Lifting themselves out of the slump displayed thru most of an unsuccessful basketball season, Coach Tippin's Alligators rallied last Saturday night to snatch the final game against St. Vincent by the score of 41-38.

The smooth work of the St. Vincent quintet during the first half gave them a decided score advantage over the 'Gators at the close of that period, which ended 27-18. Only the long heaves of Lubic kept the Blue and Gold cagers in the running during the earlier part of the game.

However, with the beginning of the second half, things began to happen, and the fans became aware of the fact that Allegheny really had a basketball team. Led by McKim and Lubic, the 'Gators woke up and displayed undoubtedly their best form of the season. Amid a scattering of unsuccessful pop shots by the Bearcats, Coach Tippin's crew got seriously down to business and succeeded in tying the score at 28 all during the last seven minutes of the period. Even here the Blue and Gold attack was not stopped and a 40-30 lead was piled up by the 'Gators in short order. This lead proved sufficient to withstand a St. Vincent rally which came in the last few minutes of the tilt.

The Green and Gold boys were apparently not showing the brand of ball that took them thru a one-defeat season up to the time they met the Allegheny five. Pisula, crack center, was out with an injured leg, and Bodner, with a past average of 12 points per game, was unable to swish the strings for more than seven points. The visit-

Date of All-College
Changed to Friday
Because of Conflict

The all-college dance which the Men's Senate has planned for Saturday evening has been moved up to Friday evening, March 2, because a high school basketball tournament is to be played in the gym on Saturday night. Fred Kleibort, Men's Senate president, announces that the admission price for the affair will be 75 cents per couple. From a platform at the end of the gym, Barney Knapp's Melody Weavers will send out dancing tunes from 9 until 12 o'clock. A brief program of entertainment, including several novelty numbers by college persons, will be one of the evening's features.

The entire profit from the dance will be added to some money already in the Men's Senate treasury and the total sum will be used to purchase a radio for the new men's lounge room in the basement of Cochran Hall.

Debating Team to Engage Susquehanna on Friday

The men's debating team will travel to Sagertown, on Friday, March 2, to meet the representatives of Susquehanna University.

Frank Helfrich, Earl Green, and Norman Stoner will represent Allegheny, arguing against government control of banks.

Seven Men Honored By

Phi Beta Phi Initiation

Seven men were initiated into Phi Beta Phi, honorary biologists' fraternity, at Alden Hall last night.

The seven students honored because of interest and proficiency shown in biology were Max LaBorde, '35; William Kennedy, '35; Harold Rowe, '35; Kenneth Swanson, '35; William Glass, '35; Gerald Acker, '36; and Robert Muir, '36.

The informal initiation was in charge of Earl Houck, Louise Reynolds, and Jack Utley.

A novel innovation of Phi Beta Phi is an afternoon tea hour held in the fraternity room at Alden Hall at 4 o'clock on several afternoons each week. Members of the society who are working in the lab take time out or the refreshing social period.

Allegheny Chem Department Finds New Testing Process

The Lee-Morris method for determination of extremely small amounts of copper and manganese in textiles has been published in the 1933 manual of the American Society for Testing Materials.

This method, recently developed at Allegheny, is accurate to .0002 of one per cent. The publishers were notified of the adoption of the method by the society last June, and have published it in the new edition.

Discussion of Women's Self-
Government to be Held Tomorrow Evening.

Women from Pennsylvania State College, University of Pittsburgh, and Westminster College will participate in a symposium on women's student government to be held at Allegheny tomorrow, March 1.

A project of the speech department, the program is held with the purpose of correlating the work of the women's debate squads with the major problem of women's self government at Allegheny. Under the subject "Women's Activities and Student Government at My College" the speakers will emphasize methods by which students have shown initiative in directing and organizing their own activities. An open forum will follow the symposium.

Allegheny women and faculty members who are interested in the subject will constitute the audience at the discussion which will take place in the recreation parlor of Hulings Hall at about 7 o'clock.

Betty Bright will represent Allegheny in the symposium. Miss Freda Goldstein, sophomore debater, will speak for the University of Pittsburgh. Westminster will be represented by Virginia Booth, also a sophomore debater as well as a member of the college annual and newspaper staffs and a straight-A student. Although Penn State will participate tomorrow, the name of its representative has not yet been received.

Helen Morrow will act as chairman at the symposium.

A program of entertainment has been arranged and will begin with an informal tea served by the associated women students from 3 until 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. A formal dinner at 6 o'clock will be followed by the symposium, which will be held in the recreation room. The speakers will be guests at the Hall overnight.

Allegheny Orchestra
To Give Concert at This Friday's Chapel

The Allegheny College Orchestra, under the direction of Major Olmes of Titusville, will play at chapel Friday.

Last Tuesday, the orchestra appeared at the Colestock High School in Titusville and played "My Little Nest of Heavenly Blue," by Lehar, and "In a Monastery Garden," by Ketelby. William Church played a flute solo. The program was given in connection with an art display and a program of vocal music held at the high school.

The orchestra is planning to give another public concert in Ford Chapel at some time in the near future.

Early Church Music Played At First Sunday Music Hour

About 20 students attended the first of the series of music appreciation hours in the oratory of the chapel last Sunday morning.

Professor Luvaas is in charge of the hours, which are to be held every Sunday morning from 9:30 to 10:30 in place of religious forum. The hour will be devoted principally to the playing of sacred music, with explanatory comments by Professor Luvaas.

At last Sunday's meeting, the selections played were from early Christian music. Several selections by 16th century. In discussing the music, Professor Luvaas commented on the apparent lack of rhythm and harmony, in contrast to the present church music.

Omicron Delta Kappa Picks
Delegates to Carlisle Meet

At a special meeting of the O.D.K. Circle last Thursday noon, delegates were elected to attend the province convention at Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., on March 9 and 10.

Arthur Crawford, David Smith, William Church, Kenneth Johnson, and Professor Darling were selected as representatives.

Adventures of Alden Hall's Own Jocko

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of feature articles by Prof. Chester A. Darling on interesting phases of biology study at Allegheny. It and similar stories are to be released to various Western Pennsylvania newspapers soon.

Jocko was four years old when he first came to college; a ring-tailed monkey with plenty of chances to exercise his curiosity is both interesting and amusing. Jocko's impulse to investigate things is a motive power which has lead him into unusual situations. When we first got him he was placed in a cage covered with chicken wire, but in a few days parts of the wire had been bent and broken and Jocko had found a way out. It was a real treat for Jocko to get out of his cage, for the laboratories offered a variety of objects new to a monkey's experience. Whenever he would escape from his cage considerable persuasion was necessary to get him to return; he would chatter, pucker his mouth and coo, and when almost captured would scamper off, up a chandelier, over and under chairs, jumping from one place to another; a net which could be thrown over him was the most certain means for his capture. Fix his cage as best we might in a few days he would find new ways of escape. Too often I stepped into my office to find books thrown down from the shelves and a stuffed monkey which was kept on top of the case always lying on the floor looking much the worse for handling—Jocko seems to have a strong aversion for his stuffed kin. Once I found him sitting on the edge of an aquarium into which he had thrown a whole box of fish food, watching the little guppies feed. When bottles are obtainable, he will pull out the cork and pour out the contents, often rubbing himself with some colored solution; I found the cushion in my office chair soaked with turpentine one day, evidence of his freedom. However, Jocko seems to have some appreciation for the beautiful, for a mounted specimen of a ring-necked pheasant sitting on my desk has never been disturbed and the only evidence that he had ever touched the ox squirrel, likewise on my desk, was the absence of a glass eye which had been picked out and thrown on the floor.

Certain substances seem to cause him to become fidgety; if he is given an onion he will begin rubbing himself with it; first with his hands, then with his feet, then with his tail, and then seemingly rubbing himself all over by using all of his appendages at the same time. Anything containing formaldehyde or picric acid causes the same behavior; frequently have I found him with red and watery eyes and a sniveling nose as a result of the formaldehyde fumes which he had released from a corked bottle.

Jocko becomes very angry when one laughs at him; in fact he seems to enjoy the company of but very few people; he will submit to caress for a time but usually he rebels when he is disturbed and frequently leaves the marks of one or more of his three incisor teeth. He seems to be prejudiced against girls and especially those with red hair,—when he can get his hands onto such a head some of the follicles are soon stimulated to replace the extracted locks. His grimaces portray his anger and his cooing shows his fear.

Jocko spent two weeks at our boyscout camp; it seemed to be a real treat for him. His first act was to catch grasshoppers and crickets, using them as a relish. Nights he was kept in a box without being chained; one evening at taps I opened the box to give him a sweater for a bed,—out he jumped and ran out of the tent; I gave the alarm and twenty boys sparsely clad in night clothes sallied forth on a monkey hunt,—a rare treat. Jocko ran into a berry patch where there was considerable mud and water; now and then some boy would locate him but just before we could catch him, off he would run to hide for another ten minutes or more. We monkey-hunted for more than an hour, finally he eluded us so we had to return to our tents muddy and scratched and monkeyless. The next day he was found in a tree some distance from the camp.

In spite of all his faults Jocko is an interesting pet; he responds to my greetings with his friendly chatter; when I give him his glass of milk or his slice of buttered bread he will reach out his soft hand and place it in mine often holding on until I pat him on the head or take him into my lap, where he will nestle down and fall asleep quite content that no harm will come; he seems to appreciate friendship more than any other pet that I have ever had.

WHO'D HAVE THOUGHT IT?

It wasn't so many moons ago that campus iconoclasts used to enjoy frequent horse-laughs at the expense of the Men's Senate. It was neatly catalogued with Pi Delta Epsilon, Pi Tau Epsilon, O.D.K., and Quill Club as an organization to which some honor and no particular purpose was attached. Before Charlie Shaw undertook his editorial "Graft Must Go" campaign there used to be a chance for Senate members to add a new suit to the wardrobe as a result of an all-college or the sale of freshman dinks. The outlook was pretty gloomy when even this sphere of activity was frowned upon.

But this year the Men's Senate has surprised the scoffers. Strange as it may seem, a group with the true interests of the Allegheny men at heart has evolved from a circle that did little more than haggle over orchestras, decorations, and tickets. Editorial bouquets aren't nearly so useful as new suits, but we're going to give this year's Senate the bouquets anyway.

In taking the problem of disciplining men for drinking out of the hands of the faculty and administration, the Men's Senate took one of the first big steps toward real student self-government that Allegheny has taken for some time. In the cases which it has tried it has proved a fair and understanding jury. The problem of drunkenness on the campus has to be dealt with, and men who criticize the decisions of the Senate show shortsightedness. They fail to realize how fortunate they are in being able to bring their cases before representatives elected by themselves who will judge sympathetically and according to the circumstances of each individual violation. How much easier and how much less democratic to have a system where problems of conduct are taken to the administration and the offender is confronted with Rule so-and-so and sent home.

The second activity of the Men's Senate which deserves commendation is the interest which they have taken in the new men's lounging room at Cochran Hall. Friday evening's dance together with some money they have in the Senate treasury will be used to purchase a radio for the new room. Upperclassmen will realize how refreshing it is to find the organization intended to help Allegheny men really taking the initiative and planning an event which is done with their interest at heart.

It's a genuine pleasure, once in a while, to pause in editorial crusading long enough to direct attention to a piece of work that is being done well. And the Senate is doing its work well this year.

How's About It?

WHY not a silver Phi Beta key for Doc Henke on "blue suit days".

WHY can't Allegheny have a musical comedy? Maybe Walton could write one. We might use some of these student Caricatures.

WHY are tea rooms places where nobody orders anything but coffee?

WHY is it so much more fun to neglect two lessons than one?

WHY must someone swipe our shower curtains when he could get better notebook rings in the V. & X?

WHY should debate count toward O. D. K. when credit is given for the course, while the service of the intramural athletic officials is ignored?

WHY does Al burn when hailed as "Curly"?

WHY is Allegheny College on a hill? The Chi Rhos tell their freshmen that it's on a hill so that it may offer a higher education.

WHY doesn't someone do something about people who tear off any part of the library newspapers which they happen to want?

WHY must freshmen make nuisances of themselves by crossing over to the junior-sophomore aisle in chapel?

WHY did Smith allow me to publish this column?

"Modesta"

By G. B. Stern

Reviewed by Barbara Bass

G. B. Stern's latest novel, "Modesta", is much lighter in character than "The Matriarch", which won a place in the limelight of best sellers. Although one of her noted achievements is group characterization, she turns from this to center her efforts on a lively, amusing adventure story.

The setting for the novel is in England and Italy; and, incidentally Miss Stern's descriptions of these countries are the most charming and realistic I have ever read.

The story is about a young Englishman, Laurie, and an Italian girl, Modesta. With the marriage of these two, there follows a series of adventures in which Modesta tries, none too successfully, to become Anglicized. This failing, she and her husband return to Italy to start off on a new footing and find themselves in a much more suitable environment.

Modesta is an excellent example of the author's clever character delineation. Italian born, she struggles to subdue her native impetuosity and become a "dignified English Signora", but she can never quite conquer her fiery Italian temperament.

To anyone who would appreciate a combination of amusement and adventure coupled with excellent, natural descriptions of these two foreign countries, I certainly recommend this book.

Alfred Five Noses Tippin Quintet Out In Close Game, 24-22

Playing one of the hardest fought games of the year, the Blue and Gold quintet suffered a heart-breaking 24-22 defeat last Thursday at the hands of Alfred.

The two teams were perfectly matched in every department of the game and it was interesting to note that during the last half each basket and foul point made by one team was soon duplicated by the other. And so this exciting tilt continued to the very end hotly contested by both quintets, neither being able to take and hold the lead for more than a few minutes.

The deciding score of the game was made in the last minute of play with Edelson, lanky six-foot-five individual, stretching up to tilt the ball through the strings.

The Alligators started off with a five-point lead, but soon saw it cut down point by point until at last both teams were on equal basis. However, at the half Allegheny was in front with the score at 13-12.

Not being able to pile up a margin in the last half proved the 'Gators' downfall, and Edelson's lucky shot in the last few seconds of play broke a 22 point tie and won Alfred its hard fought victory.

Frosh Basketeers Close Season With Win Over Farmington

Coach Tippin's plebes romped off to an easy victory over the lads from Farmington Hi. defeating them 30-16 in a preliminary game to the Allegheny-St. Vincent tilt.

The freshmen were able to uphold their own at all times and were never seriously threatened by the visiting aggregation. Ervin and Chester carried away scoring honors for the game, chalking up 10 points each. The opponent's chief threat was Oehs, who accounted for seven points, most of which he converted at the charity line.

Hasson Rockey, Allegheny track star and graduate of '32, was coach of the visiting team, and until last Saturday evening his team had enjoyed a perfect season of 15 wins and no losses.

"Red" Vanaman copped the first prize for men bowlers on the Cochran alleys last week with a total of 190, while John Helmstadter rolled 183 to win second prize.

Manager Bob Edwards reports that the men's lounge room has shown greatly increased popularity since the addition Saturday morning of the new regulation size ping pong tables.

Gettysburg College, starting its 102nd term this year, is without a coed for the first time in 45 years.

tors were further handicapped by the loss of Carney, who went out on personals.

Without question Lubic was the outstanding player of the evening. Having been absent from several games because of illness he seemed determined to make it all up in the final game of the season. His total score of 16 points gave him high-scoring honors for the season.

"Red" Vanaman, playing his last college basketball game, pulled a surprise act by looping his first field goal of the year. Although Vanaman has an excellent record behind him as guard and has been the mainstay in the Blue and Gold's passing attack and defense, none of his rare tries for field goals had succeeded. Saturday's bucket proved to be Vanaman's first two-pointer of his intercollegiate basketball career.

Intramural Bowlers Roll for Top Place Tonight at Cochran

The championship scene has shifted this week to the Cochran bowling alleys, and tonight Phi Kappa Psi meets Phi Gamma Delta to determine the bowling championship in a two-out-of-three game series.

Tomorrow night Beta Kappa will meet Sigma Alpha Epsilon to determine third place in intramural bowling.

The last scheduled bowling match, on last Wednesday, left the Phi Psis tied with the B. K.'s in League A competition and the Phi Gams tied with the Sigs in League B. The Phi Deltas lost to the Phi Psis, 2-0, in Wednesday's match, causing the second tie in the sport.

Monday night Phi Kappa Psi downed Beta Kappa, taking first place in League A, and last night Phi Gamma Delta defeated Sigma Alpha Epsilon to win first place in League B. The two leading teams meet for first and second places in the championship tonight, while the two second-place teams roll for third place tomorrow night.

In the Phi Gam-Sig affair, the Phi Gams took the first game, but the Sigs rallied to win the second match with the highest score on record for the intramural tournament—a 614. A bad slump in the third round, however, cost them the right to enter the finals.

Delayed because of the high school basketball tournament in the gym, intramural handball players will not get under way until March 8 instead of March 6, as previously announced.

The tournaments will be played on the lower courts.

Fraternity handballers have been busy preparing for the event; and a complete schedule for the tourney will be published in next week's Campus.

Coach Daniels Issues Call To Intramural Wrestlers

About 40 huskies have been practicing on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons at 4 in the hopes of taking one of the many vacant intramural wrestling titles.

March 24 has been selected as a tentative date for the wrestling matches.

Coach Daniels is hoping to have about 50 entries on the list before the wrestling matches are held and announces that there is still time for newcomers to begin conditioning.

Crawford Co. High Schools Play at Gym for Cage Title

Montgomery gym was the scene of the opening of the Crawford County High School basketball tournament yesterday evening. More games of the tournament will be played tomorrow evening and on Saturday, March 3.

A 25 cent admission charge admits fans to two games which will begin at 8 and 9 o'clock.

Students at the Cooper Union Institute of Technology were unaware of the fact that they had a football team until the football manager of another institution phoned to find out why the Cooper eleven had failed to show up for the game scheduled with his school.

Delt Basketeers Clinch Third Place in Tilt With Beta Upsilon.

Phi Gamma Delta is one step nearer this year's intramural championship, now that her basketball team has won the basketball crown. The Sigs, also hopeful of winning the laurels, were the unfortunate victims of the Phi Gams in two successive games, 17-13 and 21-13.

The first Phi-Sig encounter was a close game, although the Phi Gams held a small lead from the half. The Sigs rallied in the final period, but lost out 17-13. Archie Tate netted eight of the Phi points. In the second game Phi Gams forged ahead in the second half, and continued to increase their lead, winning 21-13. Tate again starred for the winners and was ably supported by Horn and Ralston. Ervin proved the most consistent marker for the Sigs.

Howe and Smith led the Beta Upsilon five to a win over the Independents Wednesday evening in a play-off of a three way tie. The score was 23-19. Barco and Hawkins accounting for the Independent markers, though both were banished via the foul-route. The B. U.'s then won the right for a shot at third place by defeating the Phi Psi team, 17-16. At the end of the third quarter the winners held a nine-point lead, but the Phi Psi attack rallied and fell just one point short of changing the tilt from a loss to a victory.

Delta Tau Delta clinched third place in the basketball tournament by beating Beta Upsilon 17-16 yesterday afternoon. The Deltas kept out in front for the whole game, though their margin was never wide and was seriously threatened in a last-quarter rally by their opponents. Jacobs proved the Deltas' key man.

"THIS Granger package is what I call good common sense. It's just about as good as a tobacco pouch.

"Here's what I mean—it keeps the tobacco right, and you can fold it up smaller after every pipe. That makes it handy to carry.

"And I want to put in a word for the tobacco while I'm at it. Granger keeps a pipe clean as a whistle, and man, it is cool.

"I want to say Granger is just about the best tobacco I ever smoked."

ONLY THE CENTER LEAVES FOR

Luckies

Luckies do not use the top leaves ... because top leaves are under-developed ... they are not ripe ... They would give a harsh smoke.

Luckies use only the center leaves of the finest tobacco plants ... because the center leaves are the mildest, tenderest, smoothest.

Luckies do not use the bottom leaves, because bottom leaves are inferior in quality. They grow close to the ground, and are tough, coarse and always sandy.

This picture tells better than words the merit of your Lucky Strike. Luckies use only the center leaves. Not the top leaves, because those are under-developed—not ripe. Not the bottom leaves, because those are inferior in quality—they grow close to the ground and are tough, coarse and always sandy. The center leaves are the mildest leaves, the finest in quality. These center leaves are cut into long, even strands and are fully packed into each and every Lucky—giving you a cigarette that is always round, firm, completely filled—no loose ends. Is it any wonder that Luckies are so truly mild and smooth? And in addition, you know, "It's toasted"—for throat protection, for finer taste.
