrill, '44, Louise Schweitzer, '44, Kay White, '44, Frances Wallace, '46, Carol Blake, '46, Winona Brown, '47, Helen Colton, '47, Jane Morgan, '47, Helen Connery, '47, Gloria Westphal, '47, Iona Caldwell, '46, Marjean Moore, '46, Julia Larson, '46, Dorothy Powers, '46, Margaret Auty, '47, Jean Singley, '47, Dorothy Smallman, '47, Jean Hollingshead, '47, and Miss Mary Morison and Miss Dorothy Deach, instructors in the physical education department.

Decorations and properties were arranged throughout the evening by Joan Zook, '47, Jean Graham, '47, Emily Jane Gould, '44, Mary Louise Burhans, '45, Barbara Dietrich, '47, Winifred Strait, '47, Betty Rank, '46, and Harry Conroy, '44. Lighting for the program was under the direction of John Cremer, '47, assisted by Patricia Karnosh, '46, and Arthur Bittner, '47.

Freshmen Entertained At Coke-tail Party

The gym, decorated with a bar and coke signs, was the scene of a "Coke-tail" party given on Saturday afternoon from three to five p. m. by members of the freshman class living in Brooks.

The gala affair which was planned for the entertainment of all freshman girls was headed by M. J. Sector, Portia Gott and Betty Crabbs, all of the class of '47. Those in charge of the various committees were as follows: Jean Linnert, decorations; Jean Montgomery and Jean Shaw, entertainment; Mary Ethel Schell, refreshments; Janet Crossman, invitations; Barbara Grund, hostess committee.

Entertainment included bridge and dancing followed by a rendition of "Boogie Woogie" by Emil Dunn, the singing of "Mighty Lak a Rose" by Thalia Meyer and Betty Lou Scava, a story told by M. J. Sector, and "Bye Bye Baby" sung by the Fourth Front Trio comprised of Helen McCauley, Vera Lee Hampson and Louise McCoy.

Comedy Will Be Given By French Club

French club will present "L'Anglais Tel Qu'on le Parle," a comedy by Tristan Bernard, on Tuesday, March 14, at 7:30 p. m. in Arter 14. All students of the college are invited to attend.

The play is a humorous satire on the "English Spoken" signs found in so many show windows in Paris. An English girl who has run away with a Frenchman, her outraged father who speaks no French, and a bewildered interpreter who speaks no English provide plenty of fun and excitement.

Afterwards members of the club will hold an important business meeting for the election of officers for the coming year.

Date For A.U.C. Head Elections Set

Nominations for president of the Allegheny Undergraduate Council for 1944-45 must be in the hands of the A. U. C. by March 19, it was decided at the last meeting Sunday evening.

Those eligible for candidacy are all those who are elected to seats on the A. U. C. this spring, or any other student who presents to the A. U. C. a petition signed by 100 persons, not more than 25 of whom represent any one fraternity or sorority. Names of nominees should be turned in to the constitution committee of the council, Donald Mogg, '44, and Arlene Fegley, '44, in order that a tentative slate may be drawn up.

The election of president of the council is scheduled for March 30 and 31 at the grill. Candidates will be given the opportunity to present their campaign speeches in chapel on Thursday, March 30.

All organizations are asked to elect their new representatives to the council before March 31, so that the new members can attend the A. U. C. banquet along with the old members on April 5.

Student Fire Insurance

A sum, amounting to a maximum of $250, was granted by the A. U. C. to the college to take out a group fire insurance policy, with the provision that the remaining $250 be contributed by the college. This policy will provide protection against damage by fire to the personal possessions of any student to the amount of $150 up until the end of the current semester.

The appropriation of the A. U. C., not to exceed $250, will consist of the money refunded from activities appropriations for the semester.

Consolidated Relief Chest Report

Aubrey Crawford, '44, reported that the Consolidated Relief Chest drive went over the top with approximately $2010 contributed, and that distribution of the money is nearly completed.

Solicitation of second-semester freshmen for contributions to the chest is planned, in order that the amount of at least $250 from the chest can be contributed by the college to the Red Cross, in conjunction with its present drive.

ATTENTION!

All past and would-be members of the Allegheny Christian Council!

New and different plans for the Allegheny Christian Council of the future are to be discussed at the meeting this Sunday, March 12, at 3:30 p. m. in the Oratory. In addition, new officers for next year are to be elected both from a prepared slate and from open nominations at the meeting.

All who are interested in revitalizing the Council, who have new ideas they wish to advance, who want to take part in the discussion of plans already offered, should definitely not miss this extra-special meeting!

M.U.C. To Hold Handball Tourney

The Men's Undergraduate Council, following its policy of athletic promotion, will sponsor a handball tournament in the near future. Lists are now posted on the Brooks hall bulletin board. All men interested should sign up at once, so that the matches can get under way next week.

The long-postponed interfraternity sing was also discussed at Monday's meeting. A rehearsal will be held in the chapel Saturday afternoon at 1:30 p. m.

Liberty Ship Is Named For Tarbell

The Liberty ship S. S. Ida M. Tarbell, named for the New York lecturer and writer, a distinguished graduate of Allegheny College who died January 6, was launched at the California Shipbuilding corporation yards at midnight on February 25.

Miss Tarbell, born November 5, 1857, was associate editor of "McClure's Magazine" at one time and later held the same position with the "American Magazine". To Alleghenians she is known chiefly for her collection of Lincoln material which is housed in Reis library.

Morris, Viscose Chemist, Speaks On Water Pollution

Harley Morris, chief chemist at the American Viscose company, spoke on the topic "Stream Pollution" at Tuesday's meeting of Chemii club.

Morris, a former member of the Allegheny faculty, told how he had received his present job by making analyses of French creek when fish were being killed off periodically by industrial wastes from the various plants along the creek.

Stating that "streams have become enlarged sewers," he went on to say that streams are generally polluted with both industrial or mill waste and sanitary waste.

In analyzing stream water to determine the amount and causes of pollution, there are four methods used; namely, superficial observation, chemical analysis, minnow test and examination for biological indicators. The biological indicators are different types of larva and worms which can exist in only pure water or in impure water of varying degrees of pollution.

The water in French creek in the vicinity of and through Meadville contained evidences of the highest degree of pollution, Mr. Morris stated. However, through modern methods this pollution can be lessened. The two main methods described were the activated sludge process and the trickle filter process. At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served.

Gene Parlette Is Featured At Junior Prom Sat.

Guests at the annual Junior Prom, scheduled for March 11 in Brooks hall, will be Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Steen and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Ufford. Gene Parlette and his orchestra will furnish music for this all-college affair which will last from 8:45 p. m. to 11:45 p. m.

All college students and air crew students are invited to attend. No admission will be charged, since the dance is being sponsored by the A. U. C. through the social activities fund. Dress for women will be formal.

Members of the committee for the dance are Barbara Bender, chairman, Patricia Pittenger, Dorothy-Jeanne Butt, James Brooks, Florence Von Wahl, and Charles Geisler, all members of the class of '45.

Programs may be obtained at the main desk in Brooks hall on Saturday afternoon.

Examination To Be Given Wednesday

The third Army-Navy Qualifying Examination for the Army Specialized Training Program and the Navy College Program V-12 will be given on Wednesday, March 15 from 9:00 to 11:00 a. m., in Brooks dining room.

Students between the ages of 17 and 21 inclusive who expect to be drafted soon or who are interested in either the Army or Navy College Training Programs, should see Dean H. T. Lavelly for information and to get the admission-identification form necessary for admission to the test.

Chandler To Replace Echols

Major D. L. Echols, Commanding Officer of the 31st C. T. D., has just been transferred to Union university where he will be the Commanding Officer of a unit much the same as the one at Allegheny.

Lt. E. R. G. Chandler will become Commanding Officer when Echols leaves on March 9.

Death Came Monday To Dr. William H. Crawford

"New Allegheny" Developed During His 27-Year Term As President of the College

Dr. William Henry Crawford, president emeritus of Allegheny College, and president of the college for 27 years during its greatest period of expansion, died Monday afternoon at the Meadville City Hospital.

Dr. Crawford, who was 88 years of age, had been in failing

Mr. Darling Will Speak At Next Campus Forum

Mr. C. A. Darling, the leader for the next campus forum, has chosen as his topic "The Changeless Law of Change". The program will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in the Oratory. All members of the faculty and of the student body are invited to attend.

Mr. I. R. Beiler spoke on the topic "Nationalistic Religion" at the campus forum last Sunday.

Mr. Beiler outlined the Hebrew religion of Old Testament times and used this as an example of nationalistic religion. As an example of this type of religion in modern times, the Shinto religion of Japan was pointed out. Mr. Beiler stated that such a nationalistic feeling toward religion can arise in any country, and showed the danger of extreme patriotism that might be the outcome of such a religion.

Next Rotary Series Lecturer Is Rose Hum Lee

Rose Hum Lee will speak on "The Oriental Nations as Contributors" at a lecture in a program to be presented by the Rotary club of Meadville next Tuesday, March 14, in the Meadville High school auditorium at 8:15 p. m. This will be the second of a series of lectures in "The Institute of International Understanding" held on successive Tuesday nights in March at the auditorium.

Robert W. Williams of Ohio Northern university discussed the topic "The British Commonwealth of Nations as a Factor in the New World Order" at the first lecture in the series last Tuesday night, March 7. Mr. Williams was born in England and educated in the United States and has been affiliated with Ohio Northern university for the past fourteen years.

In his lecture Mr. Williams combined the problems of England, such as the Irish question and the India question, and possible solutions for these problems. He also discussed the contributions which the British Commonwealth of Nations can make in the world after the war by preserving and extending the Anglo-Saxon heritage.

Allegheny students, as well as townspeople, are cordially invited to attend this lecture series.

Tickets may be secured free of charge by college students at the registrar's office in Bentley hall.

health for some time and had been hospitalized since February 5. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jennie

Crawford, and two grandsons, John who is teaching in Chicago, Illinois, and William, who is in the consular service of the United States at Havana, Cuba. His daughter-in-law, Mrs. Raymond Crawford, is in France, but her exact location is not known. A son, Raymond, and a daughter, Lucy, died years ago.

Becoming president of Allegheny in 1893, Dr. Crawford served a 27-year term of office ending in 1920. The sole interruption came during World War I when he served with the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe as a Y.M.C.A. representative.

Before coming to Meadville as president of the college, Dr. Crawford had held pastorates in the Methodist Episcopal (now Methodist) Church in Chicago, and at the time of his election was professor of historical theology at Gammon Theological seminary. A native of Illinois, he was a graduate of Northwestern University and Garret Biblical Institute. Upon his resignation, which became effective in June, 1920, Dr. Crawford received the degree of Doctor of Laws from the college. The following colleges also presented him with this same degree: Dickinson college in 1902, Northwestern University in 1912, the University of Colorado in 1917, Muhlenberg College and the University of Pittsburgh in 1918. He earned the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1893.

Dr. Crawford was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, a charter member of the Kiwanis club, a member of the Methodist Old Stone church and for many years a member of the church's board of trustees.

At the end of his term as Allegheny's president, the students erected in his honor a drinking fountain on the college drive near Bentley hall. In 1918, the Crawford chimes in Ford Memorial Chapel were installed as an alumni gift in Dr. Crawford's honor.

Crawford Develops Allegheny

Development of the "new Allegheny" coincides with Dr. Crawford's presidency of the college. Previously rather destitute of friends and having an enrollment mainly of students of Meadville and nearby localities, Allegheny was elevated to the position of a first ranking college largely through the efforts of this active and progressive president. He traveled extensively to obtain funds and to secure the interest in the college of influential people. Through his efforts, many more students, a large number coming from greater distances than before, were enrolled. He possessed the courage and independence to have Montgomery gymnasium erected at a time when "gyms" were not considered essential or proper for institutions of higher learning.

Other buildings erected during Dr. Crawford's presidency were the Newton observatory, the Ford Memorial chapel, the Reis library, Arter hall, Carnegie hall, Cochran hall, and the Hulings hall annex.

In 1919, after a reorganization of the board of trustees in which the college modified its relationship with the Methodist church, an endowment fund of a half a million dollars was established. In 1911, Alden academy, a preparatory school for Allegheny was discontinued.

Activities which were started during Dr. Crawford's presidency were the Literary magazine in 1896 and the establishment of Phi Beta Kappa in 1902; sabbatical leave for professors was initiated in 1903, endowed lectureships came into being, the library was enriched, and old traditions were revived and respected, including the use of the original seal of the college.

With the death of William Henry Crawford, president emeritus of Allegheny, the College mourns the passing of another important contributors to this institution.

It was during Dr. Crawford's presidency that the College experienced its greatest expansion and that the majority of the buildings on campus were erected. It was he who, from a small local college attended mainly by Meadville students, evolved the present Allegheny attended by students from most distant states of the Union.

To Dr. Crawford Allegheny owes, in large measure, her status of a first rank college today.

More Action. Less Talk!

Are you, like us, becoming a bit tired of hearing constantly about the lethargy of Allegheny students in everything they undertake—or don't undertake?

We have been hearing about this matter all semester in chapel talks by student and faculty members, in Campus editorials, and even in ordinary conversation.

Everyone is only too willing to expound on the examples of the so-called student slump—poor attendance at the campus forums on Sunday, the bogging down of the war stamp and consolidated relief chest drives (although through first aid in the nick of time the war chest drive ended "over the top" and the bond drive is being revived), the never-completed Ivory Tower—all wonderful ideas, but only carried out half-heartedly. However, no one is willing to offer a cure.

We were in this same state of indifference last year when a town meeting snapped us out of it with a bang. Joe Sorce's college-community war bond drive and Joan Hexter's bandage rolling group were the beginning of our getting and staying "on our toes" for the rest of the year.

Nothing really electrifying like this has happened this year. Ideas form like bubbles, grow for a while, and then burst without ever having had a chance to show their true colors. The fact that the ideas do come proves that we still are not in as deplorable a condition as some would have us believe.

This is a challenge to each of us, a challenge to bring forth ideas that will knock us from our perches as riders and convert us to drivers who see things through and make every activity we attempt a complete success.

Elections Are Coming Up!

It hardly seems possible, but here it is—time to elect new officers for campus organizations, to reorganize the Allegheny Undergraduate Council for a new year.

The emphasis is being put on prompt election of new members to the respective seats on the council, not because we wish to hurry the old council out—far from that, since it has operated more efficiently and has accomplished more than any A. U. C. of recent years—but rather that the new members can have an opportunity to find out how the A. U. C. functions and can plan its policies and program for the following year.

Furthermore, since the slate of nominees for the A. U. C. presidency is drawn up from the new members of the A. U. C. plus any aspirants who present a petition signed by 100 students, it will make the task of the present A. U. C. much easier in setting up the framework of the election and the new council.

Prompt elections and a genuine interest in the activities for the new year can help make the transitional period less difficult and can give the new campus leaders an opportunity to profit by old experiences for a new year.

The Social Whirl

By PEGGY OWENS

The week-end approaching will again have an accent on dancing. The highlight of the program is the Junior Prom to be held Saturday night. On Friday evening Phi Gamma Delta will hold a radio party in the grill.

The events of the past week in review:

Alpha Chi Omega takes pleasure in announcing the engagement of Sara Griffiths, '45, to Naval Aviation Cadet Max Ralph, formerly of Northwestern university. Jean Campbell, '46, was formally pledged to Alpha Chi on Sunday, March 5.

The new officers for Alpha Gamma Delta are as follows: president, Mary Ann McCurdy, '45; vice-president, Phyllis Campbell, '45; recording secretary, Martha Cahill, '46; and treasurer, Jane Adams, '45. Next Monday, March 13, these officers will be formally installed.

"Color and Style" was the theme of her talk when Miss Miriam Brubaker spoke on Monday evening to members of Alpha Xi Delta.

Kappa Kappa Gamma wishes to announce that Nancy Altman, '46, has accepted social privileges; also the engagement of Marjorie Fortin, '46, to Corp. George W. Carl.

The new initiates of Theta Upsilon gave a party for the actives in the rooms last Friday night.

Last Friday evening the grill was the scene of a radio dance held by Phi Kappa Psi. Guests included Miss Mildred Ludwig, Mr. Philip Benjamin and guests from other fraternities. Ed McPhee, ex-'46, and Dana Harland, ex-'47, were week-end guests.

More Navy men were back last week, including Dave Patterson, ex-'46, Gordon Patterson, ex-'45, Earl Leland, ex-'45, and Dave Schreiber, ex-'46. The Marines were represented by Harold Allen, ex-'45.

FLYING HIGH

This Week's Outstanding Air Student

A/S John Tucker has been selected by Major D. L. Echols as the "outstanding aviation student" of the week. In the Major's words, he was "the ramrod of the Bond Drive" in Meadville, and it is on this account particularly that he was picked.

We might call John a "local boy," in view of the fact that he was born in Titusville, Pa., on March 27, 1918. In high school he was active in extracurricular activities, being athletic manager for three years and basketball manager, as well as playing intramural basketball, singing in the Glee club, and actively participating in the High Y and Dramatic club. In the way of hobbies he took up cartooning and photography.

After graduation in 1935, Tucker went to work for the Cyclops Steel Company, rising to a foreman. A considerable part of the work here was in defense jobs for the navy.

On September 13, 1943, John entered the Army, taking his basic training at Miami Beach, Florida, and became an Aviation Student on the Allegheny campus on November 18. After four months on our campus, he has come to two conclusions: first, that "Allegheny is a swell place;" and, second, that most of the girls here don't work very hard. (Is that the stinging truth, girls?) Tucker's ambition is to become a navigator, but he says that he will accept and do his best in any position to which he is assigned.

The greatest accomplishment of his career at Allegheny is his success in the War Bond campaign. Selected by Lt. Chandler and Major Echols to be chairman of the War Bond campaign at the 31st C.T.D., he, with a group of 10 or 15, formed the core of the great program. John himself is credited with the amazing total of $140,000 worth of bonds.

After the war A/S Tucker hopes to return to his wife and daughter, and if he gets a commission in the Air Corps to remain in it or else return to his old job at the Cyclops Steel Co. For the best of luck in his present job and for the completion of his future plans we extend our best wishes for success.

"AT HOME!"

By LOIS MORSE, '47

Eerie slivers of light come out from under the closed doors. Now and then a faint groan can be heard. Or a wail may arise in the distance making the hair sit up on the back of one's neck. The gloom and darkness, the feeling of desolation give one a desperate sense of loneliness. The lonely moors? The morgue? The madhouse? No, just Tarbell house on a Saturday night. Girls lamenting for days gone past when they had dates.

You can start on the first floor and work up, and what do you find? This is it:

Peg Hanford and Dorothy Smallman lie quietly on their beds letting their eyes roam over their room slowly, hour after hour. This is the result of their having been told so many times that their room is the prettiest in the house.

Across the hall Jean Singley practices Tarzan calls—looking for a mate no doubt. Edie Moffat, her cellmate, has taken up residence in the properties closet of the Playshop.

At the end of the hall are Cory Irwin, who climbs on radiators, screaming "let me out, let me out!", and Wini Strait, the only girl who can get her down.

On the second floor we have Marmie Auty, who is always Wright, and Evelyn Becker, who gets roses and candy, every day. (We have studied the situation and will soon publish a new book on how she does it.)

Then, going down the hall, Tootie Gardner, the "date girl," and Margie Bittner, called "minnewawa" because she laughs like bubbling water.

Suddenly, across from them Clinton De Witt pokes her head out the door and screams, "Two minute meeting of the 'Beam' Club." The entire second floor skips into the room, and sits down to beam for Glenna (new Phi Delt pledge) for 120 seconds. Then they walk slowly out, wishing that they, too, could be a "chosen one."

Next in order are Joan Vance, who is never there because Nick is here, and Beverly Wilcox who is never at home because there are still men on campus.

Across the hall, you can always find Buzz Bell industriously studying Spanish, biology, and never getting behind in her work. (This is fiction, of course.) Her roommate, we are too modest to mention, and besides she's slowly going blind gazing at her left hand and muttering, "Everywhere—Bells, Bells, BELLS!"

Upstairs Sallie Lou Connor and Ruth Fairley sit gazing at the ceiling and sniffing and saying, "It can't happen here again!"

Suzanne Lachman and Martie Dundon are in the front room. In their leisure time they fill paper bags with water and drop them on the heads of innocent passersby.

Helen Merseberg and Barb Dietrich have the next room. Barb is the most modest girl in the house, walking to and from showers in a ski-suit. Helen, naturally the noisy type, is recovering from hour tests and sits morosely staring at the window saying quietly, "Why can't I have a yo-yo?"

Then we go down farther and find Thea White and Lois Eichenberg who are the little girls who aren't there, being up at Brooks for the week for repairs. (on the room!—on the room!)

Across the hall is Gene Gault, with adhesive tape over her mouth and her arms tied to a chair while Alice Lowry tries drawing her for practice for art class.

Then, last but not least, we have our proctors, Miss Hanson and Miss Brubaker, but they've left for a rest-cure.

They just keep hoping (who doesn't?) that men will be back in style soon so that the "At Home" on our Saturday calling cards can be omitted.

dency. The late Dr. Bruce Gamble, captain of the Pennsylvania National Guard unit in Meadville was their leader. Since the male enrollment of the college was almost completely depleted during World War I, a Student Army Training Corps was established. Thirteen Alleghenians had the distinction of being among the first to go overseas. Chemical students, they were on the Crile Hospital Ship staff.

Funeral services for Dr. Crawford were conducted yesterday at 2:30 in the Old Stone church. In order that students might attend, all college classes for Wednesday afternoon were cancelled. Interment was in Greenwich cemetery.

NEW BOOKS

By HELEN HOUGHTON

There's a fascinating new book in the library this week. The title alone is enough to make you read it—Der Fuehrer, by Konrad Heiden. It's a recent Book-of-the-Month club selection as you'd expect. There have been many books about Hitler, but seldom has anyone managed to say any more about him than Mein Kampf had already boldly stated. The penetrating pages of Hitler's personal life is only one of the reasons Der Fuehrer stands out. Konrad Heiden, by means of some never before released material and his own first hand observation, tells "the whole story of Hitler's rise to power from the very beginning to the day when the blood purge eliminated the last opposition and left him absolute dictator of Germany."

The Craig room has always been noted for its popularity, but for those of you who go up there to read I have a recommendation—make a bee line for the shelf opposite the fireplace. That's where you'll find most of the recent fiction and non-fiction. Four of my last year's favorites are there now. There is Xavier Herbert's story of the caste problem of Australia, Capricornia, that bests Hemingway in realism. It is as Carl Van Doren says "a powerful story, so full of exciting incidents it never drags, too full of unmistakable veracity ever to be doubted." Another is Eve Curie's Journey Among Warriors, her journalistic account of her personal experiences and observations on her daring 40,000 mile trip to the battlefields of our war. Then there's Elliott Paul's The Last Time I Saw Paris, chock full of unforgettable characters. And finally, Andre Maurois' autobiography, I Remember, I Remember. It's a beautiful, sensitive piece of writing.

Bishop's Crusade Is Studied

Dale Ruth, '45, led a discussion on the responsibility of the rural church to its community at Monday's meeting of the Thoburn club. A decision was made to present a monthly chapel program, conducted by members of the Thoburn club. The Rev. Walter Warner, associate pastor of the Old Stone Church in Meadville, will lead discussion at the next meeting on March 13, 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the Arter Speech library.

The Thoburn club is undertaking an intensive study of the "Bishops' Crusade for a New World Order." The following is an official summary of the Crusade.

"The Crusade for a New World Order is a movement from within the Methodist church which seeks: (1) to develop, clarify and mobilize the sentiment of all the members of the Church in favor of a righteous, lasting peace and a Christian world, and against those attitudes and movements which are contrary to such principles; and (2) to bring that great body of sentiment and influence to bear at the place the decisions will be made.

"In other words, the Christian forces must not wait until the decisions regarding the peace have been made and then protest if they are un-Christian; they must take a constructive hand in formulating the peace.

"People are being asked to write personal letters to any and all persons who may have a hand in shaping the peace, and to express their sentiments against a narrow and selfish isolationism and in favor of a never-ending peace and the Christianization of the world.

"The whole program will culminate in a Day of Consecration, Sunday, March 26, 1944, during which the people will dedicate themselves anew to the principles of the Prince of Peace and the continued evangelization of the world.

"The platform of the Crusade is opposed to what is commonly known as isolationism; it is in favor of international collaboration; and it is in favor of a larger and more energetic missionary policy on the part of the Church, including the reconstruction of our own work, the relief and rehabilitation of our own people, and a more vigorous attempt to evangelize and Christianize all men and all social processes everywhere.

"The Crusade is not a financial campaign, a political movement or a movement for the propagandizing of a definite peace plan.

"This, then, is the Crusade platform:

"The peoples of the world must choose between INTERNATIONAL COLLABORATION, in which lies the greatest possibility of enduring peace, and ISOLATIONISM, in which lies the certainty of continuing war.

"As Christians, we choose INTERNATIONAL COLLABORATION and such international organization as, in the judgment of experts, may be necessary to establish World Law and Order based upon justice and brotherhood.

"As CHRISTIANS, we reject ISOLATIONISM, which subordinates the well-being of the world to national self-interest, and denies the Christian doctrine that all men are children of one Father and are members of one family.

"Jesus Christ is the saviour of the world.

"The world is our parish."

Basketball is definitely the sport of the day as six teams battled it out Tuesday evening in Montgomery gym and more games are scheduled for next week.

In the first game the Independents, greatly handicapped without their captain, Millie Shurtleff, '45, good-naturedly lost a 33-4 game to the Brooks B team. M. J. Sector, '46, and Pat Pickett, '46, led Brooks' team with 13 and 12 respectively. Joanne Rothrock, '46, made all the Independents' goals.

In the second game, Helen Loop, '45, led her Alpha Xi team to a 25-19 win over the T.U.'s by scoring 10 points. "Butch" Burhans, '45, was high scorer for the T.U.'s with 12 to her credit.

Although not the closest game of the evening, the most exciting was the Theta-Alfa Chi game with the latter the losers by a 34-19 score. Betty Lee, '46, was right in there pitching and came out high scorer for the evening with 17 tallies. Jean Merrill lead the Alpha Chi's with 7.

There have been some good teams on the floor, and from the looks of things there is going to be as much rivalry in the losers' tournament as there is in the winners'.

The schedule of games for the next week is as follows:
Thursday, March 9—
7:00-8:00—Kappas vs. Alpha Gam
8:00-9:00—Gamble vs. Tarbell
9:00-10:00—Ridge vs. Beebe

Tuesday, March 14—
7:00-8:00—Crawford vs. Independents
8:00-9:00—Brooks A vs. Brooks B
9:00-10:00—T.U. vs. Alpha Chi

In South Africa, as in the U. S. A., the greeting Have a "Coke" helps the American sailor to get along. And it helps, too, in your home when you have Coca-Cola in your icebox. Across the Seven Seas, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—the friendly gesture of good-natured folks.

1943-44 Cage Season Finished

Gators Down Grove City By Score of 45-35

Allegheny's youthful basketball squad brought a most unusual season to a successful conclusion last Wednesday night by downing the Grove City informals on the losers' court by a score of 45-35.

However, the victory wasn't achieved anywhere near as easily as the final score might indicate, for actually the Gators trailed during most of the action. The Grover combine hopped off to an early lead, holding an 8-3 margin at the quarter and an 18-14 advantage at the half time. The third period saw the visiting Allegheny quintet outscore their hosts 13-9, thus overcoming the four-point deficit and bringing the score to a 27-27 tie at the three-quarter intermission. In the final stanza the Gators bettered their third period spurt by tallying a total of 18 points on seven buckets and four for four from the foul line, while holding their ancient rivals to but eight markers, leaving the final score standing at 45-35.

Harry "Jap" Conroy, playing his last college game, racked up another 18 points to again take individual honors and to make his exit from college competition in the traditional "blaze of glory." "Speedo" Donaldson had another "good" night, bagging 12 counters on five field goals and two free tosses, to come out "runner up" once again. Bailey's eight, Fuhrer's three, and two apiece by Nichols and Neithamer rounded out the Gator scoring for the evening.

In winning this last engagement of the year the Gators broke for the first time the pattern they established earlier in the season of dropping every alternate tilt. The victory, coming on top of the previous Monday's defeat of the Erie Genelcos, enabled the Blue and Gold to wind up with a two-game winning "streak" and a favorable record of 7 wins out of 12 starts.

Terrapin members are resting this week with no meetings at all. Next week the Minor Terrapin members who were admitted in the fall will try out for Major Terrapin.

Open hour swims begin tonight in Montgomery gym at 7:30, and will return to the regular night next Tuesday and every Tuesday thereafter.

All Boots and Saddle members are asked to meet in the physical education office in Brooks hall Thursday evening at 6:45 p.m.

All out-door sports will begin as soon as the weather permits.

Team Won Seven Out Of Twelve Games

With the 1943-44 basketball season now in the annals of the record books, following last week's finale at Grove City, it is time once again to add up scores, compute percentages and do whatever other figuring is deemed necessary in summarizing team and individual achievements of the late campaign.

To begin with, a total of twelve contests were waged, with each of six different teams being engaged twice. Out of these twelve appearances on the court, the locals racked up seven wins as against five setbacks for a winning percentage of .583. In points scored they amassed a season's total of 556 which bettered the 472 recorded by the opposition by a good 84 points. At the same time the Gator squad showed at least fair form from the foul line by dropping in 72 free tosses out of 139 chances for a team average of .518.

In the individual ledger, senior Harry Conroy accounted for 163 of the team's markers on 74 field goals and 15 out of 26 from the penalty line thus averaging 14.8 points a game. His .576 average in this department was second only to teammate Frank Fuhrer's .583 or seven for 12. Jap took individual honors in eight of the eleven games in which he participated and his 26 counters in the first G.E. game was the high water mark reached by any Allegheny man this year. Lee "Speedo" Donaldson tallied an even 100 to give him runner up honors and an average of 8.3 a game recorded for 12 games.

Sum Nichols registered 39 field goals and 10 out of 19 foul shots to wind up the season with a total of 88 and a foul line average of .526.

Rog Bailey follows Nick in the final analysis with a composite score of 65 while Kirkpatrick and Fuhrer fall behind him with 54 and 43 totals, respectively. Although the rest of the squad didn't figure as prominently in the scoring as the aforementioned, they all saw quite a bit of action in "the spots" and must be considered important factors in making a most unusual season a comparative success.

CATHERINE WHITE and GERALDINE WALLACE

South Pacific Area

Today, the first anniversary of my entrance into the army, my thoughts turn to Allegheny more strongly than they ever have before. It seems such a long time ago, that eventful day when the 48 of us pulled out on the train from the Meadville depot after such a grand send-off by so many Alleghenians.

Since then we have been sent to all parts of the world. We who once lived together in close harmony are now only distant correspondents, but our letters to each other and from those still at school serve to recall those happy days at Allegheny and give to me the feeling that "This, too shall pass away," and Allegheny will no longer be only a memory but shall once again be a living, vibrant part of our lives. This belief is one of the chief factors that keeps us going.

Just recently I've received letters from Dick Meikle in England, Ellis McKay in Wisconsin, Wes Donaldson in Virginia, Bob Trace in Amherst, Mass., and I hear frequently from John Caruthers, who is out in the same neck of the woods as I am. John and I were together from last February through January of this year, but just recently we were forced to separate. I hope we can get together again, for he is one fine boy.

I just received a lot of Allegheny publications which I certainly appreciate. I've got to congratulate the Campus crew in charge of circulation to servicemen. I received four Campuses in one day, plus the December Alumni magazine. Yesterday I received Dr. Giddens' semi-yearly letter, which was really welcome, and I wish to thank him through you. Trace wrote that the Kaldron is out, and I'm really impatient to see it.

I wish I could tell you the real story of what its like out here, but I guess I'll have to wait till after the war. The chief feature is the monotony of doing the same thing day in and day out. Even the air-raids are becoming boring, because they are so routine. It has reached the point where it is unusual not to have an air-raid. Life is pretty primitive compared to the states, but we have all developed a pretty high degree of resourcefulness.

I have yet to run into any Alleghenians, with the exception of those who entered the army in my group. This seems to be an exceptional case, judging from the letters I read which are printed in Allegheny publications.

I read Dr. Schultz's speech through several times and I believe that if Allegheny continues to follow the pattern he laid down, the present period of transition and experiment will be regarded later as one of the main foundations in the struggle to make Allegheny an ideal college.

I certainly appreciate the thoughtfulness and consideration so many of you have shown and I know others who may not say so in words, but feel the same way.

Sincerely,
Cpl. J. H. Gardner

I was formerly at Michigan State Normal college studying engineering but have been transferred to await the start of medical school next fall. I did not have the Campus sent to me there, but I read Pvt. Barney's. It is swell to keep in touch with school. Incidentally, I am working as a chaplain's assistant at this post. Keep the old spirit of Allegheny burning, and maybe we will all be back in circulation before too many years—I hope.

Respectfully,
Pvt. Chas. W. Zimmerman

Time flies here faster than we do, it seems. After we returned from Oklahoma from leave, we were shipped here to begin our aviation training. There are about the same number of cadets here as Army Cadets at Allegheny, when things were in full swing there. We live in the halls, mine being Douglas, one of the newer and better equipped buildings. Our chow is fine, and we get all we want of it.

Classes are really something to write about. I thought I had a lot to do at school, even though I never did it. Well, we have eight 50-minute periods each day, and go on a six-day schedule. We take math, physics, navigation, recognitions, code, aerology, engines, principles of flight, and top this off with an hour and a half of physical education. Boy! Does it make you feel good. No kidding, though, I never felt better. I really believe I am starting to learn how to study.

How I wish I had cracked the whip, and done some while at Allegheny. The college here is about the same size as Allegheny, but the campus can't compare to the old Alma Mater. Many things here remind me of Allegheny—the long winding walks, a tower somewhat like Bentley's on one of the halls. You also have to struggle uphill to the school from town. You know, one of those hills that you just can't seem to make when you have a girl along.

I am in Chicago on liberty for the weekend. We get liberty every other weekend from 11:00 a. m. Saturday until 8:00 Monday.

There are about 100 other V-12's in the same set-up I am. They all seem fairly certain that we will go to medical school.

I am what is known as a hospital corpsman. I have been assigned to a ward in surgery and I do anything the nurse tells me to do. I take temperature, pulse, blood pressure, respiration rate and what have you. I give baths, sweep the decks, empty wastebaskets and bed pans, administer pills, rub backs and run errands, and that isn't all.

It isn't such a lovely set-up, but it could be worse.

A/S Charles H. Gallup, V-12 Building 66-L. S. Naval Hospital Great Lakes, Ill.

How is college life at Allegheny? I suppose it is flourishing with lots of Army Air Corps men and beautiful women. Those guys don't know how lucky they are. I had a surprise the other day. I met a boy from Allegheny. His name is Cassius McGrew and he is a Phi Delt.

We have been having some sunshine lately which has been something unusual. It sure is good to be able to go out and not get soaked to the skin.

I sure wish I could see Pop and Mom Dunbar. How are they doing now?

What girls are living in the Phi Psi house? Are any of the plaques still hanging or have they taken them all down?
