Dear Miss Tarbell:

We were pleased to know that you had a delightful time at Wayside Inn. Mrs Black and I have enjoyed each opportunity we have had for a few days there.

Under separate cover Mr Ford is sending you with his compliments copies of McGuffey Readers. He has gotten a great amount of pleasure out of reproducing these. They were the readers he used as a boy.

I would suggest that you send a list of questions you would like to have him answer with reference to the Inn and the Little Red School House. This would get you some very concrete expressions which you could use as an interview. You might ask some questions as to why he became interested in this and also as to his future plans with reference to the Inn. I think we can find pictures for you that have not been used and naturally we will be glad to furnish them.

With best wishes, we are

Sincerely yours
