Dear Miss Tarbell:

As I am attending to the Achievement Award and hus been abroad, Mr. von Ziekursch,our editor, kept your letter awaiting my return.

You are quite right about the implication in the provisions of the Award. During the two years in which I was not with Pictorial Review the wording of the provisions was changed so that it might easily be construed to mean that only work begun within the last ten years rendered a candidate eligible. Our real intention is that the work may have been begun at any time but must have carried down through the last ten years. And,of course,the award must be bestowed upon one of the submitted candidates. As you know Pictorial Review has nothing at all to do with the submission of names; they are sent in from the general public.

Thanking you for your interest and your very fine co-operation I am,

Sincerely yours,

Genevieve Parkhurst.

Associate Editor.
