Annual Orchesis Show Opens Tonight Features Whyman, Dougall And Bilek

by Carol Anne Veiock

Featuring solos by Carolyn Whyman, Sue Dougall, and Ray Bilek, the annual Orchesis show will be presented Thursday and Friday evenings in the Playshop at 8:15. There will be no admission charge.

The concert, which is divided into several groups, includes background music by Copeland, Debussy, Rimsky-Korsakov, Barber, and others.

Highlighting the program is Bal-lad for Americans, a cantata written by John Latouche and Earl Robinson which shows the development of our country in four main areas: the Revolution, the growth of the Union, the Civil War, and the Machine Age. This production number includes a solo by Ray Bilek, the entire Orchesis troupe, and vocal accompaniment by W. S. Wright North with the Chapel Choir.

"Go Away and Be Quiet", an adaptation of a Campus editorial by Dick Herrmann, is an interpretive solo performed by Sue Dougall. Miss Dougall portrays a person with a questioning spirit who is told by those he approaches to "go away and be quiet". Parts of "Schehere-zade" by Rimsky-Korsakov form the musical background.

From the poem "Archie and Mehitable", Carolyn Whyman has created a solo entitled "Archie". Miss Whyman dances this character sketch of a cockroach to music by Debussy.

The first group of dances in the show includes three traditional American melodies: "Rock-a-my-Soul", a Negro spiritual; "Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair", a mountain song; and a group of three song games sung by Negro children at play.

In another selection by the group, "Harmonica Player", the music, by Guion, has been arranged by Paul-ette Osborne, a freshman. This is the portrayal of children at play.

Other numbers include a duet by Kay Cudzil and Joan Mitchell, "The Combat"; "Dimensions", a study in three dimensions; and "The Apostle's Creed". This last number is danced to the words of the Apostle's Creed as set to music by Walter Schumann.

A group of two primitive includes "Survival" and a voodoo calypso melody. The former number with a solo by Mary Alice Hanson por-

17 Student Counselors Elected For Next Year

Thirteen boys and four girls were recently chosen student counselors for next year.

Carolyn Anderson, Carolyn Dimmick, Kay Johnston, and Jean Ridgeway will serve as counselors in Cafisch, Sections 1 and 5. These girls were chosen by the present counselors Ann Bowden, Carol Larson, Ruth MacGregor, Hannah Rutter; the three resident advisors; and Mrs. Knights.

The following boys, chosen by the outgoing counselors and the personnel staff, will act as student counselors in Baldwin Hall next year. They include: Art Blank, Roy Cowen, Jack Cotton, Jim Duratz, Ed Gooding, Tom Jones, Don Kimmelman, Bob Meredith, Bob Pierce, Jay Rudolph, Max Schoenfeld, Bob Westlake, and John Wilson. Kent Ryder and Ernie Schwarz were selected as alternates. Whether the alternates are used depends on the size of the incoming freshman class.

The job of these counselors is to help freshmen to become effective participants in the college community both as persons and students.

Shaber's 'Indiscernible Message' Finds Reviewer Awaiting Continued Evolution

by Dr. J. S. Smoot

Assistant Professor of Speech and Dramatic Art

Watching Shake Hands With the Clown, David Shaber's new play which was produced at the Playshop last week, was like watching an adolescent boy.

Usually in an adolescent boy one can see the fulfillment of potentialities which had been discernible in childhood. So with Mr. Shaber's play. In what might be called its incubation stage, one supposes, the play had been conceived and endowed with certain ideas which the author wished to express. The basic problem — parental reaction to their child's physical handicap — doubtless had its inception at this stage.

During the second stage—perhaps analogous to childhood—the basic problem of Shake Hands with the Clown was given form and expression. Two previous productions of the play had indicated that, like a growing child, the play required certain renovations. A brace here and there, a bit of speech correction, or a pair of eye glasses to ease the child's entry into adolescence. Similar measures — rewrite, new scenes, altered order — improved The Clown for its local debut.

Thus, like the adolescent boy who shows off his developing muscles by chinning himself before an admiring audience, an improved version of Mr. Shaber's play met enthusiastic approval from capacity houses last week. Jody Connor and Richard Overmyer portrayed young Joel Hartman at ages 10, 17, and 25. Both actors won sympathy for Joel through sensitive performances. Watching the behavior of their son, frequently (or so it seemed) perplexed by his behavior, were William Walton as Sid Hartman and Anne Bowden as Eleanor Hartman. Others who peopled Joel's expanding world included a pleasant and inspirational offstage voice (Katy Bird); a nurse (Barbara Pitcher); a cheerful salesman of artificial limbs (William Hawkes); an understanding, if trying, girlfriend (fetchingly enacted by Martha Bloomstrand); and various townspeople (Robert Swann, John Lewis, Jeanette Carlino, Lynn Crowell, and Sue O'Connor). All of these people

Fun, Fancy Free Atmosphere Pervades May Day Activities

"Colorama" is the theme selected for this year's annual May Day weekend to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 6 to 8.

Highlighting the weekend activities will be the Coronation ceremonies at 2 p.m. Saturday on Bentley lawn. Janie Parsons will reign as queen. Attending her as maid of honor will be Kathryn Keifer. The May Court includes Nancy Rutherford, Robin Yost, Ann McCreary, and Virginia Rogers. Charm queens elected from each class are: Marilyn Bennett, junior; Pat Miller, sophomore; and Martha Hart, freshman. Serving as crownbearer will be Tony Heeschen and flower girls will be Gretl Krammer and Kay Kleeman.

Examination Permits Issued By Treasurer

Examination permits for final examinations will be issued by the Treasurer's Office May 17, 18, and 19 between the hours of 10-12 a.m. and 1:30-4 p.m. No exam permits will be issued at any other time.

Statements showing balances to be paid on bookstore, fraternity, and other accounts have been mailed to students. Library fines are to be paid by May 13 at the library office.

Using the exam permit of a fellow student is a violation subject to severe penalties. To avoid long lines it is suggested that students pick up their permits on Tuesday or Wednesday.

Following the crowning ceremony, entertainment will be provided by the Phi Delta Theta ensemble which will sing "Somewhere Over the Rainbow". Chapel Choir will sing "My Love Thee Celia". Accompanied by Art Blank, Sylvia Liberati will sing "Blue Moon". Ray Bilek will end the program with a dance. Bob Deutsch will be the master of ceremonies.

Immediately after this a Float parade will take place in Brooks Circle. Following the theme "Colorama", each float will have a different color scheme. The float carrying last year's queen, Carolyn Estepe, will be white. It is sponsored by Alpha Xi Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Phi Delta Theta. Jane Parson's float will be rainbow colored and will be decorated by the senior class. A pink float has been selected for Katie Keifer by Alpha Gamma Delta, Independent men and women, and Phi Gamma Delta. Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Chi Rho, Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon are preparing a yellow float for Nancy Rutherford and Robin Yost. Anne McCreary and Virginia Rogers will ride on a coral float to be designed by Kappa Kappa Gamma, Phi Kappa Psi, Theta Chi, and Theta Epsilon. Junior charm queen, Marilyn Bennett, will have a blue float made by the junior class. The sophomore class will give their charm queen, Pat Miller, a green float, and a lavender float has been chosen by the freshman class for Martha Hart, freshman charm queen.

In the evening at 6 p.m. a May Day Banquet will be held in Brooks Hall for all women students. Section two under the direction of Adelaide Skelly will be in charge of the decorations. Maypoles will be featured on the tables and the theme of Colorama will be carried out.

the silent generation

"You move with silent people (dull, blank faces which bear the marches of fear) like hollow shells that pass suppliant before the waves of time. You are a land of dead souls, a plant with black roots that have lost their strength."

—Allegheny student's original poem

The impossibility of being young today is a fact, not a fancy dialectical excursion. Because youth suggests an indifference to the serious problems that surround us, it constitutes a hazard many of us of The Silent Generation, can ill afford. One does not need to journey far to find evidence for this indifference since it manifests itself in the lack of attendance at the Falk Foundation Lectures, or the talk on atomic fallouts or even to the quiet discursiveness of Mr. Ammon Hennesey. And when we cannot fill the Chapel during the music concerts, or when the number of books taken out of the library is abominably low, or the lack of use of the reserve desk, for example, comes in for criticism by an evaluating committee, there is reason to wonder.

Youth suggests a diffidence to the serious matters of adulthood. Its predicate is fun, differing from that of earlier years, but nevertheless fun. And most of its more serious aspects are sandwiched between a multitude of seasonal games, the gyrations of adolescent love-making, and a quest for social belonging. Beside these the important work of schooling is a half-hearted acquiescence to the demands of the future.

But the importunities of the times have little care for these problems. When the word "subversive" hangs like a pall about us and makes us afraid to utter even the slightest criticism of government, system, or social philosophies, there may be reason to wonder whether it is wise to be young. To rephrase a remark of Adlai Stevenson's, it is becoming unsafe to be unpopular, and this is particularly felt among the young today, since their tendency, suggests Time magazine, is to conform more and more.

When we are seemingly caught, helpless to influence a divisive world, to change questionable national policies, or to be sane confronted with the insanity of total destruction, we may well wonder what is the use. Perhaps the question should be, what is the use of being anything but young in a world that has lost its youth and longs for death?

And to what end does one believe, when one can no longer be sure what there is to believe? Tradition has become a sacrosanct chimera (as D. H. Lawrence suggested when he said, "One may go against convention, but one must keep up tradition."); religion, to many, has become a host of questionable beliefs, tied to dubious rituals, and science a hollow boast, perhaps a conscienceless adding machine.

We can see that one cannot be young when faced with this chaos. It is hazzardous to be so. We apparently must press harder for knowledge and understanding, and we must divine the ways of small men and small ideas. We cannot afford to be young, for we must search for ourselves what is to become true for us. And though this specious relativity appears dangerous, we can go nowhere else for we have been shown no other way. If perhaps our knowledge is superficial at this stage and a poor foundation from which to judge, we suggest that a belief by present day standards has simply become a matter of preference.

"The Campus" hopes to stimulate its readers into a discussion of these questions through its "Letters to the Editor" section.

Korean Student Speaks On Allegheny Fund Drive

While the nations of the world struggle with each other for their own benefits, here at Allegheny we are blessed by God. I have found something beautiful in the generosity of the whole school, because it is a good example for human beings. Since we human beings were created by our God, we have truly fought each other for their own ends. One nation was conquered by the other. Looking back into the past, why were the ancient Roman and Greek civilizations which were the symbols of human culture, reduced to small mounds of ashes? What was the reason such world masterpieces were torn down? The reason was ignorance itself. But we, the young generation can do something to improve our destiny. History tells us the whole story. It seems to me, this is the reason why we cannot understand our neighbors. We have not tolerance for each other and our differences. To improve these errors, Allegheny has put forth a good project by means of the Fund Drive. It not only helps foreign students but also helps to improve human relations.

A. Hennacy, Anarchist, Gives Pacifist Views

An anarchist is "a man who doesn't have to have a cop to make him behave," according to Mr. Ammon Hennacy, a Catholic Anarchist speaking on campus Monday, May 2. Mr. Hennacy spoke in connection with the section of the Senior Seminar discussing Distributism. A pacifist and a vegetarian, Mr. Hennacy is at present an associate editor of The Catholic Worker, an anarchist newspaper said to be the most radical paper in the country.

In an open meeting in Quigley Faculty Lounge, Mr. Hennacy declared that because 85% of governmental income goes for war, he has consistently refused to pay income tax and also to register for the draft. He feels that no true Christian would serve on a jury, vote for any judge, make laws, or be president. He declared that laws are unnecessary because the good don't need them and the bad don't obey them.

Mr. Hennacy stressed the fact that most groups need a spiritual basis rather than an economic one; this lack is one of the most important weaknesses of Communism. Hennacy also emphasized his policy of "agree with thy adversary" and the power of returning good for evil.

Citing the Sermon on the Mount and other Biblical teachings as the basis of his life, Mr. Hennacy declared that he has also been greatly influenced by the writings of Tolstoy, Gandhi, Thoreau, and others. He is not attempting to convert to any religion or to advocate a large scale revolution, but rather stressing a more intensive personal evaluation. "You can change yourself," he declared.

The Distributist or Anarchist movement is led by Dorothy Day, with offices in New York City. The workers live in voluntary poverty, doing charity work among the needy.

Editors Note

For the benefit of those who were in doubt concerning the implications of last week's editorial, we are printing the following definition of irony taken from Webster's Dictionary: "the use of words designed to convey a meaning opposite to the literal sense, with the design of indicating dissent, disapprobation, or contempt: censure or ridicule under cover of praise or compliment; covert sarcasm or satire."

Jonathan Swift once stated in The Battle of the Books, "Satire is a sort of glass wherein beholders do generally discover everybody's face but their own . . ."

Bishop Shuts Out Scots As Wigton Stars; Alliance, Oberlin Next Hilltopper Foes

by Jerry Greenstein

Behind the strong pitching of Bill Bishop and a timely home-run by Red Wigton Allegheny shut out Wooster 1-0 at College Field, Saturday, April 30. This was the second Gator victory in as many days, defeating Slippery Rock Firday, April 29, in a thirteen inning thriller 7-5.

The Wooster game at College field Saturday turned out to be a pitcher's battle all the way. Totten, the Wooster pitcher allowed only seven hits, in going the distance, while Allegheny's starter Bill Bishop allowed only two hits. The game was decided in the fourth inning when with one out Red Wigton homered to deep left center. Red also supplied the only other Gator threat of the game, when he led off the Gator half of the sixth inning with a triple to deep center. Wooster was held pretty much in check by Bishop and threatened only once. Totten was hit by a pitched ball leading off the Wooster half of the eighth and was advanced to second with Morris the next batter sacrificed. With the tying run in scoring position Bishop put on the pressure to retire the side.

Hitters Contest

The game at Slippery Rock was more of a hitters contest, with the score 7-5. Losing by a score of 1-0 at the end of the first inning Allegheny took the lead in their half of the second when Davis and Bishop led off with consecutive walks. Klomp singled to bring Davis home and after Newton sacrificed, Don Wigton singled for two more runs. The Gators made it 4-1 in their half of the fifth inning as Mathews was hit by a pitch and reached second on an error. He scored a moment later when Red Wigton singled.

With the score 5-2 in their favor the Gators took the field in the last of the ninth. Two hits and an error brought home one for Slippery Rock, and Group's hit tied it up. Dobson replaced starter Don Wigton on the hill for Allegheny as the game went into extra innings. Finally in the thirteenth frame Allegheny was able to push home the winning runs. Larrimer walked and was sacrificed to third by Red Wigton and Davis. After Bishop reached first on an error, Klomp singled to drive in Larimer with the winning run.

Bishop's performance was the first of the year for the lanky right hander. A boil on his right arm kept him in the outfield during most of the season. Bill Davis twisted his ankle in practice before the Wooster game and was forced to sit it out as Jim Newton, freshman backstop took his place.

The Hilltoppers are scheduled to face Alliance this Friday, May 5, at College Field. The squad then travels to Oberlin, Ohio for their game with Oberlin.

The play of the Slippery Rock game goes to Pete Klomp for his timely hit in the thirteenth to win the game for Allegheny. In the Wooster game the honors go to Bill Bishop for his fine pitching and to Red Wigton for his game-winning homerun.

Know Your Gators

Carl Danielson, 21-year-old senior from Butler High School, Butler, Pennsylvania, is this issue's Gator of the Week. At Butler, Carl was on the varsity golf squad for three years, and during his final year captained the squad.

Carl continued his golfing at Allegheny by making the varsity squad his freshman year. He has played the lead-off number one position ever since. By being the individual medalist with the low score of 75, Carl was a big factor in Allegheny's winning the invitational tournament his freshman year and helped the Gators achieve the third place that was received last year. Carl is again captain this year and plays in the number one position. He is hoping to keep his record of only one defeat in four years entact this year.

As a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, Carl was on the Inter-Fraternity Council and is now president of the fraternity. He is a Pre-Med Major and is hoping to continue playing golf after graduation from the Pitt Medical School.

Golfers Lose Opener Edinboro Next Foes

Gator golfers lost their first match of the season last Monday, May 2, to Grove City, 13½ to 4½.

Grove City's medalist John Hopkins took the afternoon's honors, with a 74 net score for eighteen holes, to capture three points from captain Carl Danielson, who amassed a 78 net. (Scoring in golf matches is done on a three point basis. One point going to the winner of each 9 holes and another point going for the total eighteen. Under this system it's possible for a man to win the match and yet have a higher net score than his opponent.)

Skip Yahn amassed 2½ of Allegheny's 4½ points with Reed Woekner, David Law, and Ted Levinson scoring 1, ½, and ½ points respectively.

The teams paired off in the following order: Carl Danielson, 78—Hopkins, 74; David Law, 82—Black, 76; Dick Herrmann, 78—Kennedy, 77; Skip Yahn, 79—Ron Kalask, 79; Ted Levinson, 88—Mattick, 84; and Reed Woekner, 82—Kording, 80.

Allegheny's next match will be May 5 with Slippery Rock at Meadville.

Racketmen Continue On Winning Ways Seek Seventh Victory Friday

by Don Anderson

The Gator netmen continued to power their way through tennis competition in the past week as they remain undefeated in six games. The only close contest being the match with Case Institute of Cleveland last Saturday which ended in a 6-3 win for Allegheny. The other three matches with Grove City, Geneva, and Mt. Union resulted in 9-0, 9-0, and 7-0 shutouts respectively.

Last Thursday the Grove City Wolverines found the going tough on their home courts. The last two doubles in which the Gator netters, DeKay-Deutsch, Peterson-Tallman, won their contests, clinched the match.

Saturday, April 30 Case, always a tough opponent, started on what appeared to be a repeat performance of last year's 7-2 win over Allegheny in the singles on the Allegheny courts. Dickson downed Ring 6-1, 6-3 but Hefley had trouble with Gerlach and had to go to the third set for his win 6-8, 6-4, 6-1. The Case offense bounced back to win the next two singles 6-1, 6-4; 6-4, 6-0 respectively and threatened to go on and sweep the remaining two singles. Midlam managed to win his singles 6-1, 7-5 as did DeKay who had to battle for 7-5, 6-4, decisions over Lynn.

Case Offense Tough

The Gators, going into the doubles needing only one more point to take the match, gained it in a 6-4, 7-5 struggle in the first doubles. The Case offensive never slackened and won the second doubles 6-4, 3-6, 6-4 and gave up the final point only after going three sets.

Geneva proved almost no contest as the Gator-men set the visiting Covies down nine in a row on Monday, May 2.

Dickson defeated Kotulas 6-1, 6-4 Hefley defeated Rice 6-2, 6-1 Deutsch defeated Cather 6-4, 6-1 Boyle defeated Ferraro 6-1, 6-1 Peterson defeated Schneider 6-2, 6-2 Banham defeated Farber 6-0, 6-0

Doubles

Dickson & Hefley defeated Kotulas & Ferraro 6-2, 6-1 DeKay & Midlam defeated Rice & Cather 6-2, 6-3 Peterson & Banham defeated Schneider & Farber 6-2, 6-2

Mt. Union Win

The Gator offensive continued to roll over the Mt. Union racketmen Tuesday, May 3 as the Gators crushed the visiting team 7-0. (Ohio conference rules state that only five singles and two doubles are to be played per match.)

Dickson defeated Popoff 7-5, 6-3 Hefley defeated Stratton 6-1, 6-2 Deutsch defeated Spiker, B. 6-0, 6-2 Boyle defeated Eoff 6-2, 6-1 DeKay defeated Spiker, R. 6-1, 6-0

Doubles

Banham & Midlam defeated Popoff & Stratton 6-3, 6-2 Peterson & McLean defeated Eoff & Spiker, B. 11-9, 6-2

W. & J. labeled as being "quite tough" this season, travels to Meadville in an attempt tomorrow to snap the current tennis win streak.

Donodeo Breaks Record In Tri-Meet Thinclads Face Grove City Saturday

by Bill Burns

Allegheny's track and field team bounced back from a two team defeat at the hands of Geneva and Edinboro last Wednesday, by placing second in another triangular meet Tuesday behind Slippery Rock, with Indiana State Teachers College taking a third.

The Gators placed third a week ago in the Geneva-Edinboro-Allegheny triangular fray. The score was Geneva 69-5/6, Edinboro 49-1/2, and Allegheny 41-2/3.

While weak in the field events again, the Gators turned in some fine performances during the day. Gator high scorer for the afternoon was workhorse Roger Donodeo. He took three firsts and a second breaking the school record in the 220 yard low hurdles with a brilliant time of 25 seconds flat. Donodeo had a total of 18 points for the meet.

Tuesday afternoon the thinclads traveled to Slippery Rock State Teacher's College and came out second best behind a very tough, well-balanced Rocket Squad. Indiana, a new team just getting started, didn't offer any real threat. The score was Slippery Rock 100, Allegheny 47 and Indiana 15.

Shay Betters Time

Gordon Shay, quarter miler, broke a second from his own best time for the season, winning the 440 in:52.9. Shay moved out in front and never was seriously challenged. He also ran the anchor leg of the mile relay team, and although the team was beaten it was clocked in two seconds faster than the present school record. Unless the team wins the event, however, the time doesn't stand as a record. The quartet consisted of Kimmelman, Smith, Zaccardi, and Shay.

Big Little Man

Gerry Galbo, Allegheny's "Big Little Man", showed the same pluck he displayed last week, by winning the two mile run and finishing second in the mile. In the two mile he took the lead and set the pace all through the first seven laps. During the last quarter, Galbo let Shober from Indiana pass him by a few yards and it was not until the last stretch that the Gallant Gator turned on the team. He caught Shober and matched him stride for stride to the tape winning by a scant margin of a few inches.

Donodeo made his usual herculean contribution to the cause and did well winning the 120 yard High Hurdles, but suffered a bad break in the lows when he fell and was unable to finish. He was able to pick up a third in the 100 yard dash and broad jump.

Wolverines Next Foes

The next contest of the season is Saturday afternoon when the Gators meet Grove City here at home. After Saturday, only Fenn, at Cleveland and the District Meet remain on the Hansonmen's schedule.

Smoot Review

matic impact never quite came off—like the wasted punches of the adolescent boy who has not learned to strike blows in coordinated sequence. That the play has a potential and significant dramatic impact no one can doubt. That the play's total impact was not felt can be blamed partially on the lapses in dramatic intensity which occurred now and then. For example, the accident was followed by a scene in which the impact of the accident was allowed to diminish. One cannot help but wonder, for example, why the mother displayed so little compassion during the hospital scene. No kiss, no hug, just a suggestion that she will get something for her son to read.

Boys like to read; they prefer adventure stories. Why? Such stories glorify a life which frequently lacks such adventures. But Joel had experienced a memorable adventure. Why so little reaction from Mrs. Hartman? Why so much guilt expressed by Mr. Hartman? Was not the degree of guilt out of proportion with the feeling of guilt which the father evinced? Perhaps the playwright failed his actors by not lending more stature to Joel. Before the accident we accept Joel as a normal boy who likes the usual boyish activities. We are not made to be concerned about Joel's future.

A WONDERFUL SLANT on smoking! You'll find it in the Droodle above, titled: Tourist enjoying better-tasting Lucky Strike while leaning against tower of Pisa. If your own inclination is toward better taste, join the many college smokers who prefer Luckies. From any angle, Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Little wonder that Luckies tower above all other brands in college popularity!

Smoot Review

ture as we should be if we are to understand the father's guilt feelings—if such they were.

But adolescents "grow up"; worthwhile qualities become fully developed; defects can be eliminated or minimized. So with Shake Hands with the Clown.

Persons who peopled Joel's world and who let us see Joel through their eyes deserve a bit fuller treatment from the playwright. Worthwhile too, is the inspirational off-stage theme. The duplication of the sound of Joel's artificial limb through the use of similar sounds might well be made more apparent, especially during the scene in which the mah-jongg game is played.

Certain defects need remedial treatment. Character delineation begs for help, especially that of Mrs. Hartman. An audience identifies itself, individually or collectively, with characters in the play. Mrs. Hartman has been given less rewarding lines than have been given to Joel and Mr. Hartman. The latter poses a special problem. Even as the play ends (almost too abruptly and certainly too unsatisfyingly) one wonders, "Why didn't he see that the grotesque imaginary injury in his mind was really no more than the 'slight handicap' that Joel called it?" One commends Mr. Shaber for choosing to attack the problem of a parent's adjustment to injury in his son rather than the more obvious, perhaps easier, treatment of the son's adjustment to that injury. One asks, however, that Mr. Shaber give the father more perceptive lines with which to attack his own character delineation.

This reviewer hopes that he has interpreted Mr. Shaber's intent in concentrating upon the problem of Sid rather than that of Joel. Who can determine what a playwright intended? Only the playwright. And, as Mr. Shaber once remarked to me, this was a writing exercise which should be analyzed for its strong points and its weaknesses. I admire Mr. Shaber's faith that good can result from such a dissection. But he has reason to welcome evaluation. Here, in Shake Hands with the Clown, is evident what might be called Mr. Shaber's "adolescent period" for playwrighting. The playwright and the play, like the adolescent who grows into manhood, even now flexes his muscles for an admiring crowd. Amidst the crowd stand I.

Thomas Mawn, Chairman of the Blood Drive Committee, reported that one hundred thirteen pints of blood were donated by the students of Allegheny College during the blood drive on April 28, in the College Union.

Mawn also stated that although the quota was not met, there was a marked improvement over last semester's 96 pint donation.

Delta Tau Delta led in the donations with a 26.9% of donors. They will be the recipient of the award given by the Red Cross for highest amount of blood donated.
