THE COLLEGE GLEE CLUB GIVES TWO CONCERTS

Franklin and Oil City Audiences Highly Appreciative of Glee Club Program.

The Entertainments Were Well Attended — The Work of the Club Very Commendable. — Entertained by the L. W. L. Club.

The Allegheny College Glee club of which we are all proud, gave an entertainment Friday evening at Franklin, and Saturday evening at Oil City. The concert at Franklin was held in the court house, which was packed to the limit. At Oil City the concert was given in the high school auditorium. The members of the club unanimously agree that these audiences were the most appreciative, probably, of any they have yet entertained.

The audiences simply went wild with enthusiasm and exhausted the entire stock of encores which the club had at their command. The college song, kindled with the touch of real jollity, ought to appeal to any assemblage and certainly did to these audiences at Franklin and Oil City. The leader of the club, Mr. Lick, is high in his praise of the manner in which the club was received and the royal way in which it was treated by both cities.

The members, of whom the club had especial reason to be proud, were the Soloists, Mr. Lick and Miss McDowell; the reader, Mr. Thomas; and "Booze" Russell with his amusing line for which he is famous. These all were highly appreciated by all who heard them. The entire club, however, deserves congratulation for the commendable entertainment which it gave.

After the concert at Oil City, the club was entertained by the L. W. L. club, at the home of Miss Maxwell, a sister of "Sammy." Besides being able to amuse and entertain others, the club was entertained itself in a splendid manner and the trip will long be remembered by all who had a part in it.

JOHN W. MATTHIAS WILLS HIS ESTATE

TO OLD ALLEGHENY, HIS ALMA MATER.

Mr. Matthias was of the Class of '58—Formal Notice of His Will is Just Received by President Crawford.

John W. Matthias, of the class of '58, died at Haddam, Kansas, on February 17, 1907. He left his entire property, except a few hundred dollars, to his Alma Mater. Mr. Matthias and his brother, Daniel, of the same class, soon after graduation moved west to Kansas where they engaged in stock raising. Daniel Matthias died in 1897.

The exact amount of the bequest is not definitely known, but is several thousand dollars. Besides this he leaves his library, which contains many rare and valuable books, to the college.

Mr. Matthias had always been a loyal son of Allegheny, as his will testifies. Formal notice has been received from the executor by the terms of his will.

HALL GIRLS PLAY BASKET BALL

SPEEDY PLAYERS ON THE FLOOR

A Result of Class Spirit—Series of Hotly Contested Games Played—Laurels Carried off by Preps.

The class spirit which showed itself so disastrously in the hall at the time of the Senior-Sophomore banquet, has, since its forced retirement, turned its attention to the inter-class basket ball contest, with the result that a series of hotly contested games have just been ended. The Sophomores, Freshmen and Preparatory girls were all well represented by speedy and spirited players, and each team was backed in every game by inspiring rooters in the gallery.

The championship rested with whatever team won the best out of three games from each other team. The Freshmen-Prep. and Sophomore-Prep. "rubbers" were played last Thursday and Friday and each time the "Prep-a-Rep" sounded victoriously in the gymnasium, so that the contest has placed the laurel on the heads of the Preps.

The whole season has been marked by great enthusiasm and even greater skill. The games that have been played would bear very favorable comparison with those played in other colleges. So the hall girls feel that, were the opportunity offered, the girls could bring honors to Old Allegheny in this line of sports as well as the men.

DR. CRAWFORD HAS PLEASANT TRIP

ALSO A VERY BUSY TRIP.

On Toast List at Alumni Banquet in New York—Made Four Addresses in Boston—Had a Pleasant Time With Dr. Knudson.

Dr. Crawford has just returned from a very busy and pleasant trip to New York and Boston, where he met many loyal Allegheny graduates. He attended the Alumni banquet at New York which was given by the Aldine club on Friday evening, March 15. The attendance at this banquet was not as large as usual. Dr. Locke, '81, was toastmaster and Dr. Crawford was on the toast list. The other speakers of the evening were: R. R. Ross, '84; G. McLaughlin, '64, of Albany; Ernest J. Kester, '80; Robert G. Freeman, '04, who gave a remarkable toast; and W. C. Wilson, '86, Dr. Chas. W. Deane accompanied by Mrs. Deane, the parents of Miss Mabel Deane, '06, were present at the banquet. On the whole there was a goodly company in attendance and the banquet was successful.

Dr. Crawford spent the following Sunday in Boston preaching at the St. Mark's M. E. church, Brookline, in the morning, and at the Howard Congregational church in the evening; this was a union service. On Monday, Dr. Crawford addressed the preacher's meeting; at three o'clock in the afternoon, he addressed the Theological chapel service; and in the evening, he lectured for one hour to the Methodist Social Union. This lecture was much appreciated by all who heard it. While in Boston he was entertained by Dr. Bowne and Dr. Knudson. On Sunday night the doctor had the pleasure of meeting Chas. B. Lewis, our former physical director.

Taking the midnight train, Monday to Philadelphia, he arrived there in time to address the Historical Society of the Philadelphia Conference. On Thursday at New York, he met the architect who has in charge our Cochran hall. The plans are almost complete and will be here by Tuesday or Wednesday of this week.

We are proud of our busy president and congratulate him on being so well able to represent Allegheny's interests in the north and east.

BEETHOVEN NIGHT TO BE CELEBRATED

AT PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

The Class of Musical History to Have Charge—Commemoration of the Eightieth Anniversary of Death of Beethoven—Songs Typical of the Great Musician's Style.

The class of musical history assisted by the members of the faculty of the Pennsylvania College of Music will give an entertainment in Recital hall this evening, in commemoration of Beethoven. The program which they purpose giving will include pieces which are best suited to the mood and style of Beethoven. This is the eightieth anniversary of the death of the great musician, who died March 26, 1827, and will no doubt, be fittingly celebrated by an artistic program. There will be given movements from two piano concertos with orchestral parts on second piano sonatas, variations, an overture arranged for four players at two pianos and several of Beethoven's most celebrated songs.

Easter Vacation.

Soon the student will lay his books away and turn his thoughts toward lighter things. It is entirely fitting that at this season of the year we are allowed ten days in which to relax and draw a long breath. Our message is to those who will still cling to their books during these, what in all probability will be, beautiful days of opening spring. In fact we would like to make it stronger and say our reproach is for such. Vacation was meant not for study, but for pleasure. These ten days spent then in enjoyment of nature's early beauty will be worth more to the grind than anything else he could do. So, "Here's to you, for a happy vacation time."

Thoughtless.

A certain story in the annals of fabledom tells of a vain jackdaw who sought to emulate the virtues and general beauty of a bird of gayer plumage. According to the myth the somber feathered bird issued from the adventure a wiser and a sadder individual. In our college community there are certain men who are thoughtlessly wearing block "A's" that were never presented to them by the authorities. The offense is purely one of taste and we are sure that a gentle word of admonition will preclude its recurrence.

The Glee Club.

The work of the Glee club during the last week is well worthy of a word of appreciation from us. Too little do we as students care for the efforts which are put forth by any organizations of the college for our own good name. Whenever a noble effort has been given either on the athletic field or on the public platform in a for- ensic way, or in any other department of college life, it is worthy of praise. Flowers distributed in this way are never distributed amiss. The glee club has attracted the attention of the outside world to Old Allegheny by two splendid entertainments. Its work affects the spirit, welfare and traditions of Old Allegheny as vitally as the work of any organization of any description in college. It has done nobly, it is worthy of praise. Hence, we spread our garlands at its feet.

Debate.

This year is undoubtedly as singular in the annals of debating at Allegheny as any former year we have ever had. Two splendid teams have been chosen and Allegheny will of course show the colleges with whom she must battle of what sort of stuff she is made. The singularity comes in the unusual interest which has been shown in this department. There has been during this year as far as the year has gone more vital and consistent interest shown, more hard work and better preparation made, and, thus far, more satisfactory results from the work manifest, than ever before although last year was a remarkable year in debate. Our debating ideas are larger. We have come to appreciate the meaning of preparing and winning the advantage in a public argument with equally well prepared representatives of another college.

This means Allegheny has taken her place as a debating college. She is no longer satisfied with mediocrity. We are no longer novices, but veterans. Our spirit, then, must never lag; our ideals must ever be high; and we must continue to build on the firm foundation which we have laid.

Exchange Department

Harvard and Princeton have rules that no student shall represent the University on more than two teams, which would require his absence from 'own during the school term.

Fifty-eight men were dropped from the rolls of Princeton as a result of failure to pass the mid-year examinations. Last year seventy-one were dismissed.

At Ohio State there is a girls' basket ball team which is making a name for itself. The girls began rather late in the season, but out of seven games they have five victories to their credit.

An exchange states that the University of Michigan is the oldest and largest of the great state universities. It was founded in 1831. Michigan was the first university in the country to adopt the lecture system now used in every college in the country.

Alumni Department.

Louis W. Swanson, '06, visited at the Phi Delta Theta house last week. J. J. Tolerton, '06, is judge of the District Court, located in Cedar Falls, Iowa.

W. E. McDowell, '77, is district superintendent of the Children's Home Society, Topeka, Kansas.

G. W. Bird, '93, was killed in a mine explosion at Francisco, Ind., on February 25, 1907.

Andrew Johnson, '61, is chief of the Division of Customs, United States Treasury Department, Washington, D. C.

M. O. Brown, '91, and G. F. Davenport, '08, are candidates for the republican nomination for judge in this county. Present judge, F. J. Thomas, '85, is candidate for renomination on the democratic side.

SUNDAY, A MISSIONARY DAY.

All over the Erie Conference, Sunday, Missionary Day was celebrated and our own Dr. Beebe came in for a good share of glory as many of the churches had a Dr. Beebe Day. Allegheny also came in for considerable praise through such names as Thoburn, Harris, Mansell, and Oldham. The spirit of the older days still lives for Allegheny.

LICHFIELD AND ITS CATHEDRAL.

Oliver Cromwell was probably the most destructive man in all English history. Wherever you may go within the English borders you are sure to find that Cromwell has been there ahead of you. Indeed, so accustomed do you become of hearing about his ravages, that when a guide begins to describe a cathedral, or monument, you naturally expect him to say, "Of course, this is not original; it was restored after Oliver Cromwell destroyed it." And Lichfield which is situated just north of the central part of England did not escape his hand.

Lichfield is one of the best known and oldest cities in England. It is especially well known for two things: That is, the birthplace of Samuel Johnson, and its beautiful cathedral. Johnson's birthplace is a typical English dwelling which faces on the public square of the city. In the square a fine large monument of bronze has been erected to the memory of Samuel Johnson. Going farther east in the city, you come to the cathedral. This is the crown and glory of Lichfield. You might arrive in time to rest a few moments in the grand cathedral while services are being held. It may also be your privilege to hear Bishop Anderson, of the church of England, read the scripture lesson. Once rested, a walk through the massive building is your desire. The windows contain very beautiful and very ancient stained glass, some of which was unearthed in London. Here you find the tomb of Bishop Hackett, which turns your thoughts at once to Cromwell, for it was he who restored the cathedral after Cromwell had partially demolished it. Above his tomb is a magnificent window showing the condition in which he found the cathedral, showing him at work removing the ruins and drawing plans of reconstruction, and showing the completed cathedral, —three sections. This is probably the most attractive window in the cathedral.

A guide will lead you through various old quarters of the cathedral by intricate, winding stairways and aisles, until you stand in the choir. The floor of this room was originally paved with coal, a small portion still remaining. Here also you will find upon the tables the old-fashioned quills and writing material. One of the destructive cannon-balls is still retained in this apartment. Leaving this portion of the cathedral and entering one of the cloisters you will see a life-size statue of Bishop Ryder and an effigy of two children of another bishop; one, burning to death, the other, a victim of consumption. This sculpture is clean and accurate and is much admired by every tourist. At the outer entrance of the cloister is the tomb of the grandfather of Charles Darwin, who was a naturalist as well as the renowned Charles, who more completely finished his work. Just at the outer entrance of the cathedral is the noted burying place of Samuel Johnson.

Outside, the great structure looks grand with its three spires and stately architecture, which is largely Gothic; and the magnificent cathedral seems to rear its spires in lofty and proud defiance of the destructive hand of Oliver Cromwell, now bound with an everlasting chain. Like the religion it represents, the cathedral will not yield to the destroying hand of man.

JAMESTOWN ALUMNI BANQUET.

As was stated in last week's issue of the Campus, a reunion of all Alleghenians residing in western New York and Pennsylvania has been planned. The committee in charge desires to state that arrangements have now been completed and that the banquet will be held in the parlors of the First M. E. church, at Jamestown, N. Y. on the evening of April 1st, at 6:30 o'clock. A most cordial invitation is extended to all Campus readers to be present and any person planning to do so is requested to communicate with Ray F. Pickard on or before March 26.

MORE CHANGES IN RULES.

Recommended by Joint Football Rules Committee at Meeting in New York.

At a meeting of the joint football rules committee in New York were discussed several important changes which will be acted upon finally this month. The length of halves has been increased from 30 to 35 minutes each. A foul committed counts as one down. On an unsuccessful pass instead of penalty of loss of ball, a 15-yard penalty is provided for. If a forward pass before touching the ground or a kicked ball either before or after touching the ground goes out of bounds, the ball shall belong to the opponent at the point where it crosses the side-lines. A line player may carry the ball, but may not leave his regular position until after the ball has been put into play.

A new official is provided, a field umpire, who shall be in the defending territory close to the scene of play to settle disputed plays.

ART EXHIBIT CLOSED.

The Art Exhibit which has been so successfully carried on at Library hall, closed last Friday. The pictures have been greatly admired and the exhibit has been far more successful than was anticipated.

The students as well as all those interested in art will be gratified to know that the art organization which has been permanently effected here will insure a similar exhibition each year.

ducted. It reflects great credit on the editorial staff, who have been unsparing in their efforts to make the magazine the success that it is.

"The Water Lily" by M. F. B. is a touching little poem full of the love of nature.

"The Power of the Green Goggles" is a strong story and a very creditable production.

"A Letter" is a bit of humorous verse true to human nature.

"A Noble Revenge" by Jean Renard is an entertaining story and holds the attention throughout.

"To Flora" by James W. Frampton is filled with real poetic feeling and is a very creditable production.

CORNELL'S DEBRUTALIZED RUSH

A new-fangled test of physical strength between the lower classes of Cornell University has just been tried with apparent success under the personal inspection of President Schurman and other members of the faculty, the object being to prevent the resort to brutal or dangerous tactics. The rush took place in an inclosure 150 yards by 100 yards, chalked off into two parts. At the crack of a pistol the freshmen and sophomores rushed from opposite sides, the sophomores seeking to capture and hold as many of the freshmen as possible and detain them from the freshmen banquet, which was about to take place in the armory. Those freshmen caught and not rescued within three minutes were taken to another place to be decorated and the campus before the laughing throng. The officers of the freshmen class managed to reach the banquet hall in safety, but about 150 freshmen were captured and decorated. The sport proceeded under systematic ruling made by agreement between the undergraduates and the faculty.

Harold H. Hull was visited by his father, yesterday, at the Phi Kappa Psi house.

Changes at Chautauqua.

SPLENDID ORGAN IS BEING INSTALLED.

The Instrument was a Gift from Chester D. Massey and His Sister, Mrs. J. M. Treble, in Memory of Their Mother.

Students of Allegheny who have been accustomed to spend the summer at Chautauqua will be interested in the following article which appeared in one of the city papers.

Chautauquans are always interested in the changes which each season brings. The most important improvement for the thirty-fourth annual assembly will be the installation of the memorial organ and alterations in the amphitheater. It was announced last year that an organ costing at least $20,000 had been given by Chester D. Massey and his sister, Mrs. J. M. Treble, of Toronto, Can., in behalf of their mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Massey. This organ, which will cost considerable more than the figure above, will be installed and ready for use by the opening day of the 1907 season.

The entire lower part of the amphitheater is being reconstructed for this organ. In general the plans call for the erection of a fireproof chamber for the organ, the entire rebuilding of the stage and choir gallery, the making of a large cement floored storage room beneath the platform and the reseating of the choir gallery and two sections on each side of the amphitheater which will give accommodations for about 1,000 more people. The building has already begun to take on a new appearance.

The brick organ chamber is nearly ready for the roof. Three steel curtains, which will be pulled down when the organ is not in use, are to be placed in front of the fireproof chamber. About half the seats in the choir gallery will be movable, which will give enough space on the platform for gymnastic exhibitions, operas, etc. Changes will be made in various offices in the building.

The old organ will be placed in Normal hall in a small addition built upon the west side. The instrument will be lowered from concert to international pitch, and will be used for choir rehearsals and for organ practice.

The contract will soon be let for the new buildings of the soft drink concession. The booth in the ravine will be rebuilt and enlarged. A new one-story building will be erected in front of the west wing of the Colonnade for this concession. This building will have cement floors and pillars and a roof extending over wide sidewalks.

The factory for the manufacture of candy and ice cream will be erected outside of the grounds. Heretofore this work has been carried on in the Temple. The lunch room in the Temple will be enlarged for the accommodation of the increasing number of day visitors at Chautauqua.

The extension offices of the Institution have been moved from the second floor of the administration building to the second floor of the C. L. S. C. building. This is in line with the consolidation of the C. L. S. C. department and the extension office in the newly organized press department. The press bureau and the offices of the Chautauqua Daily will probably occupy the old extension offices next season.

REV. W. H. FISH ON "SALT LAKE CITY."

Some of our students attended the men's club of the Unitarian church, Thursday evening and heard an interesting treatise entitled, "Two Years in Salt Lake City." This was doubly interesting when they remembered that our Dr. Lockwood had spent some time in that city.

Mr. Fish described vividly the beauty and attractiveness of the great Mormon city, touching on its general outline and contour, and continued in part:

"The school system of the city is efficient and splendidly organized, the high school being a model institution. The Mormon people are fond of amusements and patronize the theaters liberally. They also have cultivated musical tastes.

There are several important business interests in Utah, such as mining, salt production, and agriculture, all of which furnish a basis for the prosperity of the city. There are several large mormon corporations, all being more or less affiliated. Joseph Smith, the president of the Mormon church, is a director in the Union Pacific Railroad company, representing Mormon stocks.

"The line between Mormon and Gentile is very closely drawn. One of the unpleasant features of life in Salt Lake City develops from this distinction, that is constant variation on the subject of Mormonism."

"The great strength and continual progress of the 'Latter Day Saints' are due to the missionary zeal that universally characterizes the sect. Over fifteen hundred missionaries are now in the field in different parts of the world. A popular test of true adherence to the church is that of imposing missionary duties on converts or believers. Reed Smoot was once drafted to this service, and in pursuance of his duty left his family and business to go abroad in the interests of the faith."

Mr. Fish emphasized the sincerity and faithfulness of many of the sect, and in his discussion of the various creeds and functions of the Mormon church quoted copiously from the Thirteen Articles of Faith.

IN REGARD TO DR. CRAWFORD'S ADDRESS BEFORE THE METHODIST SOCIAL UNION.

President Crawford Made a Magnificent Impression—The Alleghenians Felt an Inch or Two Taller After It was Over.

The Campus is glad to publish the following note from Dr. A. C. Knudson, formerly Professor of English Bible and Philosophy at Allegheny:

March 19, 1907.

Editor of the Campus:—

It will gratify the students and faculty of Allegheny college to know that in his address last night before the Methodist Social Union and the students of the School of Theology President Crawford made a magnificent impression. Every Alleghenian felt an inch or two taller after it was over.
