That Was the Tune to Which Allegheny Played Mt.
Union.

DETAILS OF THE GAME.

The college gymnasium was crowded on Friday night, when our basket ball team engaged the Mt. Union team in mortal combat. Everybody was there; at least it seemed so. Long before the commencement of the game there was nothing to be had but standing room, and not such a great deal of that. It had been rumored about the college that the Mt. Union players were no mean foes, and that Allegheny was going to run up against a hard proposition. This report added to the interest in the game, if such a thing was possible. Whatever the cause, it is certain that town people and college students, young and old, were there, stood upon the chairs and benches, yelled, screamed and had a good time generally.

The Mt. Union team were the first on the floor for practice, and they showed up well—so well, indeed, that some people in the crowd were heard to predict victory for them and utter defeat for Allegheny. After the Mt. Union boys had passed the ball around for a while and had thrown some dozens of goals, the Allegheny players appeared on the scene and were greeted in the usual fashion by the crowd. There is no need to say that their work was good; it always is. The crowd heartily approved of it and of them, and indicated their approval by frequent cheers. Soon the referee blew his whistle, the two teams lined up and the game was on.

The ball was tossed by the referee at about 8:20, and the scramble began right away. After a couple of minutes of lively work all around the gym, the ball was brought down to Mt. Union's basket and Taylor dropped it in with a nice throw. The game grew livelier and rougher all the time, and the referee took off his coat. Fouls were frequent and many of them passed unnoticed. It was an impossibility to see them all. The next score was made on a foul and Lampe was the man that threw the goal. After the foul had been thrown the game was stopped for a while and the referee and umpire and several members of both teams held an animated little conversation. Then the game was resumed and some more fouls were called. Mt. Union started her scoring with two of these fouls, and Lane, their left forward, dropped the ball into the netting each time. Then a little more fast, rough work and Rice, the right forward, threw their first and only goal of the game. The scoring ended soon after with a goal from a foul thrown by Lampe.

This was but a short time before the ending of the half, the final score being 4-4.

This first half was a very pretty one to watch. There were many bits of brilliant play and enough excitement to keep everybody pretty thoroughly roused up. All through the half the visitors had held our team pretty well, and their guarding was good enough to make goal throwing difficult. Because of the fierce play and close score some of the spectators were fearful for Allegheny and looked forward to a defeat. But the Mt. Union boys had played themselves out during this half.

When the 10 minutes of intermission were up, the two teams again lined up. Allegheny's play was fast from the start, and her team work was the best seen here this year. The scoring began right away, and Borland threw the first goal. Then Wolstoncroft, who had taken Jackson's place at beginning of the half, scored a basket, and Taylor dropped another one. Wolstoncroft added another, and Lampe threw a foul. Borland shot a pretty basket and Taylor landed a difficult one. Then Lampe threw a goal which was not allowed but made good immediately after with a nice throw. Wolstoncroft threw a pretty basket, and Lampe dropped in another. Here Mt. Union made their first score of the half on a foul which Rice threw. Borland then threw another goal, and Lampe duplicated it. Mt. Union ended the scoring for the half on a foul thrown by Rice. The game ended almost immediately after this, the final score being Allegheny 27, Mt. Union 6.

There is very little that need be said about the game. The Mt. Union players were a gentlemanly set and played a good game, but after the first half they were clearly outclassed.

Our own team played well—a better game in some respects than any they have played this year. The team work was much improved. The individual work was, as it always is, brilliant. It would not be fair, neither would it be possible, to pick out any one player as better than the others. The fact that Lampe, Borland, Taylor and Wolstoncroft each had three baskets shows how even was the play. To sum up, Allegheny won, and that, too, by superior playing, and we are glad of it.

The line-up follows:

Allegheny—27.	Mt. Union—6.
Taylor.....	Rice.....
Lampe.....	Lane.....
Borland.....	Curtis.....
Frazier.....	Snider.....
Jackson.....	West.....
Wolstoncroft.....

Goals—Taylor 3, Borland 3, Wolstoncroft 3, Lampe 3, Rice. Goals from fouls—Lampe 3, Lane 2, Rice 2. Time of game—Two twenty minute halves. Referee—Wright. Umpire—Wright.

Basket Ball Schedule.

The following is the schedule of basket ball games as arranged by Manager Masters up to date:
Western Reserve University at Meadville, Saturday, Feb. 17.
Westminster College at Meadville, Thursday, Feb. 22, at 3 p. m.
Mt. Union College at Alliance, O., Friday, March 2.
Other games being arranged for open dates.

THE GAME AT WESTMINSTER.

Additional Account of the Contest as it Appeared to a Member of the Team.

The result of the game between our basket ball team and that of Westminster College, at the latter place on Feb. 5, was a great surprise to all, since on form the teams should be about evenly matched. But the real cause of our team's poor showing was not that they were outclassed as players, but that they were forced to play in the miserable kitchen that does service as a gymnasium at Westminster. The place is entirely unfit to play basket ball in, and Westminster seemed to realize it, for no basket ball was played nor permitted by their team. To the spectator the game was simply a series of wrestling matches, and quite frequently three, or even four, men were sprawling on the floor.

To our men, who have been accustomed to playing in gymnasiums with boundary lines, baskets and backboards according to the regulations of the game, and where the playing space does not contain any wooden pillars, this room offered some disadvantages.

The first half was fast, and the only point scored by Allegheny was made from a foul, the score being 12-1 at the end of the half. The second half was of the same sort, rough play throughout and no end of fouls. But during the half Lampe threw two field goals, and another point was made from foul, the final score being 28 to 6 in favor of Westminster.

We do not wish to appear "bad losers," and make no complaint when we are beaten in a clean game by superior work, but we do think a word of explanation to the public in this instance is due our team. As to the respective merits of the two teams, we are willing to allow the game on the 22nd to determine whether we are in Westminster's class or not.

Allegheny—6. Westminster—28.
Taylor..... Kuhn
Borland..... Edmundson
Lampe..... Smith
Wolstoncroft..... Kennedy
Jackson..... Sloss
Goals from field—Kuhn 4, Edmundson 2, Smith 4, Sloss 1, Lampe 2. Goals from foul—Westminster 6, Allegheny 2. Officials—Thompson, of Geneva, and Thompson, of Grove City.

Song Book.

Through the labors of Mr. E. L. Sutton and others, Allegheny at last has a volume of college songs. The volume contains the words of seventy-six songs, a few of them distinctly Allegheny songs, others the best taken from the song books of other institutions, from the "Carmina Princetonia," "Yale Songs," "Student Songs," etc. The collection is really a valuable one and should be in the hands of every student of Allegheny. The volume is a neat one in soft cloth covers and of a handy shape. Price only twenty-five cents.

The Yale Glee Club has just returned from a very successful tour, during which it visited Springfield, Rochester, Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Harrisburg, Washington, Philadelphia and Brooklyn.

DICKENS ENTERTAINMENT.

Given by Epworth League of the Stone Church.

A very good sized audience attended the Dickens entertainment given in Library hall last Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Epworth League of the Stone church. The program consisted of music, readings, tableaux and the famous court scene in which Mrs. Bardell sues Mr. Pickwick for damages for breach of promise. The program follows in detail:

Instrumental solo—Miss Heiner.
Gibson picture—"Dick Swiveler and the Marchioness," Miss Mary Howe and Ben Dutton.

Picture—"Tom Pinks and Ruth," Stanley Walraven and Miss Iva D. McCray.

Reading—Miss Spalding.

Picture—"Scrooge and Marley's Ghost," A. R. Travis and Ed. Stallings.

Picture—"Mrs. Micawber at Home," Miss Myrta Porter, E. M. Hall, J. H. Wolstoncroft and A. K. Travis.

Vocal solo—Miss Moyer.

Reading—Miss Becher.

All the numbers were finely given and elicited enthusiastic applause.

The program closed with the trial scene, with the following characters:

Judge, J. E. Fitzgerald; Buzfuz, R. H. Motten; Skimpin, J. H. Wolstoncroft; Snubbin, E. L. Sutton; Phunky, G. Ensign; Court Crier, A. K. Travis; Mr. Pickwick, Ben Dutton; Mrs. Bardell, Emma Edson; Mrs. Cluppings, Jennie Brawley; Mrs. Saunders, Jennie Everts; Sam. Weller, S. C. Lampe; Nathaniel Winkle, E. Stallings; Bardell, Jr., Jerome Almond; Jury J. S. Ekey, J. E. Bird, J. V. Ballantyne, S. Walraven, G. S. Davenport, E. M. Hall, N. Rockwell, S. See, J. Barclay, H. Harris, J. S. Fowler, A. C. Saxman.

The costumes were all excellently chosen and quite true to the characters represented, thus making the entertainment especially interesting to lovers of Dickens, and particularly of his greatest work, "David Copperfield." The trial scene was well presented, a fact which was fully appreciated by all present. Following the entertainment the trial scene, representing all the characters of the evening, was photographed by Dr. J. H. Montgomery.

There is a movement among New England colleges regarding the formation of a New England Intercollegiate Tennis League. Wesleyan is the prime mover of the plan, and Amherst, Bowdoin, Brown, Williams and Vermont University are included in the prospective tournament list.

A college, to be called "Pasadena College for Women," will probably be established in Pasadena, Cal. It has been decided by those interested to petition the Secretary of State for a charter. The committee chosen for doing this work consists of A. R. Metcalfe, attorney; Miss Anna Orton, principal of the Classical School for Girls, and City Trustee Thomas C. Hoag, all of Pasadena.

Oberlin has just received a gift of $60,000 to be used in building a new chemical laboratory.

The fact that we have a volume of Allegheny songs should be a matter of pride to every one. As a body we have long felt the need of one and the new collection will doubtless be productive of good results. The book as it now appears contains the words only, but it is altogether probable that before many years a copy will be issued containing words and music both. Mr. Sutton's effort is a step in the right direction. It will enable the college sings to be a complete success. Every student should procure a copy at once. The volume is of convenient size and can easily be carried in the pocket. Buy a copy of "Allegheny Songs" and help swell the chorus on Friday mornings at the college sings.

The CAMPUS is glad to notice decided signs of life in the Kaldrion board. It is not too early to begin active work on the annual, for in the nature of the case, a publication representing so many and such varied interests as a college annual, can not be gotten out on the spur of the moment, nor in one month nor in a term. The amount of labor that must fall upon the editor and the business manager, coupled with the annoyance arising from the unwieldiness of the Kaldrion board, is by no means so small as one might at first think. The best Kaldrions in the past have been those that have taken the most time. Other colleges are rapidly pushing work upon their annuals. It promises well for the success of this year's publication that the editor and the business manager are hard at work, and we hope most heartily that they may issue the best Kaldrion in the history of the college.

In reading an old volume of the CAMPUS, we were interested to note the remarks of the editor at the time of the establishment of the Science Club. He prophesied great things for the new organization. It was to stimulate and enliven scientific research among its members; and to belong to it was to be the goal of every scientific student. We have no reason to doubt that during the rather short period of its existence, it approached, at least, a fulfillment of all the high hopes entertained for it by the founders and friends. Its members were interested, and students outside did desire membership. We have once before deplored the fact of its untimely death, and our readers will pardon us if we make one more appeal for it.

Decided advance has been made in our scientific work since the club was first organized. The department of biology has been created; that of physics and chemistry has been enlarged and improved; new courses have been added; and now comes the prospect of an astronomical observatory in the very near future. The scientific course is filled with bright men. The opportunity for reorganizing the club under favorable conditions is unquestionably good.

The need is evident, the material is of the best. If the cause of failure was in the methods of the old organization, certainly new methods could be devised. Classical Club and Quill Club are progressing famously. Scientific men, don't let the Science Club die.

Quill Club.

The semi-annual meeting of the Quill Club of Allegheny College was held in the Library Saturday afternoon, President Champlin occupying the chair. Reports of work done were made by the various correspondents of local and city papers. Mr. Champlin, editor of the Literary Monthly, gave a report of the work of the members of his staff; and Prof. Monroe, secretary of the club, read a similar report from Mr. Matteson, editor of the CAMPUS. The secretary was instructed to prepare for publication a detailed report of all work, of whatever sort, done by the club. The following officers were elected: President, G. W. Ensign; vice president, Miss Jessie Merchant; secretary-treasurer, J. E. Fitzgerald; additional members of the executive committee, Prof. H. K. Munroe, S. J. Morrow.

Yale is to have three magnificent new buildings before its bi-centennial celebration next year. One of these, an auditorium and dining hall is to cost $750,000. The administration building, a gift of the Misses Sokes of New York, is to cost a half million, and a University Club is soon to be built.

"A slice to a pipeful" is one reason why Old English Curve Cut pipe tobacco is so popular. The curved tin box that fits any pocket is another reason. No other pipe tobacco has ever made as many friends in so short a time.

"It disappoints no one."

A trial box will be sent to any one anywhere on receipt of ten cents in stamps. Address Old English Department, The American Tobacco Co., 111 Fifth Ave., New York City. All dealers sell it.

To the Alumni.

It is hoped that this note will catch the eye of some alumni who have not yet determined to attend the Allegheny Rally in the gymnasium on Washington's Birthday. The success of the affair is guaranteed by the enthusiasm shown among the undergraduates, faculty and other local friends of the college. Moreover the alumni abroad have responded promptly to the appeal for representation. From Pittsburg and New York come Messrs. J. W. Kinneer and R. R. Ross to speak for their Alumni Associations and messages of greeting are at hand from other sources. Dr. Montgomery will act as toastmaster and an interesting set of speeches from Meadville people on and off the campus may be counted on. Especially will the undergraduates be prominent with song and shout and joke. The Glee Club will perform. In fact every preparation for a unique occasion is being made.

A good lunch at fifty cents a plate will be served. The hours for beginning will be announced next week, but it will be early in the evening. Local alumni may obtain tickets for themselves, their wives or husbands at Easterwood's drug store. Out-of-town alumni should send word of their coming to R. G. English, treasurer of the general committee, by the 21st.

The University of Pennsylvania law school has just erected a new modern building at a cost of over $400,000. This is said to be the finest law school building ever built.

Classical Club.

At the meeting of the Classical Club last Tuesday evening, the subject "Greek Portraiture" was discussed.

Before the paper was read, Prof. West's article in the January Atlantic Monthly, "Is There a Democracy in Studies?" was briefly reviewed by Mr. Royce. This article showed the wonderful increase in the past few years in the number of pupils in the high schools and preparatory schools studying the higher branches. The number now studying Latin is almost three times as great as formerly, and the enrollment in the study of Greek shows an increase of 8,670, while the growth in the natural sciences has not been quite so marked.

Several items of classical interest were mentioned by Prof. Elliott.

The paper of the evening was given by Miss Coral Merchant.

Art was a matter of religion with the Greeks; they considered that it should be devoted to the service of the gods, and hence their first expressed their art in statues of the divinities made after man's image idealized. It was customary to set up statues of men also in the temples to show their dedication to the gods and also to serve as thank offerings. Later the memorials came to have a personal interest, and then the portraits grew individual and realistic. Finally, in the Hellenistic age, it became the highest form of compliment to set up statues and busts in honor of heroes and poets, and it is from the Roman custom of copying in marble Greek bronze originals that we have most of our knowledge of Greek sculpture.

In the first stage the work was more or less conventionalized. The first piece that can lay any claim to portraiture is the head of a boy found on the Acropolis in Athens dated about 500 B. C. In the fourth century B. C. Silanion and Lysippus were the portrait sculptors, showing in their work the striving of the age to grasp reality. The latter owed his influence in his success in representing Alexander.

Between the years 343 and 329 Lycurgus restored the temple of Dionysus, and at his proposal statues of Aeschylus, Sophocles and Euripides were set up there. Other famous statues were those of Aeschines and Demosthenes.

Pictures of all the portraits mentioned were shown during the reading of the paper.

The question of admitting women to Johns Hopkins University has been much agitated of late, particularly in connection with the bill now before the Maryland Legislature, asking for an appropriation of $50,000 for the university. A movement was started, with which some of the students of the Women's College of Baltimore were identified, to open the graduate course to women. It is argued that nearly all the leading universities of the country have opened their advanced courses to women on equal terms with men, and with all the rights and privileges granted to men. It is understood that in order to obtain an expression of public opinion on the matter, a petition will be circulated among prominent professional and non-professional women, among merchants, bankers, lawyers, physicians, clergymen, and professional men. The bill has not yet come up for discussion in the Legislature.

Harvard has the largest faculty of all the colleges in America. Her instructors number 337, a body nearly as large as the lower house of Congress.

In Germany one man in 23 goes to college; in Scotland, one in 520; in the United States, one in 2,009; and in England one in 5000.

FARMER DIGS UP FOSSILS.

Evidences of Prehistoric Civilization Found on the Broad Prairie Lands of Kansas.

Evidences of a prehistoric civilization on what is now the broad prairie land of Kansas have been dug from 30 feet below the surface of the ground by J. W. Dice, an Allen county farmer. Mr. Dice has also discovered some remarkable fossils of ancient animals.

His first discovery was on the banks of Neosho river, where the stream joins his farm near Neosho Falls. It consisted of the skeletons of two immense buffalo, which were found standing erect between 20 and 25 feet below the surface. Their positions were natural, indicating that they had been suddenly caught by some subterranean disturbance or swallowed by a bed of quicksand. Immediately over them was growing a walnut tree measuring four feet in diameter. This tree was without doubt between 300 and 400 years old.

Most interesting, however, of the discoveries by Mr. Dice are parts of a human image which seem to have been made out of concrete, though it may have been carved from a peculiar stone not known to this age. These places are found about 30 feet beneath the surface. To ascertain to what age they belonged or what hands probably made them will be an interesting study for scientists. The workmanship seems to have been as artistic as modern sculpture.

The vicinity in which they were found was occupied by the Indians until about 35 years ago, and since that time it has been an unfrequented prairie.

Relation of Ideas.

Johnnie (with an air of malicious enjoyment)—Say, ma! Pop gave you the frozen face this morning, didn't he?

For which thoughtful observation Johnnie's ma give him a slippery time, indicative of a rise in her own temperature.—N. Y. World.

Age.

"How old is she?"
"She will be 27 her next six birthdays."—Detroit Journal.

American colleges now have nearly 6,750,000 volumes in their libraries.

The honest criticism applied to others is spiteful comment when applied to yourself.

Dr. Thomas—"What is a low-necked dress?"

Prep. student (in French I.)—"A dress without a collar."

Miss McAllister, heaving a great sigh—"Oh, I'll be so glad when spring term comes so I won't be burdened with ethics and a heavy coat."

Remenyi Concert Co.

One of the largest crowds ever at a musical gathering in Meadville greeted the celebrated violinist Remenyi two years ago. His daughter appears as a vocalist next Thursday night in the Stone church under the auspices of the Epworth League. She is assisted by the famous pianist Liebling and Von Ende, the violinist of The Hague Peace Conference. It will be the musical event of the season, second to the Pittsburg Orchestra. Tickets are reserved at Easterwood's on Tuesday. Prices, 75 and 50 cts.

Will Lowstuter visited Phi Delta Theta last week.

W. H. Lofthouse, '99, was on the campus last week.

Allegheny vs. Western Reserve, Saturday evening.

A number of students are suffering from measles.

H. L. Clark spent Sunday at his home in Pittsburg.

Miss McCray and Miss Crane spent Sunday in Hayfield.

George Fahr is quite ill at his home on Water street.

Mr. A. Womer, who has been very ill with measles is improving.

"Allegheny Songs" will be on sale again Thursday morning of this week.

Rev. R. E. Brown exchanged pulpits with Rev. A. C. Bowers on Sunday.

The college sing last Friday was decidedly a success, thanks to the new book.

Miss Coral Merchant has been called home by the serious illness of her father.

Don't forget that Miss Adrienne Remenyi will sing in the Stone church, Thursday evening.

Mt. Union's cry, "This is the easiest thing yet," was changed to a wail in the second half.

President Crawford lectured in Columbus, Ohio, Thursday evening on "Wycliffe, England's Greatest Reformer."

Mrs. Eighmy, of Springboro, has been visiting her daughter Sara, who has enrolled as a student in college and conservatory.

Dr. Crawford (in ethics): "Haven't you found, Mr. Secrist, that you are never quite satisfied unless you are doing something?"

Tickets are on sale for the Allegheny dinner. Students first, then alumni and friends. Secure your tickets before it is too late.

Alpha Chi Omega was very pleasantly entertained Saturday evening, by Mrs. Harry Newton Hempstead, who has just returned from an extended visit in New York.

The town girls and friends were entertained by Miss Jennie Brawley last Wednesday evening. A sleigh ride had been planned, but the weather failed. The guests, however, were by no means the losers.

A concert of unusual interest will be given Friday evening, February 17th at the Pennsylvania College of Music, by the children of the college, assisted by the children's choruses and the Girls' Trio Club. Admission, 15 cents.

Mr. E. M. Bigger, a leading lawyer of Butler, Pa., was in chapel Saturday morning and spoke briefly. Mr. Bigger is a graduate of Washington and Jefferson, but he paid a high tribute to Allegheny in the line both of scholarship and of athletics.

Prof. Munroe read a paper before the Friday Night Club last Friday evening in the parlors of the Congregational Church. The paper was a discussion of the Romantic movement in English poetry culminating in Wordsworth, and was illustrated with readings.

The Allegheny Literary Monthly has elected a new board. Miss Merchant, Mr. Tabor and Mr. Young are retained. Mr. Potter is made editor-in-chief to succeed Mr. Champlin, and Mr. Coon, assistant business manager, and Miss Larkin has a place on the staff.

The management has arranged for a lecture by Louis Albert Banks, author of "The White Slave," for the twenty-fourth of April. The subject will be "The Bright Side of the Labor Question, and How to Make it Brighter." The lecture will be illustrated by scenes taken from labor conditions in New York City and Boston.

The Inter-Collegiate Golf championship was won at Garden City, Long Island, by Percy F. Payne, a Princeton freshman. The Athletic Association will grant Payne the privilege of wearing a "Varsity 'P.'"

Co-education is being discussed at Wesleyan University.
