This distruction of pre-conceived notions such as this about Mussolini has met with several experiences. Tell the story of the resentment at the Hubbard's dinner table about when I was bold enough to say that Lincoln did not run away from his own wedding according to the best evidence as a gentleman who had been talking claimed. Also, the resentment, too, that I got when I wrote my sketch of Josephine to show her the ordinary immoral little cat she was. The/conception the American woman of Josephine was that that Abbott had given.
