

New York, June 4, 1918.

Prof. Jackson,

Greensboro, N. C.

My dear Prof. Jackson:

Mr. Bridges tells me that I am to speak at your summer school in July on the subjects, "The Inner line of Defense," and "The Fear of Efficiency, also that I am down for one or two conference addresses.

Will you not tell me what the subjects of these are? The latter I understand are for teachers.

I am looking forward with pleasure to my visit.

Very sincerely yours,

E.C.