Dear Miss Tarbell:

We liked "In the Footsteps of the Lincolns" so much that we have had a special presentation copy made up and bound for you and it will go forward to-morrow with our best compliments and good wishes.

The book has been hand-collated, hand-sewed and is extra bound in full morocco, hand-tooled, with doublure finish and special colored end-leaves. The work was done for us at the Meyer establishment by one of the best workman in New York, who has occasionally done special pieces of fine binding for us.

You know, I think, our genuine pleasure in publishing the book and it is the hope of all your friends here at Harpers that this souvenir will express to you the satisfaction we have in our partnership with you.

With personal good wishes, I am,

Cordially yours,

William H. Briggs
