New York City.

Dear Madam:

The roll referred to in your letter of the 13th of July, to my father, Mrs. Judd & Lemont came today and, I wish to extend thanks to you for your gift.

As you may not have heard; my father died at Watkins Glen July 3rd having been ill for the past two months with heart trouble.

If you have not received a copy of his latest pamphlet on the First Inaugural Address, and all sufficiently concerned with the details of the collector's avocation to care for one, I shall be happy to send it to you.

The collection at present is packed up, as we are closing our house in Plainfield this month. I have spent the last two days in and out of New York conferring with Mr. H. E. Huntington on its purchase, but do not think anything will come of it, and am just as well pleased that it is going to stay here in the East. Believe me

Most sincerely yours,

Roger E. Stewart.
