My dear Miss Tarbell:

We certainly have a goodly collection of illustrative material for the Pasteur article. I am sorry we cannot get the portrait of Mr. Roux, but I think we can make a very good showing without it.

I will look over the story by Edouard Rod and will try to let you know soon whether it would be worth while to make arrangements for its translation.

If the Brown-Sequard and Carl Bogt matter comes out well you must let me see the article. It does not strike me much, but perhaps there is more in the subject than I dream from the clipping you send me.

If you can get together material for a thorough article on "Harnessing Niagara" or whatever it might be called, I would be glad to see it. I think, at any rate, there is a newspaper article in the material and perhaps one for the magazine. I shall want the subject treated very thoroughly and the illustrations obtained of the Swiss water works you speak of and any others appropriate.

Very truly yours,

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,

17 rue Malebranche, Paris, France.
