New Cast To Give "Candida" Tuesday In Playshop Theatre

Virginia J. Miller to Play Candida; DunLaney As Lexy.

A new cast will play Shaw's "Candida" at its third performance here next Tuesday evening, April 24, at 8:20. Tickets for the comedy are now on sale.

Virginia Jane Miller, senior who played in "The Jealous Wife" and "The Black Flamingo", will carry the title role of Candida.

The part of Rev. Morell, Candida's husband, will again be played by Edward Stainbrook.

Paul Gilmore, who recently appeared as the Count in "The Fan" and who won considerable praise as Osborne in "Journey's End" last year, will play Marchbanks, the poet-lover.

William DunLaney, Oil City freshman who enrolled at mid-year is making his college stage debut as Lexy Mill, a young curate.

Playing the part of Miss Proserine Garnett, Morell's secretary, will be Amy Bishop, '36.

Who will play Burgess is as yet not decided, but it will be either David Smith or Bramer Carlson, who graduated last year after one of the finest records in dramatics in the college history.

Players Present "Candida" At Erie Playshop Monday

A cast selected from the Allegheny Players presented George Bernard Shaw's "Candida" at the Erie Playhouse on Monday evening before an audience of about 250.

The performance was sponsored by the Erie Alumni Association of Allegheny, in charge of Mrs. Maxwell Lick.

The following players made up the cast: Jean Holman, Paul Gilmore, Edward Stainbrook, Paul Grant, Helen Wicks and Bramer Carlson, '33. The production staff consisted of Joseph Macedo, David Smith, John Bittler, Virginia Jane Miller, William DunLaney, and Jean Kelley.

After the play, the Players were guests of Mrs. Lick at a reception in her home.

Pittsburgh Alumni Elect

One hundred and ten members of the Pittsburgh Alumni Association attended the annual banquet held last week.

Dr. Henry W. Temple, a former congressman, spoke on the topic "The Organization of the World for Peace". Dr. Tolley also made an address on present conditions at Allegheny.

The officers elected for the coming year were: president, H. D. Megahan; vice president, Mrs. R. W. Roden; secretary and treasurer, R. L. Kirkpatrick.

Penn State Speakers End Debating Careers Opposing Alleghenians

Concluding a 3,500 mile trip through Iowa, Michigan, Kansas, and other mid-western states, two Penn State debaters came to Allegheny Tuesday evening, April 10, to engage in a debate with Allegheny's representatives, John Corcoran and Edward Stainbrook.

The two Penn State representatives Miller and Berbatis, have debated together for four years, and brought their forensic activities to a close with this debate. Miller and Berbatis upheld the affirmative of the question, "Resolved: That the essential features of the NRA, Title I, should be adopted as the permanent policy of the United States government."

The debate was, without question, one of the outstanding highlights of the debating season. Although it was a no-decision debate, it proved to be a heated and interesting argument throughout.

This debate was supposed to be the last of the forensic schedule, but debate coach Haberman has extended the season, and is engaging several more contests.

Women Debate Wooster College.

Three Allegheny freshman women, Betty Elliott, Christine Black, and Marion Grey, argued the NRA question against the Misses Larr, Cooper, and Lewis, representatives of Wooster College, on Wednesday, April 11.

This debate was a return engagement, as the Allegheny women had previously met the Wooster team while through Ohio, on March 14.

Speak in Oil City.

Norman Stoner and Fred Kiebort are representing Allegheny's extension debate program this noon at Oil City. They will discuss the N. R. A. question before the Kiwanis Club.

Phi Delta Theta to Hold Open House 8-11 Tonight

Phi Delta Theta is holding an informal open house program this evening from 8-11 o'clock at its new home on the Terrace.

Invitations for the affair have been sent to fraternities and sororities, to the non-fraternity and non-sorority groups, to the faculty, and to Phi Delta Theta alumni in town.

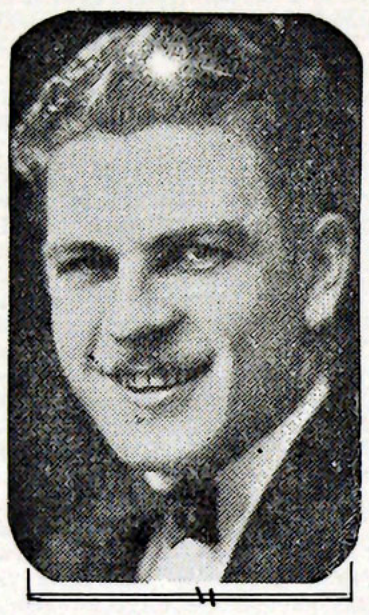

Wives of the Meadville Phi Delt alumni will act as hostesses.

Ella Darling Improving.

City Hospital reported last night that Ella Darling, '37, who was thrown from a horse she was riding on Limber Road on Sunday afternoon between 4 and 5, is resting comfortably and improving. Her injuries, while serious, were not critical.

President Tolley will deliver the annual commencement address at Corry High School on June 7.

To Play at Junior Prom

Paul Lowry of Cincinnati

Paul Lowry and his band have been contracted for the Junior Prom. The orchestra is coming here from Cincinnati where they play at the Greystone Grill and Hotel Gibson and broadcast over WLW.

The prom will be held in the gymnasium from 8 until 12 o'clock Saturday, April 21. It will be semi-formal, and tickets for the dance are $2 per couple.

Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Seely and Mr. and Mrs. Finney.

Willard Berger is chairman in charge of committees for the affair.

English Educator Will Speak in Chapel Friday of This Week

Dr. Albert Mansbridge, teacher of civics in the Cuddeson Theological School, England, will speak at the Friday morning chapel service on "the finest type of education". At 8 o'clock he will speak in the Playshop on "The Older Universities of England", a subject upon which he has published a book.

Keenly interested in education, Dr. Mansbridge is president of the World Association of Adult Education, of the Central Library for Students, and of the Seafarers Education Service. He received his honorary master's degree from Oxford University, and his honorary doctor's degrees from Manchester University, Cambridge University, and the University of Pittsburgh.

He has lectured extensively in this country and is well known to American educators. Dr. and Mrs. Mansbridge will come to Meadville Friday morning, after having been in Oil City, and will go from here to Cleveland where Dr. Mansbridge will lecture.

No definite plans for Founders' Day have been made, other than that there will be a special chapel service Tuesday, April 24, at which it is hoped an alumnus will speak. There will be no chapel April 25.

Prof. Swartley Sets May 1 As Essay Contest Deadline

The deadline for entries into the first Homer Essay Contest has been set by Professor Swartley for May 1.

The prize for the contest, which is provided by the will of the late Fred L. Homer, of the class of '95, will be awarded shortly after that date, by a judging committee of faculty members.

Rules for the contest state that the essays submitted must be written on some phase of college life and at least 1000 words in length.

Three typed copies of the entered essays must be handed in at the registrar's office. These copies are to be signed by assumed names so that the authors of the prize winning essays will not be known to the judges until after their selections are made.

The fund provided by Mr. Homer amounts to $500, the income of which will be used to award a prize of probably $25 each year.

Complete Collection Of Foster's Songs Donated to Library

A complete collection of Stephen Collins Foster's compositions was given to the Reis Library on Thursday by Josiah Kirby Lilly, of Indianapolis, Indiana.

The handsome and valuable present constitutes one of the major contributions to a better knowledge of Pennsylvania's composer of America's favorite folk melodies.

Included in the collection are the 200 discovered Foster songs, as well as all known arrangements of his own work and his arrangements of the works of others. No such collection previously existed outside the file of the Library of Congress.

Josiah Lilly's staff at Foster Hall, Indianapolis, collected the first (or earliest obtainable) editions of the songs and had them expertly reproduced. One thousand sets of these fascimiles were then distributed free to select libraries in all parts of America.

Printed on attractive rag paper, the fascimiles are alphabetically arranged in three sturdily bound slip cases which fit into a brown steel cabinet about 14 inches high and 16 inches wide. In the first slip case is a guide book containing various indexes serving as guides to use of the reproductions.

College Loses Active Friend In Death of Mrs. I. R. Beiler

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Beiler, wife of Prof. I. R. Beiler, died at her home on Spring Street on Wednesday morning, April 4, after an illness of more than a year and a half.

Funeral services, held in Stone Church on Friday, April 6, were in charge of Dr. Wright, President Tolley and Dr. Tucker, a personal friend of the Beiler family, who now is Pastor of the Indianola M. E. Church in Columbus, Ohio.

Ever since her arrival in Meadville in 1920, the late Mrs. Beiler was very actively and personally interested in Allegheny College and its affairs. Prior to her illness two years ago, she acted as an advisor to the local chapter of Delta Alpha Theta and was very active in her work with the mothers' auxiliary of Phi Gamma Delta. She also took an active interest in church, club and community life in Meadville.

Mrs. Beiler is survived by her husband and six children: Clark, a graduate of Allegheny last year, Ross, a member of the present Allegheny freshman class, Dorothy, Charles, David, and Theodore.

Thoburn Club.

The Thoburn Club met last Thursday evening in the library. Henry Masman led a lively discussion on Hitler's attitude toward the Jews, and possible attitudes for Christian young people to take.

Ten Alleghenians To Go to Pitt Speaking Contest

Delta Sigma Rho Sponsors Four-Event Conference Among Colleges.

Ten students from Allegheny will participate in a public speaking conference sponsored by Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary forensic fraternity, at the University of Pittsburgh, on April 20 and 21, to stimulate interest and give practice in extemporaneous speakng and in debating.

Representatives of colleges or universities in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia will take part. To date more than 10 schools have entered teams in the various events, including Penn State, West Virginia U., Washington and Jefferson, Geneva, Grove City, St. Vincent, Pitt, Westminster, St. Francis, and Slippery Rock.

The conference will be composed of four events, debating, public discussion, after-dinner speaking, and round-table discussions.

Allegheny will enter representatives in three of the events, omitting the after-dinner speaking event. Mr. Haberman has chosen the following to represent Allegheny at the conference: Debating event—Men's affirmative team: Arthur Vangeli and Earl Green; men's negative team: John Corcoran and Edward Stainbrook; women's affirmative team: Betty Zilhaver and Betty Bright; women's negative team: Marion Gray and Marian Elliott; public discussion: Robert Dennis, Edward Stainbrook, and Helen Edmundson. Allegheny will also have a part in the round-table discussions.

The first event will be debating. Each participating college is allowed to enter four teams, two men and two women's teams. The teams will debate the NRA question on Friday afternoon, April 20.

The second event of the conference will be the public discussions. Three speakers are permitted to enter from each school. The subject of the discussion will be "What should be the college students attitude toward peace and war?"

The third event will be after-dinner speaking which will be held at a formal banquet on Saturday evening. The subject will be chosen at the banquet.

To conclude the conference, a round-table discussion will be held for the coaches and varsity debaters, who have participated in two or more collegiate contests, after the banquet on Saturday evening.

O. D. K. Student Dinner

Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary senior men's activities fraternity, sponsored a dinner meeting in Cochran Hall just prior to vacation to plan a campaign for enlisting new Allegheny students. About 60 students were present.

Phi Delts Busy Exploring New Terrace Street Home

Fraternity Men Tell of Fun In "Getting Adjusted" Since Moving.

To some students the Easter vacation was a tour to Washington, to others it was a more or less peaceful sojourn at home, but to the Phi Delts it was a hectic scramble to move carloads of furniture on a midget truck that had but one gear, to scrape the dirt from 113 windows, and otherwise make the old Huidekoper estate habitable.

The change to a new atmosphere has a very interesting effect upon many of the inhabitants of the new Phi Delt home. Dave Smith has already qualified for a position on the faculty by being the first to absent-mindedly start down Highland Avenue towards what is left of the old Phi Delt house. The effect was even felt by the Phi Delt patrol cars which balked for two days before submitting to having to travel 81 yards farther when the Phi Delts had to get to their 8 o'clocks.

Many new records have been established since the house was occupied. Cunningham was able to establish a sleeping endurance record of twenty-six hours. He had asked one of his brothers to waken him at 5 o'clock, but it was far into the next afternoon that the one given the responsibility was able to find the room in which Carl had retired. Since then it has been deemed advisable to call the roll each morning. The check-up proved valuable in finally locating Pratt who hadn't been seen for five days although he claimed he had been in the house all the time.

There is one record that has remained unshattered. But with 113 windows to choose from, Corcoran promises to outdo his record set in the old house for plunging through windows that inevitably seem to get in his road. The chapter notes the glow of anticipation in his eyes as he gazes fondly at the five curved and beautifully decorated windows in the dining room.

Since moving into the new house the Phi Delts have found it feasible to destroy all their alarm clocks. For three days an obliging flicker got everyone out for classes by an incessant pecking on the steel ventilator on the roof. For three days the boys pursued the bird with rifles. On the fourth day he was found dead on the front lawn—a victim of starvation. One can't survive on bullets and steel ventilators.

The new house with its huge dumbwaiter has finally given Oakes the opportunity to realize his ambition of

LEAP WEEK

Leap Week, the week in which the boys have to sit at home and wait to be taken out, will be the last week in April.

Last year the Women's Senate gave a Dawn Dance which was a pleasing novelty and this may be repeated.

Remember, men, from April 22 until April 29, you are not allowed to ask a college woman for a date. Wait until she asks you!

Paul Siple Helps Explorer To Prepare Station at Pole

Allegheny Graduate Describes Work in Little America.

Last week while Alleghenians were complaining about April snow flurries, Admiral Byrd and his Antartic expeditioners were settling down for a long fierce winter at Little America.

Paul Siple
Biologist

Last week in Little America the thermometer hovered 59 below zero and four hours of daily sunlight ended at about 1 o'clock. Tomorrow the sun is expected to disappear completely for four months.

Siple, who was with Byrd on his last Polar expedition, has been in charge of preparations for Admiral Byrd's observation station 123 miles south of the operating base.

The Admiral will remain alone in his 9 x 13 x 7 foot shack under the snow until October, observing weather conditions. He communicates with the camp by radio. Outside his hut the mercury registers as low as 90 degrees below zero and the screaming wind whirls along at 150 miles an hour. He's in the coldest spot in the world, without exaggeration!

On Saturday, March 31, Siple spoke over the Columbia network on the 10-10:30 o'clock broadcasting period of the expedition. He described his work in equipping Admiral Byrd's station.

The crew itself is busy preparing for the great exploits they hope to accomplish from next October to February. C. A. Abele, Jr., president of the Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, who sends out weekly press releases on the expedition writes:

"Little America is fast assuming the proportions of a real village. We now have nine wooden buildings and two big snow houses. The dogs are being kennelled in the tunnels under the snow. Little America looks like an old time frontier camp. We have all grown beards and everybody goes around bundled up to the eyes. Sealing parties are out on the ice every day getting fresh but awful tasting meat. Tractors are buzzing back and forth between our various caches and are doing wonderful work. The dog teams are in and out all the time and the air is full of airplanes. We have plenty to do, plenty to read and we have movies twice a week. No monotony, no heavy time on our hands. Lots of exercise, lots of health. Not a sickness germ within 2300 miles of us. It's a great life, no fooling!"

NO CLASSES, NO MARKS, NO EXAMS!

What Allegheny College is setting out to do through its new curriculum, Olivet College, in Michigan, is planning to do in a single sweeping move next fall when they put into practice an experiment which will throw complete responsibility for his college education upon the student himself, and at the same time will build a college course so attractive that he will enjoy intellectual work.

Dr. Joseph Brewer, 35-year-old president of Olivet and a former New York book publisher explains the project: "The lockstep of courses, time schedules, hours, points, credits, quizzes, grades—all elaborate machinery by which we conceal ignorance—will be broken up."

Instead of scheduled classes, Olivet students will devote entire mornings to private study. Afternoons will be given over to athletics for both students and professors; and evenings will be set aside for discussions, debates, and social affairs.

Degrees will be awarded to students who pass two oral and written comprehensive examinations.

The first covers the work of the junior division and includes questions requiring a general knowledge of physical, biological, and social sciences; arts and literature; philosophy and religion; and a reading knowledge of one foreign language.

In the work of the second division the student will study intensively in one of seven schools, having laid a foundation for that particular field in his work in the first division. The seven schools are natural and physical science, social science, language and literature, philosophy, psychology and religion, education, fine arts, and music. He will also acquire a reading knowledge of a second foreign language.

Though students will be "on their own" in obtaining their education, a system of tutors are provided to help them when the desire help. Dr. Brewer explains this phase of his plan: "Students will be free to study connectedly in whatsoever field they choose. They will have tutors who will not teach, but help them learn. The tutor will in no sense be a coach or crammer, but a guide, philosopher, and friend."

If there exists any lingering doubts as to modern trends in college policies of education, an announcement like that of the Olivet College president should swiftly dissolve them. There is reason to be proud that Allegheny is among the leaders in this effort to make a college education mean the acquisition of a broad and worthwhile culture instead of a degree, which under the present system simply means that the holder did C work for 8 terms and carried an average of 16 hours. In short, the new emphasis changes its students' attitude from one of "How little can I get by with?" to one of "How much can I get?"

Earl Green Chosen Head Of Biologists' Fraternity

Phi Beta Phi, honorary biologists' fraternity, held a meeting last night in the club room at Alden. The program, which included a paper on "Vitamins" by Barbara Bass and a paper on "Meningitis" by Ruth Johannesmeyer was in charge of Prof. Darling.

The officers which were elected at a meeting March 27 began their official duties at last night's meeting. The new officers are: president, Earl Green; vice president and social chairman, Louise Reynders; secretary, Dorothy Demmler; and treasurer, Edith Searles.

Speakers to Talk In Sixth Broadcast Over Erie Station

Participating in their sixth radio debate, Allegheny Speakers will debate the question of dictatorship, on Friday, April 20, from 1 to 1:30 o'clock over WLBW in Erie.

Mr. Fred Haberman has been working with Kenneth Johnson, Elliott Jones, and Kenneth Powell, in preparing for this debate, and will choose two of these men to argue for and against dictatorship.

The Speakers held their fifth radio debate on Friday, April 6, when Earl Green upheld a policy of internationalism against Robert Dennis, who defended nationalism. More than 30 high school debating teams were tuned in on this broadcast.

Professor Darling will read a paper, "Reduction of Bacteria by the Electropure Process", to the Bacteriological Society at State College on Saturday, April 21.

The ancient Phi Delt tradition of tubbing the retired president will undoubtedly take a long time this year, what with eight baths a pond on one side of the house, and a creek across the street. The newly elected president has already started to conserve on baths in anticipation of the tubbing season.

Perhaps some day the Phi Delts will become accustomed to their new surroundings, and then Africa will no longer be tempted to climb around on the chandelier, Cobb will no longer mistake a clothes closet for an exit, and Hawkins will no longer spend his nights searching for secret panels.

PARK THEATRE

Wed. and Thurs., April 18, 19—"Three On a Honeymoon" starring Charles Sterrett, Sally Eilers and Zasu Pitts errs a little too much on the side of melodrama, especially in the scene where Miss Eilers dives into an empty swimming pool and lives to tell the tale. Doubtless, an ocean trip with a newly married couple plus a honeymoon "Kibitzer" is unusual and perhaps a trifle entertaining.

Fri. and Sat., April 20, 21—Lee Tracy returns to the screen in another newspaper tale, "I'll Tell the World". When he goes to Europe to find out why so many attempts have been made on the life of Archduke Ferdinand, he falls in love with an American girl, in whom lies the solution of the whole royal mystery. The story is concerned with the discovery of her identity and final rescue from a murder plot.

Mon. and Tues., April 23, 24—With a return engagement an opportunity will be given those who have not seen Will Rogers in "David Harum" to enjoy its laughter-provoking comedy and to ride with David Harum in the breath-taking horse race on which a young lover's entire fortune is staked.

ACADEMY THEATRE

Thurs., Fri. and Sat., April 19, 21—Another story of a doctor so unselfishly devoted to his profession that he carelessly breaks "dates" with his fiancee, which results in a quarrel, is found in "Men in White", with Clark Gable and Myrna Loy. It is only through an unsuccessful operation on his nurse, who loves him deeply, that his fiancee realizes her unfairness and decides to go to Europe while he goes to Vienna to continue his work. Time will reunite them.

Mon. and Tues., April 23, 24—Frederic March and Evelyn Venable finally bring the successful stage play, "Death Takes a Holiday", to the screen. The plot is concerned with the 3-day holiday which Death takes in the form of Prince Sirki to discover, if he can, why mortals fear him. He attends Duke Lambert's house party. Some guests shun him, but one beautiful girl falls deeply and wholly in love with him and renounces everything to go with her new lover—the Shadow—into eternity. Love fears nothing and is eternal as Death itself.

Allegheny Singers Please Audiences Numbering 20,000

Choir Back Friday Afternoon From Tour Covering More Than 1,000 Miles.

Tired, but happy, 44 Allegheny Singers arrived on "the hill" last Friday afternoon at the end of a 13-day Spring tour during which they gave 31 concerts before audiences whose estimated total was 20,000.

With the exception of three cancellations — concerts at Mercersburg Academy, Gettysburg College, and Clarion State Teachers College—the Singers carried out their itinerary as planned. Unfortunately they preceded the celebrated "cherry blossom time" to the national capital where they spent a two-day visit.

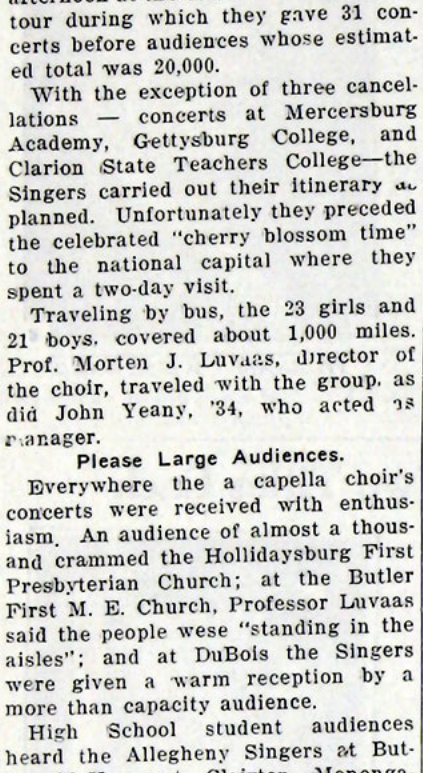

Traveling by bus, the 23 girls and 21 boys, covered about 1,000 miles. Prof. Morten J. Luvaas, director of the choir, traveled with the group, as did John Yeany, '34, who acted as manager.

Please Large Audiences.

Everywhere the a capella choir's concerts were received with enthusiasm. An audience of almost a thousand crammed the Hollidaysburg First Presbyterian Church; at the Butler First M. E. Church, Professor Luvaas said the people wese "standing in the aisles"; and at DuBois the Singers were given a warm reception by a more than capacity audience.

High School student audiences heard the Allegheny Singers at Butler, McKeesport, Clairton, Monongahela, Greensburg, Johnstown, Altoona, Hollidaysburg, Clearfield, DuBois, Punxsutawney, Brookville, Franklin, and Pittsburgh (Bellevue, Taylor, Allderdice, Dormont).

TENOR SOLOIST

Max LaBorde, whose tenor solo work has been a feature of the Allegheny Singers' concerts of the last three years.

Evening concerts were given at the Hollidaysburg First Presbyterian Church and at Methodist Episcopal churches in Oil City, Butler, McKeesport, Monongahela, Johnstown, Altoona, Washington, D. C. (Foundry M. E.), and DuBois.

On Monday afternoon, April 2, the Singers broadcasted over KDKA. Features in the half hour of fine music were the Norwegian folk melody, 'In Heaven Above", where Max LaBorde carried a tenor solo, and the delightful concluding number, "Czech-Slovakian Dance Song", always a favorite with choir and audience.

Critics Praise Choir.

Another highlight of the trip was a concert at the Carnegie Lecture Hall in Pittsburgh on the evening of April 4. To quote from the review in Thursday's Pittsburgh Post-Gazette by Harvey Gaul, eminent newspaper critic of music and the stage and himself the leader of a choir:

"This group may be young in years, but it is old in routine and the singers produced effects that might be the envy of veterans— . . . The finish of the chorus was all due to Luvaas, who studied at the fountain head, St. Olaf's. There he learned a few tricks from that capable choragus, F. Melius Christiansen, and so he taught outer Meadville what magnificent singing might be— . . . .

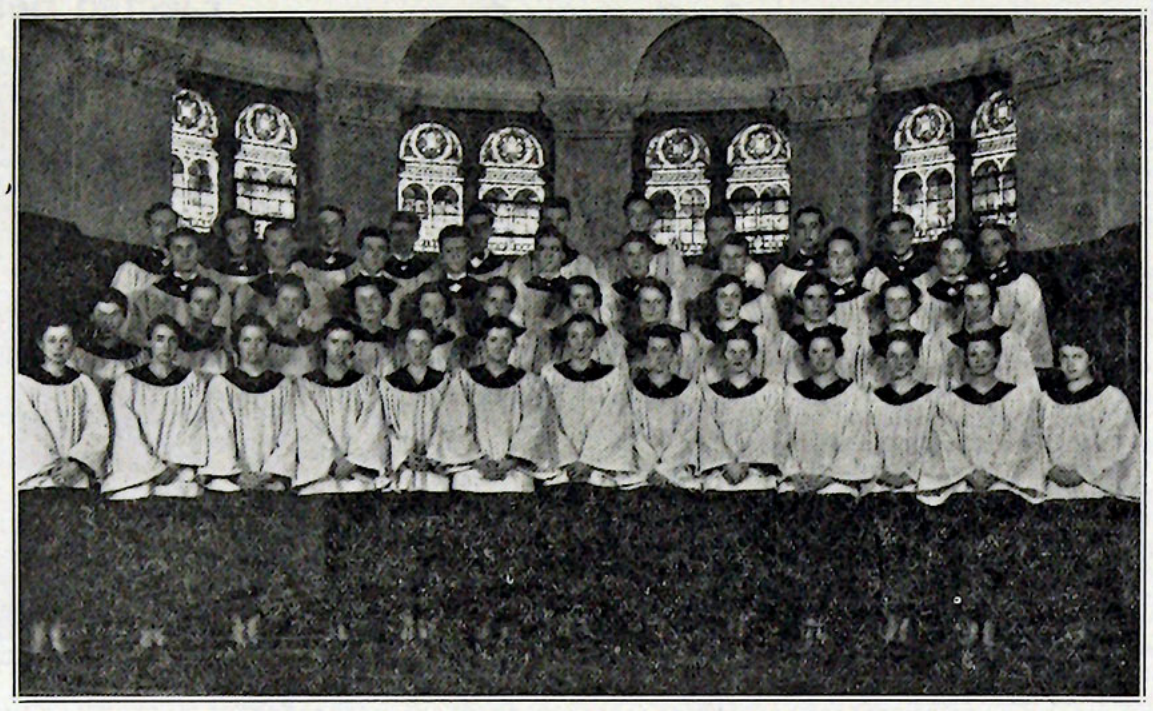

"It was a splendid program the Alleghenians presented, meritorious all the way . . . Luvaas has done a remarkable work up there in Meadville and the tone and finesse of his chorus attest to it. We hope the choir comes here again."

Of the same concert, Ralph Lewando, Pittsburgh Press music critic, wrote in part:

"Singing from memory like veterans and evincing a solid musicianship and remarkable sense of ensemble balance, these young people offered a program of surpassing merit . . .

Singers Trip Not All Work And No Plav

Reporter Gets "Inside Dope" On Choir's Experience During Travels.

By CLARISSA DUFF.

In a nut shell here's what happened: 44 Singers took a 13 day trip, covered approximately 1,000 miles, and sang 31 times to about 20,000 people, not counting the "great unseen audience" of KDKA.

These are the facts. But the inside is a different story. For 13 days we lived in a world all our own, spoke a language all our own, and learned to know each other while we acquired a mutual pride and friendship, and an intangible feeling of oneness unequalled by any other organization I have ever known. (That part's serious; now go on with the story.)

We alone realize the significance of that colossal yell, conceived by the Right Rev. P. Jacobus, a magnificent outlet for excess energy and an announcement to the town we were entering that the Allegheny Singers, intellectual as well as musical, had arrived:

"Parbleu! Parbleu!
Alle-ghenie! Aujourd'hui!
Qu'est-ce————que?
Pres————que!
Allegheny!"

We had scarcely started when the punning began. It's inevitable. Mr. Luvaas has almost decided to include in his future tryouts a test of punning as well as singing ability. It sounds like a good idea, but will the director have to try out too?

The freshman duties were to unwrap and set up, take down and wrap the collapsible stands on which we sang, to take care of the two trunks of robes, to see that the director's stand was in the right place at the right time, and to help unload the baggage. Added to this they were expected to use the aisle seats in the bus. There are a lot of freshmen though, and their life wasn't so hard. They proved too that the newest Singers are O. K. troupers.

We discovered neat little red handles which allowed the seats in the bus to fall back to a most comfortable position, and one very conducive to sleeping. See Bill Church for actual photographs. He has some good ones, especially the one of Archie Tate. Archie was sitting upright in an aisle seat, his head bobbing. "Luvy" shouted "Ar-chie!" and he awakened with a start, just as Bill snapped the picture.

The concert Wednesday, April 4, in Carnegie Lecture Hall was in some ways the climax of the trip. There wasn't an empty seat in the Hall and it seemed that almost the entire student body of the college was there.

We arrived in Washington Saturday afternoon and stayed at the Cairo Hotel until Tuesday morning. The men were on the fourth and sixth, the women on the ninth floor of "Washington's tallest building." We took all our meals there and were urgently requested by other patrons of the hotel to sing. So one night at dinner we gave them "Near the Vale" and "Czecho" and "Mamie Riley"—our repertoire of secular songs!

Sunday morning many of us walked nearly five miles to the National Cathedral. Needless to say we returned in taxis, but seeing the beautiful and impressive Cathedral was well worth the long hot walk. That night we sang in the Foundry M. E. Church and were surprised to see Mr. Benjamin in the audience.

Monday we went sightseeing under the very kind supervision of Dr. Howard E. Snyder, of the Church of the Atonement in Washington. We visited the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Arlington Cemetery (where we saw an impressive military funeral, the unknown soldier's tomb, and Lee's beautiful home), Mount Vernon, and the Franciscan Monastery, memorial church of the Holy Land. It was a memorable day for all of us.

The Singers' sightseeing included also the local shows and clubs. Conversation was filled with the relative merits of Jimmie Durante and Ozzie Nelson, and the high cover charges. (For comments on caviar sandwiches inquire of Richards and Hutchison.)

Wednesday we were kept in Hollidaysburg where we were entertained royally by the Kemps. Will we ever forget the huge turkey dinner and the cake with Allegheny College iced on the top? And they told us we were going to have meat loaf!

We spent the last night in DuBois where, true to tradition and the instructions of Mr. P. H. Younger, we wowed 'em, though they didn't actually roll in the aisles, in spite of Red LaBorde's lone walk up one of them while the rest of us filed out another.

The audiences were splendid, the concerts went well, the group was congenial, the weather excellent, the trip—an experience. Who will forget the unbeatable (?) whist team of Luvaas and Unverzagt, the "Mountain Music" number, the French yell, E. Robertson's red hat, Ferguson's enjoyable guffaw, the inevitable meat loaf, the Hutchinson-Robertson-Robie and Meadowcroft-Maloney-Horn combinations, the beer racket in DuBois, the witty (!) programs of recitations and music presented with the help of Shreiner and Jacobus from the back of the bus to keep the rest of us from sleeping!

At dinner at the hotel one evening Helen Walker remarked that she'd had raspberry sherbet for dessert the night before. True to form "Luvar" retorted, "Sherbet was it good?" . . . We'll close on that.

Mayor McNair Thinks Singers' Program Too High-Brow

Evidently the only person who didn't like the Singers' Pittsburgh concert was His Honor Mayor William N. McNair.

Mr. McNair, a feature writer's Santa Claus, declared that he'd like to hear "'Solomon Levi' or 'Old Black Joe' or something I can understand". He dismissed the choir's program of classical sacred music with "that pipe-organ stuff is too high-brow for me."

Vacant seats at the concert were scarce, and the Mayor left his wife to listen to the program and chose to wait under the stars on the edge of Schenley Park.

Puns Fly Thick and Fast; High Spirits Prevail Among Songsters.

Win Place on Proctors' List.

Twenty-six Caflisch Hall men who maintained an average of "B" for the first six weeks of the second term were honored by places on the "proctors' list".

The freshmen students who made the list for the fourth time were Robert Byers, Mishell George, Armour Hillstrom, Jack Hoeveler, Howard Hulburt, Walter Jacobson, Charles Miller, Nelson Rodgers, John Sampson, Robert Smith, Norman Stoner, Archie Tate and William Weesner. Records of three times on the list are held by James Cousins, Joseph Macedo and Russell Stewart. Those getting the "B" average for the first time were John Coleman, William Dunlany, Lawrence Goodman, Albert Lyford, Robert Lyons, Raymond Robertson, Frederick Sloan, Robert Smith and Raymond Watts.

Cleveland Concerts In Singers' Schedule For Tuesday, May 1

Broadcast Over WTAM, Sing at High Schools, Announce Local Concert.

With their big concert tour of the season behind them, the Allegheny Singers have already scheduled two events for May: a concert tour of four Cleveland high schools and a radio broadcast over WTAM on Tuesday, May 1, and a Meadville concert on May 20.

The itinerary for the Cleveland concerts on May 1 follows:

8:30 a. m.—Lakewood High School.
10:00 a. m.—Shaw High School, East Cleveland.
11:00 a. m.—Cleveland Heights High School.
Luncheon—At Cleveland Heights High School.
4:45-5:00 p. m.—Radio broadcast over WTAM.

The choir will travel by bus, leaving Meadville at the early hour of 4:30, according to present plans. The Singers will have dinner in Cleveland and probably spend the early part of the evening there, returning late Tuesday night.

The Meadville concert which is scheduled for Sunday, May 20, will be held in either Stone Church or the First Presbyterian Church under the auspices of the Civic Peace Service. May 20 is "Peace Sunday".

The appearance in Erie that the choir had been considering has been cancelled, Professor Luvaas said.

Florida Alumni Meet.

The largest annual dinner meeting in the history of the Florida Alumni Association of Allegheny College was held in the Keystone Inn, Keystone Heights, Florida, on March 23.

Speakers for the occasion included President Emeritus W. H. Crawford, A. W. Donaldson, '07, R. S. Gamble, '93, and Miss Mina French, '27. J. Edwin Larsen, '23, president of the Florida Club, acted as toastmaster. Among the guests were Walter Irving Bates, '96, and Mrs. Bates, of Meadville.

Wrestling Trophy Won By Phi Gamma Delta In Tournament Finals

Phi Gamma Delta demonstrated again that it has the fraternity sports market cornered when it won the intramural wrestling cup at the college gym on March 23.

A crowd of about 400 saw seven scrappy matches, three of which went into extra time periods.

The champions and medal winners in the different weight classes are Bob Smith, 125 lb.; Jack Utley, 135 lb.; Al VanAndel. 145 lb.; Leonard Blasdell, 155 lb.; Dick Horn, 165 lb.; Tom Pringle, 175 lb., and Earl Vanaman. unlimited.

Officials for the event, were faculty members Daniels, Tippin. Way, and Lavely. Karl McBride announced the contestants and results.

The fraternity ranking for the wrestling tournament was:

Phi Gamma Delta	29
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	19
Phi Delta Theta	17
Independents	15
Phi Kappa Psi	13
Alpha Chi Rho	12
Beta Kappa	11
Beta Upsilon	8
Delta Tau Delta	0

Results of the individual matches follow:

125 lb. Class—Bob Smith. Beta Kappa, won from Bill Clarke, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, on a fall in 3:35.

135 lb. Class—Jack Utley. Phi Gamma Delta, won from Joe Serene, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, on a fall in 7:02.

145 lb. Class—Alfred VanAndel, Alpha Chi Rho, won from John Gilmore, Phi Gamma Delta. on a time advantage of 3 minutes in an extra 4 minute period.

155 lb. Class—Leonard Blasdell, Phi Delta Theta, won from Bill Glass, Phi Gamma Delta, by referee's decision in an extra period.

165 lb. Class—Dick Horn. Phi Gamma Delta, won from Delbert Jolley, Beta Upsilon, on a fall in 2:39.

175 lb. Class—Tom Pringle, Phi Delta Theta, won from Pete Dickinson, Phi Kappa Psi, by referee's decision in an extra period.

Unlimited Class—Earl Vanaman. Independents, won from Chuck Remaley, Alpha Chi Rho, by a fall in 7:59.8.

Phi Kappa Psi Defeats Beta Upsilon Handballers

Phi Kappa Psi took over the B. U. handball men in two straight matches, 8-21, 21-5, 21-17, and 21-17, 28-26, on Monday and Wednesday before the Easter vacation to win the handball championship of the school for 1934.

Wilson, Widmann, and Edwards did the winning for the Phi Psis, while Duncan, Howe, and Jolley took second place for Beta Upsilon.

Alpha Chi Rho forfeited to the Independents, 2-0, giving the Independents third place in the race.

On the same day, Hawkins, Zurlo, and Lomangino, Independents, downed Peterson, Clarke, and Dennis, Sigs, in the game which completed the League B schedule. The scores were 23-21 and 21-8.

SPORT NOTES

The electives offered in physical education classes for this period include golf, tennis, and mushball.

An open golf tourney will be held in May of this year. This is open to all men interested in the game, and a charm will be awarded the winner of the tournament.

Intramural tennis will come in May, with the weather determining the time of the matches.

The Physical Education Department is dickering with nearby golf courses for rates for Allegheny golfers. A student rate of 35c for nine holes was offered by the Conneaut Lake Country Club last year. Coach Tippin is instructing golfers this year, replacing Lumsden, of the Conneaut Lake Country Club, who did that work last spring.

Coach Way has arranged for a triple sport varsity clash at Washington and Jefferson College next year. Allegheny will meet the "Presidents" in track, golf, and tennis, on May 11, 1935.

Varsity golf will make its initial appearance at Allegheny this spring. The date for the open tournament, to determine members of the team, will be set soon.

Two matches with Grove City have already been scheduled to take place on the same days as the tennis matches. Negotiations for two matches with Edinboro are also underway.

Phi Gams Still Heading Intramural Sports Standing

The completion of handball, wrestling, and swimming finds Phi Gamma Delta and leading the race with 630 points, while Phi Kappa Psi has nosed out Sigma Alpha Epsilon as second place holders. Beta Kappa has risen to fourth, pushing the Chi Rhos into fifth position, previously held by the Delts, who have now dropped to last place.

The hundred point lead held by the Phi Gams is no insurance that they will win the championship, impressive though it may seem. The Phi Psis and the Sigs remain important contenders with excellent chances to win, and it is mathematically possible for any group on the Hill to still win the championship.

The present standing is:

Place	Group	Points
1.	Phi Gamma Delta	630
2.	Phi Kappa Psi	530
3.	Sigma Alpha Epsilon	505
4.	Beta Kappa	355
5.	Alpha Chi Rho	340
6.	Phi Delta Theta	315
7.	Independents	305
8.	Beta Upsilon	300
9.	Delta Tau Delta	290

Archery and Badminton Next On Women's Sports Program

After a keenly contested basketball program, the sororities are anxious to renew competition in badminton games and archery.

The archery contests will take place during the week of April 27. The present schedule for badminton is as follows:

April 17.
4:00 p. m.—Kappa Alpha Theta vs. Kappa Kappa Gamma.
5:00 p. m.—Alpha Gamma Delta vs. Alpha Chi Omega.

April 18.
4:00 p. m.—Alpha Xi Delta vs. Theta Upsilon.
5:00 p. m.—Winners of the April 17 games.

April 19.
4:00 p. m.—Non-sorority vs. winners of Alpha Xi Delta and Theta Upsilon games.

CAMPUS CLIPPINGS

A Lehigh professor, allowing five students to grade their own papers, found that four of them had graded themselves lower than he would have, and the fifth one point higher.

Headline in a daily: "Sororities neck and neck in Badges Sales Campaign." This is one way to increase business!

ALLEGHENY SINGERS

"The opening Bach, "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us", proved that these Allegheny Singers are no ordinary group. Here was a thoroughness of preparation, intelligent grasp of musical values, and a feel for nuance and phrase that made the general projection a happy experience for the audience."

And the final word on the Singers rightfully comes from Professor Luvaas: "They were excellent. Their work, especially during the second week of the trip, was beautiful—a pleasure to direct."

Alleghenians Pick 'Bests' of Seniors In Campus Contest

Anderson, Day, Ralston, and Meadowcroft Figure Twice In Superlative Titles.

A stack of about 275 ballots collected in chapel on Wednesday, March 28, revealed which members of the senior class deserved the superlative titles in The Campus's contest to find the 20 "bests" in the 1934 class.

Here they are, you picked them:

Handsomest man, William Woodward.
Most beautiful woman, Jean Holman.
Most popular man, Melvin Meadowcroft.
Man most likely to succeed, William Unverzagt.
Woman most likely to succeed, Dorothy Day.
Most intelligent man, William Church.
Most intelligent woman, Dorothy Day.
Best dressed man, Robert Kent.
Best dressed woman, Sally Goldsmith.
Most collegiate man, David Smith.
Most collegiate woman, Helen Walker.
Best all-round athlete (man), Earl Vanaman.
Best all-round athlete (woman), Grace Ralston.
Done most for alma mater (man), William Olson.
Done most for alma mater (woman), Mary Jane Anderson.
Wittiest man, Burch Powell.
Wittiest woman, Grace Ralston
Best dancer (man), Melvin Meadowcroft.
Best dancer (woman), Martha Bloom.

Best Looking.

Choosing the best looking man and woman seemed to give the voters most trouble. One person glanced over the list of senior men on the back of the ballot and wrote in the blank for handsomest man. "There isn't any." Four men and four woman received more than 20 votes for the titles of "best looking". If you still doubt that the voters had a hard time to agree look at these tabulations:

Most beautiful woman.

Jean Holman	44 votes
Helen Morrow	41 votes
Margaret Robinson	39 votes
Ednamae Bruggeman	30 votes

Handsomest Man.

William Woodward	45 votes
Melvin Meadowcroft	44 votes
Robert Kent	37 votes
Paul Grant	21 votes

Most Popular.

Melvin Meadowcroft's 56 votes for most popular man gave him a winning margin over Dave Smith's 53. Earl Vanaman and Fred Kiebort passed the 20-vote mark with 28 and 25 votes, respectively. The women's ballot was more one-sided with Mary Jane Anderson getting 62 votes; Martha Bloom, 35; Helen Morrow, 33; and Jean Holman, 20.

Most Likely to Succeed.

The titles of "most likely to succeed" brought about 35 names into the running, but only seven of them had backers numbering more than a score. William Unverzagt polled 64 votes, a comfortable lead over William Olson and Paul Grant who were tied for second honors with 32 votes each. Dorothy Day's 50 votes for "woman most likely to succeed" gave her the title. Ruth Johannesmeyer received 43 votes: Virginia Jane Miller, 30; and Lois Gratz, 23. One co-ed voted for Ruth Travis, annotating her ballot. "She's married"

Most Intelligent.

With 75 votes, William Church was easily selected the most intelligent man. William Unverzagt polled 34 votes; and William Olson overstepped the 20 mark with 24. Phi Beta Kappa members Dorothy Day and Virginia Jane Miller, leading their nearest competitors by 80 votes, received 91 and 85 votes, respectively for "most intelligent woman".

Best Dressed.

Totals above 20 in the vote for the best dressed man and woman were:

"Best dressed man"—Robert Kent 44; David Smith, 30; Jack Utley, 30; Fred Kiebort, 25.

"Best dressed woman"—Sally Goldsmith, 81; Ednamae Bruggeman, 21.

Most Collegiate.

Dave Smith, with 54 votes, was the male choice for "most collegiate"; and Helen Walker, with 40 votes, was accorded "most collegiate woman". Jack Utley was the only competitor of Smith to get more than 20 votes—he received 24. Grace Ralston gave Helen Walker a close race, losing by three votes what would have been her third superlative title. Betty Kemp polled 28, and Elizabeth Kirkland 23 votes.

Best Athletes.

Tallying the contest would have been a simple matter if opinion had been as unanimous in all categories as it was in choosing the senior man who is the class's best all-round athlete. Practically everyone who voted for that particular "best" gave "Red" Vanaman the honor. He polled the largest single vote in the contest, a 240. Grace Ralston won the title of "best all-round woman athlete" with 38 votes—two more than Helen Morrow received.

Done Most for Alma Mater.

Men—William Olson, 50; Fred Klebort, 39; Arthur Crawford, 34; William Unverzagt, 28. Women—Mary Jane Anderson, 65; Helen Morrow, 35; Dorothy Day, 21.

Wittiest.

Though someone had the courage to mark in the blank for the wittiest man "anybody but Smith", Dave Smith was a close competitor of Burch Powell, polling 43 votes to the winner's 52. Grace Ralston had a vote of 74 for wittiest woman; Elizabeth Kirkland polled 26, and Betty Kemp, 22.

Best Dancers.

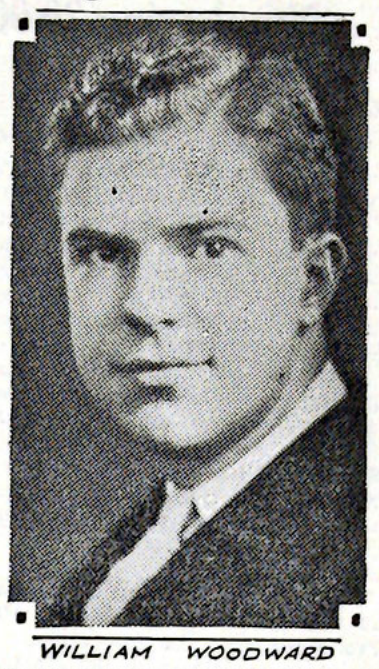

Results of the balloting for best dancers showed Melvin Meadowcroft and Martha Bloom easy winners. Men—Melvin Meadowcroft, 63; Jack Utley, 24. Women—Martha Bloom, 49; Elizabeth VanKirk, 31; and Sally Goldsmith, 28.

President Tolley Publishes Article in N. Y. Tribune

The New York Herald Tribune of Sunday, April 8, published an article by President William P. Tolley discussing modern trends of education.

The article, which filled two columns of the education section of the Sunday edition, dealt with the question, "What Has the Depression Done to the Colleges."

President Tolley pointed out that educators are convinced that it will be at least another year, and perhaps two or three, before colleges and universities will be freed of financial worries with which they are now beset. He stated that higher education is "nervous about the immediate future, and is unconvinced that good times for schools and colleges are just around the corner."

In conclusion, the article held that wise economies and more efficient organization would discount many of the present losses, and leave the academic program largely unimpaired.

A book company's representative told the news staff of the Syracuse university paper that he would rather deal with a college man than a co-ed any day.

Beta Kappa Splashers Earn Intramural Swim Plaque

Phi Gams Second and Phi Psis Third in Finals Held Last Saturday.

Winning with a good margin, Beta Kappa swam its way to its first first place in intramural competition Friday and on Saturday afternoon in Montgomery Pool, taking the swimming trophy from the Phi Gams for a year. Smith (Titusville), Miller, and Brunner made up the winning team.

Beta Kappa rolled up 22 points in the seven events for first place; Phi Gamma Delta was second with 15 points; and Phi Kappa Psi took third with 11 markers.

Although there were no records broken, every event was closely contested, especially the 220-yard free style, which developed into a race for first place between Bob Smith and Bill Wilson. Wilson won the event by two strokes, in 3 minutes 25.7 seconds. Equally close was the 40 yard backstroke, the four competitors ending no more than a foot apart, with Smith heading the procession.

Diaz, Smith, and Brunner divided the high point honors, each taking eight points. The events and results are:

Medley Relay: Beta Kappa (Smith, Miller, and Brunner), first; Phi Delta Theta (Thornton, Sampson, and Keck) second; Beta Upsilon (Smith, Olmstead, and Ober), third. Time: 1:32.2.

40 Yard Breaststroke: DuMars, Phi Kappa Psi, first; Horn, Phi Gamma Delta, second; Helfrich, Delta Tau Telta, third. Time: 28.2.

40 Yard Backstroke: Smith, Beta Kappa, first; Swanson, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, second; DuMars, Phi Kappa Psi, third. Time: 28.6.

40 Yard Freestyle: Brunner, Beta Kappa, first; Diaz, Phi Gamma Delta, second; Peterson, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, third. Time: 23.6.

220 Yard Freestyle: Wilson, Phi Kappa Psi, first; Smith, Beta Kappa, second; Erwin, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, third. Time: 3:25.7.

100 Yard Freestyle: Diaz, Phi Gamma Delta, first; Brunner, Beta Kappa, second; Peterson, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, third. Time: 1:11.3.

160 Yard Relay: Phi Delta Theta (Thornton, Sampson, Keck, and Gelbach), first; Phi Gamma Delta (Diaz, Gilmore, Nevins, and Hoeveler), second. Time: 1:47.7.

Five Veterans Back For Varsity Tennis, Now Booking Matches

With five of the six veterans of last year's tennis team back again chances look bright for a successful season in that sport.

In addition to Peterson, who has been the mainstay of the Allegheny squad for the past three years, Ralston, Serene, Lubic, and Goodrich are swinging the racquets again and seem to be working into excellent shape under the coaching of Professors Ufford and Heller, new tennis coaches.

In addition to the above men, Bob Sowers, '36, Dick Smith, '35, and Ray Watts and Herb Luce, '37, show promise of developing into good material.

For the past week members of the team have been working out daily in the gym, but, weather permitting, the clay courts will be ready for play within the next few days.

At present an eight or ten match schedule is being arranged by Coach Way. Matches with Grove City, Slippery Rock, Youngstown City College and Edinboro are scheduled but definite dates have not yet been settled. In addition to these negotiations are underway for matches with several high school teams.

Take Bowling Prizes.

"When are we going to close the bowling alleys? Well, we're still getting business," said Bob Edwards, manager of things in the Cochran Hall basement.

Last week Americo Zurlo held the high score for men with 185, and Mary Wishart led women bowlers with 114.

Varsity Squad to Be Chosen By Intramural Track Meet

The coaching staff plans to kill two birds with one stone on the afternoons of April 27 and 28 when it uses the intramural track meet as a means of picking the 1934 varsity track squad.

With the exception of Lubic, Wolfe, and Vanaman, last year lettermen, all men are eligible for the meet.

To earn entrance points, each group must enter at least five men, and no more than two men from a group may be in a single event.

Runners will have a chance to compete in the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes, the 880, the mile, 120 low hurdles, and the 440 yard relay. The field events will include the shot put, discus, javelin, high jump, broad jump, and pole vault.

New Members and Officers Elected by History Club

Election of officers and election of new members were held at a meeting of the History and Political Science Club on Tuesday evening, April 10.

Th newly elected officers of the club are Richard Bail, president; John Helmstadter, vice-president; and Jane Hawkins, secretary-treasurer.

Students elected to membership include Keith Hutchison, Armour Hillstrom, Mary Lee Knapp, Philip Gelbach, Arthur Vangeli, Warren Keck, William Hyde, Frank Bailey, Charles Bartberger, Robert Dennis, Herbert Nye, Ruth Crawford, Betty Bright, Annabelle Broomall, Jean Tiffany, Rosemary Cooper, and Dorothy Phillips.

Win Scholarship Trophy.

The Allegheny, or Pennsylvania Delta chapter of Phi Delta Theta was awarded a scholarship trophy by its Pittsburgh alumni at a banquet held in the P. A. A. building in Pittsburgh on Saturday, March 24.

David Smith, Allegheny senior, represented the local fraternity at the meeting which was attended by delegates of the other three Phi Delt chapters in the province, those at Washington and Jefferson College and the Universities of Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

Fifty Track And Field Men Prime For 3 Meets in May

Only Three Varsity Men Back; Meet Clarion, W. & J. And Grove City.

Kicking up spiked heels to weather that has been anything but favorable for track practice, 50 men have been drilling daily for the past two months for three meets scheduled in early May.

With the dropping of intercollegiate track last year, only two men remain as a nucleus for this year's squad. Wolfe, star sprinter, and Vanaman, who tosses the shot, discus and hammer, are the two lone lettermen.

The three meets on the 1934 card include Meadville engagements with Clarion Teachers on May 5 and Washington and Jefferson College on May 12, and a meet at Grove City College on May 19.

Coach Paul Way has been training the runners; and Coach Art Daniels has been instructing the weight and field men.

Candidates in the track and field events are as follows:

100-220 yard dash: Wolfe, Dave Smith, Zurlo, Rowe, Byers, Robie, and Horn.

440-880 yard run: Wolfe, Hawkins, Ober, Cunningham, Tate, Lang, Keck, Duncan, and Jolley.

1-2 mile run: Frost, Wilson, Hyde, Mellon, Nye, Douglas, Overdorf, and Goring.

Hurdles: Grow, L. Miller, and Zurlo.

High Jump: Shetterly, Grow, L. Miller, and Ober.

Broad Jump: Grow and Keck.

Pole Vault: Serene and Chester.

Javelin: Sebring, Becker, Diaz, and Wellington.

Shot, Discus, and Hammer: Vanaman, Dickinson, Cousins, Whitaker, Froehlich, Howes, Hinton, and Haines.

Mushball Players To Open Schedule Within Coming Week

The opening of the intramural mushball schedule, originally planned for Monday of this week, awaits the pleasure of the fickle Spring weather. Coach Daniels hopes to have four games played before next Wednesday, and will post a schedule and notify contestants as soon as the weather affords a break.

The Independents, who expect to put in a strong bid for a place in the mushball tournament, will not see action in the first week of competition. The games carded for the coming week are: Beta Kappa vs. Alpha Chi Rho; Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Phi Gamma Delta; Phi Kappa Psi vs. Beta Upsilon; and Phi Delta Theta vs. Delta Tau Delta.

The grouping of the teams into leagues is as follows:

LEAGUE A.
Phi Kappa Psi
Beta Upsilon
Phi Delta Theta
Delta Tau Delta

LEAGUE B.
Beta Kappa
Alpha Chi Rho
Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Phi Gamma Delta
Independents.

Coach Daniels reminds fraternity mushballers that there's no time like the present to sharpen up the old batting eye.

From The Thielensian, publication of Thiel College, comes the following:

Rev. Eisenberg (praying in chapel): "Bless those of us who teach and those who learn."

Voice: "What about the rest of us?"

Fourteen police dogs guard theatres at Berkley, California, to prevent gate-crashing by students of surrounding schools.

At Washington and Lee U., when two gentlemen have differences and wish to fight, they order two bottles of ginger ale and proceed to douse each other at ten paces.

So ROUND and FIRM and FULLY PACKED

Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat

Luckies are always in all-ways kind to your throat. For every Lucky is made of the choicest of ripe, mellow Turkish and domestic tobaccos—and only the clean center leaves—they taste better. Then, "It's toasted"—for throat protection. And every Lucky is made so round, so firm, so fully packed—no loose ends. That's why Luckies "keep in condition"—do not have that objectionable tendency to dry out, an important point to every smoker. Luckies are always in all-ways kind to your throat.

"It's toasted"

✓ Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat

NOT the top leaves—they're underdeveloped—they are harsh!

Only the Center Leaves—these are the Mildest Leaves

The Cream of the Crop

They taste better

NOT the bottom leaves—they're inferior in quality—coarse and sandy!
