N.Y., Jan. 23rd, 98.

Dear Miss Tarbell,

I entirely forgot to mention in my letter of yesterday's date the following items; A capitol photo. 9 x 7 in size, about, of "The Interior of Fort Sumter, Apr. 15, 1861, the day following the Surrender of Major Anderson", and a photo. 10 1/2 x 10 1/2 in size, of "The Lincoln Memorial Arch,

Erected at Swig. Swig,
April 25, 1865."

The former has the Confederate flag flying, and the latter is placed over the track of the Hudson River R.R., over which the funeral train passed on its way to Albany.

They are both in fine condition & the 1861 view, I should respectfully suggest, would do well in your first paper. I believe these two pictures to be exceedingly scarce as I have never seen or even heard of either of them before.

Very truly yours,
Wm. Foster

P.S. I have, too,
I believe, some where about,
a fine photo. of Bissell's beautiful Lincoln monument in Edinburgh, Scotland.
