

THE LECTURE

A SUCCESS

Dr. Cobern Delights Large Audience With Thrilling Story.

Because of the vivid pictures painted, rapid succession and the moving narrative of thrilling adventures, it is safe to say that not one who heard Dr. C. M. Cobern's lecture, "Personal Adventures Among the Arabs," Tuesday evening, was disappointed. In beginning, Dr. Cobern gave warning that the subject was to be handled from a personal standpoint and this fact naturally added to the interest of the lecture. Some little inkling of the competence of the speaker for handling his subject was given by his statement that he had spent seven years in preparation for his trips to Egypt and the Holy Land.

The Arabs, Dr. Cobern stated, are divided into Town Arabs and Desert Arabs, and first he treated the less romantic but just as interesting Arabs of the towns. The passage in which he described the climbing of the Sphinx by a little Arabian was particularly fascinating, as also was the account of a visit to the traditional singing statue of Vocal Memnon. Observations on the Sphinx and various Egyptian customs were also appreciated by the audience. The women were, with but one exception, found to have been exceedingly homely by Dr. Cobern in his somewhat limited observation of them. Several stories were also related, showing the nature of the people and in particular one of their own tales told.

When beginning to talk about the Desert Arabs, the lecturer took occasion to tell of his refusal of a Turkish guard, giving as an example of their untrustworthiness an exciting episode in which he had taken part at Jerusalem. The interest of all was roused to a high pitch as the departure, after various warnings and predictions of disaster, was rehearsed together with the account of a night spent in an Oriental kahn with its attendant perils and discomforts. A camp of real Desert Arabs and an interview with them were also graphically portrayed. As a last climactic experience, Dr. Cobern vividly told of his visit to the Biblical city Pithom, of his being "chased by the Arabs" there, and finally of his wonderful discovery which verified the Bible narrative and besides the location of the city of bondage.

Throughout the lecture the dramatic delivery and impersonation, the matchless eloquence, the richness of humor and the magnetic, dominant personality of the speaker held his hearers entranced. The Oratorical Association has an additional cause for gratification in the generosity of Dr. Cobern who helped them out financially with his requested but freely proffered services.

MRS. WILSON G. COLE.

A deep sadness was cast over the college on Sunday by the report of the loss suffered by Wilson G. Cole, '09, in the death of his wife. Mrs. Cole was formerly Miss Clara Rodkey, ex-'09, and leaves besides her husband, a daughter of five days. The last sad words were pronounced over the dead Sunday evening in the Second Methodist Church of Greenville, of which the stricken husband is the pastor. Rev. Mr. Morris White had charge of the services. Five or six members from Mrs. Cole's sorority, Theta Sigma, and as many from the Phi Delta Theta fraternity were there to comfort their sorrowing school-mate in his bereavement. A second service was held and the interment made at Glassport, the home of Mr. Cole.

During the one year of 1906-7, when she attended college as a Sophomore, Mrs. Cole endeared herself to many by the winsomeness of her disposition and the sweetness of her character. On June 25 last she was united in marriage to Mr. Cole at Greenville.

CHAMPIONSHIP

Weidler, Bricker, Dalzelle, and Stidger Win at Tennis.

"Allegheny wins tournament in both singles and doubles" was the pleasing telegram received from Grove City on Wednesday afternoon late. The tournament was a league contest and there were represented Carnegie Tech., University of Pittsburgh, Geneva, Grove City and Allegheny. Allegheny's victors were Bricker and Weidler in singles and the team composed of Dalzelle and I. R. Stidger in doubles.

It was a hard fight for every game, but in the end Allegheny pulled to the front and brought home all the gold medals possible to win.

Bricker had a chance at some of his old school-mates from U. of P. and he accepted it graciously, winning out by a good lead.

Weidler had little trouble with his men as the score indicates.

Dalzelle and Stidger in doubles played their usual steady, consistent game, nothing spectacular, but a steady grind that downed their opponents in every match, defeating Pittsburg two live sets and Tech. nearly as badly. The following is the technical story of the game:

The first day U. of P., Grove City and Allegheny carried off first honors. In doubles Stidger and Dalzelle won from Decker and Satler of Tech. 6-1, 6-0, and from Roberts and Brown of Pittsburg, 6-0, 6-0. In singles McCurdy of Grove City fell prey to Bricker by score of 6-3, 6-2, and Nothing is easier than fault-finding; no talent, no self-denial, no brains, no character are required to set up in the grumbling business.

Robt. West.

Satler of Tech. had the same fate by score of 6-3, 7-5. Montero of Grove City fell before Weidler 6-3, 6-0.

Tuesday, the second day, was particularly interesting and hot were the matches. Grove City and Allegheny waged a hard battle in doubles with Dalzelle and Stidger against Black and McBride, Allegheny victors by 3-6, 6-3, 6-3. Neither team had been defeated before. Weidler won from Wilson of Geneva 6-4, 6-0 and Mason of Tech. 6-1, 6-1, while Latelle of Geneva proved unequal to Bricker by 6-2, 6-1.

On Wednesday singles were played off and Weidler finished by defeating Bash of Pittsburg 6-1, 6-3. Bricker played his usual good game and first won from McCormick of Pittsburg. He then played Bash of Pittsburg, the winner of four "B" groups, and by putting him out to the tune of 6-4, 5-7, 6-4, Allegheny took first place in the tournament.

Bricker and Weidler, winners of the A. and B. groups, will now play for the gold and silver medals.

BISHOP THOBURN DIRECTS DIVINES.

Because of the unexpected illness of Dr. Thomas R. Thoburn of Erie, Bishop Thoburn addressed the regular meeting of the Thoburn Club on Monday evening. Although the Bishop had expected to hear his nephew and was wholly unprepared to speak, he yet made some very interesting remarks besides giving valuable hints on the preparation of a discourse. In his usual fascinating way, Bishop Thoburn illustrated his remarks with several wonderful examples from his own life of being led and guided to take certain themes of discourses. He emphasized the point that the preacher was only the deliverer of a message, not the originator of it, since all messages came from above. After the address the Bishop was warmly greeted by the preachers.

FIRST VICTORY

Allegheny Base Ball Team Brings Back a Well Eearned Victory.

The base ball team finished its second trip Wednesday in fine shape. Although we only broke even, winning once and losing once, the playing of the team was entirely satisfactory. The Grove City game was an excellent example of the hard luck that has followed the gold and blue ball tossers all season; in the eighth inning an error with two out let in three Grove City men. At Westminster the result was somewhat different and a well deserved victory followed. The games briefly were something like this:

Allegheny 1, Grove City 4.

While Allegheny athletes were winning the tennis tournament at Grove City, the base ball team lost a tightly played contest to Grove City, 4-1. Both teams hit but little, Grove City, however, excelling in this part of the game. Weidler showed his ability as an all-around athlete by playing in a commendable fashion at short stop in addition to his work in the tennis singles earlier the same day.

The score by innings:

Grove City	0 0 1 6 0 0 3 0	4 6 1
Allegheny	0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0	1 3 3
Bases on balls off Benedict, 3; off McCloy, 3. Struck-out by Benedict, 4; by McCloy, 6.

Victory at Westminster.

The joyful ringing of the College bell early Wednesday evening announced that the persistent base ball hoodoo was broken by a victory over Westminster with a score of 4-2. Benedict had his old rivals completely at his mercy, allowing but three hits, and striking out ten men. In the hitting, Baker carried off the honors with two hits, one of them being a triple. Leffel also got a triple.

THETA SIGMA.

Theta Sigma entertained about twenty of its friends at the Saeger-town Inn with an informal dinner last evening. The entire party went out on the five-o'clock car, returning at Hall closing time. A very enjoyable evening was passed in boating and other amusements the Inn affords. Typical college decorations were an attractive feature of the evening.

COMPETITION

JUDGES REPORT

Barkley, George, Hughes, Hubbard, Miss De Haven and Miss Hillman Chosen.

May 27, 1909.

The Committee appointed to judge under the rules of the Campus Competition reports as follows:

Editor-in-Chief—J. W. Barkley. Associate Editor—R. J. George. Athletic Editor—Thomas Hughes. Literary Editor—No competitors reported to us.

Society Editor—Not sufficient competition.

Local Editor—E. N. Hubbard. Alumni Editor—Jessamine DeHaven.

Exchange Editor—Gertrude Hillman.

In the great amount and the excellence of the material submitted in competition for two of the positions we found no little difficulty in deciding, a difficulty which was increased by certain inconsistencies and vagueness in the rules governing the contest. We recommend that the incoming editor-in-chief and the governing committee at once take up and report to the College Council such alterations as may be necessary to make the rules complete and consistent. The general character of the contest this year is subject for congratulation.

We believe that the retiring editor-in-chief is to be commended for his faithful adherence to the spirit of the system and to the letter of the rules, so far as is possible under the existing limitations.

O. P. AKERS, W. A. ELLIOTT, E. A. SMITH.

THE RATTLE OF CLOGS.

A rapidly increasing sound of merry laughs and rollicking songs is heard; the rattle of clogs and the music of instruments are strangely blending. The Minstrels are coming like Barnum and Bailey, bigger, better and more bombastic than ever before. He that has ears, let him hear, and he that has eyes, let him see, for wonderful to behold and harken to, is the wonderful conglomeration of mirth and melody, nonsense and knocks being prepared by "Judge" Crisswell's chorus of twenty picked voices; by "Tax," the missionary; "Elsie," the preacher; "Pogie," the college boy, and "Butch," of the Dutch company. And in the center of all will be "Bill" Stidger as interlocutor.

Perhaps the most interesting event will be the formal introduction of Crisswell's new song, "The Allegheny Girl." Both the words and melody of this piece are the production of our talented Glee Club leader. Those who know, state that the production is an effort which ranks in a class by itself for technique, originality of conception and for genuine college spirit. No one can afford to miss hearing it as in all probability it will become a college classic in years to come, and besides it alone is worth the price of admission.

Just one glimpse at the list of soloists, vocal and instrumental, cannot help arousing the enthusiasm of every man, woman or Freshman. "Bobby" Ross will give one of his marvelous performances on the violin. Then "Red" Phillips will exhibit some of the versatility he possesses on the flute. In the matter of vocal solos there can be no disappointment with Stewart and Hickernell on the firing line.

Other no less delectable treats too numerous to mention are being prepared. One of these will be a hair-raising exhibition of clog dancing by Harris and Krug.

Step up, ladies and gentlemen, just think of it, all these unparalleled attractions in one show. All for thirty-five cents, two bits and a dime, that's all.

L. M. Hickernell, J. A. Bortz and L. C. Harris assisted with the music rendered during the W. F. M. Society's Convention held in State Street M. E. Church this week.

OUR LAST WORD—PERHAPS.

We could hardly feel that our duty as a college paper had been honestly done unless once again we call attention to the fact that the managership and the editorship of the Kaldron is still in the hands of one class of students, namely the fraternity men, when the growth of the school and the general advance of all things makes such assumption of government unfair. These offices should be immediately put upon some competition system so that the entire student body could have a chance to get them. And when we say this we do so realizing that the fraternity party founded the papers in the first place. However, the time is long past when the old rule should prevail and the College Council (in lieu of something better) should take the matter up. Some of the questions to be asked should be:

How will next year's Kaldron editor be selected?

How will the managers of the publication be chosen?

Is it fair that the financial benefits of such college papers be confined entirely to one party?

Why shouldn't the managership of the Glee Club be arranged so that its financial benefits may be passed around?

We offer these as mere suggestions, feeling certain that such wise heads as compose the College Council will see a clear way out of the difficulty.

TO MR. W. G. COLE.

We realize that words in such a time never express what men and women feel in real sympathy. Therefore we will not attempt to put in words our thoughts. We can only say that the sadness and the gloom of the past weeks has been ours as well as yours.

THAT TENNIS VICTORY.

The year in athletics has been one of great success in both major and minor sports. Although tennis is one of the minor sports, still it is with great pride that we extend congratulations to the men who won for us in the recent tournament at Grove City.

THE CAMPUS COMPETITION JUDGES.

The Campus Competition Judges have picked the board to run this paper next year that we had, with one exception, previously stated in our minds as probable selections. The board spent many hard hours in tedious toil going over and over the published and unpublished productions of those competing. They followed the instructions of the committee and the rules of competition to the most minute point. They could have made a decision many hours before they did, but put it off to be sure of several small technicalities. We do not make this comment with any idea that the Judges will be in the least sense criticised, but only to show the absolute fairness of the decision, and the good spirit of these busy men in taking their time for the purpose.

Another Reason.

Another reason for this statement is for the benefit of the incoming staff. Some types of office seekers are never manly enough to quit in good grace like fair sportsmen when they are licked. That type has pestered us a little during the past year. Hence we make this statement to clear the coming workers so that there cannot be the least chance for disappointed office seekers to whine.

THE NEW BOARD.

While we realize full well that it must have been a hard decision for the Judges to make, we are satisfied that it was a just one and that those who received offices, with probably one exception, deserved them. We have had the pleasure of working with the new staff all during the past competitive year and have found them willing to work and skillful in the doing of it. When we are through and lay aside our official pen, we know that it will be taken up by one who will use it well to the interests of Allegheny College. We take this time to extend to the new board our editorial greeting.

A NEW TRADITION—LET IT LIVE.

We are always glad to welcome and foster anything that has about it the possibility of making Allegheny a place richer in memories for our after years. Because of that, we always cultivate the friendship of new traditions, cleaving to the old, but glad to know the new, that the new, like friends may become old, and like wine, may become better with age.

We believe the May Festival is a desirable tradition to establish in Allegheny for the years that will be. The girls seem to be here to stay; at least a certain number of them, and hence they should have traditions as well as the men. There could be no better a bit of green than the space in front of Hulings, surrounded as it is by many trees.

No person who happened to pass by the beautiful scene Monday evening will soon forget it. The clear sky overhead and "the forget-me-nots of the Heavens"; the lanterns shining on the bouyant crowd trampling the green; the white gowns against a background of night; the hum and buzz of conversation at the tables, accompanied by the sound of laughter; then the sinuous circling and lithely moving feminine forms about the May Pole in the colored lime lights left in one's memory book a picture that will linger fragrantly for many years. Let the May Festival live we say!

ONLY ONE OBJECTION.

If you'll pardon us, young ladies, hereafter we would much rather give our donations to help the Y. W. C. A. aside from the May Festival. Although we are generous stray-aways, there is a little more satisfaction in giving by subscription than the case under apprehension. Then we would rather see such a beautiful tradition, as the May Festival promises to be, separated if possible from the commercial spirit. In other words, such an exquisite scene as that of the other night is marred somewhat by the sounds of dish washing and the click of glasses and the smell of lemonade.

THAT FUNNY BOOK.

We are a lot like Holmes' "man" and are almost on the verge of collapse as a direct result of reading some of those funny things we saw yesterday in the Kaldron proof sheets. We have seen five or six year books come and go in Allegheny, but this year's book beats them all.

We can see people now here and there dotted over the campus reading that best of all Kaldrons; we can see a bit of brightness steal into their faces; then a smile; then a loud laugh; then a doubling up process which is near to the convulsion stage. That's what the Kaldron will do to you this year.

The cuts are clean and bright. That Kaldron photographer certainly did get in some good work this year, judging by the couples he caught unawares and the peculiar groupings he caught here and there during the year. The Freshmen are all touched up, every man and woman. The Senior write-ups this spring are both classic and humorous. The calendar and funny section are superb. It is said that the Campus gets soaked good this year. Everybody will buy a Kaldron because everybody else does. A few of them will be out Examination Week.

THE RENAISSANCE.

The inter-class base ball horizon is beginning to wear a threatening aspect as the two lower classes are preparing for their annual contest. The Freshmen, with their usual energy, have been quietly practicing for over a week and even played a practice game with the Academy lads a few nights ago. Their battery, Shortt and Borland, have been doing some very good work. Manager Callahan of the 1911 aggregation states that, nevertheless, there can be nothing but a Sophomore victory. In all probability 'varsity men will be permitted to play outside of their regular positions. It has been suggested that this game be played Moving-Up Day in conjunction with the Senior-Faculty game.

DR. G. A. MULFINGER'S ADDRESS.

At the meeting Monday evening of Meadville's exclusive culture organization, the Round Table, Dr. Mulfinger read a paper which exhibited more than usual ability and excited much favorable comment. His subject was, "Industrial and Commercial Progress in Germany and Its Causes." At the close of the address a signal compliment was paid the speaker by an unanimous vote of the members ordering the publication entire of the discourse in the Meadville papers. Professor Gilman of the Unitarian College, a widely known specialist on economic lines, also praised the paper very highly during the discussion following the address.

Dr. Mulfinger first reviewed the great progress of Germany during recent years, dwelling upon the increase of wealth, commerce and industry since 1895. As a reason for this he brought forward the vast increase in population in Germany of almost a million a year, an increase which results in the keenest commercial competition. Such a state of affairs gives rise to two classes of people, a necessary condition for capitalistic production. In the second place, it is necessary that these two classes be trained so as to be capable of doing the most work. The methods of production also must be adopted by research and experimentation for the highest efficiency. Germany, he asserted, is prosperous because these three conditions are met by a strong class consciousness, by technical education, and by governmental scientific research.

Such conspicuous ability and learning cannot but be a source of pride to the college and all the college body should feel gratified at the success of the head of the German department. It can be counted as nothing less than another intellectual triumph for Allegheny.

THE SENIOR-JUNIOR SMOKER.

The members of the two upper classes went to Oakwood Park Saturday evening to celebrate the annual Senior-Junior Smoker. After the arrival of the special car bearing about 90 members of the two classes, the festivities of the evening began about a huge camp fire prepared for the purpose. A. J. Nelson acted as Chief Peacemaker and introduced the following speakers:

Terms of Peace, President Mould, '09
Acceptance of Conditions.....
.....President Boyd, '10

.....Miss Laura Bethune, '09

The book store hatchet, which Swick had stolen, was then carefully buried with all due solemnity. To complete the compact the two former rivals smoked the pipe of peace and joyfully ate salt, that is, sandwiches and ice cream, together. For the remainder of the evening parties gathered themselves about the different campfires and enjoyed themselves in various kinds of merrymaking until about half-past ten when a special car carried them back to Meadville.

THAT MAY FESTIVAL.

(By Paul M. Hillman.)

An unclouded sky, myriads of witching Japanese lanterns, cleverly bedecked tables, a praiseworthy and appropriate program, all conspired to make the May Festival, Monday evening, a brilliant success. The tables were spread under the brightly shining stars on the soft grass of the campus within a circle of lanterns and represented different colleges. When these had been taken by eager merry-makers, the entertainment, which was divided into two parts, commenced.

The first part was opened with a pleasing selection by the Hulings Hall Orchestra, followed by a violin solo sympathetically rendered by Miss Hammett. Miss Hatch, assisted by Miss Lauffer, gave a humorous reading entitled "My Dutch Garden," after which Miss Ernestine Cobern closed the first part with a simple and well interpreted vocal selection. A characteristic treat was given the audience by Miss Bessie Emery's solo in opening the next part of the entertainment. Miss Chase contributed an exquisite bit of violin playing and Miss Hatch again delighted all with a reading.

The climax of the entire evening came in the graceful and intricate May Pole Dance. Twenty young ladies gave a wonderful exhibition of intricate dancing, weaving in and out with the grace of the traditional Moorish dancers. The bright streamers and white dresses blended harmoniously under the subdued colored lights, while the inimitable swing and fascination of the dance itself cannot be described. Everything about the scene seemed to heighten its effect and the whole created an indelible impression on the minds of all the beholders.

A lunch was served in two courses, the first between the parts of the entertainment and the second during the interval between the entertainment and the May Pole. For the first course the young ladies had prepared a slight suggestion of delicious pea salad, lemonade and saltines; a bite of ice cream with tincture of cake comprised the second course. These courses were served on the dainty tables which have already been described and were among the features which contributed to the success of the evening both socially and financially, especially the latter.

The attendance at the Festival might be estimated at nearly two hundred. As a result of the affair, the fund for sending the Y. W. C. A. delegates to Mountain Lake Park has been very substantially increased. In a social way nothing further could be desired and it is hoped that the May Festival will be made an annual event. To Miss Mabel McLain, the chairman of the committee in charge, is due, in a large degree, the success of the undertaking.

HANS WAGNER FADED TO A BRAZZLE.

A week from last Monday the Dells opened the season with the Phi Gams and took them into camp to the tune of 9-2. The doughty Dells had "Bill" Mould on the firing line against "Rus" Yost, the South Fork Slugger. Some of the game features were the rooting of Rossiter and the athletic attitude of heroic Penman, and many other features too numerous to mention. Needless to say, both of these gentlemen have been besieged with professional offers.

Phi Gams Take Revenge on Phi Psis. For a week the Phi Gams held their peace and vowed vengeance until Saturday. Then they gathered themselves together and hurled their cohorts against the hapless Phi Psis. The result was frightful for all concerned; for the Phi Psis, for the crowd and for "Bish" Burt, the official score-keeper. About the number of runs there can be no dispute, for the Phi Gams counted fourteen to their opponents' eight. Hits and errors were so hopelessly mixed with passed balls and strikeouts that even "Bish" became excited. Lefel so terrified the batters with his "brass lungs," wooden hands and butter fingers that they vainly swung in frantic desperation at Yost's curves. As a result, he struck out thirteen. The climax of the game was when McNeas again shone by making a wonderful sitting down catch.

FRESHMAN DECLAMATION CONTEST.

Thursday evening nine speakers participated in Professor Brown's Freshman Declamation Contest. The affair this year differed from that of last year in that instead of original orations, standard declamations are delivered. Interest in the Department of Public Speaking is always aroused by this contest which has been held for the past three years. The contestants and their subjects were as follows:

The Martyrdom of Joan of Arc.....R. D. Waid
The Independence of Cuba.....A. C. Nodine
The Death of Garfield.....Thos. Hughes
Liberty and Union.....F. J. Mechlin
Ingersoll at the Grave of His Brother.....H. S. Leitzel
The Battle of Missionary Ridge.....Miss Esther Cousins
Last Speech of John Brown.....Arthur Ruettgers
Roosevelt on Abraham Lincoln.....H. J. Gordon
The True Grandeur of Nations.....A. J. Goodwin
The three judges, Miss Bernice Hatch, Miss Helen White, and John Fox, awarded the five-dollar prize to Mr. Arthur Nodine.

THE ACADEMY'S PRISTINE EFFORT.

Alden Academy got an auspicious start in the series with Edinboro Normal for the championship of Northwestern Pennsylvania when the Normals were walloped by an 8 to 5 score. The game was spicy and exciting throughout with hard hitting as a predominant feature. Both teams were at times a little ragged in their fielding, but on the whole the game was a very creditable one. Campman was unhittable except in two innings, in one of which, the first, three doubles were made off his delivery. The "Cads" won in the fourth inning by bunching four hits with Edinboro's errors for five runs. Croasmun, Campman and Thoburn each crossed the pan twice for the Academy. The final score was as follows:

R. H. E.
Alden . . 0 0 1 5 1 1 0 *—8 10 9
Edinboro 2 0 0 2 0 0 1 0—5 8 8
Batteries, Campman and Thoburn; Hurley and Gilbert. Umpires, Benedict and Hughes.

PRESIDENT CRAWFORD, Meadville

A LITTLE EVENING GOSSIP.

Rev. Mr. Gordon of Titusville, Pa., has been visiting his son, H. J. Gordon, for a few days.
Dr. Lee took dinner at Cochran Hall Wednesday.
S. G. Simonton spent Sunday in New Castle, Pa.
Merle King, '08, was a Chapel visitor Thursday morning.
F. Lee Mickle spent Sunday at New Castle, Pa.
Mr. Powell of Pittsburgh, Pa., has recently been a guest of W. L. Morgan at Cochran Hall.
E. F. Crowe, '08, visited Chapel exercises Thursday.
W. C. Cravner preached at Edinboro, Pa., Sunday.
W. L. Stidger is spending some time at his home in Moundsville, W. Va.
Irvin Foster, a member of State College faculty, and president of Alpha Providence of Phi Delta Theta, spent Wednesday with the local chapter.

Miss Carl of Oil City visited Miss Mary Maxwell on Park Avenue Tuesday and Wednesday.
Arch Perry, '08, visited friends on College Hill over Sunday.

AT HULINGS HALL.

Miss Hatch, President.

Tuesday evening the election of officers for the Hulings Hall Student Government Association was held. The results were: Miss Hatch, President; Miss Kauffman, Vice-President; Miss Pratt, Third Senior Member; Misses Straw and Simpson, Junior Members, and Miss Anderson, Sophomore Member.

Miss Spalding was leader of the Y. W. C. A. prayer meeting Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Loane and daughter of Oil City were guests at the Hall this week.

Miss Louise Chase spent Tuesday at her home in Greenville.

Mrs. Philip E. Geiss and little son, Edward, were guests at Hulings Hall over Sunday.

Miss Nina Nixon was a visitor at the Hall over Sunday.

Miss Mary McLaughlin resumed her school work Tuesday.

Miss Mae Straw went to her home in Cambridge to spend Sunday.

Miss Martha Lewis and Miss Helen Dungan spent Sunday at Dicksonburg.

Miss Ethel Mills spent Sunday at her home in Venango.

Miss Lena Bly spent Sunday with Miss Jessie Fitch at her home in Greenville.

Mrs. Mabel Deane Howland was a visitor at the college Monday.

Miss Barbara Deane spent Sunday in Springboro.

One of the Senior tables was honored by the presence of Messrs. Shaffner, Foreman, and Maxwell Sunday noon.

Mr. and Mrs. McCoy were guests of Miss Edith Rowley Sunday at dinner.

J. D. PIPER LEADS.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting, Wednesday evening, was led by J. D. Piper, who chose "Prayer" for his subject. After he had read the parable of the Unjust Judge, the leader treated his subject with an earnestness which appealed to his hearers. President Maxwell then announced that the rest of the meeting would be devoted to a consideration of Summer Conference Work, and explained the method of using a permanent fund which has been established for sending delegates to some conference every year.

Schaffner, of last year's delegation to Niagara, gave some of his impressions at the conference, besides reading a letter from R. B. Callahan, '08. The communication advised all who possibly could, to go, since the writer knew from personal experience of the good to be gained. Another strong presentation was made by Fishel, who recounted some of the lasting lessons he had learned at Niagara. At the close of the meeting those interested were requested to confer with the officers of the local Y. M. C. A.

FOR FRESHMEN ORATORS.

Interest among the Freshmen in the Freshman Declamation Contests has led to the addition to the Library of several new books containing selections for speaking. Another interesting addition which has just been received from the government is a collection of various souvenirs of the visit of the battleship fleet to Australia. These were sent by the Australian government to the State Department and consist of a book of 150 views of scenes in Australia, New South Wales, Tasmania and West Australia, besides post cards and a handsomely lithographed invitation to the official reception in honor of the fleet. Miss Rowley is also planning an especially interesting exhibit for Commencement Week, which she expects to have ready some time in the near future. The recent additions to the Library are:

Brief Declamations—Davis and Bridgman.

Pieces for Prize Speaking Contests—Craig and Gunnison.

Selected Readings from Popular Novels—Lewis.

New Pieces That Will Take Prizes—Blackstone.

Mazzini—Bolton King.

Lien—Schevill.

LARGEST COLLEGE MISSION CLASS—ITS WORK.

With the meeting on Thursday evening, Mission Study stopped for the school year. The class has been unusually successful, as a survey of the year's work will disclose. Dr. Smith, our efficient and popular leader, has every reason to be proud of the record for 1908-9. Thanks are also due to the joint Mission Study Committee which has made success possible by close attention to the detail work of the course.

There has been a total enrollment of 80 men and of 50 women and an average attendance of over 90. Two text books have been used. The first, Bishop Thoburn's "Christian Conquest of India," possessed especial interest because of the fortunate residence of the beloved author among us; the second, Howard Grose's "Aliens or Americans," has been of intense practical interest. In all, sixteen meetings were held, eight for each book, and while all were fascinatingly interesting, some stand out more prominently than others. Perhaps the best of these was that wonderful meeting when Bishop Thoburn honored us with his presence and transmitted to us some of his spirit. Another meeting of interest was that of a week from last Thursday at which Dr. Crawford was present and spoke from the fullness of his first-hand knowledge of the subject.

A special feature has been the delegate conferences during the second semester's work. On Monday afternoon special representatives from every college organization have met in the Library to talk over the lesson with Dr. Smith. The results of this innovation have been very gratifying, both in the attendance, averaging about fifteen, and the increased interest of the regular meetings on Thursday evening, due to reports from these delegates on special subjects. The last rally Monday afternoon reached a climax of interest and enthusiasm in preparing for the big meeting Thursday evening.

W. J. AIKEN HONORED.

The news of the appointment of Mr. W. J. Aiken, '09, to the Associate Editorship of the Meadville Daily Messenger, succeeding Mr. McWilliams, has caused general satisfaction among the college body. This honor has all the greater weight because of the rise of the Messenger to increased efficiency and prominence since its purchase of the Star's presses. Mr. Aiken showed his journalistic ability as an Associate Editor of the Literary Monthly in 1908-9, and is, besides, at present manager of the Track Team.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA.

The home of Mrs. Lippitt on the Diamond was the scene, Thursday evening, of a charming informal function given by the Alpha Chi Omega sorority. The guests were entertained with various strikingly novel "stunts," one of which was a mock initiation. Sorority and college pennants and colors, as well as unique favors, created a suitable atmosphere for the occasion.
