My dear Mr. Walsh:

I wrote to Mr. Warren, the young Kentucky minister who has made so thorough an investigation of Thomas Lincoln's life in Kentucky, about an article for Collier's; and he comes back with a long letter, very interesting to me.

Like all writers, he wants to do more than one article - he thinks there should be four, - the first four parts of the book he has on hand. Will you not look over his suggestion? If you want to talk it over with me, I will be glad to meet you.

Sincerely yours,
