

GENEVA TEAM DEFEATED BY CLOSE SCORE

Allegheny Administers Defeat to Geneva—Score 34-25 Kerr Stars in Foul Shooting—Bianca and Volk Star

Playing in tip-top form, Coach Hammett's quintet of passers forced the fast Geneva College team to bow to the Blue and Gold as victors last Friday night in the College gym. From start to finish the game was full of thrills for the spectators, and on the whole no such exhibition of high class basketball has been seen in Meadville for years. Before last Friday night Geneva had met and defeated eleven of the strongest teams in this section of the country, nor had they been defeated once. It is easy to judge the determination with which the two teams contested every inch of the way, when the championship of this section of Pennsylvania was to be decided by the outcome of the contest. The game which was featured by accurate shooting under close guard on the part of both teams ended with Coach Hammett's followers possessing the long end of a 34-25 score.

It was the best exhibition of basketball that the local boys have staged in the home gym this year. Realizing the importance of the contest every man fought hard against the most formidable opponent of the season. Kerr was especially effective in producing the results for Allegheny, playing an excellent guarding game as well as leading his teammates in the offense. His foul-shooting reminded one of the days when Cox was tossing in the free ones. Besides dropping in ten out of a possible twelve from the foul line Kerr helped matters along by contributing four field goals. In the early part of the contest he rung up a basket, after a dribble, that brought loud applause from the sidelines. Bianchi is entitled to second honors both on account of his floor work and because of being second in the number of points scored. While he was scoring two baskets in the first half and one in the second, Acin, the forward playing opposite him, had to be contented with one basket. Lane and Volk each scored two baskets. Volk getting his in the first half and Lane duplicating in the second half. Volk, playing with a bad knee, was seriously handicapped, but his playing was of a high enough order that everybody knew that he was in the game. The only man on the team that was out-scored by his opponent was Meredith, but that fact does not detract from the brilliancy of his playing. He was playing opposite the acknowledged star of the Geneva quintet, and although Harr out-scored him four to one, at no stage of the game did he lack in aggressiveness. He played his best game of the season.

The team that represented Geneva was not only the best that the White and Gold has sent up to Meadville for years, but it was the best team that has appeared in the local gym this season. Flushed with their eleven straight victories they were determined to get the scalp of the Blue and Gold, and thus clinch the sectional title. Every man on the team performed in championship form, being no mean match for the locals in the passing game. Their teamwork was machine-like in every respect. Harr, playing at center, was easily the most pronounced luminary. He scored more baskets than any man on either team besides otherwise distinguishing himself by brilliant playing. Acin and Stringer also came in for their share in the individual honors, the former being distinguished by his shooting from the foul line, and the latter leading in defensive work. Five of Geneva's first seven points were scored from the foul line.

Allegheny drew first blood, garnering three points through a foul by Kerr and a field goal by Bianchi. Geneva's first score came as a result of a foul thrown by Acklin. Meredith came through with a clean basket for Allegheny. Stringer added two for Geneva in rapid succession, his second basket being secured while he was under close guard. The first half ended with the score being 24-14 in favor of the locals. Allegheny's points came as a result of four baskets by Kerr, two by Volk, one by Meredith, and two by Bianchi, besides six fouls out of a possible seven by Kerr. Two baskets by Stringer, and one each by Forbes and Harr, besides six fouls by Acin accounted for Geneva's fourteen points.

The second half started out in whirlwind fashion with both teams going fast and strong. A ten-point lead seemed to be an impossible handicap to overcome, but Harr reduced it to eight when he shot one in from behind the middle of the court on a B-line shot. Kerr then shot a foul. Until the score was 30-20 the game was featured by exceptionally close guarding. Harr then put the ball through the rim without any interference. A breathing spell was then necessitated on account of the strenuousness of the play. After the intermission Harr contributed another field goal from a difficult position, followed closely by Lane with one of the same calibre. In less than thirty seconds Bianchi had finished the scoring of the evening as far as Allegheny was concerned by dropping in another field goal after perfect teamwork on the part of the rest of the team. Geneva's last two points came through the foul-shooting department. The final score was 34-25. The summary follows:

Allegheny—34	Geneva—25
Kerr	F
Volk	F
Meredith	C
Lane	G
Bianchi	G
Field goals: Kerr 4, Volk 2, Meredith, Lane 2, Bianchi 3, Acin, Harr 4, Forbes, Springer 2.
Fouls: Kerr 10, Acin 9.

ALUMNAE GAME.

There is a possibility of having a game with the Alumnae next Saturday evening. Manager Baldwin has been corresponding with several of the former stars of Allegheny and three men have signified their desire and intention to be present if a game is arranged. If two more men can be secured to finish out the team the game will be an assured fact.

Mates, Ramsey and Thomas have consented to play. Any who have seen these men in action will realize that they make a strong foundation for a team. The Alumnae game is always full of interest. While the men are not always in the condition of the regulars, they always put up a stiff fight. A real basketball game can be assured if the arrangements are successful.

MODERN PROBLEMS CLUB.

Interesting Address by Prof. Stemple.

The regular monthly meeting of the Modern Problems Club was held Tuesday evening in the Library. After a brief business session, presided over by President McCreary, the meeting was in charge of Prof. Stemple.

Prof. Stemple read a very interesting paper on the financial aspects of the present war. In the treatment of this subject, he took up the financial conditions of the various countries involved before the outbreak of hostilities. He pointed out the unpreparedness of the financial interests of the Allied countries for war and the preparedness of the Germans.

He also showed the conditions in the various countries in the early part of the war, especially those of England, of which he had an intimate knowledge having been in England during the first year of the war.

Following this he gave a description of the means that the various countries are taking to finance the war and of the enormity of the costs of the war and of the loans that are being made to pay for these costs.

After the reading of the paper, a general discussion was indulged in by the members of the club.

At the next regular meeting of the club which will be a banquet held in Cochran Hall, an innovation will be introduced by having each member bring a lady friend along with him to enjoy the banquet and to participate with him in the discussion of modern problems.

Nurses Training Camp

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR THE ALUMNAE OF THE COLLEGE. TRAINING CAMP FOR NURSES AT VASSAR COLLEGE.

A letter has been received by the Secretary of the College, telling of the School for the Intensive Training of Nurses which will be started at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., during the coming Summer. The theory there taught will be followed by a practical course in hospitals. This is in response to the demand for intelligent, highly trained women to fill the positions made vacant in the nursing profession by the present abnormal demand both at home and abroad. This Vassar Idea will make it possible to "officer" the nursing profession from the best material of the country, namely, the college women.

This school has received the hearty endorsement of the Government through the Council of National Defense, and will have the financial support of the Red Cross.

Only graduates of the colleges of recognized standing will be admitted, and candidates are eligible from the classes of 1909 through 1918. In order to justify the very generous support of the Red Cross, it is necessary to obtain the largest possible number of recruits. In view of this fact the letter asks that the names and addresses of all the graduates (within the designated classes) be furnished who should be reached with literature and information.

This letter is dated February 11, 1918, and is signed by Ada Thurston, Chairman of the Recruiting Committee, 106 East 52nd Street, New York.

Y. M. C. A.

The meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in Cochran Hall, Wednesday, February 27, with Mr. Brown as leader. The meeting was opened with several short prayers after which Dr. Ling addressed those assembled. His subject was the "Example of Christ Life," which he illustrated with the Bible text: "Be ye therefore perfect, even as the Father in heaven is perfect."

Dr. Ling said that while man fell far below the ideal as presented in Christ and below man's own high ideals the best example of a Christian was he who constantly strove to live up to his ideals and Christian belief. He gave Sidney Louvier, the poet, as a splendid illustration of this fact. Louvier, who had contracted consumption in the Civil War, kept up the work which was his ideal until the last, dying just as he was about to receive recognition and fame. In the end, therefore, Christianity is measured in terms of service.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Philo Franklin Forum held on Friday, March first, the study of parliamentary procedure was again taken up. This new and interesting work has attracted some new members to the Forum and is valuable for all who may be some day called upon to act in the organization of clubs or societies of any kind.

On account of the absence of one of the speakers for the day the debate on the question: "Resolved, That men who play Summer baseball should be barred from Allegheny's athletic teams," was postponed until the next meeting, which will be held at the regular hour, which has been changed to four o'clock on Friday afternoon.

The Sunday evening service was led by Miss Ruth Brumbaugh, '18. The subject was "Am I a Yes-But?" She discussed the people who always say yes, but have some excuse. Miss Elizabeth Carew, '21, sang a solo.

M. N. S.

Monday evening, Feb. 25, the members of M. N. S. met in the Hall and the following new members were initiated: Miss Virginia Lewis, '19; Miss Cecil Edwards, '19; Miss Marjorie Rhodes, '19, and Miss Ruth Mumaw, '19.

Circus Day at Hulings Hall

HALL GIRLS HAVE BIG CIRCUS. MANY SIDESHOWS AND FEATURE RING EVENTS.

Saturday was circus day at Hulings, so the Faculty ladies and girls turned out "en masse." First, as in all regulated circuses, were the side shows where you saw world renowned heavy weights, marvelled at creatures with their feet where their hands should be, or had your palms "red."

The Juniors then played the Sophomores for the championship, winning 13-8. The Faculty and Freshmen started a game but had to give it up when Miss Hazen sprained her ankle. Miss Kennedy announced the result of last week's election—Susan Jenkins, '20, is varsity captain.

Lastly were the big circus rings. Each class had a stunt—animals, high divers, tight rope walkers, and regular circus stunts. Every one expressed a wish that it become an annual event.

THE PHILO-FRANKLIN ORATORICAL CONTEST.

Considerable interest is being shown in the Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest, which will be held on Friday evening, March 22. At least four men are writing orations, and it is understood that other students are planning to enter the contest. Two prizes are offered, one of fifteen dollars, and the other of ten dollars. These prizes have been provided through the generosity of several members of the old Philo-Franklin Literary Society, who have given a permanent endowment fund of six hundred dollars.

Entrants should observe the following conditions:

1. Only members of the Philo-Franklin Forum are eligible.
2. Three copies of each oration, preferably typewritten, must be handed in by March 15.
3. The length of the oration should be such that its delivery will require not less than ten minutes and not more than fifteen minutes.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB.

An open meeting of Twentieth Century Club was held Monday afternoon, Feb. 25, in the Y. W. C. A. lounge room. Miss Helen Fogo, '18, was in charge of the program. Miss Riley, spoke upon the subject of "Women in War." The place of women before the war was compared to their position at the present time. They have responded to the needs of the time and in all countries are taking the positions and doing the work formerly done by men. They are showing their efficiency and willingness to serve. Miss Riley's talk was very good and much enjoyed by those present.

TINGLEY BIOLOGICAL CLUB.

At a meeting of the club held Tuesday evening, Feb. 26, Mr. Paul Lane, '18, read a paper dealing with sanitation and its most important place in the war. An interesting discussion followed.

DO YOU WANT TO DO SOCIAL SETTLEMENT WORK THIS SUMMER?

A letter from the Board of Trustees of The Hiram House, a Social Settlement, in Cleveland, asks if there are any students in Allegheny College who would like to volunteer for seven weeks' training this Summer.

Hiram House has had a practical training school during the seven weeks after the closing of college for many years. Many more students have applied for admission usually than can be taken in, so that only eight can be accommodated. The volunteers receive their room and board but no further remuneration. It is necessary for them to attend all conferences, make one original study, preparing a paper on the same, and give two periods a day of the morning, afternoon or evening five days a week teaching in classes or taking other assigned duties in the Settlement.

Progress City is a miniature city with a mayor, police, councils, courts, treasurer, etc., and every citizen is compelled to learn a trade. Some ten or fifteen trades are taught. The volunteers from the colleges serve as teachers in the classes of the little city.

If you would care to look into this work write to The Hiram House, 2723 Orange Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

Juniors Defeat Sophomores

THRILLING CLASS GAME ENDS IN VICTORY FOR JUNIORS. SCORE 15-14.

The gymnasium was the scene of a mighty conflict Saturday afternoon. The Juniors and Sophomores were the principals. At the end of thirty minutes of play the score was 12-12, but in the five minutes extra period the Juniors pulled away from their rivals and emerged on the long end of a 15-14 score.

The game was called at 4:00 o'clock in order to enable the girls from Hulings Hall to attend following their festivities. It was an off-day for the Sophomores as the Junior girls defeated the Sophomore girls in their championship game.

Zehring got the tip-off but in a scrimmage under the basket, Booth slipped away for a pretty basket, the first score of the game. A minute later Clothier scored from the foul line. Both sides missed several easy shots due to the high nervous tension of the players. There was no further scoring until Rowley shot one through the net from the middle of the floor, followed a minute later by another basket after receiving a pass from Laffer. At this stage of the game the Juniors were completely outclassed. By clever passing and teamwork the Sophomores again tallied, Laffer to Smith to Rowley—the prettiest play of the whole game—Rowley making the basket. Hammond made the lone basket for the Juniors on a toss-up under the basket. Score at end of first half: Sophomores 10, Juniors 4.

Beginning the second half, the Juniors had a changed line-up—Clothier replaced Zehring at center and Eberlee took Clothier's place at guard. This combination greatly strengthened the upper classmen for they started off with a rush to cut down the lead. Stewart tallied from a scrimmage under the basket. The close calling of fouls scored heavily against the Sophomores, as Stewart scored three times in as many tries, thus making the score 10-9. The game from this time on was fast and furious, the floor work of Laffer featuring. The Sophomores missed several chances to score under the basket by their wild tosses. Capt. Clothier sent the Juniors into the lead by dribbling the length of the floor and scoring; then a minute later Stewart contributed a foul making the score 12-10 in favor of the Juniors. However, fighting hard all the way, Booth scored in the last few minutes of play with a long shot from the middle of the floor. The game ended 12-12, necessitating a five minute extra period. Hall dribbled from center of floor and scored. Not to be outdone Rowley evened up the score with a basket. The play became so rough that the referee, Coach Hammett, called a double foul, which gave the upper-classmen the game for Rowley failed and Stewart scored. Too much individual play and absence of teamwork in the extra period lost the game for the Sophomores.

Stewart's consistent foul-shooting was a decided factor in the Junior victory, scoring 5 times in 7 attempts. A glance at the score book shows that the losers out-scored the Juniors by two baskets, and had but 6 free throws while the Juniors had 14. Clothier scored 2 out of 7 attempts. The floor work of Hall and Laffer and the shooting of Rowley featured.

Duzer Du Dramatic Tryouts

THE DUZER DU TO HOLD TRY-OUTS THIS WEEK. LARGE TURN-OUT DESIRED.

The Duzer Du is at last able to make a few definite statements as regards its plans for the future work to be done by the club. It has been very difficult to make complete plans and there are several points under discussion at present which are not definitely settled.

Dr. Schultz will have charge of the coaching of the play and will also act in an advisory capacity with the club members. Dr. Schultz has had experience with amateur dramatics at Yale University and is very well qualified to take charge of the coaching.

The tryouts for the casts will be held the latter part of this week. It is hoped that every male student in Allegheny College who is interested in making a college activity will come out for the tryouts. An especial appeal is made to the Freshmen. A meeting will be held in Room 8, Bentley Hall, on Wednesday this week at 1:30 o'clock. At this meeting the plans will be more definitely outlined and parts will be assigned for the tryouts.

The work to be given has not been definitely decided upon but enough good plays are under consideration to warrant the selection of a very pleasing play.

EDITORIAL.

The Y. M. C. A. of Allegheny is gradually undergoing a process of dissolution owing to the lack of support which it is receiving from the men in college.

The Y. M. C. A. is one of the first college institutions with which a Freshman should identify himself. Leaving the moral and religious atmosphere of his home he is beset by the temptations of college life and it is to the Y. M. C. A. that he should look for support in overcoming these temptations. The attendance this year has been notable because of the small number of Freshmen who have been turning out for meetings. These meetings are not strictly religious affairs and no fellow needs to stay away because of the fear that he may be called on to pray or that he may have to make a speech.

During the last few weeks a series of addresses has been given by members of the faculty which have been instructive and well worth hearing by every fellow in college.

Particularly this year we should keep our college organization going because of the part which the Y. M. C. A. is playing in the war and because our President has volunteered his services to help this organization in the great work which it is doing.

FRATERNITY SPIRIT AND IDEALS.

Some fraternity men seemingly assume that the spirit of fraternalism is to be limited to fraternity brothers. Such a limitation is destructive of the true uses of fraternities. For the group of men banded together in chapters and colleges and bound to one another by peculiar promises are not intended to circumscribe and to limit the great spirit of brotherhood which is the rightful endowment of every civilized and educated man. The exact opposite is true. A fraternity chapter should be the special nursery of that spirit. It should teach brotherhood in a peculiar manner, namely by experience. The only child in the family can never know what brotherly and sisterly love is. Not the tenderest dissertations on mother love can teach a childless woman that noble passion. No amount of instruction can ever give a hint of the color-beauties of this world to a man born blind. A lover learns love by loving; a child learns color by seeing; all of us learn the elemental things of life by experience. Our fraternities should be the schools wherein that large and generous philanthropy inherited by every civilized man first, and then nourished in college by lofty sentiments from literature and history; should be vitalized into a living and meaningful experience by adoption into a family.

This fraternalism once learned, far from being confined to one group should overflow to all men and run to the uttermost parts of the earth. It is too free to be confined within any artificial bounds; too large to be limited by any vows; too catholic to be marked by any badge of individualism. Happy, indeed, yea, marvelously rich, is that man who during his plastic years has learned within the sacred and sainted comradeship of his fraternity chapter the love of mankind by learning to love some men not bound to him by natural ties of blood. For him the fraternity chapter becomes in microcosm the prototype and ideal of those noble relationships into which he will be ushered after graduation.

If to us older men such an ideal seems vague, elusive, and impractical, let us not charge it to the nature of the ideal itself nor to the world of affairs. Our business is to change the world. As fraternity men we wear the badge of servitude to the noble task of making more men brothers and more men brotherly. If, because of the stress of practical considerations, we have lost our earlier ideals, if our blunted sensibilities no longer discern the difference between ideals and deals; if we have lost our youthful dreams; allowed our nobler ambitions to die and made bargains with our consciences, we should blame only ourselves for our departure from those splendid purposes so faithfully nourished in our own college fraternities and still perennially there by the boys who come after us.—Syracuse Daily Orange.

NEWS FROM DR. CRAWFORD.

A young man from Cattaraugus, N. Y., in writing to his folks, mentions the fact that he saw Dr. Crawford and heard him speak at a Y. M. C. A. meeting. He says in part:

"One of my first acts was to go to the Y. M. C. A., a large, airy building very near us. You can imagine my surprise and delight when I found that Dr. Crawford, of Allegheny College, was to speak that evening. I, of course, was present, and enjoyed a splendid talk, half sermon and half lecture, on things not to do while in France, and he surely did hand it out straight from the shoulder. I went up afterwards and introduced myself, and so did a bunch of New York and Pennsylvania boys, and had a fine chat with him."

HERE'S WHAT YOU BOUGHT WITH YOUR $50.00 LIBERTY BOND.

You bought three Springfield rifles.

You bought 1500 rounds of ammunition.

You bought food for one soldier for 150 days.

You bought enough smallpox vaccine to make 500 soldiers immune from the scourge.

You bought a base hospital laboratory.

The University of Pennsylvania is trying very hard to get a portrait of Benjamin Franklin which was painted, it is supposed, by Duplessis in 1787. It is declared by the critics the best portrait of Benjamin Franklin, from the standpoint of art.

Knox College won first place in the contest of the Illinois Intercollegiate Oratorical Association which was held at Illinois College, Jacksonville, Illinois, on Nov. the ninth. The winning oration was on the subject, "The Brighter Side" of the world war.

PURCHASING POWER OF MONEY IN WAR TIME.

Pointing out that never before in history has an understanding of the simple principle of economics been so sorely needed, a committee of eminent economists engaged in the study of the purchasing power of money in war time, issued today its first public statement.

After exhaustive investigation this committee has reached its conclusion unanimously. It would impress upon us the imperative need of a reduction of consumption and an increase of production, of the repression of non-essentials, and of promotion of organization and redirection of industry.

"In meeting the great national readjustment to war conditions," the committee says, "we must not let our 'business-as-usual' impulses prevent the needed saving and shifting of industry, lest we pay a terrific penalty in higher cost of living and national inefficiency."

The committee finds the public confused and vacillating between two economic philosophies—the simple, direct, old-fashioned, correct philosophy of saving and working and the fallacious philosophy, best epitomized as "business as usual." "One of our greatest perils in the future lies in further credit expansion," the committee says, "and this peril comes largely from our lending by borrowing." The committee points out the right way and the wrong way to lend money to our country. "The right way," it says, "is the frank and honest way of saving up the money by spending less or earning more; the wrong way is the at first cheap and easy, although ultimately costly and painful way, of lending the Government what we borrow at the bank."

"By giving up nonessentials to buy Government securities," the committee further says, "we allow the Government to buy war essentials and at the same time release productive energy from the making of nonessentials for us to the making of essentials for the Government."

"But," it goes on to say, "if we won't make the needed sacrifice and perhaps delude ourselves into believing that we do not have to do so or even that we ought not to do so, that, on principle, we favor 'business as usual' for ourselves while expecting business unusual to be superadded by the Government, we simply go through the motions of giving our billions to the Government without really giving them up. Therefore the Government, in order to buy away from us what we will not otherwise surrender, bids up prices, and the rise in prices which comes about through this sort of lending is cumulative."

"As the prices of war supplies rise the money cost of war grows and the Government has to borrow more. Bigger loans by us to the Government require bigger loans to us from the banks. This further expansion of bank credit favors a further rise in commodity prices, starting the whole process over again in a vicious circle."

This committee is made up of Prof. Irving Fisher (chairman), of Yale University; Prof. E. W. Kemmerer, of Princeton University; Prof. B. M. Anderson, Jr., of Harvard University; Dr. Royal Meeker, United States Commissioner of Labor Statistics; Prof. Wesley Clair Mitchell, of Columbia University; and Prof. Warren M. Persons, of Colorado College. The committee in collecting its facts has had the co-operation of several branches of the United States Government, as well as of some large commercial and financial houses. The statement of the committee follows:

"The country has experienced an acute coal situation, a drastic coal order, the breakdown of railway transportation, the taking over of the railroads by the Government, mounting living costs, and price fixing.

"These events crowded upon us while we were still congratulating ourselves on the success of the draft, the passage of fuel and food conservation laws, and the unparalleled subscriptions to Liberty bonds.

"Enrollments, laws, and subscriptions, however, do not represent things accomplished; they are only plans laid out. The test of the Nation comes when we try to execute those plans. The breakdowns we are experiencing show the magnitude and difficulties of our task.

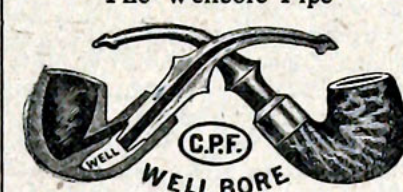

"We are undergoing a national readjustment to war conditions—a great shift from a peace to a war footing, the growing pains of which are acute just now, though they have been experienced, less acutely, for the past three years.

"This war, the greatest of all, is greatest especially in its cost. It is estimated that the money cost alone,

READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS.

The Campus calls the attention of the student body to the necessity of patronizing the business men who advertise in these columns. The Meadville business men are spending good money to help make the Campus a success, and naturally they look for some returns on their investments.

Undoubtedly the business houses who are not running ads this year have what they consider good reasons for not doing so. But the fact remains that they are not advertising, and so are not pulling for the college. If the students will spend their money where it is wanted, the houses that are not now advertising will realize that they will have to run ads regularly to get the college trade that they most desire.

THOBURN CLUB.

The Thoburn Club held a very interesting meeting Thursday evening in the Oratory. The Rev. E. H. Thompson addressed the meeting. His talk proved to be very helpful to those present. The Thoburn Club is made up of young men who are preparing for the ministry. Talks and addresses such as are given occasionally to this club are greatly appreciated by the members and are of great aid to them in their preparation for a life work.

PURCHASING POWER OF MONEY.

for all nations, is upward of a hundred billion of dollars. Each week it costs as much as did the entire Boer War; each month as much as the entire Russo-Japanese War; each two months as much as the entire Civil War, which hitherto has held the record.

"Never before in history has an understanding of the simple principles of economics been so sorely needed. Although much is being done to supply this need, we find the public confused and vacillating between two economic philosophies—the simple, direct, old-fashioned, correct philosophy of saving and working and the fallacious philosophy, perhaps best epitomized as 'business as usual.'"

"So far as we let our 'business as usual' impulses prevent the needed saving and economic shifting we shall pay a terrific penalty in higher cost of living, as well as in national inefficiency and maladjustment."

"The living cost and the level of commodity prices in general are now, as we are all aware, extremely high. The average wholesale prices in the United States last month were 81 per cent. above that of July, 1914; that is, the purchasing power of money over goods in the wholesale markets has been almost cut in half."

"The rise in retail prices of foods in the same period has been 57 per cent. This means a reduction to less than two-thirds in the purchasing power of money over foods in the retail markets. Abroad the rise of prices has been even greater."

"Between 1896 and 1914 wholesale prices in the United States were rising at the average rate of only one-fifth of 1 per cent. per month; but even that small rate, long continued, was enough to make the 'H. C. L.' a very painful fact."

"Since the war wholesale prices in the United States have been rising at the rate of nearly 2 per cent. per month, or nearly 10 times as fast as before the war. In some countries in Europe the rise in prices has been two or three times as rapid as in the United States. While the war lasts the commodity price level will inevitably mount by leaps and bounds, unless we adopt rigorous preventive measures. In particular we must avoid, so far as possible, LENDING BY BORROWING."

"Loans to the Government made not from savings but from borrowings will tend to increase bank credit. Further extension of bank credit will chiefly bring about a rise in commodity prices. It is therefore desirable that further loans to the Government should be made out of current savings.

"There are two ways for us to lend money to our country. The right way is the frank and honest way of saving, by spending less or earning more. The other and wrong way is the, at first, cheap and easy, although ultimately costly and painful, way of lending the Government what we borrow from the bank. Even that species of robbing Peter to pay Paul is, of course, better than paying Paul nothing; for Paul, i. e., the United States Treasury, must have the cash. But it can be justified only when unavoidable or when used as a temporary expedient, and the debts so contracted are soon repaid out of savings."

"If I buy Government securities by giving up the purchase of a pleasure automobile, the Government can buy a military truck with the same money, and the labor and capital which would have made the pleasure car for me will make the truck for the Army instead. That is the right way."

"The wrong method is employed if I insist upon buying that pleasure car and so can buy the Government securities only by borrowing the money at a bank. I have sacrificed nothing out of current-money income. I have simply increased the money income of the Government. The bank which lends me the money does so by writing down a 'deposit' to my credit on its books, which 'deposit' I transfer to the Government. This 'deposit' provides purchasing power without providing or releasing anything to be purchased. The result is that instead of labor and capital turning from the making of pleasure cars to the making of motor trucks they are called upon to make both. I give the Government my check to buy the truck, but at the same time I enter the market to prevent the Government from getting it. In short, the public, by its paper subscriptions, appears generous to its Government, but is selfishly refusing to make the actual sacrifice."

"The principle is a broad one. If we give up nonessentials to buy Government securities, we allow the Government to buy war essentials, and at the same time release productive energy from the making of nonessentials for us to the making of essentials for the Government."

(Concluded next week.)

The American University Union in Europe has taken up its headquarters at the Royal Palace Hotel, Paris. It has provided reading rooms, club rooms, restaurant facilities and all means of comfort for college men in Europe. This Union is supported by about forty American Colleges.

Because of the large number of men who have left Carnegie Tech for service in the armies of the United States it was necessary to dispense with stars on their service flag and replace them by large numbers. Five hundred and twenty-four men have joined the colors.

Radcliffe College is making an endeavor to improve the English of their students. Those students whose English appears to be unsatisfactory may be reported to the office and will be assigned to a special instructor who will hold conferences and give the necessary assistance and instruction.

PHI KAPPA PSI

Enoch Filer and Joseph Baldwin went to Greenville over Sunday.

Dinner guests at the House Sunday were Dr. and Mrs. Akers, Miss Margaret Chapin, '19, Miss Grace Paulsen, ex-'20, and Mr. J. Hugh Henderson, '20.

Following are extracts from a letter from "Fritz" Powell, who is located at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Georgia, in a Motor Supply Train Regiment:
Dear Curly:

I am going to take advantage of a Wednesday half-holiday to write you a note. How are you standing the Winter? Indirectly I get some information about the doings at 543 North Main Street. The Campus is my main source of information although I have to make the necessary interpretations and read between the lines.

Curly, do you hear from the boys in France very often? It takes a mighty long time to get a letter through.
Some time ago I received a letter from Rube and a snap of him taken soon after he enlisted. He was lucky to get across so soon after enlisting. I thought I would be with him long before this. The men in our train are mighty sore because they are held here in this camp so long.

Although we are truck drivers, we go through each day a routine of regular infantry drill. We have a regular schedule of eight hours per day, and it does not pay to "cut classes."

A short time ago we heard a talk by an English major from the transportation department of the British Army.
He said the main trouble that he had with his drivers was that they wanted to stop to watch the shells explode. If that is amusing to the English Tommy I can't quite figure out his sense of humor. Although I confess a certain interest in the Kaiser's hardware, I don't think I would want to linger in its vicinity for the purpose of watching it mix up the landscape. The presence of said hardware would be more apt to encourage me to "step on her" and steam through the danger zone at a speed that would make the telephone poles look like a picket fence.
In case any of the trucks ever get stuck in the mud "over there," they have only to wait till daylight to get moved out, for the Germans are very thoughtful about giving a lift as soon as they get the range.

Our unit expects to be called to drive a convoy of army trucks from Detroit to Baltimore. After that perhaps they will be ready to use us on the other side.

Charles E. Piper, ex-'19, has been taken ill at Camp McPherson, Georgia.

PHI GAMMA DELTA.

count of his health, will live at the spent the week-end in Pittsburgh and Washington, Pa.

Howard W. Bosworth, '18, and E. H.
Baker, '17, spent some time at the Chapter House about a week ago.

Occasional letters from "Pest" Graham, '18, inform us that he is starting his third week at the Princeton ground school, and has thus far come through with flying colors.

DELTA TAU DELTA.

A card was received from "Fat" Wiard, ex-'14, from Italy. "Fat" graduated last year from Syracuse and en-

He was sent immediately to France and has since been transferred to the Italian front.

Mr. McCreary, of Monaca, Pa., visited his sons, Robert and John Mc-Creary, over the week-end.

Mr. Reed, of Oil City, Pa., the father of Truman Reed, '21, took dinner at the House on Saturday.

PHI DELTA THETA.

John Volk, '10, varsity forward on the basket ball team, is confined to his bed due to an injury sustained in the Pitt game, some time ago, and which has since become infected. We are hoping that he will be in shape for the Geneva game, although the doctor says he must not play for five or six weeks.

"Sam" Maxwell, '10, visited the boys during the past week.

Verne Reede, who is doing inspection work for the Government at Franklin, spent Sunday at the House.

Sunday dinner guests included the Misses Elder, Lermann, Miss Mary
Ryan, of Geneva College, Miss Ruth Speakman, of Meadville, and Miss May McMinn, of Harmonsburg.

"Bill" Brownell, '16, one of our an-

the Misses Irene Haynes, '21, and Alfred Hurst and Frank Parrish returned last week from Philadelphia, where they represented the local Chapter at the National Convention of the Fraternity. John Regester, ex-

'18, who is stationed at Philadelphia;
Ralph Sheldon, ex-'19, who is attending Dental School; Edmund
R. Kramer, '15, of Washington, D.
C.; Sankey L. Sheets, '16, and A. B.
Pappenbagen, '17, were the Graduate Brothers of Phi Iota present, and the men had a great get-together.

Leo A. Armagost passed the Selective Service examination under the local board last week and expects to enter service in the very near future.

Gale Stroup, '17, writes in his latest letter:

There is quite a Meadville and Allegheny delegation here in town (Somewhere in France). Some time ago I ran into Bill Shryock, Jim Isherwood, and Ira Lackey, from school, and Poux, of Meadville. Isherwood is at the Candidates School waiting for a commission; Shryock and Lackey are with the 29th Engineers, and Poux is with the Signal Corps located here permanently. It is a small world when five fellows from the same town drift into a burg like this. We have had several banquets together and talked things over. Our usual meeting place is the White Horse Inn. Its great stuff to meet fellows from the old place especially in a town located about thirteen miles to the northeast of the border of nowhere. At present Lackey has the mumps. He just graduated from the hospital with measles or chicken pox some time ago and he seems unfortunate enough to catch all these French diseases. The rest of us are all hale and hearty.

The students of Alfred University
