Chaperone Program Established By AUC

At the regular Sunday meeting of the AUC in Cochran the Council voted unanimously to pass the student chaperone program.

Alleghenians eligible to become chaperones under this program are "seniors, juniors, and other mature and responsible students." The AUC Executive Committee is accepting applications from students desiring to become chaperones.

The application blanks are now available at the College Union desk and at the AUC office. These completed forms may be returned to any member of the AUC Executive Committee.

Council members also agreed on the students to preside over Senior Court. They include Art Blank, Jack Cotton, Lou Scibetta, Mary Alice Hanson and Kay Johnson.

Sue Reiber was appointed the 1956-57 Fund Drive chairman.

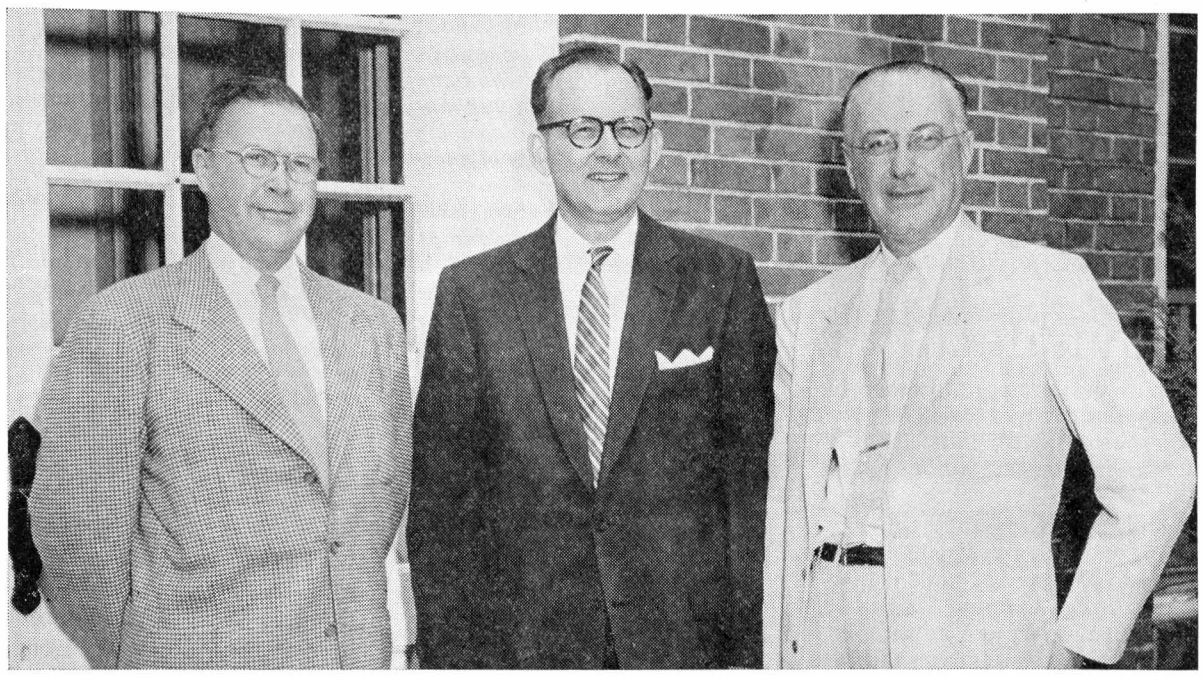

Final Exam Permits Available Next Week

Examination permits for second semester final examinations will be issued on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday by the Business Office in Bentley Hall. The permit, which is necessary to enter the room in which the final is scheduled, can be secured only by settling all outstanding accounts. This year each student must pick up his own permit.

The hours on each of the three days will be from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m. in the afternoon.

Students must take care of all library fines at Reis Library before tonight and all books due should be returned.

Korean veterans who will need an extension of time must see Dr. Edwards prior to Tuesday to make an application for a loan.

Playing key roles in the Presidential inauguration tomorrow in the David Mead Fieldhouse are the three College leaders above, (left to right) Theodore Thoburn, '14, Dr Lawrence Lee Pelletier, and Paul W. Johnston, '14. Mr. Thoburn was chairman of the trustee's nomination committee which screened candidates to succeed former President Louis T. Benezet last summer. Dr. Pelletier, selected by the Thoburn Committee, tomorrow will be officially designated the College's 16th President. Mr. Johnston will preside at tomorrow's ceremonies in his capacity as Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Pelletier Installed Tomorrow

by Yvonne Reed

Dr. Lawrence Lee Pelletier will be inaugurated tomorrow as the 16th president of the College. He succeeds Louis T. Benezet who resigned last summer to assume the presidency of Colorado College. One hundred fifty-eight educators will be visiting the College for the occasion as delegates from other institutions of higher learning.

The day's ceremonies will begin at 1:30 p.m. as delegates, faculty members, trustees and the Allegheny Singers ban together for the Academic Procession from Reis Library to the David Mead Fieldhouse. Nearly 300 will march in this colorful procession of academic robes while Robert Lynn, college organist and instructor of music, plays Henry Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary".

The inauguration ceremony will begin at 2:00 p.m. in the Fieldhouse as the Singers perform Bach's "Grant Us To Do With Zeal". They will sing after the invocation the anthems, "O God, Thou Faithful God" by Brahms and "Who So Offereth Praise, Glorifieth God" by Christiansen.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Judge Arthur T. Vanderbilt, chief justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court and one of the nation's leading jurists. Following his address will be the installation of Dr. Pelletier as president by Mr. Paul W. Johnston, chairman of the board of trustees, after which the President will give his inaugural address.

As the program draws to a close, the audience will sing, "Alma Mater Beatissimo." Benediction will be pronounced by Dr. Horace T. Lavely, resident chaplain, The Singers will respond with "Nunc Dimittes," written by their director, Dr. Lavaas. The recessional will be "Fantasie" by Bach.

Following the inauguration, there will be a reception at Cochran Hall for the college community. A dinner in Brooks at 7:30 p.m. for delegates, faculty members and guests will conclude activities for the day.

At this dinner, Dr. Pelletier will be greeted by various groups. Judge Herbert A. Mook, '29, of the Crawford County Courts, will greet the President on behalf of alumni and the board of trustees; Dr. John E. Cavelti, professor of chemistry, on behalf of the faculty; Art Blank, president of AUC, on behalf of the student body; Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke of Pittsburgh on behalf of the Methodist Church; and Robert S. Bates, '31, editor and co-publisher of the Meadville Tribune, on behalf of the community of Meadville.

Resolution Approved By NSA At Meeting

by Pogie Ziegler

At the recent Pennsylvania-West Virginia Region of NSA general business meeting at Penn State, a resolution spearheaded by Allegheny, was passed in support of the stand taken by the Dickinson College student senate previously. They had asked for the lifting of the suspension of Dr. Lauren W. La Vallee, on the grounds that it was a violation of academic freedom.

Dr. La Vallee, an assistant professor in the department of economics, was suspended with pay by Dickinson President William E. Edel on March 19, as a result of Dr. La Vallee's appearance in February before the UnAmerican Activities Committee of the U. S. House of Representatives.

Dr. La Vallee acknowledged the right of the committee to subpoena and question him but at the same time claimed his right as a citizen to plead the Fifth Amendment.

President Edel said that Dr. La Vallee was not suspended because of his conduct before the congressional committee, but that he was suspended on the basis of information given in private by the committee to him. None of this so-called evidence of any subversive activity on Dr. La Vallee's part has been made public.

The NSA resolution at Penn State was sponsored by the delegations from Allegheny, Dickinson and the University of Pennsylvania. It restated the principles of academic freedom adopted at the Eighth Congress of NSA last August. The principle of academic freedom quoted in reference to the La Vallee case follows: "The NSA further believes an educator should answer questions put to him by investigating committees; however, his use of the Fifth Amendment, or any other applicable section of the Bill of Rights of the Constitution, as his reason or not replying to questions concerning his views and affiliation is not, in and of itself, justifiable cause for his dismissal."

Guest Inauguration Speaker Vanderbilt Accounts Success To Self-Discipline

by Beverly Wilkinson

Arthur T. Vanderbilt, who will be the guest speaker at President Pelletier's inauguration, tomorrow, at sixty-seven still continues to lead an active life. At present, he is Chief Justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court.

In three years he will retire from the Supreme Court. Awaiting him will be a long list of projected books and articles on which he is eager to start working in the Arthur T. Vanderbilt Law Center at New York University.

His story has been one of success since his early training days at Wesleyan. In four years, Mr. Vanderbilt completed the requirements for both B.A. and M.A. degrees. All this was done while working his way through college as a fraternity steward, newspaper correspondent, editing the semi-weekly college Argus, managing the football team and debating council, and ending up as president of the student body and senior class.

One of his fraternity brothers once asked him now he did it. "Self-discipline," Vanderbilt replied instantly. "A man can do half a dozen jobs at once if he has proper control of time."

Court Reformer

A Columbia Law School graduate, Mr. Vanderbilt can claim many accomplishments to his credit. He led court reforms in New Jersey, providing the state with what has been termed the most efficient judicial system in the nation.

Notable also when mentioning Mr. Vanderbilt's achievements is his building up of the New York University Law School. He spearheaded fund-raising for a new building in 1943 when he was dean of the school and made plans for a first-rank law school. As a monument to his efforts, the school is now called the Arthur T. Vanderbilt Law Center.

Kaldron Distribution Slated For Wednesday

Are you photogenic? All Allegheny students can find this out Wednesday when the 1956 Kaldron will be distributed in the David Mead Fieldhouse.

The books can be picked up from 3:30-5:30 p.m. and also from 7:00-8:00 p.m. for those who can't make it during the afternoon. If anyone hasn't gotten The Kaldron during any of these times, they will have to call Carolyn Tuttle to make arrangements to get a book.

Four tables will be set up in the gym, one for each class. Each student can obtain a book by placing his signature beside his name on a class list that will be found on each table. Anyone desiring to pick up The Kaldron for someone else must sign his own name beside that of the other person.

"We hope you enjoy the book and any constructive criticism should be directed to the proper channels," stated Harvey Hefley, editor of The '56 Kaldron.

Foreign Language Credits Needn't Prevent Studying Abroad Under Scholarship Grants

by Fred Adams

More and more students are looking across the sea for an education. This factor has brought about an increased interest in the Fulbright scholarships. One particular problem, according to the Fulbright Program Advisor Wayne R. Merrick, has been the lack of knowledge of a foreign language.

This should not discourage students from considering study abroad since study in some nations does not require prior knowledge of a foreign language. According to Merrick, those nations are Australia, Denmark, England, New Zealand, Norway, Burma, India and the Philippines.

An interesting sidelight to this situation is that only 20 percent of American college students study a foreign language. Only one percent of American students major in a foreign language.

Although the closing date for next year's applications for the Fulbright grant is not now known, in the past it has generally been around October 15. Therefore, it is extremely important to start making plans now since the closing date is shortly after the start of the fall school term.

Mr. Merrick also said that there are other foreign study grants possible beside the Fulbright awards. Some examples are the Government of Israel Award to one student engaged in a research project on Israel studies, about thirty fellowships in France given by the French government, two awards by the University of Padua in Italy and sixteen awards given by the Mexican government. Mr. Merrick indicated that these awards have various closing dates which are obtainable from him.

Students either interested in the Fulbright program or other international study grants are urged to contact Mr. Merrick in Quigley before the end of the present term. This is so that they may be informed of the details of the grants and plan schedules in order to be eligible.

Weekends Revisited

The past two weekends have provided appalling evidence of the cultural apathy among Allegheny students. The Mozart Musical Festival, using student participation as an index, was a flop while the May Day weekend aroused interest among even the most dormant students.

Let's take a look over our shoulders evaluating the events of the past forthnight. The long-anticipated Mozart Music Festival, jointly sponsored by the departments of music and drama, commenced two weeks ago with a Saturday evening Chamber Music Concert. Or should we be more clear-eyed and admit that a vain attempt to begin a week of cultural activities was made? Meeting the competition of Carousel and other lighter nocturnal activities, the Chamber Music Concert attracted a student audience which made some of the sparcely attended G-8 lectures appear healthy.

The score of students in Ford Chapel looked mighty outlandish among the fair representation of faculty and townspeople in attendence. Those who left the Chapel dismayed at this miserable student exhibition found some solace; they shrugged their shoulders signing the failure off as a miscue on the schedule maker's part.

The cultural apathy of the Allegheny students became apparent as the audience assembled for the Sinfonietta concert on a relatively free Sunday afternoon. Yes, the thirty-two student members of the Sinfonietta who had spent months preparing for the cultural event of the year easily outnumbered the listening students. Again the faculty and townspeople in attendance gave Ford Chapel the appearance of seating a semi-respectable audience.

The situation went from bad to worse as Festival activities entered the long week. Monday afternoon one lonely culture-seeking coed was in the Craig Room for the library-sponsored record concert of Mozart works. Discouraged to the marrow by this student disinterest, the library cancelled the remaining programs. Like the 4:20's which folded in failure earlier, the record concert was not on the Allegheny student's wavelength.

The only bright spot of the Mozart Festival—and certainly not unexpected—was the student support given The Playshop "Marriage of Figaro" production.

If the Festival can be likened to a midnight sky punctured by a single bright star, last week's May Day weekend activities can be illustrated as a constellation of many brilliant stars. From Saturday's coronation to Sunday's Phi Delt lawn party twenty-four happy hours later all the many activities were buoyant with the enthusiasm and active participation by the majority of students.

The time conflicts, obstructive to the previous weekend's Festival activities, were resolved for May Day weekend. In its envious niche as an Allegheny tradition the weekend's success is annually assured. Obviously May Day weekend has made its mark on campus. Why not build an annual music festival, bolstered by the fullest of student support, to such a position?

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"SHE'S IN ONE OF MY CLASSES—RATHER DISTRACTING ISN'T SHE?"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir,

It is seldom that one finds the opportunity to recognize a man of truly great talent on our campus, one who has long remained hidden from the public view. May I say that Mr. Shea's letter of last week is one which is sure to put him among the ranks of the great writers of our generation. Mr. Shea is to be commended for having extended his abilities far beyond the expository or narrative fields that we come to associate with good writing. Instead, he has chosen to compete with the few great writers of comedy that we are familiar with.

His letter was one of great comic insight. Hereafter to be known as a "Farce in Four Paragraphs," it shall mark his entrance into the world of letters. His technique was superb, flawless, integrally honest. Indeed, one might say that his misuse of the English language was

by Bob Silberfarb, News Editor

Question (asked of seniors): What do you intend to do after graduation?

Place: Ruter, the Grill, and Cochran.

Dawn Taft:

Teaching high school chemistry in Warren, Pa., will occupy my time after September. This summer I plan to start work on my master's degree at Penn State.

Sam Biondolillo:

I imagine I'll be the only ditch-digger in Jamestown who will be a college graduate. On September 24th I leave for Quantico, Virginia, where I plan to enter the Marine Officer Candidate Course. After my "hitch" in the service is completed, I expect to enter law school, preferably at the University of Michigan.

Rod McLean:

I plan to go to work for the Esso Standard Oil Company in Pennsylvania in their sales department. I hope to be placed in Philadelphia. Within ten months I shall be entering the Air Force and take pilot training. Upon graduation from flight school, I hope to be stationed in Thule, Greenland as a fighter pilot. Then I can get caught up on some books I'd like to read.

Jim Sexton:

On June 6, I intend to begin a short training program with Allegheny Airlines after which I shall begin work with the airlines as a flight agent. My plans following the summer months are very indefinite. I may continue my work with Allegheny Airlines. I have applied for a Navy commission and, I have also applied for admission to the graduate program in psychology at Florida State University, Tallahassee, Florida.

Sally Kloppman:

June 9th is the day I start being a housewife. That's going to take up most of my spare time this summer. In September, I'll be starting to teach third grade in Westfield, New York. In the near future I hope to continue my education possibly at Fredonia State Teacher's College and Chautauqua Institution to extend my credit to teach art in the elementary school.

Don Skinner:

This summer will be spent at my home in Chautauqua, New York, where I am rear commodore of the Yacht Club and also artist for the Chautauqua summer resort. Next fall I will enter Yale Divinity School for my theological training. The second year I plan to study at the University of Edinburgh in Scotland, returning to Yale for the last year. Then I may go on to Union Theological Seminary in New York, and during at least one summer in preparation for a Ph.D. I may study in Bonn, Germany. Eventually I plan to be a college chaplain and teacher of religion and philosophy. Might just get married someday, too.

May 11-15 (Park) The Conqueror

Someone in Hollywood probably got a raise for knowing enough history to suggest that Genghis Khan might be good movie material. Mr. Howard Hughes, not especially known to shun spectacles, probably thought so too, for he has spent $6 million on the venture. The result is a movie which may truthfully say "any resemblance to actual persons is purely coincidental".

The movie has Mongol armies clashing with Tarter hordes, a captive Tarter princess, and all sorts of hocus-pocus that are time-proven box office successes. What the movie does not have is the sort of faithfulness to fact that raised Ulysses above the level of common spectacles, or the care with details that made The Land Of The Pharoahs at least archeologically valuable. Instead, Conqueror is a Western, and a pretty poor one at that. Perhaps Alexander Nevsky is not good box office, but there is not a single scene in Conqueror that can compare, technically or emotionally, with that 1925 silent film.

Apparently Mr. Hughes also realized this is a Western, for he gave the title role to John Wayne. As the slightly slanted-eyed, tall-in-the-saddle gent with the Western drawl, Wayne is an excellent counterpart to Susan Hayward, a red-haired, fair-skinned Tarter princess.

Gush and gore on the Gobi.

May 12-15 (Academy) Tribute To A Bad Man

Aside from being a fine movie in itself, Shane has had a long-lasting effect on the movie industry. Tribute is an off-beat Western in the Shane tradition of provocative themes, pregnant silences, and piognant treatment.

The hero of his film is not much of one by Hollywood standards; 52, he is balding, aching, and beginning to slouch. Nevertheless, he has an ornery streak in him and he is quick to find a tree when there is a rustler in the area. He is a little worried about keeping his cigar-smoking dance hall queen, and when a handsome stable boy appears, things begin to move rapidly. Before the end of the picture, there is plenty of excitement, and the movie manages to say a few valuable things and suggest even more.

An unusual Western worth viewing.

Allegheny Students, Profs Attend Forum Featuring Former Ambassador To Russia

by Jane Kreiling

Twenty-four students and faculty members attended the sixth annual World Affairs Forum in Pittsburgh Thursday. It was sponsored by the Pittsburgh Foreign Policy Association, and the trip was arranged by the IRC.

Subjects under discussion at the Forum were "The Non-committed Nations" and "Defense and the Problems of Disarmament."

The featured evening speaker was George Kennan, former United State Ambassador to the Soviet Union. At present he is a Professor at the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton University.

Admit Red China

In his speech Mr. Kennan cited some of the major problems facing the United States today. He stated that he failed to see the logic in keeping the Chinese Communists out of the United Nations. There is no point in discriminating between members, as membership should be open to anyone desiring it. U. N. membership should not mean approval or disapproval of a government, Kennan stated.

He also pointed out that there has been an increase in the neutral zone between the United States and the Soviet Union. He was somewhat doubtful of the decision to arm West Germany. Kennan believes the West should have encouraged unification as this would mitigate the Russian threat.

His final points concerned the carrying out of our foreign policy. We should be more relaxed and normal; be more solicitous towards our friends; and restore our dignity and lose the popularity idea, warned the career diplomat.

Pickering, Kleeman Win Awards At Erie Exhibit

by Sandy Friesell

At the Erie spring exhibition of northwest Pennsylvania, Douglas Pickering, assistant professor of art, was given first prize for his work "San Sapulcro".

"San Sapulcro" represents the Italian influence showing in much of contemporary work with an emphasis on the classic antiquity of Italy.

Richard E. Kleeman, assistant professor of art, was awarded the second prize for his "Gadget", which is a collage or subject which is fashioned by placing bits of newspaper, cloth or similar things to convey, as a finished product, a specific idea.

Both Pickering and Kleeman plan to spend the summer in Meadville to continue with the ideas upon which they are now working and further develop their present ideas.

During the past several years, the Erie show has been seemingly dominated by Allegheny men.

Allegheny Nine Takes Panthers 9-7; Alliance Edges Gators In Slug Fest

by Don Anderson, Sports Editor

Alliance's Jerry Socha came back to haunt the Gators on the baseball diamond by pulling down Red Wigton's ninth inning smash to give the visitors a 11-10 decision Monday on the College Field. It marked the third win for the visitors and the third loss for the Gators.

The Gators jumped off to a five run lead in the first inning but Alliance ate it away until they finally overcame it in the top eighth for the advantage.

The Gators were able to produce ten runs on nine hits but three Allegheny pitchers were unable to hold the lead. Dal Matthews led the Gator running attack with three stolen bases, one of them being home. Three of the Gator runs came on squeeze bunts.

The Gators were two runs down going into their half of the ninth and rallied to score one and loan the bases with two out. Red Wigton blasted what looked like the game-winning hit only to have Socha haul it in for a long out.

Home Victory

Saturday the Hilltoppers succeeded in playing their first home game at the College Field and knocked off Pitt 9-7. Frosh Jack Kepple won his fourth game without a loss but gave up 11 hits in the effort.

The Hilltoppers took a four run lead in the first inning when Glenn Meuller and Dal Matthews walked. Wigton singled Meuller home with the first run of the game. Klomp sacrificed moving Wigton to second and Matthews to third. Bill Davis scored both with a single. Davis went to second on a single by Dobson and took third on an error. He scored when Erickson squeezed him home on a bunt.

Kepple Scores

They added another in the second when Kepple singled and worked around to third where he scored on Wigton's second single.

Pitt's first score came in the third on two singles and a hit batsman. They added four more in the sixth when Schmitt led off with a triple and scored on Bigley's sacrifice fly. Kepple walked Tuchak and Gordon and gave singles to Burns and Walton. Walton, Burns and Tuchak all scored.

The Gators iced the game in their half of the seventh with three more runs. Meuller and Wigton walked, Klomp singled scoring Meuller. Davis walked and Erickson followed with a single to score Klomp and Davis.

Grove City Triumphs; Cindermen Drop 4th

The Gator thinclads suffered their fourth straight loss at the hands of Grove City 102⅔ to 28⅓ at Grove City. The Grovers dominated the meet with twelve first places while limiting the Gators to only three.

Gerry Galbo, who has lost only once this year in the two mile run, won once again. Dave Warren won the 120 yard high hurdles and "Windy" Riotte took the mile race and finished second in the two mile.

Grove City's Betti was the only double winner of the afternoon with wins in the 220 low hurdles and broad jump. Yesterday the Gators closed out the current season with visiting Fenn from Cleveland.

Saturday the Alleghenians play host to seven visiting harrier squads from the district in the District Meets. Morning trials will be held to qualify for the afternoon competition scheduled to get under way at 1:30 p.m. with the field events. Last year the Gators placed seventh in a field of eight entries.

Golfers On Win Spree Thiel Makes 3rd Win

The Gator Golf Team hit the winning trail with three impressive wins in their last three matches to boast a record of 3 wins and 2 losses.

Last Thursday at Slippery Rock, the Gator putters hit the win column with a 6-3 victory. Skip Nagle was low medalist with a 75 and Abramson and Henry were next in line with 77's. Abramson, Henry, and Nagle won all their points.

Gator Victory

On Monday, the team evened their win-loss record by beating Edinboro 9½-2½. Though a water soaked course, Captain Dave Law and Bill Henry were low medalists with 82's. This match, played at Culbertson Hills Country Club, saw Law win 2½ points, Nagle—3 points, Abramson—1 point, and Henry—3 points.

Tuesday, the Gators met Thiel College at Oakland Beach Golf Course. Here again the Gators performed in winning style, this time with an 11½-6½ victory. Although Captain Dave Law scored well with a 77, on the par 71 course, he lost his points to a very strong opponent from Thiel, Dick Gibson, who had a 74.

Abramson and Sambol beat their opponents for the maximum of 3 points each, while Henry and Woeckner each came through with 2 more points.

deliberate, and should put him in the same level as Ogden Nash, Mrs. Malaprop, and similar great distorters of the language which we use in daily life.

His logic, his train of thought, is obviously intended to be muddled as a satire on those he was chastising. His vague syllogisms, traced through innumerable complications, left one laughing and gasping for breath. Where, I ask, did he learn his marvelous technique? Surely Allegheny's G-1 course is not designed to give one a sense of the comic. Jonathan Swift, stand aside!

In closing, allow me to pay one last tribute to Mr. Shea. I have always considered myself as one of those silly people who believes in God. However, I was not quite sure whether I was a liberal or conservative. Mr. Shea's arguments and convincing satire has left no doubt in my mind. Henceforth I shall subscribe to the Tribune, snub my liberal friends (atheists all), and go to worship in the temple of conservatism.

Frank Feigert

Dear Sir,

Gad! To paraphrase Winston Churchill, this is the type of anti-intellectualism up with which we will not put! Mr. Shea seems to miss the self-evident truth that anyone who isn't rigidly nonconformist should be ostracized from our society. Rousseau proved that man is essentially good, Freud that man is basically evil; therefore everyone should be as much himself as possible by being as different from everyone else as possible.

It is evident that there is no possible justification for the middle of the road since Freud, Dewey, and Rousseau are on the liberal side and the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost on the conservative side. Mr. Shea is blinded by Original Sin, the Father Complex, and Institutions, those ipso facto stultifying creations of diseased minds. For Alfred South Blackhead has conclusively demonstrated that reason tempered by common sense is as outdated as virginity.

Be sure your complex will find you out; Dewey saves!

Boredly,
Bob Pierce

Dear Sir:

In these days of the never-say-die debates between the Conservatives and the Liberals and Paul Tilloch's manifestations, I wonder if you would be willing to take a few lines for one who would simply like to pay a sincere compliment to the cast and management of "Figaro". This production was, in my estimation, one of the finest, one of the most professional, and one of the most delightful presentations that I have ever seen on the Playshop stage.

The cast was well chosen with an eye for suiting the personalities of the characters; the stage settings were superbly simple and effective; and the success with which an ambitious group of amateurs carried out the opera—a medium not always successfully used by professionals—is a compliment not only to the faculty that produced it but also to the students that play both in it and for it.

I am sure that many students, members of the faculty, and guests who attended the production will wish to join me in saying "congratulations for a fine job".

Sincerely,
Don C. Skinner

21 Student Counselors Chosen For Next Year

by Virginia Perrine

Seventeen men and four women have been chosen as student counselors for 1956-57. The men are Walt Minigutti, Jim Zaccardi, Jim Bissett, Jim Kweder, Dick Vorce, Jack Graf, Ralph Witherspoon, Dick D'Alessio, Jim Ross, Parke Morrow, Curt Graham, Bob Westlake, Jim Sexauer, Jay Whaley, Max Schoenfeld, Tom Jones and Don Kimmelman.

The women chosen are Emily Holran, Mary Jo Howard, Sally Roessler and Joan Singley.

The men counselors are to help and give information such as study habits along with attitudes toward teachers and courses. They give the freshmen men the opportunity to hear a mature opinion and to take advantage of this.

Self Government

These men help the freshmen learn self government and aid in the development of the Freshman Cabinet, Baldwin Counsel and the Residence Cabinet.

The 18 men counselors were chosen from 36 applicants. The applicants must show evidence to the outgoing counselors of independence of mind and integrity to carry out services to the freshman students. The final decision was a cooperative one among the present counselors and the student personnel staff, according to Dean McCracken.
