The excitement of the past week's race for top positions in Allegheny Student Government was culminated Wednesday evening with the announcement of the winning candidates. The new ASG leaders are: Jim Kweder, Ted Linn, Linda Wilson, Pete Peterson and Sarah Lucas.

Jim Kweder is the new ASG President. An English major whose home is DuBois, Pa., Jim has been active in student government and campus organizations since his freshman year. As a freshman he was Treasurer of his class and he served on the Residence Council. He was also a member of Debate Club and Newman Club. In his sophomore year he became a member of Philo Franklin and assumed new duties as an AUC representative and Freshman Seminar Discussion Leader. This year, in addition to Philo Franklin and Newman Club activities, Jim has found time to serve on the CU Board, to act as CU Social Chairman and to perform the duties of Freshman Seminar Coordinator. He has also continued as an AUC representative.

The newly elected president of IFC is George Hagstrom, junior Phi Gam from Jamestown, N.Y. Vice-president is junior Al Ingham, an SAE from Titusville.

Elections were held at the Wednesday night meeting of the IFC.

Commenting on his new position, Jim said, "The decision of the student body fills me with gratitude for the many students who worked so ardently for my election and for all of you who supported me. I am humble in the realization of the great responsibility that I must shoulder, and I take great pride in your having placed your trust in my ability and sense of purpose. With the cooperation of the other officers, and the creative support of an excellent Executive Committee, next year's government should be truly effective and satisfying."

Olympic Torch Sets Stage For Scheduled Greek Week

by Mimi Jackson

To promote better relations between all groups on campus is the idea behind Greek Week which is being held from April 8 to April 13. It is being sponsored by IFC, Pan-Hellenic Council, the CU Board and ASG.

Bob Sharp is general chairman of this year's Greek Week with Bette Bauman as publicity chairman. Treasurer is Bob Stubbe, secretary is Anne Jones and week-end co-ordinator is Sue Wolf.

A Marathon Relay Race will start Greek Week at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday evening, April 8. Runners will start at Smock Bridge and will pass a lighted torch to relay runners along the route. The last runner will carry the lighted torch to Brooks Circle where he will light the "Olympic Flame." Short speeches will be made by former IFC president Ed Fredricks and Pan-Hellenic president Sally Stewart commemorating the Greeks and introducing Greek Week.

The IFC banquet will be at Brooks Hall Wednesday evening at 6:00 p.m. at which the new IFC president will be introduced. Trophies will be awarded to the winners of inter-fraternity football, basketball, softball and volleyball.

A Greek Sing will be held Thursday, April 10, at Brooks Hall. The theme will be songs of Jerome Kern, with each group singing one Kern song and one of their group songs. Fraternities and sororities will compete in the Greek Sing with a trophy being presented to the fraternity winner and a plaque to the sorority winner.

On Saturday afternoon from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. competitive events will be held behind the David Mead Fieldhouse. Three teams of two people, from every sorority and fraternity as well as freshman women and independents will take part in this event. There will be prizes awarded to the winners of the egg-throwing contest, the three-legged race, and the greased pig contest in which just the fraternities will compete.

Following these events until 5:30 p.m. will be a jam session by Eli's Chosen Six, a jazz group from Yale, in the small gym.

Closing Greek Week will be a special sermon on brotherhood by Dr. Charles B. Ketcham at Sunday (Continued on page 6)

Chamber Music Planned For Spring Festival By Music Department

by Jay Whaley

The Allegheny Chamber Music Festival, sponsored by the College Union in conjunction with members of the music department, is being planned for Friday, May 2 and Saturday, May 3.

This festival will be unique in at least three respects. First of all, it will truly "chamber" in essence. Chamber music has been called the music of friends, due to the intimacy and close participation among both the artists and the audience, and dependent also upon the content of expression. "... Chamber music provides a medium for the expression of particularly intimate ideas ... it does not depend for its effects upon great splashes of sound, and great variety of tone-colour, or great virtuoso display. In chamber music there is room only for the essentials, all mere padding is avoided. One is aware of the musical essence, of the composer's inmost intentions ...," says Homer Ulrich, an American music critic. Consequently, the Festival will provide the environmental stimulus for this expressive art form.

Secondly, the value of two nights of music is brought out by the increased personal contact among participants, and the more intense familiarization with the styles of the separate composers. A high element of warmth will be the result. Therefore, all tickets will be good for both nights.

And, in the third respect, versatility will characterize the Festival as a total of eight musicians will participate during the two nights. Two members of the Allegheny faculty and six guest artists will combine their talents to render a Bach trio, a Brahms sextet, a Beethoven quartet, a Martinu trio, a Shostakovich quartet, and a Mozart quintet. It may be mentioned that many crit-

Four-fold Mission Of Church Stated By ACF Guest Speaker

by Jackie Kovacevic

"The mission of the church in our society today is a four-fold one," stated Dr. George Reis, Professor of Religion and Philosophy at Thiel College, to the members of the Allegheny Christian Fellowship and their guests, the members of the Thiel Christian Fellowship, Sunday evening in the Chapel Oratory.

"Its four missions are: 1. To express the oneness of the church in Christ. 2. To witness to its truth. 3. To teach its people to worship. 4. To promote social action."

The occasion for Dr. Reis' words was the regular Sunday evening meeting of the ACF. The topic before the group was the "Mission of the Church in Our Society." Dr. Reis chose to speak on just one of the mentioned missions of the church—the mission to express its oneness in Christ.

"A church is a fellowship of believers who gather wherever God's word is taught and the sacraments are given. These two things are the center of the church." Having made these two statements, Dr. Reis then went on to say that we do not achieve this unity in ourselves, but that God unites us through his work and through His son, Christ Jesus. The Sacraments and His word bring us forgiveness. The church then is really a company of "divinely forgiven sinners."

"The unity of the church is the forgiveness of Christ," said Dr. Reis. "Man's role is to accept that unity and to express it." Dr. Reis was careful to point out that this does not mean conformity in organization and service in order to achieve unity. The Church must have the elasticity to accept both the Roman Catholic and the member of the Salvation Army Church.

The speaker then mentioned three ways in which we can delete the obvious disunity of the church: 1. We can take the stand of Sectarianism and claim that ours is the pure church with the only true be-

Voting Percentages Announced By ASG

Eight hundred thirty-six students voted in the election for ASG officers on Tuesday, Tom Jones announced at this week's AUC meeting.

Based on the class percentages, 79.1 per cent of the student body voted.

Also announced were the results of a student opinion poll conducted by "a group of interested students."

The purpose of the poll was to determine whether or not students wished to have the Allegheny Magazine controversy brought to a student referendum in April. Five hundred twenty-six voted in favor of having the referendum and 128 voted against. It was pointed out that the poll was in no way of a legislative nature.

Referendum Controversy

The results of the poll taken Tuesday for a referendum on the new magazine are quite disturbing.

For one thing, it appears that several people felt that AUC had not represented the student opinion in voting down the IFC proposal. Therefore, the whole matter was taken on by those several people in order to discover the opinion of individuals on campus, despite the rationality of arguments presented against bringing up a referendum before the second issue of the magazine came out.

Many people forgot, apparently, that the duty of AUC representatives is not only to "reflect student opinion," but to act wisely in the best interests of all concerned.

In the second place, the presentation of the IFC proposal was not well-timed. When it was brought up last Tuesday before AUC, a decision had to be arrived at that night, for if passed, the proposal was to have been voted on at the general elections this week. Owing to this, the representatives had no opportunity to discuss with their constituents, new information brought to light during this meeting. Now many students, on learning that the IFC proposal had been defeated and having no knowledge of the facts brought out in the discussion last Tuesday night, began to complain that their opinions were not being represented. As a result, when many people were polled, they gave their opinions emotionally and without due regard to both sides of the picture. Many probably did not even realize the significance or implications of what they were voting for. Is this the true picture of student opinion? We seriously doubt it.

The last, but by far not the least important point, is the effect of a referendum as far as the magazine staff is concerned.

Last year the procedure was set up for a referendum after two issues of the magazine were printed. Suppose a referendum was approved by a majority of the student body in April to do away with the magazine. It certainly would not serve as an incentive for the staff to try and put out a better magazine this spring.

Knowing that students had not waited for two issues to evaluate objectively, but, rather, had judged only one issue, what would there be for the staff to work for? They would be defeated before they even finished. If the student body would not stand by their agreement, why should the staff even try to make the potentiality of the magazine a realization? The new magazine is an experiment which will take time to work out in order that it may reach its potential.

A decision was made last spring, through which the student body committed itself to try the experiment for a year. Now it is up to the student body to stick to that agreement which it would not do by voting affirmatively to have such a referendum in April. Then a referendum will automatically come up after the second issue of the magazine through which the student body may voice its opinion after a more objective and intelligent evaluation of the magazine.

Letters to The Campus...

To the Editor:

In light of recent events surrounding the question of the Allegheny Magazine, I would like to clarify AUC's position in the reigning confusion.

On Monday evening, March 17, the IFC distributed to the sororities and fraternities copies of a resolution calling for a student referendum to be held on Election Day, March 25. (The text of the resolution has been published in The Campus). The next evening, Tuesday, March 18, the resolution was introduced in AUC. Several things transpired in the meeting which are worth noting at this time.

1) Discussion revealed that the entire campus had not had an opportunity to discuss the resolution. The freshmen and independents had not previously received copies of the resolution; and, of the groups that had discussed the question, not all had actually taken a vote.

2) In the council meeting the various opinions were pooled and general feeling was that it would be unwise to call an immediate referendum since sufficient information was not yet available to the whole campus, i.e. all groups had not had an opportunity to discuss it, and it would be beneficial to see the second issue of the magazine before drawing any conclusions.

3) It was impossible to table the resolution so that it might be taken back to the groups because the IFC wanted it on the March 25 ballot. Thus, the resolution was pushed to a vote and was defeated 16-11. The vote simply indicated that the Council, having heard all sides of the question, had decided that a more informed student opinion could be obtained in a referendum if we waited until the second issue of the magazine was published.

Unfortunately, a group of individuals decided to take matters into their own hands and conduct, on Election Day, a student opinion poll concerning the date of a referendum. These were the same people who had tried to push the IFC resolution through AUC without adequate discussion in all groups. The results of the student opinion poll were as follows: 526 in favor of a referendum in April, 128 against. However, some points must be cited here if we are to have a clear understanding of the significance, or insignificance, of these figures.

1) According to the way the ballot was worked, the voter had little choice, i.e. either you voted to have a referendum in April or no referendum at all; at least that was the implication.

2) While the figures are impressively large, I think we can basically consider this an unformed majority. Many of the students who voted were members of groups who had not had sufficient opportunity to discuss the issue. And all of the students who voted have not yet had a chance to see the magazine's second issue. In actuality, they were voting on half a question. I couldn't help but feel that part of the vote was due to a reaction against AUC; and this reaction was in turn due to a misunderstanding of what really transpired in the meeting.

Chamber Music

ics claim that Beethoven's string quartets are even finer than his symphonies.

Centered in the dining room of Cochran Hall, the audience will be limited to 200 people. Beginning April 18, 100 tickets will be given to the first 100 people of the Allegheny Community who desire them, the other 100 tickets will be sold to music enthusiasts in the Western Pennsylvania area. This money will be used to help partially cover expenses.

We have, then, one of the most satisfying and stimulating fields of music lying before us. "(Chamber music) is at once the most enjoyable and the most dignified of literatures." The evenings of May 2 and May 3 will mark another truly unique event on our campus, The Allegheny Chamber Music Festival.

3) There were some students who refused to participate at all in the poll since they felt that the informed majority opinion had been expressed in AUC.

AUC is by no means sacrosanct, and students must certainly feel free at any time to bring an issue to the community's attention. But the important thing is the means by which this is accomplished and the subsequent validity of the results. Hurriedly pushing something through AUC or bypassing AUC altogether can only lead to distorted results. If we honestly want to get a majority of informed student opinion, then we must be willing to give it the time to go through the channels of representative government. In the long run, this will yield the most helpful information. Only then can we approach the referendum which we hope will result in useful suggestions for the Publications Board.

Sincerely,

Linda Wilson

An Ugly Man Contest to be held during Greek Week will be sponsored by Jr. IFC, inter-fraternity council of the 1958 pledge class. In this contest each fraternity will choose one of its members, active or pledge, and create as ugly a face as possible, using any materials.

Photographs of the "ugly men" will be placed on the bulletin board in the CU on April 8. Placing coins into jugs beneath each picture is the voting procedure. One cent secures one vote. The face which collects the greatest amount of money is the winning ugly man. The Junior IFC will present the winning fraternity with an award at the Toga Dance on Friday night, April 11. All proceeds go to the fund drive.

Since the Ugly Man Contest is new to the Allegheny campus, Al Wuchenich, chairman of Junior IFC said, "Our Ugly Man Contest serves a double purpose. It is something different, and we hope interesting, while still serving as the Junior IFC's small contribution to the fund drive. We hope, however, that the students will make it a big contribution by making the Ugly Man Contest a huge success."

Greek Week Dance "Hellenic Holiday" Stars College Band

"Hellenic Holiday," a dance at the CU Friday, April 11 from 8:30 p.m. to midnight during Greek Week, will feature music by Eli's Chosen Six.

Togas will be the costume, and decorations will be Greek. June Stuck is chairman of the dance.

Concluding Greek Week is a semi-formal dance, "Spring Fever," Saturday, April 12 at Brooks Hall. The music will again be furnished by Eli's Chosen Six. Decorations are under the chairmanship of M. L. Carlton.

Allegheny Places In PAC Festival At Case; Represented In Four Events

by Don Nicholson

Last weekend, the annual intramural tournament of the Presidents Athletic Council was held at the Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland. The eight member schools all sent teams to the two day tournament which included ping-pong, badminton, basketball, wrestling, volleyball, and fencing.

Allegheny had four representatives in the tournament, including the Phi Psis in basketball, the Delts in volleyball, Jack George in ping-pong, and Jim Vance and George Brock in Badminton.

The Phi Psis took a fourth in basketball with one win and two defeats. In their first game they lost to the team from John Carroll University by a score of 50-46. It was close throughout the game with the John Carroll team pulling away in the last two minutes. The Phi Psis got on the winning side of the slate by running over the team from Case in the second game by the score of 63-31. They began pulling away in the early minutes of the game and were never headed. The third and final game of the tournament was probably one of the closest games of the tournament. The Phi Psis lost in a "sudden death" overtime by the score of 44-43. It was a close game all the way with the score at the end of the regulation game being 40-40. At the end of the first overtime it was 42-42; and at the end of the second, it was 44-43 and finally the winning free throw came with about three minutes gone in the third overtime. It was an exciting game with John Carroll coming out on top again. The tall team from Wayne University won the team trophy without losing a game and John Carroll wound up in second place.

The Delt volleyball team finished the tournament in fourth place also with one win and two defeats. They lost their first game to Western Reserve which put them in the losers bracket. They then beat John Carroll and were defeated in the final game by Thiel.

The badminton team composed of Jim Vance and George Brock finished in second place without even having a doubles team. Vance and Brock each won three matches and lost one in bringing back their second place trophy. The fact that a doubles team was not entered probably kept them from the championship.

Jack George was defeated in his first ping-pong match in the single elimination tournament.

Spring And Sports At Allegheny

by Frank Maldonado

For some, spring means a relaxing jaunt to Conneaut Lake, for others it is the time for dating or "the spring offensive", as it is known, and for still others, it is the time for outdoor sport. In short, spring brings back to everyone some activity which makes the melting of winter's snow a welcomed sight.

It is no secret that attendance at track meets and baseball games has left much to be desired. There have always been the few who attend for sheer love of the sports, but those are scarce indeed. Most of the time the comfortable and spacious facilities of our track and baseball field are exposed solely to the rays of the spring sun. Since it has been evident in the past that sheer love of the game is not sufficient to bring out a substantial following then a description of the more lucrative aspects of attending athletic contests may serve as an incentive.

For nature lovers the baseball field is an appealing sight indeed. With no reservation College Field is the most attractive collegiate baseball park in Western Pennsylvania. The gentle grassy slopes circumscribing half of the field serve as accommodations and an ideal spot for relaxation. Equipped with just a blanket a group can sit and enjoy the view of historic French Creek Valley below.

AFROTC Shooters Fire Last Match; College Rifle Team Left With Two

Wednesday evening the AFROTC Rifle Team fired its last postal match of the year against the University of Vermont and Loyola University of Los Angeles. The team has thus far compiled a 4-3 record by beating the University of Colorado, Stanford, the University of Virginia, and Trinity College, while losing to Bradley University, Colgate, and the University of Idaho, 10 points each. Results of matches with the University of Cincinnati, Cornell and the University of Nebraska have not yet been received.

The College Rifle Team, which is composed of members of the ROTC team and other interested shooters, presently has a 3-1 record in the Western Pennsylvania Collegiate Rifle League. They have two more shoulder-to-shoulder matches remaining in the season. Thus far the Gators have taken two matches from Clarion and one from the University of Pittsburgh while losing once to Grove City. The remaining two matches, which will be fired at the end of April are with Pittsburgh, AHO, and Grove City.

Bob McCreary is captain of both teams. Dave Rist is assistant captain. Stanton Cull, Joe Fox, Don Dahlfues, Larry Huston and Terry Craig regularly fire as members of both teams while Amy Short and Carl Heinrich are members of the College team only.

All home matches and weekly practice sessions are held in the basement of the Market House in downtown Meadville.

All shooting equipment, including rifles, jackets, gloves, and ammunition is furnished by the Department of Air Science. Capt. Leonard S. Machado and Airman 1/c Charles F. White, Jr. respectively act as advisor and instructor to the various members of the teams.

Linda Wilson, from Mansfield, Ohio, is the new Vice President for International and National Affairs. Linda transferred to Allegheny from Cornell University where she served on the Freshman Class Council. She was also a Dormitory Counselor and a Freshman Camp Counselor. Since coming here two years ago, Linda, an English major, has been quite active in student affairs. As a sophomore, she was chairman of two committees, the AWS Program Committee and the AUC Citizenship Committee. She was also a member of Singers and Socrates Club, and served as "Suzy" Senate. This year, Linda is serving as NSA Coordinator, a member of AWS Senate, the CU Board, the Coordinating Committee, the AUC Executive Committee and the AWS Educating and Evaluating Committee. She has also remained active in Singers and in Socrates Club.

Optimistic about the future, Linda said, "This has been a good year for student government and the future looks even brighter. Structurally, through the new constitution, we have clearly defined our goals and purposes; and we now have a solid distribution of leadership. Largely through the efforts of Tom Jones and Lynne Crandall this year, we inherit a fine working relationship with the faculty and administration. More and more we find ourselves achieving a real sense of community; and by keeping in mind the educational goals of the college, student government can make the significant contribution of which it is capable."

Sophomore Ted Linn was elected Vice President for Student Affairs. Ted is an English major from Pittsburgh. A member of Phi Delta Theta, he plans to go into the ministry upon graduation. Last year Ted was Freshman Class President, a member of Singers, the Tennis Team, the Coordinating Committee and the Thoburn Club. This year, he is again serving as Class President. Ted is also a member of the CU Board and he intends to play tennis again this year.

Informed of his election to the office, Ted said, "I appreciate the confidence expressed by the students in electing me Vice President for Student Affairs. I am aware of the new responsibility and will do my utmost to live up to the expectations of those who supported me."

He substituted for the originally-scheduled speaker, G. A. Harshman, president and editor of the Sharon-Herald, who was snowbound in Philadelphia.

A resident of Meadville, Sarah Lucas, is the newly elected Executive Secretary. An English major, Sarah has had ample experience for the position. Last year she was Corresponding Secretary for AUC President Art Blank. These same duties were performed by Sarah for Tom Jones. In addition, she is on the Class Day Committee and is Flower Chairman for May Day. In accepting the office, Sarah said, "I want to thank most sincerely all those who demonstrated their support of me for the office of Executive Secretary. I can only reiterate what I have said previously—that I will certainly perform my duties to the best of my ability; be they purely secretarial in nature or in the perhaps more important area of a representative vote on the Executive Committee."

and Laughlin Steel Corporation, Strip Steel Division. Among the topics discussed were: originality in news-writing, salaries for top jobs on college newspapers, the extent to which controversial questions should be published in college newspapers, and what constitutes libel.

After the panel discussion, there was a 45-minute break before dinner, during which the delegates had an opportunity to become better acquainted and to look at the newspapers from other schools. Following dinner, Joseph Shuman, City Editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette spoke on "Your Newspaper And You". The presentation of awards was then made. Youngstown University's paper The Jambor received the award for the Best Newspaper. This award is presented annually by the Industrial Information Institute, Inc., which also sponsors the Collegiate Press Association.

Last year The Campus won an award for an editorial written by Monte Levitt.

this faith and honor the class has placed in me," stated McChesney. "I will endeavor to promote those ideas of the class that will bind and benefit it as a part of the college community."

Dave McKay, sophomore class prexy, commented, "I feel my election was an endorsement for the methods I suggested to help bring about class unity and purposeful class government. The program the class has elected will require a great deal of support from the class for success. I feel confident that this support will be enthusiastically given. I look forward to excellent class cooperation."

A member of Phi Gamma Delta, Dave hails from Sharon. His activities include participating in Freshman Seminar, Thoburn Club and ACF. He is a pre-med major.

For record minded people it should be brought out that in the last few years Coach Garbark's baseball teams have had fine records. On the cinder paths there is no telling when some record will be broken in some event or another.

At some time during the spring when considering where to enjoy an afternoon of sun and relaxation why not pack a blanket, bring some friends along and travel to College Field.

primary questions with which they were concerned were; the difference between compromising and working together, and what are some of the concrete ways in which we can work together?

Approximately twelve Thiel students were the guests of the Allegheny group. Refreshments were served following the meeting and a period of fellowship was enjoyed.

WHAT IS A MAN WHO BLOWS SMOKE RINGS?
(SEE PARAGRAPH BELOW)

SMOKE RINGS come in all shapes and sizes. Like 4-sided smoke rings for squares. Sturdy smoke rings for windy days. Even invisible smoke rings for people who aren't ostentatious. As any competent smoke ringer (Vapor Shaper in Stickles!) will tell you, the best way to start one is to light up a Lucky. It's best mostly because a Lucky tastes best. A Lucky gives you naturally light, wonderfully good-tasting tobacco, toasted to taste even better. Why settle for less? You'll say a light smoke's the right smoke for you!

DON'T JUST STAND THERE...
STICKLE! MAKE $25

Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (No drawings, please!) We'll shell out $25 for all we use—and for hundreds that never see print. So send stacks of 'em with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, New York.
