IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES AT LAYING OF CORNERSTONE

Dr. Hammerschlag, Carnegie Tech President, Makes Principal Address in the Chapel

COMMERCIALIZED ATHLETICS SCORED

In the presence of the majority of the students of the College, as well as many visitors, the ceremonies of laying the corner stone of the new gymnasium were held at three o'clock on Tuesday 24, 1919. Due to the weather conditions Doctor Hammerschlag, President of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, the speaker procured for the occasion, rendered his address in the Chapel. President Crawford introduced the speaker and read a telegram from Mr. A. W. Thompson, President of the Board of Trustees, in which the latter excused himself from the ceremony because of important business affairs.

The subject of Doctor Hammerschlag's address was based upon athletics, the appropriate topic for the occasion, and one upon which the speaker is very well versed as he was himself a former athlete and has always taken a keen interest in athletics. The address was in the nature of a defence of the system of athletics employed at his school and at Allegheny, by which system no financial inducements are offered to star players in order to obtain their services.

"It is typically American," said Dr. Hammerschlag, to commercialize athletics as we commercialize everything else. The lax rules concerning amateur athletes makes this possible in our schools. If a man, not in college, accepts money for playing, he is classed as professional; yet college athletes get their way paid through school, either entirely or in part, for their services. Do the athletics represent the students of the school, the things which the school stands for, or do they represent a separate branch of school life, that part which is occupied by the big, brawny, beefy type of manhood which is in school for no other purpose than to raise the athletic standard of the school in the eyes of the public?

"Shall we have sport for sport's sake or shall we let the desire to win overcome the higher things of school life? The question is; do we want a school which trains artists, scientists, technical men, etc., a school which sends out leaders of men, or do we want one which has a reputation for graduating great players, the big man, the animal type? How many famous athletes have succeeded after leaving school in making a great place for themselves in the world? Few," says Doctor Hammerschlag.

The address was ended with an appeal to the students to join with those of Carnegie Tech "in a stand for cleaner athletic methods; for those which stand for the perfecting of the body in order that men may, through their clean fine bodies, do bigger and more courageous things."

After this address the ceremony of laying the corner stone was held on the northwest side of the gymnasium. In a few words, Dr. Crawford spoke of the three things that the new building was expected to stand for: "First, a better physical manhood; second, a larger place for Allegheny College in inter-scholastic athletics; and third, a building which will enhance the dignified social life of the school and contribute to a larger life for this old College."

Prayer was offered by Doctor Miles, treasurer of the school. Coach Hammett read the following list of arti-

Oratorical Contest For Women Being Planned

CONTEST WILL BE MUCH SIMILAR TO MEN'S ORATORICAL FETE.

Tuesday, November 18, the young women met in Alden Hall during the Chapel service to discuss the question of oratorical activities among themselves. Miss Helen Millhoff, '21, the only woman representative on the Oratorical Association, told of the plans which were being made for this year. Among the Freshmen and Sophomores there was to be a debating team, and among the Juniors extemporaneous speaking and other contests of interest to them. This was the plan for the coming year if it would be supported. To make sure of the interest in this subject a vote was taken. It resulted in an almost unanimous desire to continue with plans for an oratorical contest and an oratorical association. Miss Spalding and Miss Susan Jenkins, '20, expressed favorable opinions on this subject, also urging the girls to support it to the end.

SUNDAY AT THE COUNTY FARM.

Sunday afternoon the Y. W. C. A. held services at the County Farm, with Ruth Sjoberg, '21, as leader. Miss Kathryn Robbins, '23, gave a solo, accompanied by Miss Mary Gealy, '22. Mr. Floyd Moore, '23, gave an informal talk. Those who go find their efforts fully repaid by the appreciation of the old people and wish that more of the students would be interested.

THIRTY-TWO MEMBERS CHOSEN FOR GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Under Leadership of Ella Allgood, '20, Interesting Program Being Arranged

OPERETTA TO BE GIVEN IN MARCH

The Girls Glee Club, under the leadership of Miss Ella Allgood, '20, held their try-out for new members, as well as for the old, Friday, November 14. The first concert of importance for the coming year is the joint concert of both men and girls glee clubs. This is to be held, if possible, before the Christmas vacation, and promises to be a great success. The money obtained from this concert will be given to the fund for the New Gymnasium. Another event which is promised to the students of Allegheny is the concert given by the girls alone. A cantata or operetta, combined with stunts and songs, will be the program about February or March. In all, the club expects to be very active this year and give the best possible. Now the Girls Glee

Quill Club Initiates Twelve Members

THE LIBRARY PRESENTED WITH THREE CURRENT MAGAZINES; CLUB ROOMS TO BE IMPROVED.

An unusual meeting of Quill Club was held in the rooms at the library last Tuesday evening. Eight regular members and three ex-officio members were initiated into the club after each one of the "Neophytes" had passed a severe mental examination. The following are the new members: The Misses Vesta Johnson, '19; Anna Nelson, '20, and Dorothy Roach, '21; and Messrs. Ralph Ware, '20; G. F. Meredith, '20; G. M. Bollinger, '20; H. J. Ruse, '21; and Paul Jenkins, '22; also the following ex-officio members: L. L. Campbell, '20; J. C. Bird, '23; and Ralph Limber, '23.

Previous to the meeting, the regular business meeting was held. In past years Quill Club always subscribed for one or two current magazines. It was decided to procure three magazines this year; namely, "The Boston Transcript," "Contemporary Verse," and "Poetry." As the club is at present in excellent financial condition, it was decided to secure a portrait of the Canterbury Pilgrims for the club room. Through the courtesy of Doctor Schultz, the club is also to be presented with several of Vachel Lindsay's paintings.

The question of a tentative date for Harriet Monroe's lectures was also discussed. Nothing definite concerning the date could be determined. The time at which this poetess will be here will, however, be announced in the columns of the Campus as soon as possible.

Preparations Under Way For Party

HULINGS GYMNASIUM TAKING ON FESTIVAL APPEARANCE.

Preparations for the Hulings Hall party to be held Saturday evening, November 29 in the Hulings Hall Gymnasium, are well under way. Invitations have been sent out and the various committees have worked diligently for the past two weeks. From all appearances at present, the party promises to be an interesting affair. The gymnasium is beginning already, to take on a new appearance, but what that appearance is we are not yet permitted to disclose.

The chairmen of the various committees are as follows: Miss Alice Robinson, '20, decoration; Miss Allgood, '20, program; and Miss Marguerite Diefenderfer, '20, refreshments.

Misses Lucile Shelley, and Mable Lynn, from Erie, were the over Sunday guests of the Misses Genevieve and Josephine Hovis, '22.

The reception for college students, given by the Epworth League of the First Methodist Church, Thursday evening, was attended by a large number of the girls from the Hall.

Fourteen Men Win Coveted Block "A"

PRESENTATION TO BE MADE IN CHAPEL FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5.

Immediately after the termination of the football season the Athletic Council votes to a certain number of men on the football squad who have shown themselves worthy of such distinction the right to display on their persons a Gold "A." The requirements for such an award are usually in the point of quarters of games played. And thus, according to this custom, the Athletic Council last week voted Gold "A's" to the following:

- Captain John W. Harbaugh, '20.
- Roger L. Baldwin, '21.
- Daniel J. Murphy, '22.
- Hiram A. Jones, '22.
- Arthur Kramer, '21.
- Harry E. Coulson, '20.

- Stanley E. Plumb, '21.
- James W. Kinnear, '20.

Head Coach Hammett and Assistant Coach Barnes announce their decisions in the matter of "A" 2nd letters. The coaches have been very much pleased with the showing of the members of the squad who were so fortunate enough to receive a

Alumni Hold Dinner In New York City

DR. CRAWFORD SPEAKS OF NEW GYMNASIUM. IDA TARBELL AND DR. ELLIOTT OTHER SPEAKERS.

Fifty-three loyal Alleghenians attended the annual dinner of the New York Alumni Association held at the Aldine Club, 200 Fifth Avenue on Friday, November 14, 1919.

It was not only the largest, but the most representative group of alumni ever assembled in New York City. The venerable George McLoughlin, of the class of '64, came down from Albany, and the various classes from that early date to the present were well represented.

The speakers were Ida Tarbell, Dr. Elliott and President Crawford. President Crawford told of the extensive plans for the future development of the College, with special reference to the new gym.

It is always a treat to hear from Ida Tarbell and this was especially so on Friday.

"It is a challenge to our intelligence to resort to police force in dealing with those whose thoughts and ideas differ from ours," said Miss Tarbell in speaking of the present unrest which seems to be sweeping the United States and the world. "Change is essential and it behooves each one of us to lend our full aid in the directing of these momentous developments."

Dr. Elliott's talk was a genuine inspiration. Those who were fortunate enough to have worked with him in college felt they were back again in Bentley thriving and growing under the tutelage of a master. It is through such giant forces of truth and justice and understanding that Allegheny has built up and continues to hold such an enviable reputation in the world of small American colleges.

Following the speeches, a short business session was held and the present officials were continued in office another year. President, W. N. Ridge, and Secretary-Treasurer, Leroy Peterson.

The next dinner of the association will be held on Friday, February 19th, or Saturday, February 20th, 1920. Further details of this meeting may be obtained from the Secretary, 69 West 11th St., New York City.

Tickets for the Artist's Concert are now on sale at the Halls and the Fraternities for their entertainment Friday evening, December 5th. See next week's Campus for the program.

ALLEGHENY SCRUBS TRIUMPH OVER THIEL RESERVES 8-6

Gordon Makes Sensational 80-Yard Run For Touchdown in Last Minute of Play

FRESHMEN DEFEAT SOPHOMORES AT SOCCER 1-0

Allegheny's Second Team met and defeated the Thiel College Reserves in a hard-fought battle on Montgomery Field Saturday to the tune of 8 to 6. Led by Captain Barcus, the Allegheny team showed a wonderful spirit of aggressiveness from the kick-off to the final whistle.

The Thiel aggregation started off like a whirlwind, and, before the Allegheny defense had time to realize the fact, the visitors had pushed the ball over the goal for a touchdown. Allegheny soon got its breath, and never after was the Allegheny goal in danger.

Mansfield easily played the best game for his team, time after time carrying the ball for large gains. Gordon, who was substituted for Secor in the last quarter, made an eighty-yard run near the end of the game; it could not have been better timed to suit the mad mob of spectators who witnessed the game. Every man on the Allegheny team was full of pep and fight and made good use of his knowledge obtained by practicing daily against the first team.

First Quarter.

Thiel kicked off to Barcus on Allegheny's 20-yard line. On Allegheny's first down Secor made three yards through the line. Secor made no gain on his second attempt. Barcus made three at right end. Quarterback Bell, of Thiel, doing so eight minutes after the game started. The goal from touchdown was missed. Score: Thiel, 6; Allegheny, 0.

A pass, Barcus to Russell, was complete. This placed the ball on Thiel's 3-yard line. Allegheny made no gain through the line. Mansfield fumbled the ball, Thiel recovering, made three off guard and two off tackle. They lost a yard on the next down. The kick was blocked, Loomis recovering on the 3-yard line. Neither Barcus, Secor nor Mansfield could gain any ground. Wills fumbled, Thiel recovering, made three yards through the line. On the next play Thiel was forced back over her own goal line, giving Allegheny 2 points for a safety. Score: Thiel, 6; Allegheny, 2.

The ball was given to Thiel on her 20-yard line. After Thiel made a yard at right end, Mansfield intercepted a pass on the 30-yard line. Mansfield made three and then four yards around right end. Leffingwell

Editorial

The Chapel period last Saturday morning was turned over to the Student Senate and the men of the College.

Two important matters were brought before the male student body. One was the question of the Honor System. There has been more or less discrepancy in connection with the conduct of the periodic quizzes in the various classes. When the Senate requested a motion for the support or abolition of the system, the student body voted its unanimous approval. From now on, with this wholehearted support, the Student Senate, in the capacity of the Honor Court, will prosecute and inflict the maximum penalty upon those who violate the principles and rules as laid down in the Honor System. Any Freshman who has not a clear cut and well defined conception as to the meaning and real significance of the Honor System and the Honor pledge which he affixes to his test paper, should speak to Mr. Meredith, President of the Student Senate, or any other member of that body, and become thoroughly cognisant of their full importance and significance.

A second very vital consideration was the detrimental effect of some college pranks on the good name of our Institution. The sentiments of many of the students were heard. References were made to several incidents of the last couple weeks and of which we are all acquainted. The main idea of all the speeches was that some harmless pranks add to the spirit of the College and let the people of Meadville know that Allegheny College is in their town; but such harmful escapades as have been performed lately must be abolished. We, all of us, must abstain from any prank that is detrimental to the good name of our Alma Mater.

LIBRARY.

During the past week an interesting collection of Bibles, Testaments, and other old books have been placed in the exhibition case of the library. Some of the earliest editions of these, bear dates of the early 16th and 17th centuries, are printed in Chinese, Greek, Latin, and English, have rare engravings, hand-tooled bindings, and form an interesting display from the Jacob Winstrop, and William Bentley collections.

Recently Dr. Crawford received a letter from Mrs. William McConway, granddaughter of T. J. Fox Alden, the founder of Allegheny College. Mrs. McConway had discovered in her library a Syriac and Latin Testament, printed in 1217, and which had been used by Timothy Alden when he was in college. She said that she would send it to the college. We are quite proud, and delighted to be the possessors of such a rare and interesting book.

Allegheny Represented At Student Convention

SUSAN JENKINS, '20, AND FLORENCE MILLER, '21, ATTEND MEETING AT HOOD COLLEGE.

Miss Susan Jenkins, '20, and Miss Florence Miller, '21, were the delegates from Allegheny College who attended the Student Government Convention at Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa., November 20-21-22. Delegates from the leading colleges all over the country, who have self-government, were present at this convention. We are proud to be among those colleges, large and small, who have tried student government and found it a wonderful success.

SERVICE IN CHAPEL THANKSGIVING MORNING

Held Under the Auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

There will be no Wednesday evening meeting of the Y. M. C. A. this week owing to the fact that there is to be a Union Thanksgiving Service to be held in the Chapel on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The meeting is a union service of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., and will be in the hands of S. L. Maxwell, the Y. M. C. A. secretary. It is important that every student, especially those active in Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. work should be present and make the meeting a success. The hour has been arranged to suit the majority of the students. There will be special singing, and as the service is to be only about three-quarters of an hour in length, it is hoped that every student will be present.

Will you call, and let us dress you up? VEITHS'.

BULLETS

S-s-s-s-h,—be quiet. Don't make so much noise! Squeak, squeak,—bang! The window swung open. I could readily see the shadowy forms disappear through the opening. Excitement quivered through me. For sometime I was in doubt whether to follow; but my venturesome spirit overruled and soon I also disappeared through the window. Once on the inside I had to be careful lest they leave a watchman behind. Listening intently I could hear them in the darkness ahead; and now and then I could see the glare of a flashlight. Several times they stopped for consultation. What a daring lot they were. How carefully they felt their way and I followed, led on by my inquisitive nature. In the dim night glow I saw them steal up the stairway. Bravely I followed and soon I found myself at the top of the stairs more alert than ever. Far enough, thought I, for I could easily watch the proceedings of the marauders. They were at that time holding another consultation. Again they proceeded onward making tremendous noise. I could hear the click of door knobs of the opening and closing of doors. Suddenly, through the night air there was heard a series of revolver shots. Burglars! Burglars! Help! Help! Confusion reigned. The house was in an uproar. I tore madly down the stairs and was soon at the window; the slamming of doors and screaming voices growing dimmer. I jumped through the window and was soon secreted in the dark shadows beyond. The terrific noise on the fire escape next attracted my attention. The shadowy forms swearing and cursing, made their way to the ground amid wild shrieking cries from the building. They beat a hasty retreat and were soon in the safety of the darkness. I retreated through the dark shadows and made my way home-ward. What a night's adventure.

Findings. "Crack! crack! bang! Pound!—and I sat up in bed with a jump. What on earth! Was it a fire-drill? Then it dawned on me that I was hearing revolver shots. For several minutes, I sat still, too frightened to move. At last I crept over to my room-mate, who was standing by the door, and together we ran to the stairway in front corridor. Over the bannisters above and below us hung excited maidens adorned with various articles for the furtherance of feminine beauty. There was a babble of hysterical giggles and excited questions. "How did they get in?" "Who were they?" "Did you hear them shooting?" "Who saw them?" "I think they were horrid to scare us like that!" "Isn't this funny?" "They were absolute brutes!" "Isn't it awful?" These, and a hundred other questions filled the air. In vain did authority attempt to calm us. We dispersed, 'tis true. But not each to her own room. What! Go meekly back to sleep when we could discuss such absorbing happenings? Never! When at last the Hall became quiet we heard in the corridors the footsteps of trusty guards, watching over us as we slept. The next morning saw a record attendance at breakfast. There was so much to talk about that no girl wished to miss the morning assembly, not even for an extra hour of sleep. No other topic than the night attack was discussed. On all sides could be heard condemnations on the part of the sober, law-abiding girls, and defenses from the young and ignorant. The subject is yet being discussed, although several days have passed. The tribunal of feminine opinion still sits in judgment on the case of the night raiders. Madame Periscope.

Mr. Bullet: I hope your nocturnal amblings of the past week did not impair your efficiency to the extent that you can not enlighten us as to who was pussy-footing behind the organ in the STUDENT'S Mass Meeting in Chapel last Saturday. I was beginning to think that the old boy was really getting clever; it was tough that his gumshoe had to catch on that pipe. I was expecting to see a big yellow sign on his door the next morning, but I guess T. N. E. is actually dead. "STUDE."

There is safety in numbers, but not when it comes to a raid on Hullings Hall. And liquor makes the tongue more loose. "Stewed."

Mrs. C. M. Coburn gave a very interesting talk on Thanksgiving at the Sunday evening service. She brought out the many results of the World War, for which we are thankful; among these is a feeling of brotherhood for the foreigner.

CONSTANCE CARES

Dear Eddie: Just between you and me, I would like to say that the idea of having a Constance Care column was a great one. Already I have seen many changes take place. Say, have you noticed how many girls are following the advice given to Miss Brown Eyes by Miss Care. There seems to have been quite a number in the same predicament.

If it is necessary to attract a young man's attention to win his love, I would say that very shortly nearly all the fellows in College will be in love.

Dear Miss Cares:—At present I like a fellow very much but still I enjoy going out with other fellows. Should I give up going out with other fellows for the sake of the one I like best as he has asked me if I would do so?

Anxious. Dear Anxious:—Kid 'em along. You can manage the whole bunch. A girl's heart belongs to them all. Constance.

Dear Miss Cares:—Please suggest a proper method of returning a salutation to the fair ones. It is so difficult to locate the brim of my head-piece.

Perplexed Freshman. Dear Perplexed Freshman:—Get your girl to crochet a ruffle around it. You know what that sweet feminine touch means to a men's dormitory. Interestingly, Miss Cares.

Dear Constance Cares:—I sit near an infinitely blonde Junior in Chapel. I admire her very much. How can I express my love?

Dear Sophomore:—Say it with flowers. They come high now so she'll know you're serious. Buy her some chocolates. Her room-mate will be sure to appreciate it. Advisedly, C. C.

Dear Connie:—What snail I do? I reserved my best smile until I should pass HIM on the campus again. He walked right by and paid me no recognition. When I reminded him of it, the brute denied all knowledge of the affair. Tearful Eyes.

Friend Tearful Eyes:—He is a brute, but be comforted, all men are alike. The next time either snub him or make a face at him that he'll remember. "Dry your tears, life was made for laughter. Tears comes first, but the joy comes hereafter."

Sympathetically, Connie. Dear Miss Cares:—My girl broke a date with me because, she said, she had to study for a quiz, and I got another date and bumped into my girl with my room-mate at the Red Cross. How can I have revenge?

Nero. Nero dear:—It is terrible! But, get a date with the girl by fair means or foul, and put a top-toad in her muff! Then go home, knock said room-mate unconscious, and paint his face with purple house-paint. Revenge is sweet, 'tis folly to be otherwise! Constance.

My dear A. Mong Thestars:—If your question means what I think it means, it is too mean to be reprinted. If not, accept my apologies. I hope you may find a solution to your problem. Sincerely, Constance Cares.

Dear Miss Cares:—I was grieved the other day to hear some of the militants say, "Oh, see the bunch of onion tops." Can you suggest a course of treatment for my chapeau that will eliminate all further cause for such remarks? Twenty-Three.

Dear Twenty-Three:—Are you sure that it was only your looks that caused the remark? You can do nothing about the green ball on your cap, but you might cut the garlic off your diet. Lovingly, Constance.

Announcement! Miss Cares regrets that she does not have space to answer all the questions submitted this week, but will hold them over until the next edition. Thank you for your interest. Keep it up! !.

CLASSICAL CLUB.

The Classical Club held a very interesting meeting on Tuesday, November 18. Dean C. F. Ross addressed the club on the subject of "The Alexandrian Influence in Rome" very interestingly. A discussion of the subject followed. Much business was transacted and plans were formed for a dinner to be given in honor of David M. Robinson, who is to deliver two lectures here in the first week of December.

PHILO-FRANKLIN.

The regular weekly meeting of the Philo-Franklin Forum was held in Bentley at 4:30 Friday, 21st. Speaker McCreery assumed the chair. All regular business was then conducted, and the debate of the afternoon was then taken up.

The subject for debate was, Resolved, That the Senate was not justified in passing the reservation on Article 10 of the Peace Treaty. Bozic and Geirgley were on the affirmative, with Irvin and Cook on the negative. After a long and heated debate the forum decided in favor of the affirmative.

The subject for debate at the next meeting will be, Resolved, That, in order to reduce the cost of living, cooperative stores should be established. Colley and Chabut will uphold the affirmative, while Hoover and Boak will support the negative. This subject is one of great interest to every student in the college, inasmuch as we are confronted with this problem every day. A large crowd should be present, as many helpful suggestions will probably be given.

Coach Hammett Turns His Attention to Basket Ball

First Workout to Be Held This Week in Library Hall

With Five Letter Men Outlook For a Winning Combination Looks Promising

CAPTAIN KERR SHOULD MAKE GREAT SHOWING

Now that the football season has closed the point of attention in the Allegheny College athletic world will be on basketball, the sport which some athletic fans in this school consider to be the major one. The annual prophecy that prospects are bright for the Allegheny basketball season need not be dispensed with, for, with five letter men from last year in school and the abundance of material on which Coach Hammett is depending, all basketball enthusiasts of the Gold and Blue may be assured that the outlook for the coming season is extremely promising.

The letter men in school are Captain N. W. Kerr, '20; George F. Meredith, '20; Roger L. Baldwin, '21; Maurice E. Kofford, '22; and D. Laverne Parker, '22.

The management of the team has secured the Meadville Library gymnasium, one block above Chestnut Street on Park Avenue, for practices and the scheduled games. This floor is at present the best basketball floor in the city. Practices will be held in this hall every Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday afternoon from 4:30 to 6:00 P. M. Besides the five letter men the coaches expect superior work from the following at present: Kinnear, '20; Stephens, '20; Preston, '20; Dunbar, '21; Frazier, '22; Murphy, '22; Wise, '22; Pringle, '22; Doing, '22; H. Miller, '23; Robrecht, '23; Mountsier, '23; and Graham, '23. Practice will start this week at the Library, but a call for candidates will be delayed until an adequate number of lockers for the convenience of the players can be installed in the Library building. There are at present only twenty lockers in the Library gym.

FRESHMEN WIN SOCCER MATCH FROM SOPHOMORES

Soccer made its debut last Saturday on Montgomery Field when the Sophomores met the Freshmen in the first game of the year. The Freshmen retrieved the losses of the previous season and were the victors, 1 to 0. The Sophomores fought gamely, and put up a splendid exhibition of soccer. The game was very interesting and full of pep, and the interest taken is a sure indication that under the direction of Assistant Coach Barnes soccer will command a place in the college athletic activities.

On account of the muddy condition of the field the players on both sides were handicapped to a great extent. In spite of this fact all the players were on their toes every minute of the game. The players were covered with mud and it was a common sight to see one or more of the contestants sliding in the mud, making it seem like a football rather than a soccer game.

No advantage was gained by either team in the early part of the game, but in the second half the Freshmen worked the ball down to the Sophomores' goal and by miraculous playing* kicked the ball through the Sophomores' goal, thus scoring one point, the deciding score of the game. Parent was the captain of the Sophomore aggregation, and Shirer the captain of the Freshmen team.

Y. M. C. A. MOVIES.

Owing to the fact that the expressman misplaced the film, the comedy which was planned for the movies on Saturday evening could not be shown. But the management was able to control the situation and so showed a good comedy which it had on stock. The other pictures of the evening were educational and showed such places as Versailles. The last reel was very interesting and showed the different views of a fall that is five or six times as high as Niagara. At the beginning of the pictures, President Crawford made a plea for quiet during the pictures. He stated that the trustees of the college were providing them through the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, but that they would be discontinued if the students did not show the proper appreciation.

Y. W. C. A. CONVENTION.

The annual member convention of the Y. W. C. A. was held in Philadelphia, November 13-14-15. Miss Helen Shuster, '21, was the delegate from Allegheny College. All the colleges from Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware who have Young Women's Christian Associations were represented. Democracy every place, even on the campus, was one of the subjects discussed. Miss Blanchard now in New York, and a graduate of Leland Stanford University, gave an interesting talk to the delegates about the influence College Y. W. C. A. girls might have on other people in the out-side world. She said that we need to have the power of seeing very far. We need to create situations for college women to live through so that when they have lived through them they will be bigger women. The association should aim for a larger world outlook and a significance as a religious organization; not a pious one, but one of true and deep religion.

Returned Soldier—"I should say she ought to kill at three miles."

STUDENT PLEDGES FOR THE GYMNASIUM

It is well to mention those pledges now that the cornerstone has been laid. Our swim is to be a reality, will it be paid for? We certainly are not doing our part in the canvas for funds and it behooves every student to get busy; writing that letter with the enclosed pledge card.

Do not feel that one name is sufficient; hand in a dozen or more to the Student Senate at once and our pledges may be fulfilled as a Christmas present from those philanthropic bent. Let's go; it is only a small effort for big returns.

"Joyous are the busy, dissatisfied the idle."
