CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT TO HAVE A HOME SURPASSED BY FEW COLLEGES

A Description of the Building Gives an Idea of the Exceptional Facilities=Credit for the Arrangement of the Plant Due to Dr. R. E. Lee

The general plans for the new Carnegie Hall of Chemistry have been completed for some time, but this week for the first time they have been released for publication. A general description of the buildings—its arrangements of rooms, and the more important of its fixtures—follows.

The building is to be the same size as Cochran Hall and the restored Alden Hall, namely, 120 feet long and 60 feet wide. It will be situated at the lower end of the campus on the side toward North Main street, facing up toward the Chapel in such a way as to take a quadrangle with that building and the Observatory.

Architecturally the new building will be an important addition to the beauty of the campus. The material used will be gray buff brick, which will give a beautiful color contrast with the roof of red Spanish tile. In all probability the building will be trimmed with artificial stone. The architecture will represent a modification of the Italian villa, with large rounded windows in the first, or main story. The building which it will most closely resemble, though not closely enough to make the type monotonous, is that which houses the heating system.

The new home of the chemistry department will be two or three stories in height, depending upon the viewpoint. From the back and ends it will be three stories, from the front, two. The real reason for this seeming contradiction is found in the way in which the ground surrounding will be graded. From the front, that is, the side toward the Obseratory and the chapel, entrance will be made into the main floor. From the rear entrance will be from the ground directly into the basement.

It should be really said that there are three stories for the plans call for the finishing off of the basement in such a way that it may be used as a regular floor. The basement will contain a large lecture room, a laboratory for agricultural chemistry, a work room, and an unpacking room. In the last mentioned all of the supplies which are received will be unloaded and unwrapped. Easy communication with all of the other floors is provided by an elevator. In this way much room is saved as well as much confusion that would follow from unpacking generally throughout the building.

The large front entrance will be in the center of the side toward the Observatory. This will give directly into a large vestibule, or hall, on the main floor. At the back of this vestibule will be the large stair case communicating with the upper floor. A landing is situated half way up the flight of stairs with a large window, looking out toward the rear. The stairway then doubles on itself. On both sides of the staircase on the main floor are passages leading to the stairway to the cellar, which is situated under the other stairs.

A large hallway runs the length of the building, east and west, on the main floor. Entering the hall and turning to the left, the visitor finds the electro-chemical laboratory. Beyond this is the instructor's office and priate stockroom. The next room given to the head of the department as a private laboratory. At the end of the hall is the director's room.

Coming back up the other side of the hall, the first room is devoted to the department's extensive library. The next room, a very large laboratory for gas analysis and physical chemistry, brings one back to the stairway in the hall.

The hall to the right of the main entrance opens to a number of important laboratories. The first, to the right of the person going down the hall, is one devoted to water analysis alone. Then comes one of the largest laboratories of the building—that of courses for sanitary and hygienic chemistry. This laboratory is to be one of the features of the building. It is very long and extends to the end of the building. At the end of the hall, occupying a place analogous to the director's office in the left wing, is to be the balance room. This room is to be provided with the most sensitive of scales, mounted on tables standing on concrete piers to avoid any jarring or vibrations.

The other side of the hall will be used exclusively for two laboratories. The room next to the balance room is to be the laboratory for quantitative analysis—Chemistry III. A new course, Metallurgical Chemistry, will have its laboratory next. This course is sure to win its way into popularity by reason of its practical results.

Mounting the stairs into the third floor, counting the basement, one faces two small rooms. The right one of these is the solution room. Beyond this is the large Chemistry laboratory. This laboratory takes up the whole side of the building from the solution room to the end toward North Main. Opposite this, is the big laboratory devoted to Chemistry II, Qualitative Analysis. These two rooms take up the entire east wing of the building, as no hall is provided or necessary.

The second of the little rooms at the head of the stairs, directly over the vestibule of the main floor, is for spectrum analysis. Down the little hallway beyond this is the organic laboratory, then organic combustion laboratory. At the end of the hall is the woman's cloak and rest room.

Next to the cloak room is the largest lecture room, which is the pride of Dr. Lee's heart. Capable of seating 138 students, the room will yet be so arranged that every student will have a perfect view of the lecture and experiment table, which, to quote Dr. Lee, will be "some dream." The room will be terraced—one row of seats a little above the one in front. All of the most modern equipment will be installed and the room will be up-to-date in every respect. Next to the lecture room and adjoining the stairs is a small stock room.

This review gives a fair idea of the general outline of the building. It is all that has been released to the press yet, but within a short time a more complete description of the apparatus and equipment will be gievn.

A great deal of the credit for the exceptionally fine arrangement of the building is due Dr. Lee, who has given unsparingly of his time and effort to the erection of a building for the chemistry department which should be as nearly perfect as possible in every detail. As arranged, the building is to combine all of the beauties of architecture with economy of space and readiness and facility of use. The chemistry department will have a home that will be equalled by few and surpassed by fewer of the colleges and universities of the country.

PITTSBURGH ALUMNI HOLD ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

New Officers Are Elected—President Crawford and Dr. Smith Speak.

One of the most successful and enthusiastic alumni banquets ever held was given last Friday evening by the members of the Pittsburgh Alumni Association of Allegheny College. The Pittsburgh association of alumni is one of the livest bodies of Allegheny graduates in the country and their annual banquets usually mark a high level in alumni college spirit. This year's banquet under the direction of the very efficient president, W. B. Secrist, '00, was given in McCreery's at seven o'clock. The entire floor of the lunch rooms had been set off for Allegheny graduates and a special orchestra furnished the music for the banquet.

The menu served was delightful, the banquet consisting of six courses, and together with the music, the speeches, and particularly the college spirit manifest, made up one of the most successful banquets ever held. Over ninety alumni were present, besides two members of the faculty, President Crawford and Dr. E. A. Smith, and two Allegheny trustees, Mr. J. W. Kinnear, '82, and Mr. John Craig. and Mrs. Kinnear and Mrs. Craig. Reports of the event say that no similar event has even surpassed this one in spirit and interest.

Last year's executive committee was composed of W. B. Secrist, '00, president; H. H. Lamb, '10, secretary, and F. L. Homer, '95, chairman of the program committee, and it was under their very lively direction that the banquet was given.

The toast master of the evening was the Rev. Dr. Charles M. Miller, '85, chaplain of the Western Pennsylvania penitentiary and one of Allegheny's most representative alumni. His witty manner of introducing each speaker and directing the spirit of the evening along "Centennial" lines added immensely to the enjoyment of the evening. His leading of the company in the singing of the Tipperary-Allegheny song, "It's a Long Way to Allegheny," made an especial hit besides being a decided success in a musical way.

The alumni present represented classes over a wide range of years. A number of the famous 1890 class were present and two entire tables were reserved for the alumni of the classes since 1900. These younger graduates led in the spirited singing of the college songs and medley and with Miss Martha Lewis, '11, at the piano, furnished real Allegheny music between courses.

The program was informal and was filled wih Centennial spirit in every speech. The first speaker, Mr. Paul Weyand, '98, gave a very brilliant talk on the rather unusual subject, "Giving Allegheny Her Place in the Sun." Mr. Weyand is the chairman of the publicity committee and is directing the activity of the press agents in making Allegheny known to the outside world in her Centennial year. He had an exhibit of papers called Exhibit A, including dailies from Maine to California, that have printed any accounts of the approaching celebration. After his talk on the paper he summarized the reasons why Allegheny deserves this place. He emphasized the fact that the efforts of the press committee are simply to make Allegheny's reputation better known, that while her standard and work has always been high, it has not been deservedly recognized in the outside world.

Miss Julia Schoenfelt, '97, followed him with a very inspiring and practical talk on "Social Justice and Welfare." She told a number of very interesting personal experiences in modern social conditions in her work of social service and pointed out the many practical ways in which college graduates, men and women, can serve their community.

SHADYSIDE ACADEMY WINS ANNUAL INTERSCHOLASTIC TRACK MEET

Meadville High a Close Second=Almost Two Hundred Secondary School Athletes Compete in the Events=About Two Thousand Spectators Present

The third annual interscholastic track meet, held last Saturday morning and afternoon on Montgomery Field under the direction of the department of athletics of Allegheny College, resulted in a victory for Shadyside Academy, of Pittsburgh, by the small margain of 1 1-6 points over the Meadville team. The four highest teams were Shadyside with 34½ points, Meadville with 33 1-3 points, Erie with 25 points, and Kinsman, O., with 18 points. It was expected that the first three schools would be strong in the lead for victory, but the small Ohio school was a dark horse in the running and effected a complete surprise by her showing. Her score is all the more remarkable in that her eighteen points were made in only five events and sixteen of them were made by one man, Gilder, who with two firsts and two seconds took second place in individual point-winning.

The highest individual point-winner was Carmont, of Meadville, who won eighteen of Meadville's 33 1-3 points with three firsts and one second. His broad jump of 21 feet and ¾ of an inch beat the old record by over a foot and was one of the most interesting events of the meet. Kinsman also made two new interscholastic records for the Allegheny meets in her two firsts, the discus at 111:4, seven feet and one inch over the previous record, and the shot at 43:3½, beating the previous record by 1⅛ inches.

The day was ideal for the meet and the bleachers were packed both at the preliminaries in the morning and the semi-finals and finals in the after noon. Meadville High sent up a large representation to root for the Red and Black team, and their constant rivalry with the Erie team, whom they had defeated in a dual meet the previous week, added much to the spirit of the whole day.

The visiting athletes had had the advantage of a stereoptican lecture by Coach Hammett on Friday evening in the Chapel. This is a new feature in preparation for the meet and the opportunity was made the best of by a large number, not only of the men entered for the Saturday meet but also the Allegheny athletes and a number of students interested in this branch of athletics. The coach illustrated such practical points in track athletics as the take-off on the pole-vault, high jump and hurdles, and a number of other points of similar interest and value. He pointed out the correct and the incorrect way of doing these things by one of his own athletes on the stage as well as by his stereoptican views.

Beside the high school athletes from Meadville and the other towns there were entered in the meet several teams of grade school boys from Meadville who have been coached by Professor Matthaei, and who ran 50-yard dash and a relay race for the championship of the city. Two schools were represented, Huldekoper and Reynolds, and the latter was the winner of both events.

The counts for the first four places were 5, 3, 2 and 1, respectively, and each place was recognized with a medal or ribbon presented to the winner. First prize received a gold medal, second a silver medal, third a bronze medal, and fourth a ribbon. Besides this a large Allegheny banner mounted on an attractive standard was given to the Reynolds school team who won in the grade school events. In all there were about forty medals and they were on display at the Red Cross Drug Store for a few days before the meet.

In all there were twenty-one schools entered in the meet, with the following entries from each school: Chautauqua, ten; Cochranton, six; Conneautville, five; Corry, nine; Erie, fourteen; Falconer, one; Greenville, three; Grove City, eleven; Hartford, O., eight; Johnsonburg, two; Kane, nine; Kinsman, O., seven; Meadville, eighteen; Pleasantville, eight; Randolph, three; Rayen High, Youngstown, sixteen; South High, Youngstown, four; Shadyside, sixteen; Tarentum, nine; Union City, eight, and Jamestown, nine. In all 176 high school athletes were entered in 450 entries.

In all eight records were broken and two made formerly were tied. The new records with their holders follow:

Scholpp, Jamestown, pole vault, 10 feet, 3 inches.

Gilder, Kinsman, shot put, 43 feet, 3½ inches.

Carmont, Meadville, 100-yard dash, 10 2-5 (ties own record).

Verner, Shady Side, mile run, 4 minutes, 46 3-5 seconds.

Gilder, Kinsman, discus throw, 111 feet, 4 inches.

Roberts, Erie, quarter, 55 seconds.

Whitworth, South High, high hurdles, 17 3-5 seconds.

Carmont, Meadville, broad jump, 21 feet, ¾ inches.

Carmont, 220-yard dash, 23 2-5, (ties own record).

Verner, Shady Side, half-mile, 2 minutes, 8 seconds.

Directly after each event, the winners of places were presented with their medals. In all about forty were given out. Two races were run in the quarter, owing to the unusually large number of contestants, and to the winners of each were given medals. The points were also allowed to count for both races.

The results of the various events follow:

The present system of electing managers of athletic teams, publications and clubs, with its multifarious details, its incorrigible propensities toward corrupt politics, has been, and is, one of the non-progressive phases of our student life. This is the age of competition—an age when the man best fitted for the place usually obtains it. We have competition for our athletic teams, for our clubs, for the editorial staffs of our college papers, but we still have an old and inadequate system of electing managers. The efficiency of our athletics is due directly to its competitive methods.

Competitive Managerships.

We do not mean to insinuate that the managerships in this college have not been well filled, but we believe that only by a system that shall permit the most efficient and most thoroughly equipped man to get the position, will the care of managerial burdens be in the most efficient hands. We are not advocating a radical or untried proposition—a proposal which could not be accepted here in Allegheny, for we believe that which has been most successful in our leading colleges, is sure to meet with the hearty approbation of the student body here. Competitive managerships, run on the same plan as our competition for the staffs of the college papers, is no longer an innovation but a part of the system in the management of student activities in almost a majority of our colleges. Let a number of men compete for a managerial position, instead of choosing only between two men, as has been the method heretofore.

Competition for next year's Campus Board closes with this issue. The Campus Competition Committee, composed of Dr. E. A. Smith, Dr. O. P. Akers, and Dr. C. A. Darling, during the next week, will look over and judge the competitive work that has been done during the last year. It is hoped that the new staff can be announced in next week's issue.

Campus Competition.

This is the time for any students who desire to make a place on the board for 1916-17 to hand in material. A large number of competitors dropping out, the opportunity is unusually good for those who are new at the work. At least six men and women should come out for positions on the staff.

MANY TIMELY VOLUMES RECEIVED IN THE LIBRARY.

With the special effort being made to have an interesting display of the works of Allegheny alumni, and all other publications of interest to Allegheny, for the Centennial Week, in the Library, valuable as well as interesting things continue to find their way to the Library each week.

This week one of the most valued contributions yet received has reached the Library. It is a bound volume of the Allegheny Campus from November, 1877, to April, 1882, and is presented by Charles L. Pappenhagen, '81, of Meadville. The volume includes the numbers of the paper covering a period not well represented in the historical data of the college at hand, and is of very great value on this account. The papers were published during Mr. Pappenhagen's college days and were bound by him to keep them in better order. At that time The Campus was published at the first of every month except August and September, and included rather what is now published in the Literary Monthly than what we consider a college newspaper would handle.

Several other books, the gifts of the authors, have also been received. Among them are two on timely topics—"An Appeal Against Slaughter," by Marion E. Coville, and "When Blood is Their Argument," by Ford Madox Hueffer. There are also two bulletins from the University of Indiana and a history of that institution from 1828 to 1890.

An interesting book has been received from Mr. R. H. Carr, who is secretary of the board of trustees of Mt. Union College. The book is a commentary on the Apocalypse of St. John, and belonged to Martin Ruter, containing his autograph written in the year 1804. After leaving President Ruter's possession it belonged to Professor William Hunter, a teacher in Allegheny, and from his library it passed into the hands of Mr. Carr's father, a former member of the Northeast Ohio Conference of the Methodist church. Mr. Carr sent it to President Crawford with a note explaining that he thought in the Centennial year the receipt of such an heirloom might be greatly valued.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Heads of Oratorical Association Elected for the Ensuing Year.

The final election for officers in the Oratorical Association was held last Wednesday morning and resulted in the election of the following officers for the coming year: President, William A. Ellis, '16; secretary, Lowell C. Drake, '17; treasurer, Harry A. Titus, '18.

The list of candidates for the offices as printed in last week's Campus was:

For President—

H. E. Drake, '16.
E. B. Leaf, '16.
W. A. Ellis, '16.
F. D. Gealy, '16.

For Secretary—

L. C. Drake, '17.
R. F. Kahle, '17.
G. E. Engstrom, '18.

For Treasurer—

H. A. Titus, '18.
H. L. Wissinger, '18.
J. E. Isherwood, '18.

The Oratorical Association was recently put on a firm financial basis by the passing of a motion to collect twenty five cents each semester when the tuition is paid by each student, thus making every student a member of the association and giving it a financial foundation to make it independent, and giving the student body as a whole a voice in the affairs of oratory and debate at Allegheny, instead of the few that have heretfore directed and supported these activities. It is expected that with such a foundation, the oratorical interests will assume a position to which their importance entitles them in the future, and a program of the year's work will be announced by the executive committee of the association.

DR. JEREMIAH TINGLEY CELEBRATES HIS BIRTHDAY

The Pittsburgh papers this last week contained a sketch of especial interest to older Alleghenians in the announcement of the eighty-ninth birthday celebration of Dr. Jeremiah Tingley, a former Allegheny professor of science whose work is recognized in the naming of the present Tingley Biological club. The entire sketch is of interest: "Dr. Jeremiah Tingley dean of the old Allegheny teaching corps, and one of the most prominent educators of Western Pennsylvania, received the congratulations of many friends on the occasion of his eighty-ninth birthday at his home this past week. Dr. Tingley has been confined to his room for several months, and yesterday his home was filled with wild crab-apple blossoms and wild flowers brought by his friends. Miss Elsie Morganroth, violinist, and Miss Caroline Dove, pianist, both former pupils, visited the aged teacher during the afternoon and played many of his favorite selections. Attorney Paul Stewart, of Cheswick, brought Dr. Tingley the apple blossoms from his farm where Dr. Tingley used to take his botany classes for field work.

Dr. Tingley retired from the active staff of the Allegheny High School two years ago because of failing health. He was born May 12, in Cadiz, Ohio, entered the sophomore class of Depauw University at an early age and graduated with honors. After his graduation he taught in the Indiana Deaf and Dumb Asylum, New Wesleyan Female College, Cadiz High School, Cleveland Military School, and Baldwin University. He was then elected in 1865 professor of science at Allegheny College. In 1888 after 23 years of service in that institution, he resigned to accept a professorship in the West Penn Medical College, now a part of the University of Pittsburgh. The next year he was elected to the faculty of the Allegheny High School, where for a quarter of a century he taught, laying the foundation of what is claimed to be one of the finest scientific courses of any high school in the country."

The sketch is accompanied with a cut of Dr. Tingley.

MOVING-UP DAY

Annual Exercises Will Be Held a Week From Today—Usual Program.

Next Tuesday has been set aside as the annual Moving-Up Day of the college. As usual, all classes will be suspended and the day given over to a celebration by the undergraduates. The usual order of procedure is to have the Chapel exercises at 10 in the morning with the parade following at 11 o'clock. Elections will be held this week for the selection of the class representatives in the Chapel speeches. The Senior class will have one speaker, the Junior two, the Sophomore two, and the Freshman one. Stunts will be put on in the parade by the four classes and the fraternities. Interest does not seem to be running high as yet, but with the approach of the holiday greater enthusiasm is sure to spring up.

CAMPUS MANAGER ELECTED LAST WEEK

The Campus Electoral Board, elected a week ago last Wednesday, met during the last week to choose the new manager for The Campus for 1915-16. The man chosen to serve in this capacity is R. H. Barns, '16. The Electoral Board was composed of Miss Margaret Simpson, '15, Miss Hazel Ross, '16, H. F. Brownell, '15, L. H. McKay, '16, and Miss Alice Chapin, '15.

Mr. Barns is well fitted to take up this important position, having served during a part of last year as manager of the Literary Monthly after the regular manager, E. L. Reed, '16, left school. His work in that office was very successful and it is certain that the business end of the college paper will be in good hands for the coming year.

KALDRON BOARD TO BE ELECTED WEDNESDAY

The election of the electoral board to choose the editor and manager of the Kaldron was postponed from last Saturday as had been announced, to tomorrow, (Wednesday), on account of the track meet of the previous date. The election is now announced to be held Wednesday morning, from 10:30 to 12:30 in the Treasurer's office in Bentley. Every student is eligible to vote for this board which will choose the two men who will make up next year's college annual.

The list of nominees for the board are as follows:

Group 1—
Miss Marie Howell, '15.
Miss Janet Ellis, '15.
Miss Helen Gates, '16.

Group 2—
C. L. Mulfinger, '15.
Miss Margaret Smith, '16.

Miss Beatrice Mullian, '15.

RIVAL GOLD AND BLUE HUMBLES LOCAL NINE

University of Pittsburgh Defeats Allegheny's Team—Score, 10-0.

Pitt is feeling better since the 10-0 beating they handed out to Allegheny in their second meeting of the year, last Wednesday afternoon. Most of the credit for the victory goes to Langdon, the southpaw and star twirler of the Pitt pitching staff. Allegheny was able at no time to touch him, while Pitt, hitting almost at will and aided at opportune times by the bungles of the Gold and Blue in the field, piled up a total of 10 runs without bothering to take their inning in the ninth.

The pitching of Langdon is not apt to be forgotten for some time by the Allegheny nine. Coach Wilson of Pitt, fearing a repetition of the reversal received at Allegheny's hands two weeks ago, ran no chances and put in his best man. Langdon responded nobly by never giving the Allegheny men a look-in. Three hits were garnered from his delivery, but no two were made by one man or in the same inning. Seventeen men fell before the speedy southpaw on strikes. His control was nearly perfect, one base on balls being the extent of his generosity.

Pitt got to Brookmire for the largest number of hits that have been made from him this year. Two men, Beatty and Hastings, found him twice and the other four were made by as many men. Only two men went out by the strike-out routs, and four received free transportation to first, Aey relieved Brookmire in the seventh and proved fairly effective.

The game, in spite of the one-sidedness of the score, was close up to the seventh inning when the baloon went up. Allegheny held their opponents from home plate until the fifth inning when they made three runs. Another was added in the next inning and the remaining six runs in the seventh. Up to the middle of the game, indications all pointed to as close a game as the one played between the teams on Montgomery Field.

The closest Allegheny came to scoring was in the seventh inning. E. Gilbert landed on one of Langden's benders and sent it sailing into center field for a triple. Trying to stretch his long hit into a homer, he was thrown out at home by Beatty. Before and after this one chance the Gold and Blue did not have any particularly good chances.

For the first four innings, and the sixth, seventh and ninth innings, just three men faced Langdon. The entire three men were retired on strikes in three innings and two in three. He always out-guessed the batter and many of the strikes were balls that the batters did not even swing at.

Brookmire fielded his position in fine form. He handled his seven chances without a slip Shenefelt and a rather busy day at short. Six balls came his way, but he fell down on two. Mellon, C. Gilbert and Townsend each contributed an error to bring the total for Allegheny up to five.

ROCHESTER NEXT

Initial Track Meet of the Season With Rochester Next Saturday.

Montgomery Field will be the scene of Allegheny's first home track meet of the season next Saturday afternoon when the University of Rochester sends her track team here for a dual meet. What little it has been able to gain by way of information as to the strength of the New York team would seem to point in the direction of an Allegheny victory.

The Campus, the Rochester paper, makes mention of a need of pole vaulters and jumpers. Otherwise the team this year seems to measure up well with the standard set by her track teams of former years. The fact that Rochester is keeping mysteriously quiet about the past doings and probable future doings of the team is throwing a fright into some of the Allegheny men, but there seems to be little real ground for worry.

Try-outs were held last Thursday for the purpose of deciding what men would represent Allegheny in the two-mile. The race went to a man who was little known to Allegheny for his distance work—G. G. Witter, '17. Witter showed all kinds of form in the event in spite of the fact that he had had practically no practice. His time for the race broke the college record set by Winn, '13, by 13 seconds. Unfortunately the mark will not hold, in as much as it was not made in a regular meet. Beyond doubt, however, with a little coaching and practice he will be able to better the mark and if he wins in the Rochester meet, the record will be his. Coach Hammett is expecting big things of him. Barcus, '17, and Powell, '17, were second and third, also made the distance well under the old record.

The other events have all been receiving the proper amount of time and attention during the past week and the men entered will all be in the best of condition.

Twelve events will be run off, the hammer and discus being omitted. Allegheny's entries in each will be as follows:

100-Yard Dash—Kinney, '17, and Drake, '17.

220-Yard Dash—Kinney, '17, and Drake, '17.

Quarter—Fahr, '15, and Drake, '17.

Half—McKinney, '17, and Ellis, '17.

Mile—Ling, '16, and Powell, '17.

Two Mile—Witter, '17, Barcus, '18, Powell, '17, and Curtis, '17.

120-High Hurdles—Fahr, '15, and Long, '15.

220-Yard Low Hurdles—Fahr, '15, and Long, '15.

Field Events:

Shot Put—Dotterrer, '15, and Coulson, '18.

Pole Vault—Tarr, '17, and Powell, '17.

High Jump—McKay, '16, and Kramer, '16.

Broad Jump—McKay, '16, and Kramer, '16.

PHI DELTA THETA, '16, PHI KAPPA PSI, 14

Phi Delta Theta won her second ball game of the season last Wednesday evening when Phi Kappa Psi was forced to take the count in a six inning game that required over two hours for the playing and was characterized by the slugging of both teams. At the end of the contest the Phi Delts proudly exhibited 16 runs as against their opponents' 14. Umpires Austin and Harper were called upon several times to display a cool head and clear judgment. At one time the game was considerably slowed up by the tenacity with which a bull dog which happened around, insisted on hanging onto the ball. McCloskey, '18, with his "spit ball" outpitched Hutchison, '18, but lost his own game when he threw wild in the sixth. Hutchison beat McKay's record last week by walking 11 men.

The New York Christian Advocate for May 6 prints a poem entitled "The Mother of Tomorrow," from the pen of W. L. Stidger, ex—'10. The poem was inspired by the central figure in the group on the Arch of the Setting Sun at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The figure is that of a young woman with hand uplifted, gazing off into the west toward the setting sun.

TENNIS TEAM WINS FROM OHIO COLLEGES

Wooster and Mt. Union Fail to Take a Match from Allegheny.

Two Ohio colleges—Mt. Union and Wooster, were forced to bow the knee last week before Allegheny's tennis team. The meet played with Mt. Union at Alliance, Ohio, on Thursday afternoon resulted in the Gold and Blue's making a clean sweep of the three matches played. Wooster lost the entire six matches the next day at Wooster, Ohio. The nine matches in the two meets were won with the loss of but two sets, one being dropped by each of the Castle borthers.

Mt. Union failed to put as good a team as was expected on the court. In spite of the fact that the scores show a close fight, it was all Allegheny. But three matches were played with Mt. Union—two singles and a doubles match. J. Castle, '18, as the winner of the singles championship of the college, was put up against F. Hoover, Mt. Union's best. Three sets were required to decide the winner. The scores were in favor of Castle as follows: 6-8, 6-1, 6-1. Cox '16 tok Mt. Union's second best, F. Coburn, over in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1. H. Brownell and H. Castle united in doubles to defeat F. Hoover and Geltz in straight sets, 7-5, 8-6.

Wooster put up determined resistance against Allegheny's court kings but the best they could do was to pull a single set. Wooster has a far stronger team than appeared against Allegheny here last year. Fewsmith, who was last year's champion in singles and met Cox, was playing this year as second man. Fitch, the new champion, showed up well.

J. Castle disposed of Fitch in two sets. Score, 6-2, 6-2. Cox defeated Fewsmith, 6-2, 6-4. It required three sets for H. Castle to best Rice, 6-8, 6-3, 6-3. Miller was easy for H. Brownell, 6-1, 6-1.

In doubles Allegheny again showed her supremacy. The Castle brothers made short shift of Wooster's star combination, Fitch and Fewsmith, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2. Cox and H. Brownell won a little more easily from the second Wooster pair, Rice and Miller, 6-1, 6-1.

Syracuse This Afternoon

This week will wind up the tennis season so far as meets with other colleges are concerned. This afternoon, Syracuse is here for a six-match meet. The strength of the New Yorkers is not yet known, but if tennis follows the same rules as other sports, the Syracuse team should be a good one and an unusually close meet can be looked for. The fact that this is the only home appearance of the team this year should bring the local tennis enthusiasts out in full numbers. It is understood that this is one of the first years that tennis has been one of the sports at Syracuse.

Later in the week the team plays on the last trip of the season. On Thursday the team will tackle Geneva College at Beaver and the following day will appear in Pittsburgh against the rival Gold and Blue. Geneva from all reports has a fine team this year and the Allegheny team will have its work cut out to defeat them.

The Pittsburgh meet is, however, by far the harder of the two. McElroy, the captain and manager of the team, is a player known all over the country. He has been connected with tennis at Pitt for a number of years and is easily the star of the aggregation. It is very likely that Pitt will win both matches in which he takes part. It is in the other four that Allegheny has her chance to win out.

CHI RHOS BEST PHI PSIS IN A FEATURE GAME

The third game of the interfraternity series was played on Thursday-evening and resulted in a victory for the Chi Rhos over the Phi Psis, the score being 8-3. As in the other games, thrilling plays of all descriptions were presented. A feature was a sensational catch of a foul fly by H. K. Brooks, '15, the same player incidentally resting on his laurels and allowing a man to score on the play. D. R. Mellon, '16 was the star performer with the stick, slamming out a double and a triple in three trips to the plate. Because of darkness the game was called at the end of the sixth inning.

GROVE CITY ALLEGHENY'S BASEBALL OPPONENTS

Grove City College is Allegheny's opponent in the fifth game of the baseball season which is being played today at Grove City. The Mercer County school always has a good team in this branch of sport and this fact added to the tradition that Grove City always fights best when fighting Allegheny presages a close and interesting game.

In years past Allegheny has been anything but a hard team for Grove City to beat, but this year should be the exception to that rule. Captain Campman has a real aggregation of ball tossers this year. At times the men showed phenomenal ability and baseball sense. While the record has not been a continued string of victories, it has been one of the best years that Allegheny has enjoyed in baseball in some time.

The team goes up against Grove City this afternoon with very fair chances of a victory. The men after their bad defeat at the hands of Pitt last week are getting back to their stride again and will make Grove City go the limit this afternoon. Brookmire will in all probability twirl and with him in the box, good support, and a few runs to give him confidence the Allegheny team will be a hard aggregation to beat. Aey and Hoffman will also make the trip as sub-pitchers in case of necessity.

Allegheny will undoubtedly put up practically the same lineup that she has used in the other games of the year.

DR. HARROP LEADS Y. M. C. A. MEETING

The meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday evening was one of the best that has been held for some time. Dr. A. H. Harrop conducted the service and gave a most interesting talk. The first part of his theme touched upon faith as illustrated in the early parables. In the last part, he showed how everything we see and everyone we meet makes some kind of an impression upon us. That impression may be good or bad and depends upon us. We are in truth responsible for our own impressions, according to our ideals. Dr. Harrop's talk carried with it some good thoughts that could not help but impress his listeners.

Dr. F. G. Henke, of the the department of Phlosophy, delivered the Commencement address to the members of the graduating class of the Leechburg, Pa., High School. The local press of that town was most commendatory in reporting the address which Dr. Henke made.

Professor Karl Miller was one of the speakers at a recent meeting of the Men's Club of the Zion Eangelical Church.

CONFERENCE SPEECHES TO BE PUBLISHED

President Crawford Will Edit the Conference Addresses.

While the past week has seen much accomplished toward Centennial Week, there is little that has found its way into print. All lines of work are progressing nicely and President Crawford is beginning to breathe easily as to its success. The responsibility is being shifted to other shoulders and things are shaping up nicely.

One very important announcement is to be made in connection with the speeches to be delivered at the Conference on the American College, which is to be held as one of the leading events of Anniversary Week. Arrangements have been made with Henry Holt and Company, New York, to publish the speeches in a volume which is to be edited by President Crawford. This firm, which is one of the leading publishing concerns in the country, wrote last week for a copy of the title page and table of contents. These have been supplied for the company. A dummy of the book will be on exhibition during the great week. With the publicity committee working overtime, moving pictures to be taken by one of the biggest companies in the business, and now the publishing of the speeches delivered at the conference, Allegheny's centennial is sure to gain no small place in the world of affairs.

The third speaker was Dr. E. A. Smith, of the college faculty. His subject, "Allegheny Spirit as Exemplified in Its History," was developed in an especially interesting and spirited way. He showed what Allegheny spirit had been in the different ages and periods of Allegheny history and very cleverly brought the example of this former enthusiasm to bear on the present period of Centennial spirit.

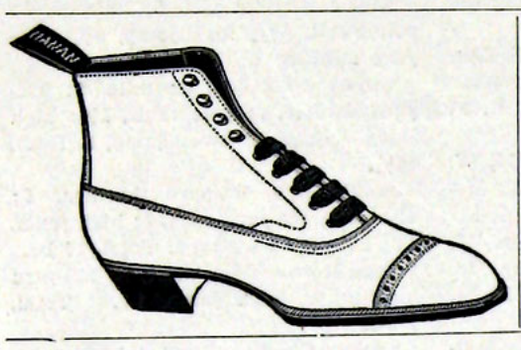

Paul Sturtevant, '99, chairman of the Centennial Committee, spoke on "The Pageant" in a way that aroused tremendous interest and enthusiasm. He outlined roughly the subject matter of the pageant in just enough detail to leave much to be imagined.

The last speaker was President Crawford who responded most enthusiastically to the toast, "Centennial Week." He touched on the strong points of the program of the week, especially the educational importance of the Conference on the American College, spoke of the distinguished alumni, and friends of the college who would be in attendance as well as the representatives of the various institutions and societies, and told of some interesting developments in the way of entertainment. It is now expected that over eight hundred people will be cared for at Conneaut Lake every night during the week. This will relieve the tremendous strain of entertainment in Meadville to a great degree and with twenty minute car service which the trolley line has promised, will furnish accommodations as convenient as in the suburban districts of the larger cities. In closing, his speech was most enthusiastic for the alumni themselves. He said that more important than the educational features or the visiting professors and dignitaries were the alumni themselves, and the part they and their reunions are to play in the events of the week. He told of the plans of Miss Ida M. Tarbell, '80, and the Allegheny girls who were students in her period, to rent the Bunce house on North Main below the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house, where they lived while in school. Thus the real Centennial spirit will be the interest the alumni themselves take in the celebration.

The election resulted in the choice of the following new officers: President, the Rev. Charles M. Miller, '95; secretary, Dr. J. Van Ballantyne, '05; and treasurer, A. W. Robertson, '06. A. D. P. Miller, '08, Robert Russell, '08, and Mrs. Elsie Ball Stone, '06, were chosen members of the executive committee.

Good reports come from New Brighton, Pa., where J. E. Morrison, '05, is pastor of the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church. During his pastorate the membership of the church has been greatly increased.

Mr. B. Frank Cousins, '09, of Hadley, has received an appointment to teach in the government school service in the Philippines and has already left for his new work.

On Thursday evening the Alumni Club of the Alpha Chi Omega entertained the active girls of the home of Mrs. Manley O. Brown. The evening was spent with games and music.

The following new members: Miss Helen Gates, '16; Miss Martha Kelley, '16; Miss Emma Waring, '16; Miss Alice Hawkey, '16 and Miss Marian Miller, '16, were hostesses at a spread given to the members of the Mutual Nourishment Society on Wednesday evening.

The Sunday evening Y. W. C. A. meeting was in the form of a musical which was led by Miss Vivian Diefenderfer, '17. After the reading of several short poems from Henry Van Dyke and James Whitcomb Riley, by the leader, a violin solo was given by Miss Elizabeth Sykes, '17, and a vocal solo by Miss Florence Downing, '16.

Among the dinner guests at the Hall Sunday were Prof. and Mrs. C. F. Ross, the guests of Miss Faye Barnes, '15; Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Elliott of Miss Agnes MacMahon, '15; Miss Gay Kellogg, '14, of Miss Marie Howell, '15; Miss Agnes Robinson, '17, of Miss Mary Carroll, '16, and Miss Dorothy Mason, '18, of Miss Ethel Roach, '16.

One of the most impressive talks of the year was given before the members of the Y. W. C. A. last Wednesday evening by Dr. Wood, who talked on the theme "Grow a Soul." By the use of several illustrations he showed first, that we do not have a soul, but we are a soul; secondly, that the soul is not a static thing, but something which grows; and thirdly, that a soul is something which must be developed if the individual and society are to reach a higher stage of development.

Dr. F. C. Lockwood was in Pittsburgh last week where he delivered an address before the English Luncheon Club of Pittsburgh, a group of prominent literary men and women and a number of professors in the English departments of the Pittsburgh schools and vicinity. The president of Vassar and a number of other noted educators were on the list of speakers. While in Pittsburgh Dr. Lockwood was entertained in the home of Professor Gibbs, the head of the English department of the University of Pittsburgh.

DR. W. J. ARMSTRONG, '81 SUDDENLY STRICKEN BY HEART FAILURE

Dr. William Jefferson Armstrong, '81, of Kane died very suddenly last Thursday morning at his home from a sudden attack of heart failure. Dr. Armstrong had been in poor health for some time and had been compelled to give up his practice as a physician some time ago. But recently he had been in his usual health and got up as usual Thursday morning. He stayed up for only a short time and then returned to bed and when Mrs. Armstrong went to call him she found he had expired.

Dr. Armstrong entered Allegheny in 1877 and graduated in 1881. He was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. After graduation from medical school he started practicing medicine in Kane where he resided until his death. Two years ago this spring he was elected to serve as a trustee of Allegheny College.

He is survived by four children, Mrs. Bruce Wright, now in the Philippines, Miss Minnie and Miss Claire Armstrong, both engaged in teaching in the East, and W. J. Armstrong, Jr., '16. None of the children were at home when Dr. Armstrong died. Mrs. Wright left with her husband and children only last February to serve an English church in the Philippines.

Dr. Armstrong had visited his son in college several times beside the times of the regular meeting of the trustees, and had made a large number of friends among the young people of the college by his genial manner and lively interest in the affairs of the students. He had taken a very deep interest in the preparations for the Centennial pageant and was planning to attend the entire week of celebration.

ALUMNI NOTES

A card has been received in Meadville recently showing the way in which one class is preparing for the Centennial and how it will make itself known while here. The president of the class of 1884, W. W. Case, of the Northwestern Leather Company, of Sault Sainte Marie, Michigan, has gotten out an attractive card in the form of a message to his classmates to be on hand at the celebration in June. The message reads: "Greeting: We have not had a full reunion of the class since graduating. Let us get together in June and live over old times once more.

"It's a long, long way to Meadville,
But you can bet a dollar
The Class of 1884 will be Right on hand to holler.

"Who will offer to get the regulation banner painted and make arrangements for the class breakfast and badges? Let us all get together at the ball game and stay until the finish."

The rest of the card is taken up with a reprinting of the Commencement exercises of his class as a sort of reminder to the old members. The spirit of the whole message is of the distinctively 1915 Allegheny type of boosting, and it may be confidently expected that 1884 will make itself known by its spirit if in no other way, during the week of celebration.

During the pastorate of the Rev. C. A. Hartung, '07, Homer City church has more than doubled its membership and has been established on a good financial basis.

Dr. Camden M. Cobern, '76, head of the Bible department who has a leave of absence this year, spent last week in Minneapolis, Minnesota, where he gave his series of lectures on his recent discoveries in archaeology in Palestine. Dr. Andrew Gillies, pastor of the Hennepin Avenue Church, in which the lectures were given, said of Dr. Cobern, "He certainly knows how to make his facts live."

Dr. Thomas C. Blaisdell, '89, has resigned as president of Alma College, Alma, Michigan, to become dean of the School of Liberal Arts of Pennsylania State College, located at State College, Pennsylania. Dr. Blaisdell has been president of Alma College since 1912. He expects to take up his new duties at Penn State next September. It is understood that Dr. Blaisdell will be in attendance at the Centennial Celebration in June as the representative of Alma College.

The Shadyside team, which won the meet, made their first appearance in an Allegheny meet this year. They had contested in an interscholastic meet in Pittsburgh the previous week at Tech when the Allegheny track team met Tech in a meet, and it was the showing they made at that time which entered them in the Allegheny meet of Saturday. Their record of three firsts, three seconds, two thirds, a fourth, and a tie in another fourth, gave them a lead on their next best competitor, Meadville, by a little more than one point. Apparently their especial strength lay in their distances, for they captured the quarter, the half and the mile runs, and made new interscholastic records in all three of them. Two of them, the half and the mile, were won by the same man, Verner.

Meadville also made a splendid showing and ran the victors a very close second. Beside Carmont's three firsts and a second, they captured another first in the hammer, four thirds and two fourths, and tied in another fourth, giving them in all 33 1-3 points.

Grade School Events.

In next year's meet it is expected that some limit will be set in the number of entries for each school allowed, probably permitting each school to enter no more than two men in each event, and enter one man in more than four events.

The grade school feature of the meet proved very popular with the schools and it is probable that this part of the program will be extended next year to include more of the younger athletes of the city.

CONCERT FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE POLISH RELIEF ASS'N.

A very interesting and attractive concert program is announced for next Thursday evening in the Baptist Church when a number of Allegheny ladies will appear in a benefit concert for the Polish Relief Association. This association with a branch in Meadville is a part of the general movement in America to furnish sorely needed help to the inhabitants of Poland who have been rendered destitute by the war, and the ladies who will appear on the program will perform for this purpose.

The two artists of the evening are Mrs. Charlotte Heiner Sturtevant, '03, of Pittsburgh, and Miss Alice Huntingdon Spalding, of the college faculty.

Dr. Charles Bayard Mitchell, '79, pastor of the St. James Church, Chicago, secured from the Swift family a $28,000 pipe organ as a memorial to Gustavus Franklin Swift, one of the founders of that church. The organ was dedicated on Easter morning.

Students who are about to graduate and who have not determined upon their line of work, or who have not secured good remunerative positions will find it to their advantage to communicate with the Sun Life Assurance Co., 308-9 Park Bldg., Pittsburgh, Penna.
