Bishop Oxman To Speak At Honors Day

Speakers Highlight Religion-In-Life Week

"Presenting a challenge to complacent minds constitutes the primary value of such programs" stated Rabbi Robert Bergman concerning benefits derived from the panels and discussions held during the four day Religion-In-Life Week.

Challenges were presented in various contexts both in the lectures and during informal question and answer periods held from October 26 to 29.

Dr. William Muehl of Yale Divinity School began the series of talks centered around the theme "Gumption, Government, and God" in chapel Sunday morning with a sermon entitled "Challenge and Response." He laid the foundation with some basic ideas which were developed further in later discussions.

On Sunday afternoon a panel consisting of Dr. Muehl, Rabbi Bergman, Mr. Albert Martin, head of the political science department at the University of Pittsburgh, Mr. Ray Shafer, candidate for the state Senate, and moderated by Dr. Lawrence Pelletier, discussed "Principles and Power." The main topic under consideration, the degree to which religious and ethical values should influence political matters, led to an inquiry as to the adequacy of our present-day moral standards. Mr. Martin presented the view that as our society becomes more complex, a revised set of values should be constructed in order to cope with new situations.

Dr. Muehl, in a lecture Sunday night, considered the practical application of religion, particularly in the area of politics. He examined our political responsibility as a part of our moral responsibility since judgment is upon nations as well as upon individuals. Besides man's

Sinfonietta Prepares For Dec. 11 Concert

The Allegheny Sinfonietta, under the direction of Dr. Herbert Neurath, has resumed its activities in preparation for its first concert, Thursday, December 11. "This is certainly one of the finest orchestras we have ever had," said Dr. Neurath, "I am highly pleased with the musicianship and morale of the Sinfonietta. I believe we will have a very successful year ahead for ourselves."

Several freshmen have joined the Sinfonietta. They are: Julie Fryatt, Kay Moss, Gale Scholes, violinists; Sarah Sayres, flutist; Maida Marsh, oboist; John Erbey, trumpet player; and Doris Holmes, pianist. "Together with the 28 other students, town musicians, and high school players, these freshmen contribute very much to the spirit and enthusiasm of the group," Dr. Neurath remarked. "All of our new students have had considerable orchestral experience in high school or other orchestras. They fit in very smoothly and there has been no difficulty or friction, since they all love good music and are very cooperative."

For the first program, orchestral works by Handel, Haydn, and Beethoven have been chosen. In addition, the orchestra will perform three choral preludes, arranged by Gordon Binkerd. The Chapel Choir will join the Sinfonietta in the performance of works by Bach and Arthur Shepherd.

Mrs. Struchen, President Pelletier, and Dr. Swartley hold a discussion with Mr. Scott, Republican candidate for Senator, at the tea held in the Pine Room in Brooks.

Scott, McGonigle, Shafer Seek Votes For Election

Allegheny Young Republicans will climax a two-week period of intensive campaign activity with an Election Eve Rally at 9 p.m. Monday in the North Lounge of the CU. The following day, November 4, teams of workers will assist local Republicans in getting out the vote for the U.S. Senatorial Candidate Hugh Scott, Gubernatorial Candidate Arthur T. McGonigle and Senatorial Candidate Raymond P. Shafer.

A feature of the rally, billed as "old-fashioned political fun with a modern touch", will be the crowning of a McGonigle Pretzel King and Queen, chosen from among those attending. There will be no speeches, but candidate Shafer will be on hand to thank the collegiate politicos and give a brief pep talk to Election Day workers.

Under the chairmanship of Bob Lamoree, with Diane McCune acting as co-chairman, the Allegheny group has been busy for several days. The campaign was kicked off on October 24 at a reception for Congressman Hugh Scott in the Pine Room. A joint meeting of Young Republicans and Young Democrats was held Tuesday at which Ray Shafer and Democratic Assembly Candidate Harvey George expressed their views on youth in politics. On Tuesday evening some 20 students participated in Operation Postcard, addressing thousands of pieces of campaign literature which were mailed in Mr. Shafer's behalf. During the week, teams of students have traveled to Mercer County where they campaigned door-to-door for Mr. Shafer and the Republican ticket.

Persons wishing to work at the polls on Election Day are asked to contact Bob Lamoree at the Phi Delt House. It is pointed out by Suzanne Treadwell, adviser to the campus Young Republicans, that this is a tangible way in which to implement the Religion - in - Life Week admonition that we should become involved.

Upcoming Elections Activate Politics

The Young Republicans, under the leadership of Bob Lamoree and Diane McCune, are planning a rally on November 3 at the College Union.

The Young Democrats, with Frank Feigert as chairman, plan a survey of this area by individuals in the group. Also the group will distribute campaign material and telephone as many voters as possible.

Class Governments Discussed By ASG

by Herb Friedman

The ASG meeting of Tuesday, October 28, concerned itself with the functions and purposes of class governments in the student picture. One group of representatives stated that the individual classes had their jobs all cut out for them while another group representative said that they felt that the classes should institute projects and serve a greater purpose than they are now serving. Projects being thought of at the present time are: a bloodmobile, a car pool to the John Carrol football game, and a freshman project to evaluate Orientation Week.

Two committee reports were given at the meeting. The representative from NSA announced that the main goal of NSA this year is to bring that organization close to the student body. Particular emphasis will be placed on orienting freshmen with the work of NSA.

Dick Smith gave a report of the Fund Drive Committee. He stated that the class governments should think about projects for raising funds in the spring drive. It was emphasized that the projects should be initiated from the rank and file of the classes, rather than being something pushed and forced by the ASG council.

An important announcement was made at the meeting. The College Student Court met last week and tried a student on charges of disorderly conduct. The student was found guilty and was placed on disciplinary probation.

Concert Band Meets Thurs. To Reorganize

A reorganizational meeting of the concert band will be held Thursday night, November 6, at 8:15 in the Music building.

The band, under the direction of Bill Hrach, was started last year and is open to all men and women on

Convocation Exercises, Wed., To Honor Alden Scholars

Bishop G. Bromley Oxman, world-famed Methodist churchman, will speak on "The Artificer in Ideas" Wednesday, 11:00 a.m., in David Mead Fieldhouse at the Honors Day Convocation, in which Allegheny students will be honored for academic achievement.

Eighty-three students, to be designated Alden Scholars after Timothy Alden, founder and first president of Allegheny, will receive certificates from President Pelletier for attaining a scholastic average of 85 or better for the year 1957-58. Students with 90 or better averages, in addition, will receive a special award.

Included in the program will be the following awards:

The Phi Beta Kappa annual prizes and the announcement of the election of junior members to the national honorary scholastic fraternity.

The William Edgar Porter prize "to the student in the junior class who shall be accredited with the highest average in scholarship for the junior year."

The James Bennet Porter Prize "to the student in the freshman class with the highest average in scholarship for the freshman year."

The Pi Gamma Mu prize to a senior student majoring in one of four departments — History, Sociology, Economics or Political Science — who has attained a scholastic average of at least 87 during his first three years, in courses taken in these four departments.

The day's activities will be concluded with a dinner for the honored students in Cochran at 6:00 p.m. Bishop Oxman and members of the faculty will be guests. Dr. Herbert S. Rhinesmith of the Chemistry department will speak at the dinner on intellectual life on the campus.

Bishop Oxman, a graduate of the University of Southern California and Boston University, has been honored with degrees from colleges and universities here and abroad. He has received the following honorary degrees: D.D., LL.D., S.T.D., D. SC., L.H.D., Litt. D., and TH.D. Allegheny College awarded him an honorary LL.D. in 1946.

Seven New Angels Will Be Initiated On Nov. 18

The new members of the Angels, the women's division of ROTC, were announced during this past week. They are: sophomores, Sandy Andrews, Mary Curtin, Bertie Langford, Ann Stone, Ginny Dick, Charlotte McCandless, and junior, Carol Denick.

The girls are chosen on the basis of interest in activities of organization, and interest in furthering the ROTC department. Their activities include the Military Ball, monthly meetings with the ROTC department, a National Conclave in Pittsburgh, and an Air Force Wives' Tea.

Initiation will be on November 18. At the end of this year, freshmen will be chosen for next year.

Dr. Shillhammer To Be College Doctor

Dr. Schillhammer

Dr. W. R. Shillhammer, for 30 years a practicing physician in Groveton, N.H., will replace Dr. Dalrymple on December 10 as the resident doctor for Allegheny College.

"The college is most grateful for the quality of service rendered by Dr. Dalyrmple to the college community during the last two years," stated Dr. Pelletier, President of Allegheny College. "His leaving the college resulted from the fact that the growth of his private practice coupled with his duties as public school physician in Meadville made it difficult for him to be available to the college during the larger number of hours which the expanding enrollment requires."

Dr. Schillhammer, born in Westford, Vermont, was graduated Cum Laude from the University of Vermont in June of 1923. During World War I, Dr. Schillhammer served with the U.S. Army Medical Corps and was assigned to S.A.T.C. Training at the University of Vermont. He has also taken post-graduate courses at Mayo Clinic,

Mademoiselle Contest For Women Students

Mademoiselle's College Board Contest is now open for applications from undergraduate women.

The contest offers an opportunity for the winner to receive one of the twenty Guest Editorships—a month on the staff of Mademoiselle. Those who are accepted on the College Board do two assignments during the college year. Assignments give College Board members a chance to write features about life on their campus; to submit art work and fashion as well as feature, fiction, or promotion ideas for possible use in Mademoiselle; to develop their critical and creative talents; to discover their own abilities and job interests; to win cash prizes and possibly publication for outstanding work submitted during the contest.

The top twenty Guest Editors will be brought to New York next June, with all transportation paid plus a regular months salary.

November 30 is the deadline for applying for College Board membership. Successful candidates will be notified of acceptance during Christmas vacation.

For further information see the August, September, October or November issue of Mademoiselle.

THE LINE-UP

With all regards to young love, we find it imperative to bring the very controversial subject of public love-making to light again. Past admonitions unfortunately have not been heeded.

Perhaps it might be necessary to define when love-making becomes public, since it is evident that many individuals do not have any conception of this.

Downstairs in the College Union, the streets, college social affairs, the Pine Room and the lounges generally constitute the places where any sort of love-making becomes definitely bad taste. Fellow students, along with any visitors, cannot help but be embarrassed when confronted by couples occupied with such activities.

The episode of the TV room last year can be cited as an example of the embarrassment caused by any who would walk in upon a display of public love-making.

As adults who are supposedly of good upbringing, these displays reflect in a detrimental manner on the students as a whole, as well as on the college.

KNOWLEDGE

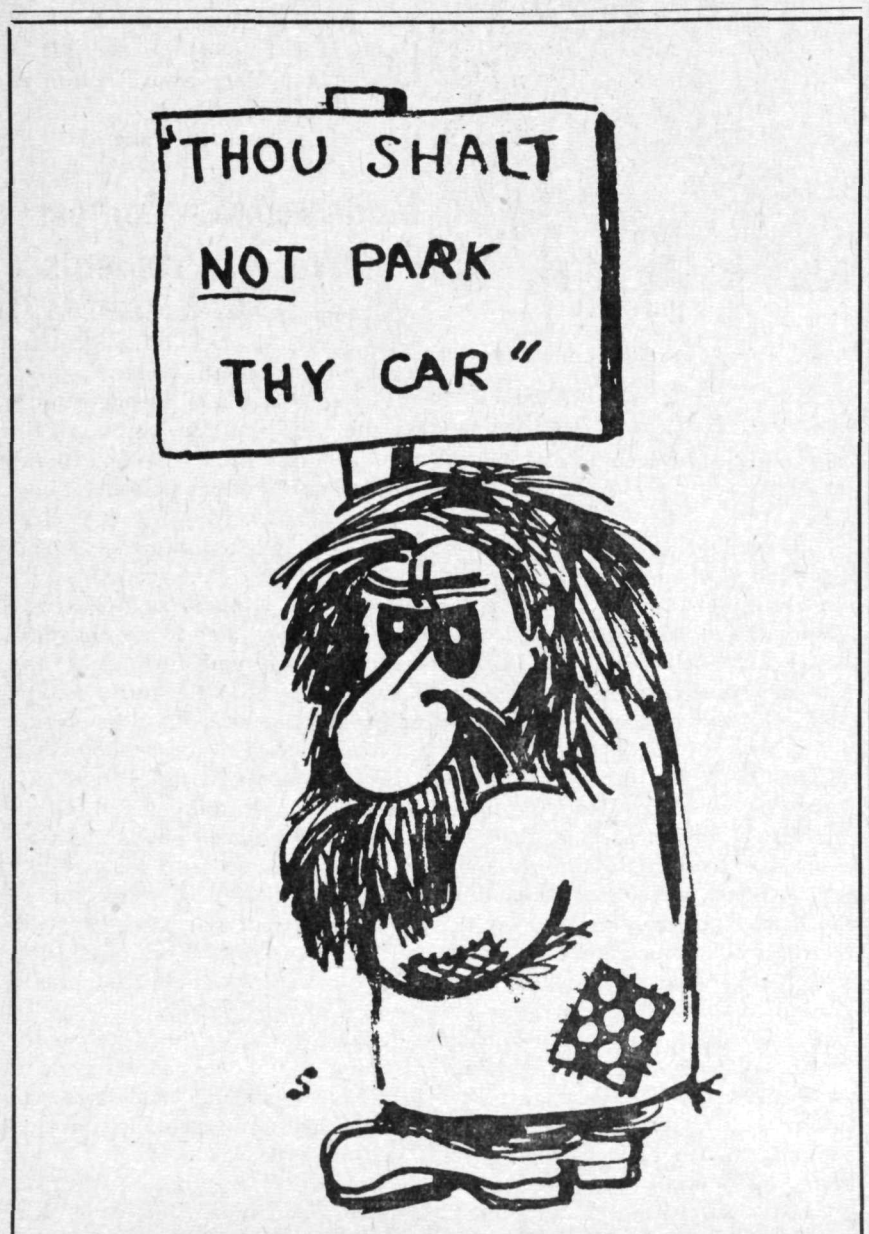

"There is an Arabic proverb which teaches us that a man without learning is like a body without a soul. The very life of a republican government depends upon a general dissemination of knowledge. It is, therefore, evident that unless men's minds be enlightened their judgment will be erroneous and the consequences fatal."

Timothy Alden, founder and first president of the college, made the above statement at a service in the South Church in Portsmouth, N.H., January 4, 1801.

Although this was said 157 years ago, it still has a definite message to the students of our generation. Every man needs knowledge if he is to receive benefits from his own life and from society.

The amount of knowledge obtained during a person's life can be judged not only by his scholastic record but also by the way he uses the knowledge he has acquired.

Man has to have knowledge in order to fully make decisions, to judge wisely and to do the most good for society. Man cannot live alone, and only through knowledge and understanding can we as members of society fulfill our obligation to this society.

Faculty Profile

Mrs. Graffius

Mrs. Nora Graffius, another of our new faculty members this fall, taught at Penn State before coming here to become a member of the education department. She feels that teaching is a very challenging profession and one which keeps people on their toes.

Mrs. Graffius likes to travel and has been to Hawaii and to Puerto Rico. She likes children's literature, collects all types of children's books, and also appreciates music very much. Her favorite hobby is that of reading. She feels that conversation about books is very good and wishes that more people did it.

Every morning Mrs. Graffius gets up to listen to Charles Van Doren on the TODAY program. She is greatly impressed by his diction and English and also by his knowledge of poetry and literature. She also is very much interested in politics. She believes that one should be either for or against something, never neutral. To encourage people to think for themselves, she believes that more logical thinking and reasoning should be taught in the schools.

Mrs. Graffius is the type of person who makes you feel at ease as soon as you meet her. She is very friendly and enjoys being with people, always being ready to help them to the best of her ability.

Opportunity To Travel In Europe Offered By Educational Travel, Inc.

by Joan Reiber

Many opportunities for cheap travel in Europe are being offered by the NSA student travel program, the ETI (Educational Travel Inc.). This is possible because it is set up on a non-profit basis and works closely with European student organizations.

The program offers such advantages as low cost and use of student ships.

In order for the students to benefit the most from the program, the tours are concentrated in just a few countries. All tours are led by foreign university students. The tour groups are composed of about twenty-five to thirty students.

The program set up by ETI includes two types of tours. The first, the general interest tours, concentrate on three to eight countries dura summer. There are also special interest tours for people interested in a particular subject or country. These include the Festivals of Music and Art, the Israel and Western Europe tour, and others.

The tours range in price from about $750 to $1,500 (DeLuxe, Red Carpet tours). A seventy-six day tour, visiting Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France costs $850. The price covers all transportation, meals, lodging, tours and tips.

A Volkswagon tour includes seventy-three days in Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, France and Belgium and costs $999.

Joan Reiber should be contacted by any who are interested in the program.

Letters to The Campus...

Dear Editor,

Your editorial writer last week suggested two possible solutions to the campus parking problem. One he almost immediately discards as no solution at all. The other, he implied, was the only solution. I would like to suggest a third possible solution, cheaper than the second, more sweeping than either offered in your editorial.

I would like to see the college community seriously consider the abolition of all student cars from the campus (with certain necessary exceptions, of course). Important social, economic and academic advantages, as well as advantages of safety, might well result from such a move. Abolition could be accomplished gradually and without depriving anyone now on campus by simply refusing to allow any incoming class after the present freshman class to have cars.

Campus parking conditions are unlikely to improve as a result of the present policy of piece-meal legislation; in view of the long-range development needs of the college it would seem inappropriate to divert funds to a parking lot. Although on the surface abolition seems like a drastic proposal, a dispassionate evaluation of the present problems and of the advantage which can result from this action lead one to conclude that indeed abolition may be the only possible solution.

The editorial board of The Campus is to be congratulated for introducing this pressing problem for community discussion.

Sincerely,
George A. Test
Instructor in English

Oct. 27, 1958

To the Editor:

I should like to clarify, if I can, what I think is a misleading report on the discussion of The Youth March for Integrated Schools. This report appeared in the October 24th issue of the Campus.

Upon reading the article, one might infer that the March was a NSA activity. This is not true. This demonstration was conceived and initiated by a group of students and adults having no connection whatever with NSA. NSA merely endorsed the activity and urged its member schools to participate.

It would, therefore, also be incorrect to infer that the intent of the Executive Committee's letter was to support the principle of integration and then tell them (NSA) that "we do not believe in using the methods to which they adhere." Rather, the letter was to state that while we supported the principles that motivated the organizers of The Youth March for Integrated Schools, we did not think that a march up Pennsylvania Avenue was the wisest course of action for students to take. We felt that there were better ways of showing our dissatisfaction with the present school segregation situation.

To say that "this is something that the organization (NSA) knows nothing about and therefore has no right involving itself" would surely be a misstatement. As human beings, most of whom adhere to the Christian tradition, but equally true of those who stand on other ethical principles, we not only have a right but a moral obligation to support integration in whatever way we can; and, in view of the Supreme Court decision, as United States citizens we have a legal obligation to do so.

I hope that this will help to clarify my statements in the AUC meeting of October 21.

Sincerely,
Jim Kweder, President
Allegheny Student Government

Bridge Problem

In last week's problem, we unfortunately made a slight mistake, which could have prevented some from seeing the point of the problem. The Spade 2 with North should have been Spade 7, and the Spade 7 with East, should have been Spade 2.

Analyzing the problem as it now stands South sees that the red suits cannot give anything more than 9 tricks, and these are straight, anyway. The black suits are good for 3 immediate tricks, and the 13th trick must be in the black suits. Finessing North's club Queen will not yield an extra trick even if the king is with East. For when East covers, South still makes only his ace of clubs. The only hope that South has of making his contract is that West has all the missing black honors. Assuming this South proceeds to strip his hand until the following situation is reached.

North
H —
D —
C Q 5

West
S Q J
H —
D —
C K J

East
S 6 5
H —
D —
C 8 7

South
S 4
D —
C A 2

South now resorts to the Vienna Coup, playing his club Ace, thus establishing West's Club K. This is followed by the last heart and now West must discard either the spade stopper or the Club King. Whichever suit he discards North retains and this makes all 13 tricks.

Philo-Franklin Union Debate Tomorrow At Westminster

The Philo-Franklin Union has announced that this year's debate topic will be: "Resolved: That Further Development of Nuclear Weapons Should Be Prohibited by International Agreement." Anyone who is legitimately interested in debating this issue, which will be the debate topic for the entire year, should contact Mr. Juleus. The first tournament, for novices without any previous experience only, will be held at Westminster on November 1.

A calendar for this year's events which are sponsored by the Philo-Franklin Union is as follows:

November 1: Westminster Novice Tournament

November 19: Men's and Women's Extemporaneous Speaking Contest

December 6: Allegheny Invitational Tournament

December 13: Pitt Cross-Examination Tournament

The two events in March will be the State Tournament in debate, extemporaneous speaking, and oratory, and the Penn State Debater's Congress in which the aspects of parliamentary debate are used. Sam Morneweck is the vice-president of this year's Congress. The Union will also sponsor tours of other colleges such as Mount Mercy, Westminster, Grove City, Case, and Kent. Those schools which are sending teams to the Allegheny Tournament are Pitt, Penn State, Case, Western Reserve, Kent, Oberlin, Gannon, Grove City, Slippery Rock, and Mount Mercy.

A tournament such as the statewide one in March is an event in which many colleges participate. Each team is matched with other schools for a series of six debates. A team consists of two affirmative and two negative speakers; the first speaker for the affirmative presents his case, being answered by the first negative of the opposition. This procedure then follows through the second speakers, with the burden of proof upon the affirmative. Each speaker is judged basically upon the following points: delivery, use and organization of evidence, and how well he can adapt his case to his own needs as well as those of the opposition.

Eurythmics, Folk-Dance; Faculty Party Planned

Mrs. Brunhile Dorsch, Professor of Music and Eurythmics at Duquesne University, will present a workshop in eurythmics and folk dance today and tomorrow.

Mrs. Dorsch earned her bachelor's and master's degrees at Carnegie Institute of Technology and studied at Dalchroze Studio of Eurythmics and Modern Dance. Besides her duties as a professor, Mrs. Dorsch presents workshops and festivals of folk arts in the Pittsburgh area and works at the Y.W.C.A. and the Pittsburgh Hebrew Center.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Dorsch will give demonstrations of eurythmics, moving with music in rhythmic motion, for the students of Ed. 16 and 11. From 4:30 to 5:30 she will present a program of modern dance for the Orchesis Group.

Friday evening from 9:00 to 11:00 Mrs. Dorsch will be featured at a Folk Dance Party for the parents of pre-school children, faculty and their friends in the main lounge of Cochran. Halloween refreshments will be served to the guests at the pre-school center.

Saturday morning from 9:00 to 11:00 Mrs. Dorsch will again give a demonstration of folk dancing at Cochran.

This two day workshop is being sponsored by Miss Emily Higgins, director of the pre-school center.

Benjamin Will Speak To Pre-Med Students

Prof. Philip M. Benjamin, chairman of the Allegheny College premedical advisory committee, will be the main speaker at the first session of the 1958 Dedication Year Conference for Pre-Medical Advisers at the State University of New York Upstate Medical Center in Syracuse on November 7th and 8th. He will speak on "Philosophies and Techniques of Pre-Medical Advising."

In other sessions marking the formal opening of the Upstate Medical Center's new Basic Sciences facilities, Dr. Ward Darley, Executive Director of the Association of American Medical Colleges, and members of the Medical Center faculty will be speakers.

Prof. Benjamin has been chairman of the faculty pre-medical committee since 1952. The committee is composed of five faculty members who supervise an academic program for Allegheny students planning careers in medicine and dentistry. Approximately 115 undergraduates are presently enrolled in Allegheny's pre-med courses.

Young Republicans, Democrats Take Sides In Elections

"People across the country are tired of a lack of leadership," stated Frank Feigert, chairman of the college's Young Democrats, in an interview recently. "The nation's pre-occupation with Eisenhower as an ideal rather than as a leader will make itself evident on November 4."

The Democrats throughout the nation "will win decisively" at every office level, he predicted.

"The rejection of Republican leadership has already been reflected in Maine where the Democrats scored a dramatic success in the traditionally Republican state," Feigert pointed out.

"Polls, while we should be wary of them, also indicate a definite Democratic trend," stated Feigert. "The Gallop Poll has found the Democrats leading significantly in California by a margin as great as 24 per cent."

"On the Pennsylvania state scene, the undeniable Democratic trend will also make itself known. I definitely see Lawrence and Leader winning in Pennsylvania, Lawrence by the larger margin," Feigert concluded.

"Lawrence will win because he has great practical experience and a national reputation. Arthur McGonigle, his opponent for the governorship, is an unknown quantity." Feigert stated that "an objective opinion of McGonigle is impossible" because "he just has had no experience."

"The state contest for senator will definitely be won by Leader over his Republican opponent Hugh Scott," Feigert predicted. "Scott, while known and respected within his district, does not have the statewide reputation of Leader. It's interesting to note that the rank-and-file Democrats are supporting Leader despite opposition by some Democratic county chairmen," Feigert said.

"The Young Democrats," stated Feigert, "feel that the part the students are playing will help to provide an intelligent voter. Many people appear to cast their ballot irrationally."

The program of the Young Democrats is "to help insure an informed and intelligent vote," according to Feigert. The plans include surveying the immediate area, passing out literature and contacting voters by telephone. On election day the Young Democrats plan to furnish transportation to the local polls.

"The blind acceptance of a party candidate by the general public has deeply impressed me during the present campaign," stated Robert Lamoree, chairman of Allegheny College's Young Republicans, in an interview, recently. "People simply refuse to recognize an obviously more capable candidate," he said.

"As a suggestion to correct such voting, I propose educational qualifications for voting. People make elections into popularity contests. Education would tend to inform and instruct people of present electioneering practices through an understanding of the past," Lamoree said.

"Universal manhood suffrage has not always promoted good government," continues Lamoree. "People seem to be impressed by names only."

"The present election for state governor offers a good illustration of this practice. The race is between a political boss with the backing of one of the few remaining real political machines and a successful businessman, possessing genuine civic interest. Arthur McGonigle is obviously the more desirable man, but the name Lawrence appears to draw votes to it for the name only," he said.

Lamoree cited the state senatorial contest between Republican Hugh Scott and Democrat George Leader as another example in which the "people may overlook the definitely superior qualifications of Scott to vote for a name." "Hugh Scott is experienced in foreign relations and is a capable statesman while Leader is inexperienced and should be only remembered for his self-con-

Neurath To Play Deconette Violin

Dr. Herbert Neurath will play a violin valued at many thousands of dollars in the Allegheny Chamber Music Festival. This violin is a genuine Deconette, created by a master Venetian violin maker in the middle of the 18th century. The superbly varnished finish is light yellow, and the tone is described as mellow and smooth as velvet. Where does a truly great violin obtain its tone? This remains an unanswered question, but the theory that the tone is due to the varnish is now becoming outmoded. Current thinking on the subject of the tone of a Deconette violin has it that the ageing of carefully selected woods in an atmosphere of just the right combination of humidity and temperature, in an ancient Venetian attic, plus the devoted craftsmanship and careful training of the violin maker are real contributing factors.

Dr. Neurath plans to use this violin in the string quartets of Hadyn, Schubert, and Barber, and in the Brahms Quintet for Clarinet and Strings. The Deconette has been loaned to Dr. Neurath by Edwin

One of Dr. Schillhammer's projects for this year will be the moving of the health center to two units in Arter Terrace while the new dorm is being built. The permanent health center will be located in part of the new dorm.

Gators Tie Thiel 12-12; Meet Dickinson

Bill Baker scores on plunge.

Tomcat First Half Lead Wiped Out; Allegheny Controls 2nd Half Play

by Ralph Macek

After allowing the Thiel eleven to take a 12 point lead in the first quarter, the Gators fought back in the second half of last Saturday's game at College Field, and tied the Tomcats at 12-12. The game, which was played on a rain-soaked field before an equally rain-soaked crowd, found the Gators again getting off to a bad start as they did at Grove City two weeks ago when the Grovers stunned them with a 21 point first quarter. And again, the Gators improved as the game progressed, showing in the second half a much stronger ground attack that resulted in single touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters.

The two Allegheny touchdowns were scored on short runs with Bill Baker doing the ball carrying in both cases. Baker also sparked the Gator's total offensive threat as he gained 59 rushing yards in 15 carries. The Tomcats scored their two first quarter touchdowns on short runs made by quarterback George Pekich and right halfback Bob Stone. Both teams tried and failed at a placement and a pass for their extra points .

After receiving the opening kickoff the Gators were forced to kick on the fourth down, and the boot was returned by Thiel's Bob Dean to the Gator 31. With the help of fine runs by Scafuri and Stone, Piekich was able to bowl over from the 1 on the Tomcats' fifth offensive play of the day. Later in the quarter, Thiel marched from the Gator's 44 for another 6 pointer. This drive was highlighted with a 12 yard run by Piekich and a 28 yard pass from Piekich to Zeno. Thiel's final threat of the day came when they reached the Gator's 28, but this drive was stopped there with the end of the half.

Allegheny showed life in the third quarter when, after throwing Piekich for a 12 yard loss back to his own 28, Spencer blocked Scafuri's punt and got the ball on Thiel's 17. Baker, Gould, and Mann then took turns at rushing — the longest carry was a 9 yard run by Mann — and moved the ball to the 3. Baker scored on a plunge from the three.

The Gators' final drive started in the early part of the fourth quarter when Harry Larimer recovered a Thiel fumble on the Tomcats' 43. This scoring thrust was highlighted by a 15 yard penalty against Thiel along with a 10 yard drive by Baker to the 5. Baker then carried on the following play for the touchdown.

The stalemate did not affect Allegheny's first place in the President's Athletic Conference, but they do now share first place with Western Reserve.

Campus Clashes

by Bruce Herold

At the conclusion of the second week of freshman intramural football, Fourth Main leads the East League in victories. Their first win was over Allegheny House 12-8. In this game, Lipsitz passed to Stover for one touchdown, and Earl Smith passed to Farrall for the second touchdown. Allegheny House made their scores on a touchdown pass from Don Smith to Dean McFall and on a safety. Fourth Mains' second win was over Third Main 20-0. In this game Mike Williams intercepted a Third Main pass for their first touchdown. They then added two more points on a safety and scored two more touchdowns on passes. One was on a pass from Earl Smith to Mike Williams and the other on a pass from Vipsitz to Earl Smith. In the West League the game between Second Prospect and Third Prospect was called off.

At the conclusion of the fourth week of intramural football, the Phi Psis still remain unbeaten. This week the Phi Psis won their fourth straight game by defeating the Independents 16-0. In this game they scored touchdowns on passes to Sam Keppel and Walters. They also added two safeties to the score. In their next game they humbled the Phi Gams 20-2 for their fifth victory of the season. In this game Kip Strandburg scored a touchdown on a pass and Walt Tannehill intercepted two Phi Gam passes and ran each across for touchdowns. Also they scored a safety.

The Chi Rhos forfeited their game with SAEs. This gave the SAEs their fourth win of the season.

The Chi Rhos won their second game of the season as they defeated Theta Chi 30-2. In this game Dave Ashwell caught three passes from Walt Koegel which he ran over for touchdowns. Vulkmer and Frohman also scored touchdowns from passes. Theta Chi's only score was on a safety.

The Independents won their fourth game as they defeated Theta Chi 24-18. In this game Dave Sawhill scored two touchdowns on passes and Butcher one. Prescott intercepted a Theta Chi pass and ran across for a touchdown. The Theta Chis scored on passes to Merritt and Walters, and Colussi scored on a run.

The coming week will be the last week for Intramural football.

Gators Travel To Carlise For Non-PAC Tilt; Third Victory In Sight

by Bruce Herold

The Gators will try for their third victory of the season tomorrow when they travel to Carlisle, Pennsylvania, to play Dickinson College. This game will be the sixteenth time the two have met since their first game in 1920. Dickinson holds the edge in the series with ten wins as opposed to Allegheny's four wins and one tie. Tomorrow's game will not affect Allegheny's President's Athletic Conference standings.

While Allegheny fought to a 12-12 tie with Thiel last week, Dickinson squeezed by with a win over Wagner. Dickinson's team has a heavy backfield. The offense is supposedly 50 per cent stronger than last year's. The backfield will be led by quarterback Dave Wachetr. Also in the backfield are three fast men, John Quirk, who played on the varsity as a freshman last year, Skladany and Trevlyn. Dickinson uses the lonesome end formation similar to that used by Army this year. So far this year Dickinson stands at one win and three losses.

The race in the President's Conference is becoming a battle between many teams. Allegheny is tied with Western Reserve for first place, each team having a 2-0-1 record. Following these two teams is John Carroll with a 3-1 record. Tomorrow's 'big' game will be between Western Reserve and John Carroll. Bethany and Washington and Jefferson are clashing tomorrow, each looking for its first win of the season.

Gator scoring opportunity at Case goal.

Second Half Goals By Case And Slippery Rock Defeat Gators

by Dave Stitler

The Booters, playing on their home field, dropped their first P.A.C. game last Friday afternoon to Case Tech. The game was a very close match with Allegheny and Case holding each other around the mid-field line. Neither team posed any real threat until the final period, when it seemed as if the Gator defense weakened a bit allowing Case's center Sauar to boot in two goals for the game.

The loss was the first in the P.A.C. for the Gators, making their record one loss and one tie, while for the Engineers it was the second conference win against only one loss making them the top team, and also a likely bet to walk off with the championship this year.

Wednesday afternoon the soccer traveling team went to Slippery Rock for a non-conference game. The Gators played excellent ball during the first half of the game and were leading 1-0 at the half on the corner kick by Vallenti which bounced off the Slippery Rock goalies' hand. It may have been this lead which caused Allegheny to play less brilliantly during the second half, or more likely a tiring team. At any rate the teachers came back with seven tallies during the final two periods, while the Gators were unable to obtain possession of the ball, let alone score. Even though the team did have a bad second half, they are continuing to improve with each game, and made less mistakes than in any previous game.

Next Saturday the team travels to Cleveland for a conference game with Western Reserve.

vertical relationship to God, emphasis was placed on his horizontal relationship to his society.

Speaking again in chapel Monday morning, Dr. Muehl talked on the "Source of Freedom," stating that recognition of an ultimate meaning gives significance and order to all life, thus liberating the individual.

Father H. J. Ford, chaplain for Catholic students at Slippery Rock Teachers College, in his lecture Monday night considered the achievement of unity, concluding that a oneness in love would override other differences between religions.

Dr. Muehl and Rabbi Bergman composed a panel Wednesday morning to discuss the responsibilities of men of faith as summarized by Dr. Charles Ketcham, college chaplain. The four responsibilities presented were that men of faith must be realists, but be involved in a world of power, must exert prophetic vision, and must act, not just criticize.

When asked to comment on their personal impressions of the week, Rabbi Bergman replied, "I am a little worried about the silence of the students. I would have felt much better to have been challenged and have my ears pinned back." Dr. Muehl suggested that the general tone of our generation is one of complacency, but he said "I feel that when the test arrives this generation will be just as loud and obnoxious as my generation was." "Halaka—" replied the Rabbi, "may it be."

tradicting action on the state sales tax," he stated.

"To promote informed voting in the community," the Young Republicans are planning a schedule "of activities designed to educate the discreet voter" and to "overcome the apparent general apathy in the upcoming elections."

The plans include a rally, November 3, at the College Union, at which Republican state senatorial candidate Ray Shafer will be present. Door-to-door campaigning for Shafer was conducted by the Young Republicans in Mercer County on October 28 and 29.

On election day the Young Republicans will furnish transportation to the polls and assist, if necessary, the local election committees at the polls.

Allegheny ROTC Rifle Team Begins Season

The Allegheny College Air Force R.O.T.C. Rifle Team lost its opening postal match to the University of Wisconsin A.F.R.O.T.C. team, 1712 to 1677. Both teams' scores gave evidence to the fact that more practice was needed. Allegheny's score exemplified this very well, since last year's team scores were as much as 125 points higher.

The Gator marksmen depended upon veterans in the season's first match, but, due to absences only five veterans fired, the minimum number in a match of this type. High for the Gators was Jim Ingram, with a score of 352. Following his were Bob McCreary, Stan Cull, Terry Craig and Larry Huston in that order. Schwartz captured high individual honors for Wisconsin with a 356.

Due to lack of practice, no newcomers to the team were permitted to fire. Soon, however, this year's rookies will be vieing with the veterans for first team berths. The new men on the team this year are Dave Ottey, Jerry Wilson, Ed Barrows, Bob Luminati, Andy Norman, Ed Parker, Bob Finley, Howard Smith, Tom Pepple, Paul Rose and Bob Gegenheimer.

The Gator riflemen are faced with a rugged schedule this season, as one glance at the schedule will reveal. Additions to this schedule will be made throughout the year, as more are arranged.

Ski Club To Be Formed Meeting November 6

With the onset of the winter season close at hand, it won't be long before the Allegheny campus will be carpeted in white. In the past few years, many of the Allegheny students have anxiously awaited the first ground covering snow to signal the start of another stimulating skiing season. The call of the sparkling white, crystalline covered slopes is happily heeded by scores of Alleghenians impatient to make their first sitzmark in the cushiony lightness of the beautiful white stuff.

Skiiers are a special breed of human being. Nothing can dampen their enthusiasm to once again feel their skis biting into a solid base as they Christiana through a sea of white. But, alas, for so many Alleghenians in the past, there has been no means by which they could reach the slopes easily. The desire has been there but no organization to facilitate the problem of transportation existed. Neither was there any instruction available to students eager to learn and share in the excitement that only skiiers know.

On Thursday, November 6, in Conference Room A in the College Union there will be an organizational meeting for the purpose of creating an Allegheny Ski Club. All skiiers and those who are interested in becoming skiiers are urged to atted.

Bigelow To Be Speaker At Meeting Of Friends

Albert Bigelow, skipper of the ketch Golden Rule, will be the opening speaker at the Pittsburgh Institute of the Society of Friends to be held at Chatham College November 7-9. Bigelow, a former officer in the U. S. Navy, resigned his commission and joined the Society of Friends when he became convinced that the method of war must be rejected.

A result of this decision was the voyage of the Golden Rule, an attempt to sail a thirty-foot ketch across the Pacific Ocean into the atomic testing area. The attempt gained world-wide publicity and also sixty-day jail sentences in Honolulu for the crew.

Bigelow's talk, "Man Against the Bomb: The Story of the Golden Rule," will be given on Friday evening.

Alleghenians Welcome Dr. Julian Ross, Oct. 25

by Bob Silberfarb

Over forty Alleghenians of the Washington, D.C. area warmly received Dr. Julian Ross at a dinner on "Shaw, Socrates and Government."

Among the noted Allegheny graduates present at the dinner, which was sponsored by the Washington Alumni Club, were polar explorer Paul Siple and President Anderson of the American University. Dr. Ross expressed his joy and satisfaction in teaching Philosophy In Literature and Modern Drama. His mere mention of these two courses brought many sighs from his listeners as many had taken these courses from Dr. Ross.

He conveyed greetings to the alumni from Dr. Pelletier, Mr. Ruhlman, Dr. Swartley and many others.

campus who are interested. Last year the band totaled 45 members; this year an increase in membership is expected.

The ROTC band will be the nucleus for the concert band.

Activities planned for the coming year include concerts in the early and late spring in Ford Chapel and Bentley Lawn, respectively. A third concert is being planned for Diamond Park in downtown Meadville.

Selections which the band will play include highlights from "My Fair Lady", "The Light Cavalry Overture" and "The March From the Bridge On the River Kwai."

Commenting on the band, Bill Hrach stated, "Last year when we started the concert band, interest was high. We hope through continued interest of upperclassmen and faculty, and fresh interest among the freshmen, that the band will have a successful year."
