

Opinion

Editorial: Open dialogue creates change

The Campus Staff | June 4, 2020

Real change in this world comes from dialogue. The Campus Newspaper is committed to working to help create and foster that dialogue across the Allegheny campus and the greater community, giving voice to the voiceless and creating an open, honest and respectful platform to share unique experiences, hardships and traumas. We are committed to a platform that is truthful, unapologetic and one which holds people accountable. Racism and all forms of intolerance, hatred and bigotry are abhorrent to any public discourse and hold no place nor purpose on our platform or in our community. Sharing stories is important, but listening to stories is of the essence. The Campus focuses on these stories, and hopes to be able to continue to share the stories of our black community on campus and to be able to work to help to create change whenever possible. This includes providing another platform for those stories to be told and listened to. Listening to others creates hope and it creates change. The Campus stands in solidarity with the black community now and always. We must all do our part to create a more just and equitable world, both on campus and everywhere in America and the world.

EDITORIAL BY THE CAMPUS STAFF

Real change in this world comes from dialogue. The Campus Newspaper is committed to working to help create and foster that dialogue across the Allegheny campus and the greater community, giving voice to the voiceless and creating an open, honest and respectful platform to share unique experiences, hardships and traumas. We are committed to a platform that is truthful, unapologetic and one which holds people accountable. Racism and all forms of intolerance, hatred and bigotry are abhorrent to any public discourse and hold no place nor purpose on our platform or in our community. Sharing stories is important, but listening to stories is of the essence. The Campus focuses on these stories, and hopes to be able to continue to share the stories of our black community on campus and to be able to work to help to create change whenever possible. This includes providing another platform for those stories to be told and listened to. Listening to others creates hope and it creates change. The Campus stands in solidarity with the black community now and always. We must all do our part to create a more just and equitable world, both on campus and everywhere in America and the world.

The above editorial represents the majority opinion of The Campus newspaper editorial board.

#BlackLivesMatter STAFF EDITORIAL

Leave a Comment

If you want a picture to show with your comment, go get a gravatar.

Name (required)

Email Address (required)

Speak your mind

Submit Comment

Opinion

The most important year of all

'I Can't Breathe' protests: calls for justice, peace and systemic change

In the wake of George Floyd's horrific death at the hands of four Minneapolis police officers,

The first time around there are no rules to go by

It's week 11 of the COVID-19 stay at home/Quarantine/Shutdown in Place order, or whatever name you want to give it. I keep having

Opinion: What we want isn't what we need

I have Obsessive Compulsive Disorder. It is a common disorder that many people have and don't realize, due to the

A senior's perspective

I have never been an incredibly superstitious person, but as I left campus on Friday, March 13, for what was then-predicted to be protests calling for justice and systemic change have...

several ideas go
...

seemingly commonplace symptoms. Th...

spring break
followe...

The Campus

The student news site of Allegheny College