My dear Miss Tarbell.

Your articles on the woman question, particularly the last one, - have been a joy to me. I have tried to say the same things myself, but I have failed where you have succeeded. I talked with Hattie Leiun of these questions, and she took the same position. Our generation received a training from the simple, earnest teachers and preachers of our youth which ought to be preserved and transmitted.

The whole February American is great. Lenroot, La Follette, and Irvine explode a mine naturally - but best of all is "What Socialism would do now."

I would like so much to see you some time and talk over some of these wonderful questions. For I can talk better than I can write.

Wishing you success in everything

Very sincerely.

Corinne M. Allen.
