A.S.G. approves Strenio Cabinet choices

By CINDY NATALI

Campus Asst. Copy Editor

Approval of the new ASG cabinet appointments was the highlight of last Sunday's ASG meeting.

The new cabinet will be comprised of Treasurer Bruce May; Tom O'Boyle as Director of Residence Life; Sam Abrash, Director of Educational Affairs; and Jack Starrantis as Director of Student Services.

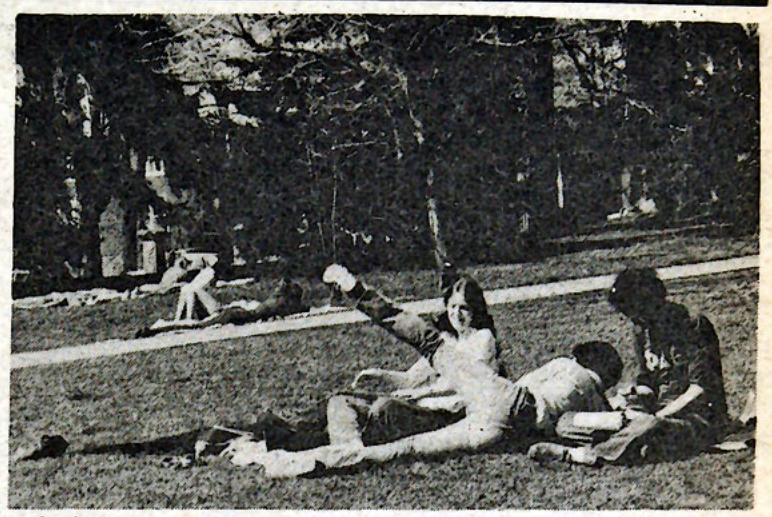

Willie Bender will serve as Director of Social and Public Events, Jeff Bade Director of Community Relations, and Cindy Johnson will fill the post of Administrative Assistant. As of now the positions of Director of Public Relations and Director of Computer Relations remain open. ASG President Scott Strenio announced that those individuals interested in these spots should still contact him.

Strenio reported that the sale of concert tickets to students hovered around 980 and he feels that sellout is likely. Students still wishing to purchase tickets must now pay the regular price of $7.50.

A motion that ASG investigate the possibility of having study areas of the new library opened for use this term was also passed.

Strenio reminded ASG that any campus organizations which have not as yet submitted a budget to the treasurer must do so immediately.

Positions on the student faculty and student trustees board are available. Interested students may contact Strenio at the ASG office.

Spring term means a chance to catch some sun while making a stab at studying outside as these students have found. As the sunny days hit, bikers, joggers and sundeck fans are popping out over campus.

Concert set for Friday

BY BILL FLEMING

Student cooperation is an integral part of the security arrangements for the Springsteen concert here Friday, said Edward Humphrey, director of campus security.

The students are reminded that they are not permitted to smoke in the auditorium, sit in the aisles or sit in front of the stage, Humphrey continued.

There will be an increased number of student monitors for the concert he said, and the enforcement of the non-smoking rule will be stiff.

The security plans for the concert and the student monitors were arranged through ASG.

Humphrey went on to explain that the security will not be especially dogmatic, but that the monitors will deal firmly with offenders.

The college has had many large concerts without any problems and the Springsteen concert should be no exception, Humphrey concluded.

Carter campaign supporters organize

By BILL FERTIG

Jimmy Carter's Presidential Campaign coordinator for the Northwestern Pennsylvania area, Lennie Levine, conducted an informational organizational meeting last Sunday in the C.C. Conference room.

The brief informational meeting was highlighted by Levine's responses to recent accusations concerning the sidestepping of issues and Jimmy Carter's recent comment involving "ethic purity." Levine spoke with both enthusiasm and confidence regarding the Southern Democratic's hopeful outlook in the upcoming Pennsylvania Primary.

Carter's overwhelming success was attributed to his ability to unify, appeal to the broad majority and bridge socio-economic gaps.

Levine later commented that Governor Jerry Brown of California would be a likely choice as a Carter running mate.

As a result of the meeting, a Crawford County "Citizens for Carter" committee was formed, headed by Fred Gustafson, President of Allegheny Young Democrats, and Professor Luellen Lucid of Allegheny College. Those interested in working for Carter's campaign were advised to contact the co-chairmen

All students are reminded that the $100 room deposit for next year is due no later than Thursday, April 15.

ASG is presently considering revision of its course evaluation questionaire. If there are any questions you feel will improve the questionaire, please send them to ASG, Box 60. In particular, include any questions you feel would have been useful to have the answers to before entering a course. All questions will receive due consideration.

Colloquy plans gathering steam

The Colloquy committee is presently completing plans for Crystal Spectrum, the 1976 Resident Colloquy.

The theme of this year's program is founded on a social-historical perspective. By examing issues and events of the past, particularly in America, a better understanding of present day situations may be achieved, and probabilities and possibilities for the future may be discussed. This them is reflected in the title Crystal Spectrum A spectrum, a continuous sequence or range, represents time and the continuity and interrelatedness of events that occur throughout time. Crystal, often clear and transparent, symbolizes a search for clarity (truth and understanding) in the occurrences which shaped the past, govern the present and influence the future.

In the scientific sense, a crystal contains a regularly repeating internal arrangement, signifying the concepts of order and logic which may be found throughout history.

Colloquy, traditionally held in the spring, consists of a simultaneous presentation of individual speakers, panel discussions, activities and events. The keynote address will be delivered by Justice Arthur Goldberg, former associate justice on the Supreme Court. Other events scheduled for the weekend include a concert by The Cussewago Jass Ensemble and the Playshop production Hot 1 Baltimore.

All Colloquy guests, approximately 40 this year, stay in campus dormitories and eat in the dining halls. There is a need for students, especially males, to house and host the guests. This means having the guest stay in the student's room while on campus, usually one or two nights. Hosting means acting as the guest's escort at meals and during unscheduled times during the weekend. Students may house only, host only or choose to do both.

Interested students should contact Chris Hausner immediately. Also, any students who wish to help with the preparations for Colloquy may do so by contacting Becky Hennemuth, Box 885, 724-3992.

NSF provides summer research grants

By AL SYLVIA

The Physics and Biology Depts. will conduct student research this summer with funds granted them by the National Science Foundation.

In physics, two students will be working with Dr. Lonbardi, conducting experimental research in nuclear physics (the Mossbauer Effect). Two students will work also with Dr. Lotze in the area of theoretical physics; this research will include extensive use of the computer. Any student concentrating in math, chemistry, or physics may apply.

The equipment used in the physics research was acquired several years ago through a grant from the N.S.F.--specifically, Co SIP, the College Science Improvement Program. The funds for the research this summer were obtained from the U.R.P.--the Undergraduate Research Participation program of the N.S.F.

In the biology dept., six students will be chosen. Three will be biology majors: one student will be experimenting with the mutation of bacteria, another with the breeding and mutation of the fruit fly, and a third student will work on boht of these projects. A second trio of science students will be conducting chemical-biological research on a special dye (Safranin O). This research will attempt to determine how the dye reacts with DNA. It is thought that the dye may cause cancer.

Both the physics and the biology programs will run 10 weeks during the regular summer school session. Applications are available now--from Dr. Lonbardi for physics and Mark Walberg (111 Allegheny Hall) for biology; and are due by the end of April. Students will be paid $90 a week for their participation; but as Dr. Lombardi stressed, the object of these N.S.F. programs is education not monetary profit. The weekly sum will take car of living expenses and probably not much more.

The Northeastern Dance Ensemble presented a program of modern and jazz selections at the Allegheny Playshop last Thursday. Highlighting the evening were the performances of the "Conversation Symphonette," which is set to rhythms of spoken Swedish and "Directions,' performed to an electronic sound environment. One of the choreographers was a former dance instructor in Meadville.

Walt Harper to appear tonight in jazz concert in Ford Chapel

Walt Harper, winner of the "Man of the Year in Music" award, the "Courier Top Hat Award," and the "Carnegie Library Award," head of Walt Harper productions, owner of his own recording label, Birmingham, and all-around jazz expert, will appear at Allegheny tonight. His program, entitled "All That Jazz" will begin at 8:15 p.m. in Ford Chapel.

With the help of such organizations as the Catholic Youth Organization and the A.W.Mellon Foundation, Harper has instituted everything from jazz workshops to jazz masses in his native Pittsburgh. He is a noted teacher and lecturer on jazz, and is responsible for helping to spearhead the Pittsburgh Jazz Festival. Recently, Harper and his quintet did a television special entitled "Walt Harper at Fallingwater." The program was aired nationwide, and is now up for an Emmy nomination.

Harper describes his music as "a commercial kind of jazz with variations; a little rock, a little soul, but always underlined with jazz intonations and always dominated by the piano."

Editorials

With the advent of third term, we realize that there are the usual editorial topics -- room drawing, A.S.G., etc. but third term usually means something else to the student body.

Of all the terms (except summer school( in the year, springterm provides the most relaxed atmosphere. Whether it's because of the rhododendron, the opening of the sundecks, or the general abundance of greenery, people smile more and appear a lot friendlier.

It seems as though the Colloquy Core Committee and CC Cabinet have recognized their term's special feeling. At the end of April we have Colloquy '76 Crystal Spectrum which gives students the opportunity to talk to people from varied careers in an informal atmosphere. Good Times Revival occurs in May just before finals with the usual chalkdrawing, student coffeehouses and just plain "good times."

Even the music department and administration heed the call of the great outdoors with the annual Pops Concert on Arter Lawn and the all-college picnic at South.

In short, third term seems to be the term when the Allegheny community proclaims the fact that college is more than academics. Let's enjoy it!

Letters to the editor

Student Commentary

Another consequence of the continuing increase in student body size has come to light. Registration.

D did you end up taking Human Anatomy in Thought and Literature of the Fourth Century B.C.? Did you try to get in an English or Psych course this term?

Did you plan on doing your Economics comp this term? Are you upset because there are 45 people in your discussion group?

Will this be the future of registration at Allegheny? Let's not hope so.

Since 1972 the college has added nearly 300 more students and yet there are no new classroom buildings, no significant increase in faculty size and no increase in the number of course offerings.

There are two solutions, One is to build more classrooms, hire more teachers and add more courses. This is an expensive solution for a college still struggling to pay off a new library.

The other solution is for the college to cut back the student body size. The pack-em-in-while-you-can philosophy that has dominated admissions must be changed. This change must be real and not imagined.

The students are the ones who suffer the agonies of crowding and higher tuition. What are we paying for anyway?

BILL FLEMING

Scheduling conflict

Dance and movie schedule

We received a letter this week with a question about the scheduling of the dance and the movies on Saturday. According to CC Manager David Piraino, the dance will end at approximately 12:30 a.m.; the movies will begin when the dance is over.

The Intricate Mind of Joe American visited again

By HARRY KLOMAN

In the first issue of the Campus published this school year, "The Intricate Mind of Joe American" appeared. The character "Joe American" represented the typical American citizen; or , on a broader level, a composite portrait of Americam scoiety as a whole. But in my original article, the conclusions I drew concerning Joe American were a bit harsh and overbearing, and I now wish to make long overdue amends.

In "The Intricate Mind of Joe American,"I took it upon myself to analyze Joe's logical thought process, to "get into his head."When asked what he thought of politicians, Joe said,, "They're all a bunch of crooks!" While this might seem like a crude, ignorant statement based on uninformed prejudices, I postulated that Joe's intricate mind had meant something deeper by it. By. initiating a word-for-word analysis of the statement, I soom uncovered what Joe was really saying:America was going stark, raving mad.

But now, having mellowed over time, I wish to apologize a thousand times for my harsh theories on America's woes:I would like to take this time to examine a few of Joe's concrete actions just to show how wrong I really was. The mind of an insane individual is rarely consistent, but rather erratic and bizarre. I will henceforth and herewith attempt to show the consistency with which Joe American functions in his society.

Allow me to expand my theory by example. In a political campaign, incumbent Senator X is running for re-election. He has been in office for two terms, and his record is one of a man who seems to be saying, "I don't have to worry about getting re-elected for six more years, so I might as well do what I damn please!" Still, with a record as questionable as an expletive deleted, he decides to run again.

But this particular campaign contains a very unique issue: that of making all campaign contributions public. There is currently a bill in the Senate to this nature, and Senator X states that he fully supports it and will gladly comply with it. "Well, then, Mr. Senator," says Joe American to the Politician, "Will you tell us NOW where you're getting your campaign money from?" With a stern face, Senator X reminds Joe that the bill has not yet been passed, and thereby he is not required to make public his campaign contributors.

Since Senator X is getting old, the bill will not be passed until he is safely in office for what is probably his final term. Bewildered and confused, Joe goes to the poll and elects to office the Senator who refuses to voluntarily comply with a bill he supports until he is required to by law.

Staying within the political media, but touching upon the mass (mess?) media, we come to the case of the First National Democratic Telethon, a jamboree designed to raise money to buy the ailing party out of Hubert Humphrey's debt. Repeatedly, telethon MC's remind both democrats and republicans alike that they're not pledging money to the Democrats, but rather to a cause aimed at saving the ideal of a two-party system. However, in the midst of these patriotic reminders, Nixon put-downs and cartoon caricatures abound, with absolutely no fun being "poked" at the Democratic Presidential contenders. So, in the name of fair politics and the two-party system, Joe American gave millions of his hard-earned dollars to this pseudo-patriotic ad campaign.

Never fear, folks, Joe American is also consistent in decisions concerning unimportant matters as well. Case in point: the new family viewing hour from 8 to 9 pm on TV this season. Over 65 per cent of the American public expressed great approval and admiration for this nightly hour of "family" programming, while 75 per cent of the shows in this hour were cancelled.

Surprisingly, many TV sets were turned off during the hour,and with 3 or 4 possible "family" viewing choices, families chose not a one. Had they tuned in, they would have been treated to discussions on pre-martital sex, extra-marital sex, homosexuality and death, all in a humorous vein (how can one possibly be serious about any of these topics?). These subjects (discussed, incidentally, in the shows that were not cancelled) would undoubtedly precipitate quite a few interesting family discussions, to say the least. Still, Joe American voiced overwhelming approval for family hour, and then promptly turned his set off when it appeared on the screen.

So, as you can plainly see, I was far from correct in stating that Joe American was stark, raving mad. By looking at his actions and decisions, one can tell immediately that Joe's intricate mind is highly consistent and .....

Well, I was going to say "logical," but being a true masochistic American, I chose rather to bite my tongue.

Ahh, your mother drinks Vernor's!

By BERNIE SCANLON

It's only in our present day that the wonders of graffiti are finally being given deserving prominence, way up there with the "biggies"like Keats, Emerson, National Lampoon, and others. For graffitti can truly be said to be expressive art. You can't always be straightforward and lament how SAGA gives us ice cream that's been melted and refrozen about seventeen times in iambic pentameter, but in graffiti anything comes across perfectly. Also, the best secrets of a department are not carried by journals but by bathroom walls. If Luther got his inspiration there, then why not the wizards of our rat room?

The hard-to-find pulse of Allegahaneeny is felt by the graffiti that surrounds us all the time. It's true. No matter how fast the wombats take it off, we put it up again. In honor of the geniuses of the cinder block and the chalk piece, I display from some representative places a few examples, both toughing and humorous, of our most treasured possession (next to the Red & White).

From the Post Office Men's Room:

"My pet rock messed up the whole floor!"
"Poli Sci 23 is a real trial."
"My bic wouldn't flick."
"I got more pills at the Health Center than you did!"
"I-What?"

From the Ravine Cubes:

"Geomorph is going to drive me to drink, but I can't; somebody stole my L.C.B. card!"
"Momma's your home away from Quigley."
"Ever run out of soap powder?"
"No, but I ran out of quarters."
"I lost my boyfriend in the Ravine mudslide."

From Caflisch:

"How'd you like to live here?"
"Stop second term, I want to flunk out!"
"Hefty for Auditor!"
"The Concorde is no lemon."
"Your grandmother drinks Iron City!"
"I WAS Pre-Leechcraft."

From South Hall [somewhere]:

"Psych 12 is a real rat-race."
"The registrar placed me in Science 50..and I'm only a freshman."

"I starved today; they ran out of peanut butter."
"What Career Services needs is a good panhandlers workshop."

And last but not least, our own Campus Center:

"Sunday night chapel uses Welch's."
"There's a hole in the ceiling."
"They oughta send the new library to Leavenworth: they need some new cell blocks."
"They ran out of carrot pie again!"
"What do you do with a used tea bag?"
"What do you do with a used roommate?"
"Sophocles wrote it; no one else had the gall."
"This is a strange place to put a Campus article."

The world-renowned Guarnari Quartet will appear in Ford Chapel next Tuesday. This string group will present many famed classical selections. Don't miss this exeellent curtural event.

String Quartet to appear

By ALAN ROOKS

America's premier chamber ensemble, The Guarneri String Quartet, will appear in Ford Chapel on Tuesday, April 20th at 8:15 P.M. The public is invited free.

The appearance of the Guarneri Quartet at Allegheny is an extraordinary musical event. The foursome of John Dalley, Michael Tree, David Soyer and Arnold Steinhardt is one of the most important combinations on the current musical scene. Formed in 1965, the quartet has established a worldwide reputation as the best interpreter of chamber music. They have performed and recorded with the likes of Artur Rubenstein, Boris Kroyt and Mischa Schneider, establishing a repertoire that includes Beethoven's complete quartets, Mozart's quartets and quintets and Brahms' Quintet in F. Minor, opus 34. Many of their recordings of Beethoven's music have become the definitive recordings of our age.

All four men gave up promising solo careers for the discipline of the string quartet and in their eleven years together, the quartet has achieved a rare musical style and grace. Combining a technically perfect performance with a great range of expressive possibilities, The Guarneri String Quartet has found a unique and powerful expression of the chamber music idiom. Described by Alan Rich of New York Magazine as " clearly the great American . . tet of the era", the Guarneri labored unceasingly to establish and extend their musical reputation. They are currently following a grueling concert tour and have an exclusive recording contract with RCA records. Their current project includes cellist Jaime Laredo in the performance of Mozart's string quintets.

Since 1965, the quartet's music has changed continually as their form of musical expression evolves. They are still a comparatively young group and are in their mucical prime. The Guarneri gives a strong measure of devotion to their work, equal to the great spirit of the music performed. For all devotees of serious music this is a chance to hear the best that the musical world has to offer, performed in a manner of excellence not usually encountered.

Playshop sets Hot L Baltimore

By DIANE KERNER

The Hot L Baltimore, Lanford Wilson's contemporary drama about the tenants of a soon to be demolished hotel, will be presented in the Playshop Theatre on April 29 and 30, and May 1 and 2, at 8:15 p.m. Winner of the New Yord Drama Critics Circle Award for the Best American Play of 1972-73, and the Obie Award for the Best Off-Broadway Play (1972-73), and the Outer Critics Circle John Gassner Playwriting Award, Hot L formed the basis for the recent Hot L Baltimore television series.

The show takes place on Memorial Day in the lobby of the Hotel Baltimore, a hotel whose reputation rose with the American railroad and now, like the railroad has fallen to a point of obsolescence and worn-out splendor. Hotel clerk Bill Lewis (Matthew Miecznikowski) works daily with his rather colorful tenants, including: an 18 year old prostitute who times the local trains and dreams of travel (Sandra Wycoff); Millie, a retired waitress (Linden Russell); a lady of the evening called Suzy (Louise Edwards); April Green a worldly-wise prostitute (Kristan Blake); Mr. Morse, a rather deaf old man who cheats at checkers (Russel Paquette); and transients Jamie and Jackie, brother and sister (Glen Engle and Lorraine Caputo).

In addition, a variety of characters from "customers", a young man in search of his grandfather, to a distraught mother, flit through the scenes. Cast in these roles are Steven Feldman, Don Delach, Robert Perry, Elizabeth A. Stewart, A.J. Hawkes, James Hammer, and Lisa Cobetto.

Director Richard P. Overmyer views the show as "A glimpse of real people in a real situation, somewhat heightened by a lyrical sense of street poetry." Playwright Wilson uses moods ranging from bawdy humor to touching compassion to reveal how each person views his life and compromises his dreams and illusions with reality.

Reservations can be obtained by phoning the Playshop Theatre box office at 336-3413 between 1 and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. General admission is $2.50, with $1.00 admission for students and senior citizens, and group rates for parties of six or more.

Young Democrats plan forum

The Young Democrats of Allegheny College will present a public forum, featuring candidates for seats at the Democratic presidential nominating convention in the Campus Center Activities Room of Allegheny College on April 20 at 8 p.m.

Twenty candidates are running for the two seats from the 50th state Senatorial District to the National Convention to be held in New York.

Appearing will be candidates supporting Morris Udall, Henry Jackson, Birch Bayh and George Wallace as well as uncommitted candidates.

The forum will be presented so that college students and local citizens will have an oppurtunity to enhance their knowledge of the major presidential candidates and the local delegates endorsing them. Literature concerning the platforms of the major presidential candidates will be on hand.

Students show increasing concern over energy costs, consumption and crisis: Campus consumption level

BY SAMUEL HARRISON

Results of the Campus Energy Survey indicate that most students are concerned about energy consumption and are anxious to do something about it. Of the 30 percent of the students who responded to the winter term survey 9 out of 10 agreed that the energy crisis is real and indicated they are willing to do something about it, according to Prof. Glen Thompson of the Energy Subcommittee on Public Relations and senior Cathy Ford who tabulated the results of the survey. Nearly half the survey respondents believed they could personally reduce their energy usage by 10 percent.

The attitude of the student certainly is heartening, but examination of January's electricity bill is downright exciting. Careful monitoring of recent electrical use shows that many students are actually taking action toward curbing the waste of this dwindling and expensive form of energy. The campus electric consumption (excluding the new library) for January 1976 was a shocking 10 percent lower than in January 1975. With addition of the new library to this year's energy load, the net result was that electricity consumption this January was the same as last January. To put it simply, conservation of energy on the campus, primarily by students, offset the unavoidable increase in consumption due to the new library. Without this conservation effort the electric bill for January would have been some $1500 higher than it was.

Alas not all areas of the campus are conserving electricty, however. A closer look at the January electric bill shows that consumption was up for Highland Hall and even more so for Crawford Hall. On the other hand, the leaders in energy conservation for January were residents of Ravine and Edwards dorms, where electricity consumption was cut 17 percent and 13 percent respectively. In the CC-Fine Arts Complex a 15 percent decrease resulted in a savings of $400 for that building alone in January.

In response to the overall 10 percent decrease in electricity consumption by students during January, Dr. Allen Edwards, college treasurer, and chairperson of the Energy Committee commented, "This is really significant. If we can continue this savings throughtout next year we night be able to offset the anticipated increase in the electric bill of approximately $20,000 when the new library goes into operation. This could have a significant impact on slowing the rate of rise of the cost of education at Allegheny."

Matt McGough (above), Rick Rester, and Scott Hefren provided an enjoyable evening for the coffeehouse audience at White House last Friday night. The program included original compositions as well as popular tunes. The intimate surroundings and refreshments added to the relaxed air of the concert. The audience expressed a hope that more coffeehouses be held there in the future.

Students moving off campus en masse

Ed. Note: Included in this issue for those of you still apartment hunting in earnest is the ASG Off-Campus Housing Survey. Good Luck!

BY GREG YANOSKY

That time of year has approached us again--when those Allegheny students wishing to live off-campus for the 1976-77 school year registered with the Office of Residence Life.

In all, 289 students signed up Thursday night in Brooks Hall. Director of Residence Life, Anne Wright, expects the total to reach somewhere between 300 and 320.

According to Gary Langsdale, assistant director, these numbers do not include those students who are commuters, part-time students, married students or those men living in Allegheny's seven fraternities. (Approximately 220 men live in the fraternities annually.)

Langsdale also noted that there will be twice as many men as women living off-campus next year. "This is normal from year to year because there is less available space for men on campus," he said.

The reasons for such students to choose off-campus housing are extremely varied. According to Anne Wright, "It's just a personal preference." Most prefer the special privacy obtained. Others prefer the different life styles and the added responsibilities.

Langsdale also added that most students will find rooms or apartments close to campus. Of the 310 students who lived off-campus this year, a large percentage reside within a four block radius from the campus grounds.

Both Anne and Gary want to wish a lot of good luck to those students who have not yet found apartments. Happy hunting

Springsteen tickets sell well

By BILL FERTIG

Bruce Springsteen will perform this Friday at 8 P.M. to a sellout crowd in the Campus Center auditorium according to Glenn Parry, Concert Committee Chairman.

The revenue from the sale of 979 $6.00 student tickets combined with that of the remaining 821 non-students tickets selling for $7.50 should offset the entire cost of the Springsteen concert.

Due to the capacity crowd, doors will open at 7 p.m. However concert goers are recommended to arrive earlier.

The audience is reminded to cooperate by refraining from smoking, eating, or drinking. Flash bulbs will also be prohibited during the entire concert.

The Springsteen concert has all the indications of an unqualified success and promises to provide an evening of superb entertainment.

Orchesis delights crowd in annual show

By CANDY COOPER

Campus Copy Editor

Orchesis delighted its audience last weekend with the presentation of its annual show. The history of dance was a crowd pleaser but "The Wizard of Oz" presented by the Black Orchid Dancers truly stole the show.

The first part of the show, a "Variety of Dance Techniques," demonstrated some imaginative choreography and costumes. However some of the numbers were spoiled by the overly loud music.

The black-light dance was creative, but the group was not well coordinated. The belly dance was a novelty which pleased the crowd, although some males around me complained of not enough "belly" movement. Lalla Stolar's spanish character dance was well performed although most of the essential heel stomping was lost.

The current wave of nostagia was represented in "Dance Through the Years", a series of numbers which highly entertained the crowd. Popular dances from each decade starting with the 20's were demonstrated. The costumes and the choreography were reasonably authentic, and "period"slides on a screen behind the dancers contributed to the atmosphere.

An energetic Charleston led to a truly Latin Tango convincingly performed by Jon Sherman and Lalla Stolar. The active Jitterbug lifts and swings of Roseann Lyle and Sherman were quite ambitious and well received.

The audience was laughing at itself in the 60's and 70's sections, with the portrayal of such classics as the Jerk, Funky Chicken, and the Bump. A hilarious imitation of the Temptations, complete with typical choreography highlighted the 60's. The intricacies of a proper Hustle invoked the envy of all students watching.

The true highlight of the show, however, was the incredibly professional performance of selections from "The Wiz", an updated Broadway version of "The Wizard of Oz". Choreography by the Black Orchid Dancers was an excellent example of interpretive dance. All the essential elements of the traditional story were present but in an abstract modern form.

The dancers did a superb job, the group scenes were flowing and well-coordinated. This was especially evident in the storm number.

The portrayal of the characters was imaginative and impressive.

Glenda Dejarnette as Dorothy was graceful, Silvia Cordell as the Scareerow. and Alfred Pride as the T Tinman gave exceptionally humorous performances. "Be a Lion" was the most moving number of the musical, and an audience favorite was the dance of the wicked witch (Donna Tatum) and her monkey henchmen.

The costumes were colorful and made for easy identification, and the limited use of props and sets with an extensive use of lighting emphasized the dancing. The standing ovation by the audience was well deserved for this highly talented and well executed performance, which delighted the crowd.

The entire production of "An Evening of Dance" displayed an increasing improvement of the organization.

Committee sets energy fussers

By SAMUEL S. HARRISON

The Energy Subcommittee on Public Relations met recently in a symbolically dimly lit room to appoint an Official Fusser in each department on campus. The Officials Fussers will act as a liason providing feedback between the Energy Committee and departments. Official Fussers will exchange ideas with the Energy Committee on how energy can be conserved within the specific classrooms and office buildings. This, of course, will be in addition to their role of being a fusser--prodding their colleagues and others in their buildings to develop energy conserving habits.

Official Fussers are as follows: Prof. Steve Bach, Biology; Prof. Herb Klions, Psychology; Mr. Richard Sandieson, Chemistry; Prof. Ben Haytock, Math; Prof. Carl Heeschen, Art; Prof. Sam Harrison, Geology; Prof. Luellen Lucid, English Prof. Richard Moodey, Sociology; Prof. Carlton Woods, Music; Prof. Robert Schall, Education; Prof. Nels Juleus. Speech-Drama; Prof. Richard Brown, Physics; Prof. Wayne Merrick, Political Science; Prof. Ralph Luker, History; Prof. Ken Ainsworth, Economics; Prof. Margaret Moser, Library; Col. Donald O'Hara, ROTC-Bentley; Ms. Virginia Kirkpatrick, Maintenance; and Mr. Jeff Davey, Dining Halls.

To reward and promote good energy-useage habits, Energy Conservation Cards have been prepared by the Energy P.R. Committee. These cards entitle the recipient to a 50 cent purchase at the Campus Grill. All Official Fussers as well as members of the P.R. subcommittee will be watching for deserving recipients of Conservation Cards, so the next time you turn off the lights when leaving a classroom you just might be rewarded on the spot. The following folks have already been awarded a coveted Conservation Card: Prof. Marge Kird, Dave Kerschner, Mr. Richard Maddy, Prof. Fred Steen, and Matt Kenealy.

Lounging on the lawn of South Hall are several students taking advantage of the first sunny days. Could it be that they are trying to keep their Florida tans or are they trying to catch up with their friend who have them?

Yartz awarded leave grant to develop long range plan

Larry J. Yartz, director of institutional research at Allegheny College, has been awarded an administrative leave grant by the National Association of College and University Business Officers (NACUBO) and the EXXON Education Foundation.

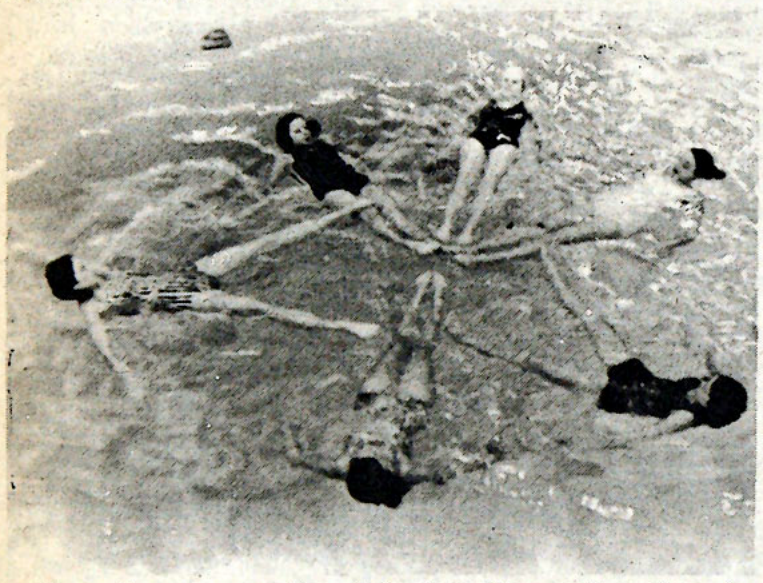

The leave is scheduled for the third term of the 1976-77 academic year. It will be used to prepare for the development of a long-range master plan for Allegheny consisting of visits to a number of planing offices in academic institutions, private corporations, and government agencies; attending conferences and symposia on planning; obtaining and assimilating literature.

Thirteen projects were selected for funding in this first year of the NACUBO-EXXON Administrative Leave Program. Initiated to encourage institutions of higher education to provide their administrators opportunities for professional enrichment similar to those traditionally available to academiciana, the grants enable each administrator to take a leave from his or her college to pursue a project of personal interest.

Yartz graduated summa cum laude from Slippery Rock State College in 1964 with a major in mathematics. He was awarded a NASA Fellowship to attend graduate school and did substantial work in mathematics including meeting the requirements for an M.A. which was awarded in 1966 by the University of Okalahoma. He was an instructor in mathematics at Allegheny during 1966-69, assistant professor of mathematics during 1969-71, and has been director of institutional research since then. Yartz's current responsibilities include developing one-time special reports and coordinating computer services.

He has served as a consultant for the Institute for Educational Development of New York City. Next summer he will spend a week at World University in San Juan, Puerto Rico, as a consultant in institutional research, computing, and mathematical simulation. Yartz has presented papers at several Association for Institutional Research National Forums and at an American College Testing Service national seminar and is a member of the membership committee of the Association for Institutional Research.

Yartz is a member of the Mathematical Association of America, the Society of Sigma Xi, the Association for Institutional Research, and the Society for College and University Planning. In addition, he is a member of the executive committee and board of directors of the Meadville Area Chamber of Commerce, the Meadville Area Industrial Commission, and the Meadville Literary Union; and has been active in the public service division of the United Way of Western Crawford County.

These Terrapins practice their formations and routines in preparation for the annual show on April 23 and 24.

The Off-Campus Housing Survey

Renting an apartment is not a very glamourous activity. Nonetheless, there are ways of making the task more efficient, less-time-consuming, and in the long run more economical.

WHERE TO LOOK

FRIENDS - Ask your friends if they know of any available places to rent. This is probably the best place to begin your search.

NEWSPAPERS - Newspaper classified listings will give you an idea of the rents being charged for various types and sizes of apartment in various locations.

REAL ESTATE AGENCIES - Very often landlords list available apartments with a real estate broker. By calling these -- particularly those located near the area where you are looking -- you can very often turn up some leads. However, don't deal with "apartment finders" operated by persons who do not have a real estate broker's license, These often charge for lists that are taken from the daily papers -- lists that by reading the papers you could get for nothing.

LOOKING AT AN APARTMENT

After you compile a list of apartments, go and make a thorough investigation of at least three. The following questions suggest things to look for:

What is your first impression? Does the apartment and the building it is in look like it is regularly and adequately maintained?

Check the furnace, hot water tank, toilet, all drains, and all appliances in the apartment. Do they all work? Are there enough electrical outlets and lights? Is the wiring adequate to handle, for instance, an air conditioning unit?

Have you checked the windows? Are they all uncracked? Have you asked if the apartment has storm windows and screens?

Are the floors in good order, no serious holes or splintering? Are they clean?

Do the doors close easily and securely? Do locks to outside work?

Is there ample ventilation, and are there adequate exits in case of emergency?

Have you asked what the highest heating and electrical bills are?

Have you asked about rent increases? What, for instance, were the increases over the last three years?

Have you asked others living in the apartment how they like living there?

Do you know the name and address of the owner of the apartment?

Have you imposed a 24-hour waiting period on yourself? During this time, you should consider the apartment's location (is it for instance, close to schools, work and shopping areas), its utility rates, its maintenance costs, its restrictions, if any, on children or pets.

Most landlords require tenants to deposit with them an amount equal to one or two months rent (two months rent is the legal maximum). This money is supposed to cover non-payment of rent or any damage the tenant does to the apartment-- damage that goes beyond the normal wear and tear caused by daily living. To protect your security deposit:

Before you move into an apartment, go through is thoroughly and list any and all damage. If possible, request that the landlord go through it with you. Prepare this list in duplicate and date it. Then, request your landlord to sign both copies. Give him a copy, and keep one for your records.

Before you sign the lease, find out what sort of repairs you will be responsible for and which are to be paid for by the landlord. Make certian that these responsibilities are clearly set forth in the lease itself.

By DEBBIE HIBBARD

Not knowing any better, the thoughtful viewer of the current Doane Hall art show would suspect he was learning something.

"Folk Baroque in Mexico," subtitled "Mestizo Architecture through the Centuries," enlightens in three ways.

First, this Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service production functions as an introduction and wall-mounted reference work on the collision of Spanish baroque and native Mexican architecture. The combination produced the 'mestizo' (literally translated: mixed) architecture prominent in the art history of Mexico during the sixteenth through the nineteenth centuries. As a reference work, the display provides the followers of the fortunes of the topic'pre-Columbian' with a different perspective. (In all fairness to the reader, I should say that I have not followed the 'pre-Columbian' topic closely. I am assuming by great leap of faith and a little common sense that the topics are, broadly speaking, both fruitful categories for the consideration of Mexican architecture and also sensible categories, there being ample reason to believe that from our point of view it is same to consider American culture before and after the intrusion of European civilization ca. 1495). 'Mestizo' would be one side of the metaphorical coin, and pre-Columbian the other-- at least until a builder like Candela (architect of Brazilia) built in Mexico City in this century. There are, however, no examples of architecture other than Mestizo in the exhibit for comparison. Perhaps that is just as well, since ther is currently enough elsewhere on pre-Columbian art.

Second, and probably most important, is that the creaky and somewhat misleading phrase of the show's title-- "through the Centuries" -- reflects only the fact that this is a reference-type exhibit and not an entertainment-type exhibit. Behind the necessary plexiglass casings and pre-printed labels of the traveling exhibition format, the subject itself is fascinating. Like any hybrid, the forms are sometimes awkward and bizarre in the beginning. Even once they adjusted and adapted, architects sometimes produced wild result. Mestizo architecture is simple structurally and functionally, being involved in parish churches, haciendas and peoples' homes. As the catalogue points out, the ecomonic groups responsible for mestizo culture were peasants, landlords and mine owners. The plans and elevations of buildings photographed for the exhibit are relatively simple, reflecting the needs of a culture in which these were the dominant groups.

The real distinction of baroque architecture, mestizo style,is in its ornament. Baroque, European style,was noteable for both dizzying treatment of space as well as fantastic ornament.

Half the fun of this exhibit is not only to go and be introducedto Mexican mestizo architecture, but also to see how it relates to other topics. For instance, find a copy of Nikolaus Pevsner's Outline of European Architecture(used for Art 3, so it should be sitting on somebody's roommate's bookshelf somewhere nearby) and turn to the pictures of St. Paul's Cathedral in Valladolid (p. 166), the sacristy of the Charterhouse at Grenada (p. 259), San Lorenzo at Turin (pp. 260-262), Toledo Cathedral's Transparente, or best of all (but notSpanish) the pictures of Vierzehnheiligen-- A Franconian pilgrimage church-- for an idea of what Spanish Baroque looked like. If Pevsner isn't available, I understand that a fair idea of Baroque architecture can be had by conjuring up a mental picture of an operatic set, since the age of Baroque architecture coincided roughly with theoperatic age.

At this point personal interests come in to play: Moorish forms are related, as are various kinds of pre-Columbian architecture, Mayan and Aztec codices, homes in general, churches in general, ceramics in general (several pieces of Mexican pottery have thoughtfully been provided sothat the show won't be entirely photographic), stucco, stone, mosaic, or maybe the name of the architect associated closely with Spanish baroque – Churriguera.

For example, in J. Eric S. Thompson's Maya Hieroglyphis Writing, An Introduction (Norman: University of Oklahoma Press, 1966) there are samples of picture-writing which is organized around idealized portraits of Mayan gods. These portraits are designed within a regularly-shaped frame. It aften appears, however, that the Mayan illuminator strove for a three dimensional effect by making his design seem to wrap out of and around the frame, obscuring part of it. Most usually it is the god's costume that intrudes into the space around the frame-- part of a dress of feathers, flowers, animals paint, or precious stones which identify the god portrayed by symbolizing his function.

Having this in mind form last term, the following desription in the catalogue for the exhibition caught my eye:

"The saint's (St. Peter's) figure, so important in the Roman church, is placed within the outline of a niche, but both shoulders and his right foot break out of the frame as though he were on the move. The chiseled curving lines of his robe emphasized this effect. His face has a stern yet rather astonished look, as it the saint were amazed as to how he came to that island in the midst of the Torascan people."

Now the effect of the relief as described here isn't strictly the same as that of the hieroglyph.

..Part of a Smithsonian Exhibition Traveling Exhibition Service production of Mestizo architecture, this figure is on display in Doane Hall. The exhibit of Mexican art will be here until May 9.

The figure of St. Peter should at least project beyond the picture plane and around the frame if the prediction from the hieroglyph's method of execution were correct. Instead the frame appears to stretch to accomodate the shape of the figure. Right or wrong, it is a change form browsing in Reis,for sure.

The exhibit is informative in a third way: as a contrast to last term's "Meadville Architecture"exhibit. If I were Dr. Watson (Holmes would keep quietly puffing his pipe in silence), I would wonder if the arrangement of shows wasn't intentional. Along the same lines, could it be that the wide range of gallery experiences this year was intentional? Was there method in the presentation of architecture, (package and personal), academic productions (faculty and student), art-in-progress shows, the craft show, the industrial art exhibit currently on display in the Bowman gallery and the Graffiti show which "Mestizo Architecture" replaced? Only dedicated viewers and the Alleghenian who scheduled it all know for sure. At any rate, "Mestizo Architecture" finishes a particularly balanced gallery schedule this year.

Choir plans bike trip

BY ALAN ROOKS

The Choir of Allegheny College is engaged in a fund drive for their third European Tour, planned for December 1976. The drive is not a candy sale or anything of that sort but is of a far more unusual and adventurous nature.

This summer, a group of choir bicyclists plan a 2000 mile trip from the Centennial State, Colorado to the Bicentennial City, Philadelphia. This biking group includes Kevin Fitzgerald, Debbie Miller, Dave Carpenter, Bob Lugenbeal and Mike McStraw. The Choir is asking for pledges of cents or partial cents per mile to be paid upon completion of the trip. All proceeds will go to the European Tour Fund.

The Choir is calling on the students and alumni of Allegheny to support them in this way to help those members of the choir that cannot pay the full cost of the trip to Europe. The cost of the trip for the entire Choir is $40,000 and even a partial defrayment of that cost would be a great help for the Choir.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution is requested to contact box 164. Your support will be greatly appreciated.

Netters win twice

BY CINDY SEIDEL

The Allegheny netters scored a double victory to start off their 1976 season, beating Behrend and Carnegie Mellon University on April 1st and April 9th respectively. Both matches were dominated by the Gators, which was indicated by the 8-1 Behrend defeat and 7-2 CMU defeat.

The Gators refused to be fooled by Behrend on April 1. The match was played in the Billie Jean King Complex near Behrend, which had been rented for the contest, and because playing time was somewhat limited, the match format was altered.

Playing until one man won ten games, five of six Allegheny singles' players defeated their opponents. First singles player, Dave Kaufman, easily won his match 10-1 while Pete Hileman gained a 10-8 victory at the second singles position.

Dana Black lost a close third singles match 8-10, whereas the fourth, fifth and sixth singles players all won Allegheny victories (Warren Spitz 10-1, Carl Kalberkamp 10-2 Ken Grey 10-5.)

The Gators also won all three doubles matches easily. The first team of Kaufman and Hileman defeated their Behrend opponents 10-1, while the Spitz-Black team added a 10-3 victory, as did the team of Kalberkamp-Grey (10-3).

In their second match of the season against CMU the Gator men played to a 7-2 win on their home courts.

Dave Kaufman won 6-3, 3-6, 6-0 in the first singles slot and second singles player Pete Hileman dropped his match 7-6, 3-6, o-6. Warren Spitz added a Gator victory with his match (6-1, 6-2) as did Carl Kalberkamp at the number four position (6-3, 6-3, 7-5) and Ken Grey at sixth singles (7-5, 6-3).

The doubles teams of Kaufman-Hileman and Spitz-Kalberkamp gained victories Friday also, as they beat their CMU opponents 6-3, 7-6 and 6-4 respectively. The third doubles pair of Kibler and Grey was defeated 7-6, 6-4.

The netters play two matches this week: tomorrow at Hiram (2:30 p.m. and Saturday at Bethany 1 p.m.

Trackers outrun CMU

By NEIL CAPRETTO

The Gator track team won its first meet 76-68 against Carnegie-Mellon University at Robertson Field last Friday, and at the same time, sophomore Kevin Dumpe set a new school discus record with a winning throw of 144 feet-8.5 inches.

The best overall performance of the day came from freshman Bill Hartz. Hartz won the 120 yard high hurdles and the 440 yard intermediate hurdles, ran a leg in the winning mile relay and finished third in the 100-yard dash.

Freshmen Dennis Soles and Gary Kania finished first and second respectively in the 440 yard dash. Soles and Kania along with Hartz and Dale Florio ran legs in the winning mile relay.

Senior Steve Wolfe was victorious in the long jump with a leap of 19 feet-10 inches. and senior star shotputter Chuck Slater had a winning heave in the shot of 43 feet-2 inches.

Sophomore standout Stan Hilton was unable to compete in the three mile due to an injury during warmups, as he was struck in the ankle by a thrown shotput.

The Gator's next meet is Wednesday at John Carroll.

Scheduled for this spring are a women's singles and a mixed doubles tennis tournament. Anyone (faculty included) wishing to take part please notify Mrs. Nancy Heath Box 173 or Jane Henriksen Box 889.

IFC slates an exciting term

By GEORGE HANDELSMAN

With the arrival of spring in Gatorland, sports action will soon be in full bloom. While Allegheny continues her quest to defend the now controversial PAC All-Sports Trophy, IFC will begin its most exciting third term sports schedule ever.

After two terms of competition in the Fraternity League, the standings are closer than they have been in years. The Phi Delts once again head the list, but with six spring sports still remaining to be played, the championship team is yet to be decided.

Looking over last term's schedule, each of the four sports played left many a highlighted moment. The wrestlers displayed some fine individual and team efforts.

While the lighter weights were controlled by a team of independents, the last four weight classes decided the overall team champion. This is where the Phi Gams completely dominated the action, winning each of the last four matches, including one double overtime match.

On the basketball court, the Phi Delts finished another undefeated season, but many of their victories were closer than they would wish to think about. With an expanded number of teams, this year's schedule was more competitive, and even the faculty team finished high in the standings.

But perhaps the highlight of the season came when an overconfident Phi Delt team trailed a much improved Delt squad throughout the game, only to win on the heroics of a 40 foot shot at the buzzer.

Moving on to the paddleball courts, IFC action left much to be desired. Fierce action once again took place between the fraternity teams, only to be overshadowed by two far better faculty squads.

Although the Delts wound up in first place, by the time the semi-finals had been reached, only one fraternity member had not been eliminated, leaving all the remaining spots to faculty members.

Looking forward to third term once again, much of this competition will hopefully continue. This past week featured table tennis action.

If last year's tournament is any indication, the league better watch out for the Theta Chi's, who captured four of the top five positions.

The upcoming week will feature the badmitton tournament on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Softball action will begin on April 19, and swimming will take place on the week of April 25th. Track and tennis will be later in the term.

AC stickmen lose two

By JEFF POMERANTZ

In its opening week of the season, the Allegheny Lacrosse Club suffered two defeats.

A young and enthusiastic Slippery Rock squad defeated the Gators here last Wednesday, 15-3.

Then on Saturday, the Gators travelled to West Virginia University, where the Mountaineers handed the Gators a 19-2 debacle.

The Gators, with less than one full week of outdoor practice and a majority of new players on the roster, were optimistically looking forward to their opening games. However, both Slippery Rock and West Virginia, who between them had played about a dozen previous games, were just too much for the Gators to handle.

The Slippery Rock game proved to be very physical as early fisticuffs forced sophomores Brian Wilson and Dana Bullock to be ejected from the game, along with one of the opponents.

Aside from being physical, slippery Rock had some very talented stickhandlers who outmanuevered the young Gator defense. Despite all the goals that were given up, freshman goalie Keith Van Yaves made quite a few impressive saves on point blank shots.

Gator goals were scored by freshmen Rich Clarke and John Grace, and player-coach Scott Barber. The Gator offense looked sharp during the limited time they had the ball.

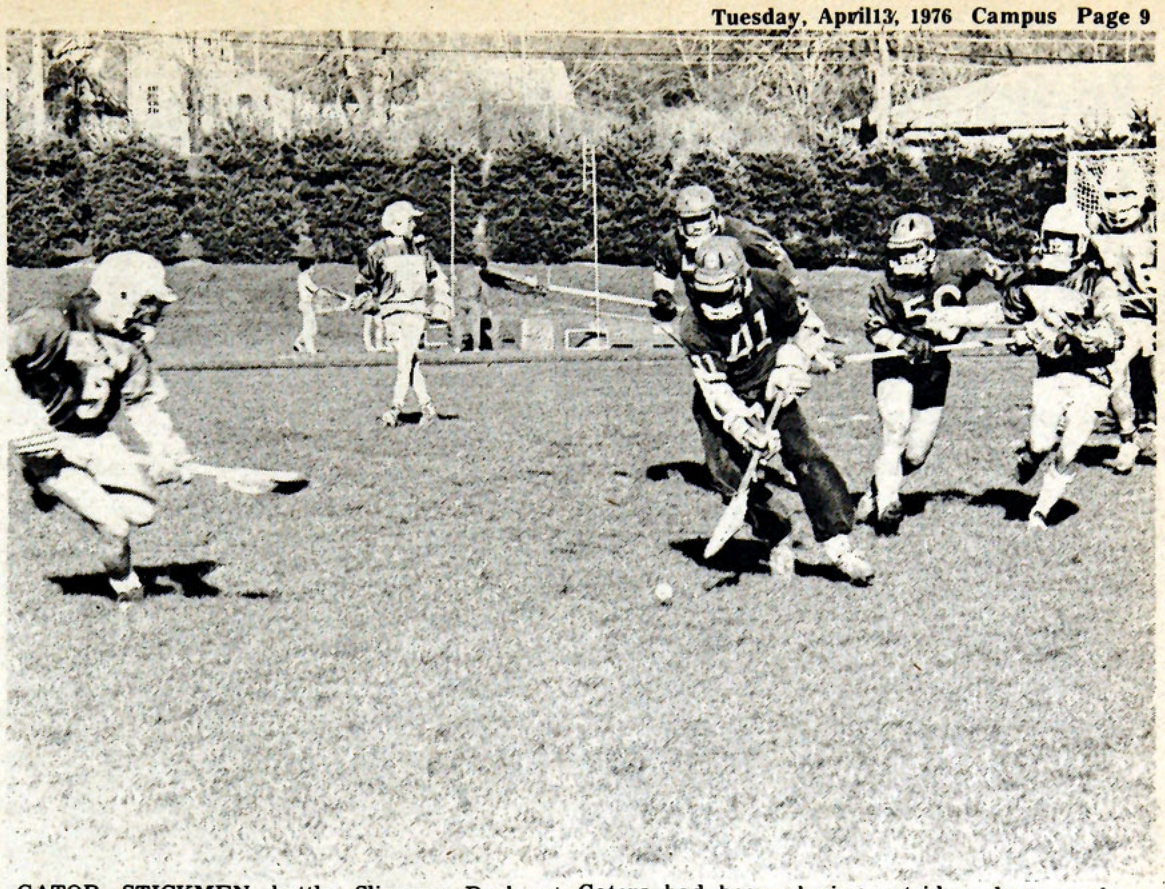

In West Virginia, the Gators not only suffered from a lack of experience but from a lack of manpower, due to a few injuries.

Despite a great premier performance by sophomore back-up goalie Eric "Grinny" Templin, who made 35 saves, the Gators couldn't halt the strong West Virginia attack.

Gator goals were scored by freshman Jeff Erb and senior Ralph Tolberg.

With these two games behind them, the Gators are optimistic about turning around the season, starting next Sunday at Marietta.

The next home lacrosse contest is not until April 28, when the Gators face W & J.

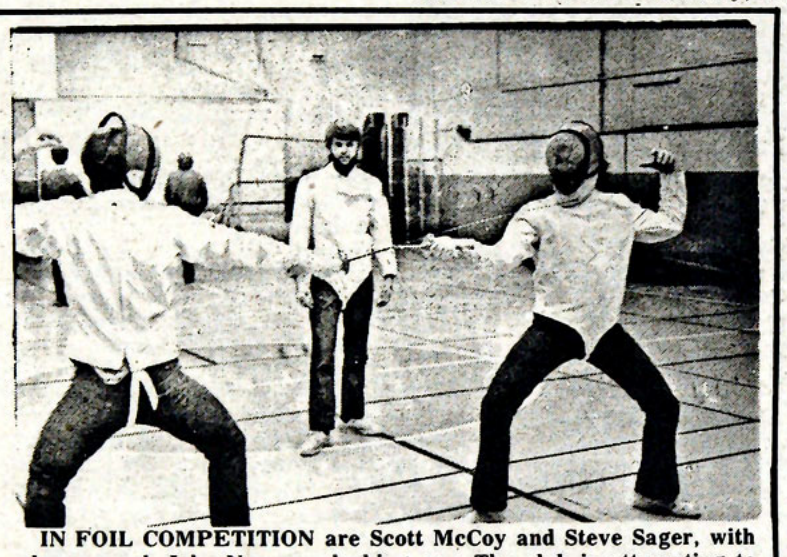

GATOR STICKMEN battle Slippery Rock at Robertson Field. Allegheny fell by the score of 15-3 and also lost to WVU Saturday, 19-2. However, the Gators had been playing outside only a week, whereas the other teams had played about six games each before facing AC.

If anyone is interested in winning a large cash prize, contact a member of the fencing club to purchase a lottery ticket. Two prizes will be awarded: 40 per cent of the total income to the first name drawn, and 10 per cent to the second. The remainder will go to the financial support of the club.

The drawing will occur this Saturday, in the Campus Center, at 8 p.m. Fencers are to be present, dressed in historic garb (courtesy of the Drama Department). They plan to put on an enthusiastic display of dueling methods.

The A.F.C. meets Wednesday night, from 7 to 9, and on Sunday, from 2 to 5 in Montgomery Gym. A fencing luncheon occurs on Thursdays in Skylight. Contact Box 14 (or any participant) for more information.

IN FOIL COMPETITION are Scott McCoy and Steve Sager, with player-coach John Newman looking on. The club is attempting to raise funds by having a lottery.

Although the club's competitive season is over, Reinetta Van Eendenburg still has the under 19 Mid-Atlantics to enter. This event will take place in Harrisburg on May 16th. She also will fence in the Orsic Open, at N.J.'s William Paterson College on June 13.

Diamondmen nipped twice

By JOHN ALONGE
Campus Asst. Sports Editor

The winningest athletic program in the history of Allegheny College--the baseball team of Coach Bob Garbark--opened its 1976 campaign last Wednesday at Mercyhurst College with two close games.

The two setbacks for the Gators were their opening games, however, while the Lakers were already in midseason after an earlier Southern trip.

..In the opener, Bob Bedrosian permitted just four singles, but a little wildness hampered him. His counterpart, Tom Barringer, fired a two-hitter leading the Hurst to a 2-0 victory.

In the bottom of the first, the Lakers scored as Al Williamson walked, moved around to third on a passed ball and a wild pitch and scored on a single by Ken White.

Mercyhurst's second tally came in the fourth on a single by Paul Burrows, a sacrifice, and a base hit by Bo Henning.

Gator catcher Mike Maropis got the only two hits off Barringer, smacking a single in the second and another safety in the fourth. Barringer retired the last nine batters to end the game.

In the nightcap, the Gators fell behind 2-0 after two innings. But Coach Garbark's crew made up the ground with single runs in the third and fourth innings.

In the third, Dave Nelson (who was three-for-three) led off with a single. Walks to Frank Civatarese and Maropis loaded the bases. Mike Quarantillo, the losing pitcher, then lofted a sacrifice fly to left scoring Nelson.

The fourth showed Brian Anderson drawing a walk for the Gators. With one out, Jim Korczynski walked. Nelson stroked his third hit of the game driving in Anderson.

The Hurst put the game away in the fifth with two runs. With one out, Burrows walked and moved up on a sacrifice, Henning delivered the decisive run with a single. Ed Sienick reached first on an error with Henning going to third. The pair worked a double steal for the Lakers' final run.

Garbark's diamondmen have brought home 13 PAC championships in the past 16 seasons and this year's team should display a lot of the baseball savvy that has become an Allegheny trademark

The Gator nine started the season with an untested infield crew, as graduation and the pro signing of Pete Maropis temporarily emptied the Gator horn.

But a good showing from several freshmen, a proven pitching staff and the return of many of last year's leading hitters have urged a bright outlook for this season. Once the Gators get on the track they should go all the way.

The Gators are at Behrend this Wednesday and trek to Bethany Staurday befor coming back for the home opener on the 19th.

Springsteen rises to the top of rock

By W. D. CISSNA and D. H. KENT

Although it really began much, much earlier, in the bars of the gorgeous state of New Jersey, the Media Version of a new Rock Star began when ex-reviewer Jon Landau expounded, "I hav e seen rock & roll future and its name is Bruce Springsteen." Ex-reviewer of course, because, like all true believers, Landau quit reviewing to become a co-producer of Bruce Springsteen's most recent album, Born to Run. The title cut of which became a Top-Forty hit, giving most people their first taste of a musician who has been both touted as the New Dylan and written off as a product of Columbia Records' mass hype.

Since that Landau declaration, Springsteen has been all over the media, including covers of Time and Newsweek (October, 1975), and articles in Rolling Stone (October 9, 1975), Circus and Creem (January, 1976) and Playboy (March, 1976). He's even picked on by National Lampoon. So there's no denying he is an event which probably comes to him as a complete surprise.

The reason? Two albums that sold between 295,000 copies, no great feat in today's record business. Columbia did not go to great lengths to promote them–yet, to be real straight about it, Greetings from Asbury Park, N.J. and The Wild, the Innocent, and the E-Street Shuffle are both better albums than Born to Run. They are sparser in production and a more realistic view of what Springsteen should be like on stage, which everybody who's anybody says is his real forte.

You can't deny that from listening to songs like "Growin' Up" and "For You" (Greetings), and the title cut from The E-Street Shuffle (oh, let's not forget "Tenth Avenue Freeze-Out" from Born to Run), this band of Springsteen's has some fine material to cook with in live performances.

But let's get down to this New Dylan business. Springsteen is a lyricist and needs to be listened to, and he pursues a James Dean image that is echoed by his leather jacket-one earring costume. He is not a Dylan, though, not in the proper sense. Who can truly believe that Dylan's been on the streets within the last ten years, picking up spare bucks in cheap bars, meeting (much less knowing) a person who "races Sundays in Jersey in a Chevy stock super eight"? Springsteen is news because he's fresh, because he's come up through the scenes he writes about, and the music shows it.

There is cause for excitement for wondering how Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa., had pulled off a coup like having the future of rock & roll in its own 1500-seat auditorium. And one of the reasons for our curiosity is to see if he can really do "Rosalita (Come Out Tonight)" in a live stage show. From the E-Street Shuufle albu.m, "Rosalita" perhaps shows best his awareness of his rock & roll roots and, unintentionally, the likelihood that Rosie may have missed out on a good deal--for it is entirely possible that, in these somewhat more promising days, Meadville may have the opportunity of witnessing one of the formative days of a new Superstar:

Now I know your momma, she don't like me

Because I play in a rock 'n roll band,

And I know your daddy don't dig me

But he never did understand.
Your poppa lowered the boom,
he locked you in your room,
I'm comin' to lend a hand.

I'm coming to liberate you, confiscate you

I want to be your man.
Some day we'll look back on this and it will all seem funny.

But now you're sad, your momma's mad

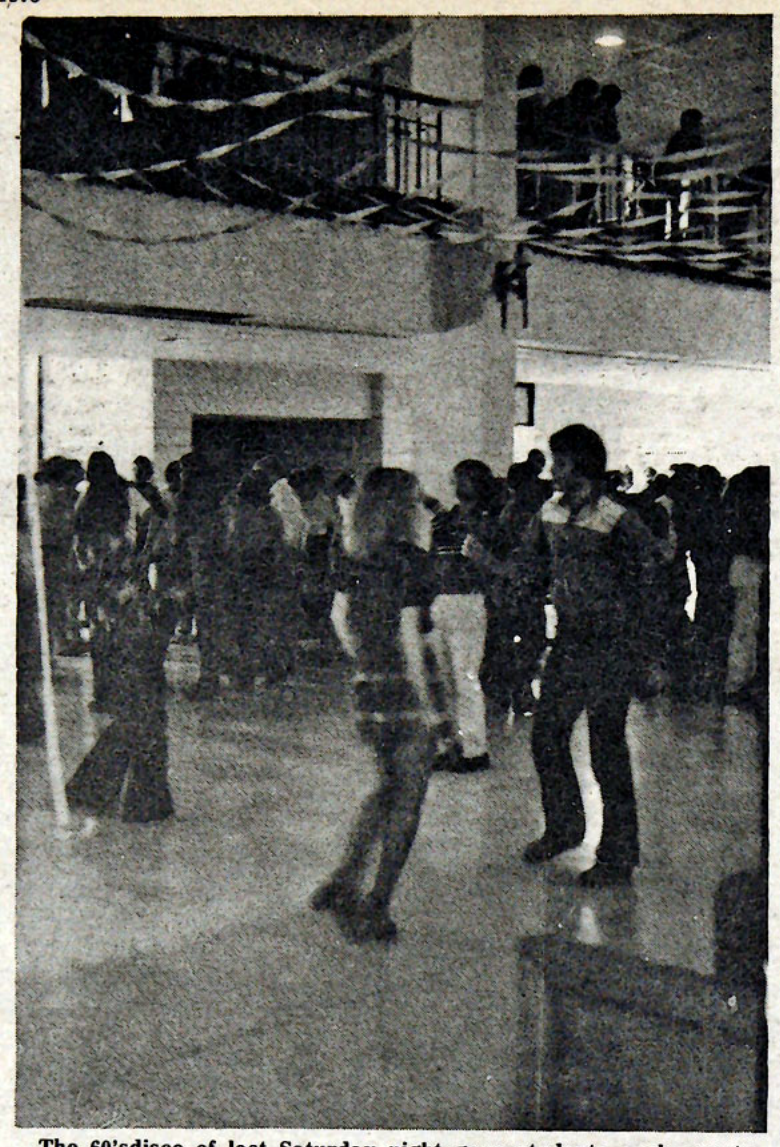

And your poppa says he knows that I don't have any money.

Well, tell him this is his last chance

To get his daughter in a fine romance,

Because a record company, Rosie,
just gave me a big advance.

Don't miss the future of rock & roll–coming to Allegheny College Auditorium. If you do, you only have yourself to blame.

The 60'sdisco of last Saturday night gave students a chance to reminisce and dance to the music of the early teen years. Under the festive colored streamers, they heard songs by the top 60's groups as the Beatles and the Rolling Stones.
