NEW ENGLAND ALUMNI HOLD MEETING FRIDAY

DOCTOR SCHULTZ IS DELEGATE OF COLLEGE TO MEETING HELD IN BOSTON

The annual meeting of the New England Alumni Association of Allegheny College was held in the Sun Room of the Hotel Brunswick, Boston, Massachusetts, on the evening of February 27, 1931. The meeting was attended by thirty-three alumni and friends.

After a splendid banquet Allegheny songs were presented under the leadership of Bruce Middaugh. Clarence Avey, president of the association, then called the meeting to order. The report of the secretary, Robert Kirkpatrick, was read and approved. In the elections that followed, Charles Hammet was elected as President and Donald Rowlingson secured the position of Secretary-Treasurer. It was then moved that a letter of greeting be sent to Dr. Beebe.

At the conclusion of the business Charles Hammett was introduced as toastmaster and the program for the evening progressed. All the attendants at the banquet stood up in turn and gave their name and occupation. After fitting remarks by the toastmaster, E. C. Linn, '86, gave reminiscences of his days in Allegheny. E. G. Royce '02, then spoke briefly of the value of college friendships. W. L. Stidger followed with some amusing reminiscences of his college days, and emphasized his feeling of pride at being one of the "sons of Allegheny". Tom Jones, '30, spoke briefly, urging the alumni to return more often to their alma mater.

After these speeches reference was made to John Blower, '26, who lost his life off the coast of Massachusetts during the summer. It was remarked that upon his slip of paper stating h's intention to be at the banquet this year, there appeared a question mark. It turned out to be a true prophecy.

The toastmaster then introduced Dr. Schultz from the college, the principal speaker of the evening. Dr. Schultz brought greetings from Dr. Beebe with whom he had been visiting and from the college. His speech was in the nature of friendly "gossip" as he called it in which different aspects of the college were reviewed. These included among other things reference to the new buildings, the unifying influence of the new freshman dormitory and the Inter-Fraternity Council, the athletic policy, and "Allegheny on the air". To those present his speech was stimulating and instructive.

At the conclusion of the program the meeting adjourned and was followed by informal conversation and the renewal of old friendships.

Those present at the banquet included: Ruth Elliot, '25; Harriet MacKinney, ex-'33; Fannie Jackson, ex '33; Edwin P. Booth, '20; Elizabeth Fehr Booth, ex '22; William J. Lowstuter, '98, and Mrs. Lowstuter; Elmer G. Royce, '02, and Mrs. Royce; Edward W. Hudson and Mrs. Hudson; Clarence Avey, '26 and Cecelia Johnson Avey, '26; Edgar C. Linn, '86; William L. Stidger, and Iva Bergey Stidger, '07; Robert Kirkpatrick, '27, and Mrs. Kirkpatrick; Mr. and Mrs. Seeley; Charles Hammett, Jr., '25; Robert Rutherford, '30; Bradford Booth, '30; Sydney Sternthal, ex '30; Thomas Jones '30; Tom Gill, '30; Harold Calhoun; Bruce Middaugh, '27; J. W. Morissey, '25; Bert McGill, '29; and Donald Rowlingson, '29.

SENIOR CLASS MEETING IS HELD ON THURSDAY

On Thursday, February 26, a meeting of the Senior Class was held in the chapel at twelve o'clock. Although the time of meeting had been formerly announced, only a small percentage of the class turned out. Since there was no business of special importance to be discussed, the time was mostly taken up with various announcements pertaining to graduation. Among the events mentioned was that of the Senior Ball and, since this will be the last formal class dance for the members of this year's graduating class, efforts were made to increase the enthusiasm for this event. The class has not yet decided on what form the memento shall take but undoubtedly this and other questions of importance will be taken up shortly when another meeting will be called.

MISS SPALDING TO BE GUEST OF WOMEN'S CLUB

On the evening of March 9 Miss Alice Huntington Spalding, Head of the Department of Speech, will be the guest of the Erie College Women's Club at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium. She will present a lecture recital at the request of several Alleghenians in Erie. This affair will be in the form of the Annual Guest Night of the Club, and Miss Spalding has been singularly honored at having been asked to speak before the assembly.

Dr. Darling Reviews Two Scientific Books In Chapel on Friday

Dr. C. A. Darling reviewed two books, Darwin's "Origin of Species", and Paul De Kruif's "The Microbe Hunter", in chapel on Friday, February 28.

Darwin's "Origin of Species" has caused a good deal of comment on religion and has revolutionized thought in many fields. It was written by a man who was an expert in his field, and who devoted 20 years of his life to the writing of the book. It is written with extreme carefulness and correctness of detail. The most vigorous criticism of the book, perhaps, has come from Darwin's attacking the idea that all minute things has been formed by a special act of creation. Darwin foresaw this criticism and tried to impress the fact that the idea of evolution of the higher forms of life had grandeur and a bit of nobleness. Dr. Darling read portions of the book and recommended it to the students.

Paul De Kruif's "The Microbe Hunter" is a very interesting and instructive book on science of the popular nature. It tells about such heroes to science as Kock, discoverer of the tuberculosis germ, and Walter Reid, who saw, through experiments, that the disease yellow fever was carried by mosquitoes. It speaks of the experiences of Pasteur, whose first interest in the study of disease came with an experience with a mad dog. This book is fascinating and instructive and Dr. Darling also recommended it to the students.

PRACTICES BEING HELD FOR GUILD PRODUCTION

FULL LINE REHEARSAL HELD IN LITTLE THEATRE ON SUNDAY

Through diligent rehearsal during the past week, the cast of "A Bill of Divorcement" has completed the first act of the play and a full line rehearsal was held Sunday afternoon in the Playshop Theatre. Although Miss Spalding was not entirely satisfied with the performance, some fine acting by one or two members of the cast gave encouragement that the ultimate result will be a very polished presentation. The play itself is very difficult, and will necessarily call forth the utmost ability from some of the finest talent on the campus. It presents some difficulties in direction that have never before been encountered in the Playshop Theatre, but Miss Spalding has every confidence in the cast and in the production department, and feels certain that the performance will equal the perfection of previous productions in the Theatre.

The model of the stage set has been completed and most of the details have been worked out. A dog, which is necessary in the production of the play, has been purchased and is undergoing a course of training.

During the next week the final cast of Eugene O'Neil's "Ile" will be selected and rehearsals will start in earnest. This play, together with two other one act plays, will be presented shortly after the resumption of classes subsequent to the spring recess.

Change Will Be Made in Printing of the New Alumni Register

In order that a more accurate Alumni Register may be published this year, the Alumni Office is announcing a very effective plan to meet this desire. The original intention was to send galley proof sheets to a selected group of persons for reading beofre the final edition is published, but that plan has been abandond in favor of a preliminary edition to be mailed to all alumni and to a limited number of non-graduates. This edition will be printed on very inexpensive paper, will not have a cover, and will contain only the list of classes—both graduates and non-graduates—with name, graduate degrees, occupation, business address, and residence address. This will include the class from 1855 on.

Each person who receives this preliminary edition is asked to examine it carefully and to make corrections wherever there are errors. If the preliminary edition is in the mails on March 10 as planned, the dead line for receiving corrections at the Alumni Office for entry in the final edition will be March 25. Any change in this date that may be made necessary by unforseen delays either at the Alumni Office or at the printer's will be reported in an early issue of The Campus. The Alumni Office urges that everyone who receives this edition cooperate in order that an accurate Register may be had.

KIRBY PAGE DELIVERS SECOND CHAPEL ADDRESS WEDNESDAY

Noted Lecturer Discusses Three Methods of Doing Away with Future World Conflicts

Kirby Page, editor of the World Tomorrow, gave his second chapel address on Wednesday, February 25th, speaking on the subject, "Must There Be Another World War?" While in Meadville, Dr. Page spoke before an assemblage of students in the living room of Hulings Hall, addressed the Open Forum of Stone Methodist Church, talked to the Economics IV class, and held a forum for college students, besides giving two chapel addresses.

With his characteristic vigor and authority, Dr. Page plunged into the question of his chapel address, "Must There Be Another War?" He admitted frankly that he was disturbed by the numerous predictions of a future war. H. G. Wells was quoted as predicting a world war within eight years.

"We should ask ourselves what we can do about preventing another world war, for the prevention is the responsibility of each individual citizen," said Dr. Page. This prevention can be accomplished by three things: (1) By learning and understanding the causes of the last war, and of all wars; (2) by abandoning the policy that a nation must protect, by force if necessary, the private property abroad; (3) by building up means for international government.

"The last war was not caused by a mad-dog nation," declared the speaker. "The last war was not caused by a man, or a group of men, or by a nation; it was caused by a system of world politics and economics". This system comprises: nationalism, incluring the doctrines of national sovereignty; imperialism, the seizing of territories for economic and political supremacy; militarism, the developing of a strong army and navy with which to secure and protect these territories; jingoism, which slanders other races; and international anarchy, the lack of international government. Dr. Page urged that people study these causes of war and rid their minds of war myths.

As proof of his assertion that the World War was not caused by Germany Dr. Page called attention to the conclusions of two eminent authorities, both of whom declared very emphatically that the World War was not caused by Germany. One authority was Professor Gooch, an Englishman who is editing the secret war transactions of the English government. The other authority was Professor Fay, an American historian.

Dr. Page next directed the attention of the audience to the policy whereby a nation protects private property abroad by armed force. "There is not a chance in the world to prevent another war, unless we change this dogma. We were dragged into the World War by this policy," he asserted.

Delving deeply into World War history, Dr. Page reviewed the situation existing before the entrance into the war of the United States. For either side to win the war, it was necessary for that side to blockade the other. Germany and England, representing the sea power of their respective sides, attempted to make blockades. Germany, with her limited resources, had to depend on submarines, which were cheaper than battleships. When a German "sub", however, would attack an American vessel, it would not be able to rescue the passengers. England, with her battleships, could rescue passengers, and while England violated the rights of the United States in twenty different ways, the United States did not declare war on England. J. L. Garvin, editor of the Encyclopedia Brittanica goes as far as to state that if Germany had not bothered the United States more than England did, the United States would have declared war on England.

The statement regarding the violations made by England was taken from the government publication containing the United States diplomatic correspondence for the year 1916. This particular volume was not published until thirteen years later, in 1929, although under ordinary circumstances the diplomatic correspondence is printed annually.

The United States has $15,000,000,000 invested in property abroad, and if we try to protect all this property on all occasions, we will get into

ALLEGHENY WOMEN DEFEAT WAYNESBURG DEBATERS

Defending the negative of the question, "Resolved: that the emergence of women from the home is to be deplored," the women's debate team won a judges' decision over Waynesburg College, in the Little Theater on Thursday evening, February 26th. The Allegheny team was composed of Miss Eleanor L. Brown, Miss Clare L. Skinner, and Miss Vera M. Dawson.

Miss Louise Sutton, first speaker for the affirmative, declared that emergence was a sudden and abnormal growth, and that emergence was detrimental to women.

It was stated that women's greatest emergence was during the World War, when they jumped into jobs left vacant by men. After the war, the majority of these women failed to return to their homes.

In Russia ,where women have emerged one hundred per cent, the average length of marriage is two and a half years. Moreover, there are between 200,000 and 300,000 homeless children in Russia.

Miss Sutton advanced many reasons why emergence was detrimental to women's health. Women are physically weaker than men, she said. They are more liable to sickness than men, and their ill-health has an adverse effect on the next generation. Woman's nervous system is more easily affected.

Dr. Gaylord Thomas was given as authority for the statement that due to labor conditions only forty per cent of emerged women were fit to become mothers. Two surveys were made by the government, one in families where both husband and wife worked, and the other in which the husband alone worked. The results of the survey showed a larger percentage of tuberculosis among the women who worked.

Miss Eleanor Brown, first speaker for Allegheny, advanced the argument that emergence was a benefit to the woman. Emerged women belong to clubs, charitable organizations, and churches. Their many contacts make their life more enjoyable and give them a knowledge of human nature which is valuable in raising a family. They understand better the changes in the world, and are better able to adjust themselves. They make more intelligent citizens by understanding the industrial and social phases of life. Emergence gives a woman economic security for the time when her husband's income may be cut off by death.

The second speaker for Waynesburg, Miss Helen Creighton, endeavored to prove that emergence had a bad economical effect. To make her points more clear to the audience, Miss Creighton displayed two large graphs, which she explained with much detail.

The first chart showed that one-fifth of all women have emerged, and gave the distribution of these women among the various occupations. Twenty-two per cent of emerged women are employed in agriculture, animal husbandry, and forestry, and work at an average wage of 60c per day. Twenty-two per cent are engaged in manufacturing, at an average wage of 89c per day. Thirty-one per cent are in domestic service, at an average wage of $1.10 per day. Only 8 per cent of emerged women are engaged in professions.

The second chart had graphs showing the percentage of women laborers by states, and the percentage of unemployment by states. The significant fact revealed by this chart was that the states having the largest percentage of women laborers had the largest percentage of unemployment.

How women lower the wages of men was explained by saying that women are able to accept lower wages. Women are able to accept lower wages for the following reasons: they are not generally breadwinners; their labor is immobile—it cannot change locations easily; their need is temporary; they lack bargaining power. An important point brought out by Miss Creighton was that surveys have shown that in families where both the husband and wife worked, the combined earnings were only one per cent greater than in families where only the man worked.

Miss Clare Skinner, second speaker for Allegheny, argued that emergence was a benefit to society. Women are playing an important part in politics. They are aiding in movements for peace and international law. They are making elections more honest by serving on election committees. They have aided passage of women's and children's laws. A very important point to which Miss Skinner called

Men and Women Will Defend Unemployment Insurance Tonight

Two home contests this evening on the same question, one featuring the men's team and the other the Women's, continue the season's debating schedule. Affirmative speakers from both the English Language 4-A and 4-B classes will defend unemployment insurance in no-decision encounters with Oberlin and the University of West Virginia, respectively.

The Allegheny girls meet the visitors from outside the state in Ford Chapel. The same trio which recently defeated the Waynesburg women in a debate on Question B will handle the case tonight. Miss Eleanor Brown will be the opening speaker, the Misses Clare Skinner and Vera Dawson continuing the affirmative discussion. It is reported that among the West Virginia young women will be the winner of the Beauty Contest recently held at that university.

Returning from their recent excursion into West Virginia, Thomson, Cares, and Gilbert of the men's varsity affirmative will meanwhile argue the same problem, "Resolved: that the state should enact legislation for compulsory unemployment insurance", at Stone Church against Oberlin College. This debate will be conducted upon a novel basis, inasmuch as instead of three alternating constructive speeches for each team, followed by a similar number of rebuttals, each speaker will this evening deliver one twelve-minute tlk combining both initial arguments and rebuttal.

JOHN J. SHRYOCK DIES AT HOME FEBRUARY 23

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY TO ONE OF ALLEGHENY'S MOST PROMINENT ALUMNI

All Meadville was shocked to learn of the death on February 23 of John James Shryock, one of Meadville's oldest and most prominent business men. Mr. Shryock had kept a business engagement down town during the evening and had been at home only a very short time when he died. Mr. Shryock was born on August 8, 1853, and had been in business in Meadville continuously since 1875. He was in Cleveland a short time, associated with the Sterling-Welsh Company, returning to Meadville in 1875 to open a house furnishing store, which was later incorporated as the John J. Shryock Company, still one of Meadvilles' leading business firms. Mr. Shryock was a founder also of many local institutions, among which are the Crawford County Trust Company, the Meadville Malleable Iron Works, the Chamber of Commerce, the Iroquois Club and the Country Club, as well as the old Traction Company, the People's Incandescent Light Company, and the Ponce de Leon Mineral Water Company. He was particularly prominent in bringing to Meadville its first street railway service.

Mr. Shryock was a member of Christ Episcopal Church and a vestryman for more than 50 years. He attended Allegheny College two years and would have graduated had he remained to complete his course, in 1876. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

The members of his family who survive Mr. Shryock are his wife (Louise Magaw), and six children E Osborne Shryock of Altoona; Mrs. Josephine Denny, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Adelaide Crawford, Grimsby, Ontario, Canada; Robert L. Shryock, Mrs. Leland J. Culbertson, and Merwyn G. Shryock, all of Meadville. All of the Shryock children have attended Allegheny College.

Annual Intersorority Ball Will Be Held In Cochran Hall Mar. 21

Included among the promising social events of the season is the Intersorority Ball, which is sponsored by the various sororities of the college, annually. This dance is to be held in Cochran Hall on Saturday evening, March 21.

Kress' Olympians have been chosen to play for the affair, which will last the usual hours, from 7:45 until 11:45 p. m. According to the plans, a very elaborate scheme of decorations will be used. The dance will be formal. As yet, no chaperones have been selected. The Intersorority Ball Committee consists of the following:

Chairman—Margaret Herr, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Orchestra—Paulene Eiler, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Decorations—Lois Husk, Alpha Gamma Delta.

Harwood J. Cranston, '28, formerly with the Egyptian Lacquer Works in Kearney, N. J., has recently moved to 71 Lakeside Drive, Nutley, N. J.

ANNUAL SENIOR HOP TO BE HELD ON MARCH 14

PROMINENT SOCIAL FUNCTION WILL BE HELD IN COLLEGE GYM

Just ten days from today, the class of '31 will present the anual dance staged by the senior class in the Gymnasium. The Senior Hop is sponsored each year by the graduating class of the college for the Allegheny students and their friends. This year, the Senior Hop promises to be the biggest social event of the college year. Not only is a great deal of time and work being put on the decorations for the dance, but one of the best orchestras in this part of the country has been obtained to play for the affair.

The committee was successful in engaging "Doc" Perkins and his Iowans to present the music on March 14th from 7:45 until 11:45. This orchestra makes a specialty of the slow, softer arrangements of the popular dance tunes, though by way of versatility, plays many special arrangements of the old favorites. The members of the orchestra have the ability to turn comedians, as will be shown in their novelty numbers. The orchestra also has in its midst a trio of singers that have been acclaimed wherever "Doc" and his band have played. "Doc" is found at the bass section of his orchestra, and is one of very few orchestra leaders that handles his band from that section. Tall, likable Tommy Flynn, who is a past master with the baton, leads the band personally.

The decorations committee has been working for several weeks planning to make the college gymnasium look like a ball-room. The plans of the committee have not been made known but with Miss Lorraine Weeks at the head of a committee composed of Miss Sarah McElhiney, Miss Louise Anderson, Mr. Paul Younger and Mr. Guilford Jones, the best decorations possible to have can be expected.

Mr. Burdette Barris, as the committee on chaperones has announced that Dr. and Mrs. Akers and Dr. and Mrs. Darling have been asked and have consented to be the guests of the Senior class that night.

Tickets for the dance have been printed and are now on sale and may be obtained from any member of the Senior Hop Committee. There is one member of the committee from each fraternity house and three representatives in Hulings Hall. The Senior Hop Committee is composed of the following members: Mr. Robert Burr, Chairman; Miss Lorraine Weeks, Miss Louise Anderson, Miss Sarah McElhiney, Mr. Paul Younger, Mr. Irwin Winter, Mr. Guilford Jones, Mr. Robert Faring, Mr. Burdette Barris, Mr. William Seltzer, and Mr. William Duncan. Tickets may be bought from any of these committee members at the price of three dollars.

With the interest that is already being shown by the student body, this year's senior class dance should be the outstanding social event of the year 1930-1931. With the excellent band that has been engaged, the promises of the committee on decorations and attractive programs, this dance will no doubt draw a greater crowd than any formal party held at Allegheny in years.

Wharton Plummer, '84, Chicago Lawyer, Dies In Oak Park, Illinois

Mr. Wharton Plummer, Class of 1884, died at West Suburban Hospital, Oak Park, Ill., at 1:15 p. m., February 23, 1931. He is survived by two sons, Wharton, Jr., of Drexel Hill, and Richard, of Pittsburgh, and one daughter, Jean, who is the wife of Captain W. R. McKay, Fort Sheridan, Ill. He was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. Services were held at Osgood Funeral Chapel in Oak Park, on February 25, and burial took place in Mr. Plummer's boyhood home town, Hollidaysburg, Penna.

Mr. Plummer was 68 years old, an attorney in Chicago since 1886, and at his death a member of the law firm of Todd and Plummer. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American War.

Mr. C. P. Warner, ex-'92, of Chicago, in writing to the Alumni Office regarding Mr. Plummer's death said: " . . . . . one of Allegheny's most loyal alumni. During twenty years of friendship, I have never known him to turn down an appeal for Allegheny. . . . He was busy, in court and out, with numerous cases for the Board of Education of the City of Chicago."

THE CRITIC

In the March issue of The Literary Magazine there appears under the head "Post Mortem" a supposed criticism, written by a member of our faculty, of the December issue of that publication, which wanders away from its objective by attacking The Campus. To the "casual reader," in which class the writer obviously places himself, a few of the points of his criticism are justified if he is prone to cast aside the main purpose of the paper itself, and the extent of the field in which it circulates. For the writer's benefit, as well as for the general information of those who are inclined to be less cynical, it is necessary that exception be taken to this criticism.

The writer states that "it seems the fate of Allegheny publications to go unread, at least by a good majority of the undergraduates." In this statement it is assumed, of course, that the word read is taken literally as regards the perusal of a newspaper. The critic has been laboring under a grave misapprehension on this point, for from conversation with the undergraduate readers of The Campus, which is one of the publications referred to, and from criticisms, pro and con, which are received each week from them, no one is better abe to judge the extent to which a paper is being read than the editor and his staff.

The Asides column of last year which seems to have aroused so much interest was unique, partly due to the fact that a few were able to understand it. Dudley Michael is gone. It is not a common occurrence that we have in our midst a writer of his ability, and it seems only logical that no column of his kind would be better than a poor imitation.

It might be well to remember that The Campus is a weekly newspaper published by, and for, Alleghenians—not for the undergraduates, the faculty, nor the alumni as separate units. To fulfill its purpose The Campus intends to print items of interest to each of these so-called divisions, yet of general interest to all Alleghenians. Dull events are frequenly reviewed in the paper, but such items serve as no basis for harsh criticism for they merely portray the life on our campus. Due to lack of support when it comes to releasing advance information, and due to the fact that seven days elapse between issues, it is impossible to produce The Campus without including in its columns some items which might seem to be a week old, or older; but, it is essential to remember that what is old material to some is real news to others.

The essence of the criticism concerning the editorial work done to appease the great god Activity is justified on the grounds that such activity is nothing more than the inevitable outgrowth of existing conditions and circumstances. No provision is made for training those who are interested in journalism. All editorial work is the result of personally acquired ability, usually gleaned from the scanty suggestions of a predecessor in that field. Furthermore, during the period of three years in which a competitor shows his initiative to pick up threads, here and there, of newspaper work, during which time he is not task driven, he receives no compensation and no scholastic credit for his work. If such initiative is drawn forth by activity honors alone, then the activity is a necessary god for Allegheny, for without it there must be an entire change in the publications policy of the school, or no publication at all.

The Campus staff is continually endeavoring to accomplish its purpose as a college weekly with the material and inadequate facilities to which they have access. Just criticism might better be directed at these underlying factors, rather than to the superficial make-up of any issue of the publication.

STATISTICS

Statistics recently published show that while in 1928, 58% of the money presented as gifts or bequests to various kinds of institutions by wealthy Americans went to schools and colleges, in 1930 this percentage had dwindled to 48%. Taking in account the fact that there is such a great number of other deserving agencies such as hospitals, public homes and various charities, this decrease does not show alarming propensities. Indeed, it appears remarkable that practically 50% of such gifts find their way to various schools and colleges. In Allegheny, a complete and thorough education survey was made of the college last year. One of the most interesting facts uncovered was that while the term fee per student is now $300, the actual expenditure for each student is approximately double that sum. Such a statement is of practical value to the student body for it presents with remarkable clarity the fact that those men and women enrolled here at Allegheny are taking advantage of an outstanding bargain. Were it not for the recent substantial gifts to Allegheny, Arter and Caflisch Halls would not be constructed and the library would not now be in the process of enlargement and beautification. It is worthwhile to publish such statistics for they not only suffice to satisfy the customary American's curiosity for figures but also serve to heighten the student's appreciation for the school or college which he is attending.

Alumni Notes

"Sketch of William C. Deming, president of the United States Civil Service Commission, and his work in Wyoming, by William E. Chaplin, former editor, Laramie Republican," is the inscription on the title page of an attractive booklet that recently came to the Alumni Office. The ten pages give a deailed, intimate, and rather thrilling account of the life of this Alleghenian of the class of 1890, from the time when he made a "combined pleasure and business trip to the Rocky Mountain west in March, 1901" from Warren, Ohio, to size up the newspaper situation in Cheyenne, Wyoming. The result of this trip was that he became the manager of the Wyoming Tribune. Under Mr. Deming's direction this paper became a constructive force for good, for civic improvement throughout the city and state. Mr. Deming's ability for leadership and management was soon recognized and his assistance was willingly given in many enterprizes He entered politics by means of his election to the Wyoming House of Representatives in 1903. He later became a member and president of the board of trustees of the University of Wyoming. In March, 1923, he became president of the United States Civil Service Commission, a position once held by Theodore Roosevelt. He is the author of a number of publications which have been widely read.

This brief review of Mr. Chaplin's sketch of Mr. Deming's life in Wyoming does not do it justice, of course, but it is enough to convince Mr. Deming's friends that Mr. Chaplin speaks but modestly when he says, "William C. Deming is entitled to a place among those who have done big things for Wyoming".

He was in Europe on Rotary business two years ago and was also at the Chicago International last summer. Wilbert Hewit, '05, presented the wheel to Mr. Cullum in behalf of his rotary associates.

Ursinus College is to have a new science building as the result of several large contributions by Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Philadelphia publisher. His latest gift, a sum of $100,000, makes a total of $350,000 that he has given to the institution. Some of the features of the new science building that will be constructed in his honor are a lecture room which will seat 436 persons, and a floor space of 50,000 sq. ft. in the building.

President Walter D. SCHOLASTIC RECORD—First Term 1930-31

Society

Social activities of the past week-end were dominated by the Women's Student Senate dance in Cochran Hall on Friday evening. The Olympians presented an unusually excellent program of special and straight numbers. Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Psi entertained on the following evening with chapter parties. Two fraternities, Phi Gamma Delta and Delta Tau Delta formally initiated during the week-end. Phi Delta Theta and Delta Tau Delta will entertain guests at regular chapter parties on Saturday evening. Social events booked for the near future include the Senior Hop on the fourteenth of this month, featuring "Doc" Perkins and his orchestra, the Freshman Frolic, an innovation in the social program with the Alleghenians furnishing the music, and the Inter-sorority Ball on the following evening.

DELTA TAU DELTA

Alpha chapter of Delta Tau Delta held its initiation banquet beginning at six fifteen o'clock Saturday evening, February 28. The dinner was served at the chapter house, with Professor H. T. Lavely acting as toastmaster. Judson Liebendorfer, of Ellwood City; Claude George, of Vandergrift; Larue Smith, of Niagara Falls; Frank Helfrich, of Titusville; James Swartzwelder, of Connellsville; John Engroff, of Pittsburgh; Harry Thomas, of Bellevue; and Richard Underwood, of Knox, were the newly initiated members. Guests were the Messrs. Allen Munhall, Cleveland; C. S. Kofford and William Gates, Oil City; Harold Kelly, Sandusky, Ohio; Mr. Derbler, Apollo; Howard Hobaugh, Fulton Moore, Marvin Kerr, and Ronald Gregg, of Butler; Stetson, of Titusville; Wesley Best, S. C. Bolard, Phillips, R. A. Cox, Gordon Leberman, William McGill, Arthur Ellis, and Donald Leslie, all of Meadville.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

Phi Gamma Delta announces the initiation of the following men: John A. Myers, Pittsburgh; Cecil Eugene Bartholomew, Ashtabula, Ohio; Edward Ernest Kemble, Erie; Jack Denton Utley, Tarentum; Robert Noyes Palmer, Jamestown, N. Y.; and Manson Francis Brown, Warren. Guests entertained by the chapter over the week-end were the Messrs. William Shaffer, of Braddock; Ralph Marshall, New Wilmington; Paul Reynolds, Meadville, and Edward Stewart, of Meadville.

PHI KAPPA PSI

Phi Kappa Psi saw February out and March in with a chapter party held on Saturday evening, February 28, at the chapter house. Maurice Lord and his orchestra furnished the music, having a very complete repertoire of popular rythmic melodies. Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Darling were the chaperones, and guests of the fraternity at the party were Mr. Ralph Grimm and Mr. William Green.

WOMEN'S SENATE DANCE

With the social season of Allegheny slowly getting into swing, the Student Government Dance was presented by the 'Hulingites' last Friday evening in Cochran Hall. The dance, which lasted from 7:45 until 11:45 p. m. was a complete success.

Kress' Olympians furnished the music which was well received. A large crowd was present as was evidenced by those in attendance. It is estimated that over 100 couples attended the affair. Refreshments of punch and cakes were served. The dance was chaperoned by Dean Bowie and Mr. Boettcher.

BETA KAPPA

Beta Kappa's Color Carnival was held at the chapter house on Saturday evening, February 28. An atmosphere of gaiety prevailed at this colorful chapter party, due to the profusely scattered, multi-colored decorations and the happy harmonies of the Highlanders. Chaperones were Miss Bowie and Mr. H. F. Boetcher, Miss Sarah Virginia McAuley, of Tarentum, Miss Beatrice Heberlein and Miss Jane Carpenter, both of Erie, Mr. Gerald Walters, of Tarentum, and Mr. Ronald Gregg, of Butler, were the fraternity's guests.

About three hundred and eighty deans of women attended the convention.

Allegheny friends of Roy Mellon, '16, will be pleased to know that he has recently received an advancement in position. He has been appointed City Chemist for the city of Youngstown, Ohio. After Mr. Mellon completed his work at Allegheny he went to Ohio State University for graduate study and since 1919 has been employed by the Water Company in Youngstown. He is a member of Alpha Chi Rho and Alpha Chi Sigma.

DEBATERS WIN

attention was that woman suffrage was secured by women who had emerged from the home.

Miss Mary Wiley, third debater for Waynesburg, attempted to show that emergence had a bad effect on society and the home. Miss Wiley brought forth the idea that where both husband and wife work, the husband loses his sense of responsibility, and the family fails to be the stimulus for him that it should be.

Miss Wiley quoted an authority who said that the marriage of a man and an emerged woman is a mere sex adventure in which children are a bother. It was also pointed out that during the past few years illiteracy has increased only three per cent in families where the husband alone worked, while it increased sixteen per cent in the other type of family.

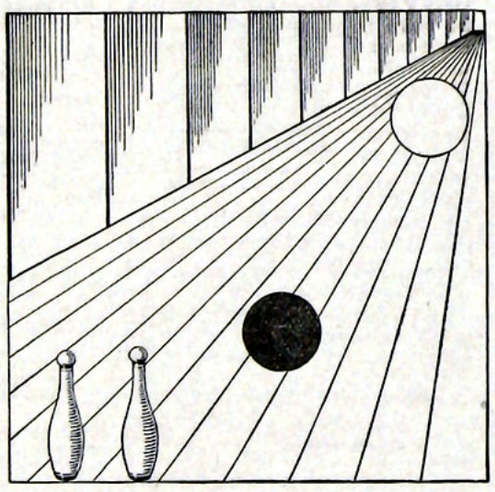

Outstanding for Allegheny was the work of Miss Vera Dawson, who defended emergence on the basis that the emerged woman makes a contribution to the home which the unemerged woman is unable to make. Miss Dawson prefaced her constructive speech with a few words of rebuttal in which she repeated statements of President Hoover that the health of American families was never better, that more homes are owned, that more children are going to college.

Miss Dawson listed the needs of the home which a woman should fill, and by several well chosen illustrations she showed just how an emerged woman is better able to fill these needs. The needs were given as: material needs, cultural needs, moral needs. The emerged woman, she said, can better supervise the material needs and can supply them if necessary. The emerged woman, with her many contacts, make the better cultural adviser. The mother whose interests are in the big world will make a better moral adviser. Miss Dawson announced that Allegheny's team was in favor of letting women work in the home, out of the home, or in both.

Allegheny's rebuttal brought out the following: that women are in industry to raise the standards of their families; that if women's health is being ruined by industrial conditions, laws should be passed to correct those conditions; that divorce arises, not from emergence, but from laxity of law; that abolishing emergence would drag the country fifty years backward.

Waynesburg's chief point in rebuttal was that Allegheny's illustrations were taken chiefly from the eight per cent of emerged women engaged in professions, rather than from the ninety-two per cent in unskilled labor.

The judges were Mr. Lowell and Mr. Crowell, of Erie, Pa., and Mr. Buckley, of Sharon. Miss Bowie, Dean of Women, presided. The Waynesburg debaters were accompanied by Miss Brock.

ALLEGHENY PASSERS DEFEATED BY BETHANY AND GENEVA TEAMS

Blue and Gold Basketeers Continue Losing Streak in Games During Past Week

BETHANY GAME

A big lead, gained in the opening minutes of play, gave the Bethany Bisons their second victory for the season over the Blue and Gold team. In the first 14 minutes of the game the Bisons broke loose and ran the score to 21-5. At this point the Gators got started, and not only held the Bethany men, but outplayed them.

The Bisons opened the game with an attack so fast and furious that the Alligators were unable to offer much resistance. The Bethany team was "on", not only in the shooting but in every phase of the game. They displayed a passing attack which was exceptionally smooth. They made frequent use of long "blind" passes which usually found a man in the open within easy range of the basket. Their main attack centered around Rush and Telfair, with the other men working the ball down the floor and taking an occasional shot. The Bisons' defense was effective in checking Allegheny's attack, although from time to time the 'Gators broke through for close shots.

During the first ten minutes of the game the 'Gators were completely lost. The Bethany forwards ran circles around them, and time after time Telfair was given easy shots when he stood under or near the basket without an Allegheny player near him. When Bethany had a 17-3 lead, the Alligators began to tighten their defense and get an attack started. From this point the game became interesting. The Bisons found greater difficulty in breaking through to the basket, and the Blue and Gold team began to do some scoring. Had the 'Gators been more accurate in their shooting during the remainder of the game, they would have given the Bethany outfit a real fight; but as it was, they seemed to be playing against luck.

As the game got under way, Telfair made a bucket, which was followed by two more by Rush. Conn started Allegheny's scoring by dribbling under the basket for a two-pointer, but Bethany scored seven points before Conn made good a foul throw. Not until the score was 19-3 did Allegheny get another score, when Dennison took a pass from Kerr and dropped a two-pointer from near the basket.

Brown relieved Conn at center, and started things by intercepting a pass and giving the ball to Garbark, who promptly dropped it through the net. Jenkins, Kerr, and Flading each made a bucket, and Flading added a foul to leave the score 26-9 at the half.

During the second half, the Alligators came back to play some real ball. Kerr, Dennison, and Berger contributed to Allegheny's score, but Rush and Telfair scored for Bethany to bring the score to 31-11. The 'Gators then really got started, and changed the score to 37-26 in a very few minutes, with Kerr, Dennison, Conn, and Berger doing the scoring. With about five minutes to play, the Bisons began to play a safe game, but Garbark and Brown were able to find the basket to add six points before the end of the game. Rush and Lackey also did some scoring for Bethany, and the game ended with the score 45-32.

The outstanding players of the evening were Rush and Telfair. Rush was high man with 18 points, and Telfair was second with 13. There were no outstanding players for Allegheny. After that wild opening quarter the whole team settled down to work, and every man played a good game. Brown came thorugh in fine style by holding Telfair well in check during the second half. Kerr was high man for Allegheny with 10 points, while Garbark was second with 6. In spite of the fact that he had been on the sick list for some time, Capt. Berger played some real ball. Dennison and Conn were valuable for their work in getting the ball and working it down the floor, as well as their scoring ability. In the matter of scoring, the whole team had a bad night. They were able to find the basket only 14 times in 55 shots. The Bisons were better, making good 20 out of 54 shots.

GENEVA GAME

On Friday night Allegheny again lost to the fast-passing Covenanters by a six-point margin, 28-34, at Beaver Falls. The Alligators had a decided edge over the Geneva quint until two of the Blue and Gold's main cogs, Berger and Dennison, were removed by the personal foul route. From this point the Covenanters assumed control of the situation, and piled up sufficient points to have a comfortable margin at the end of the game.

Allegheny led Geneva 18-10 at the end of the first half, and had complete mastery of the situation. The smooth passing machine of the Covenanters was completely smothered. But in the last half the 'Gator machine was stopped dead, and by good work at the foul line Geneva was able to cut into Allegheny's lead and, four minutes before the end of the game, stepped into the front.

Dennison and Berger were high scorers for Allegheny, and Montgomery, Manning and Grahame were high point men for Geneva.

Allegheny Will Meet Stiff Opposition In St. Bonaventure Team

The "Campus" is in receipt of a letter from Tom McMahon, Sports Editor of the "St. Bona Venture" in which are some interesting facts concerning Allegheny's opponent of this Friday. If there is any Alleghenian who expects an easy game with St. Bonaventure, let him cast an appraising eye over this. Mr. McMahon says, in part:

"Since Carroll M. Reilly, the present head coach of the team, took charge at the beginning of the 1928-29 season, St. Bonaventure has won 45 of a possible 58 starts. The 1929-30 team numbered among its victims such colleges as Colgate, Brown, Niagara, St. Thomas, Holy Cross, Duquesne, the Crescent A. C. of New York, Ashland, Canisius and others. Due to the recent fire, the schedule for this season has been somewhat curtailed. Bonaventure has succeeded in winning seven of her ten starts. The season record to date is as follows:

St. Bonaventure	45	U. of Toronto	27
" "	49	St. Francis	34
" "	48	Kane Ind.	28
" "	20	Canisius	16
" "	24	Niagara	26
" "	34	St. Vincent	35
" "	44	U. S. Coast G.	16
" "	45	St. Josephs	24
" "	25	St. Thomas	36
" "	42	St. Thomas	22

Games—10. Won—7. Lost—3.

The remaining games on the schedule are as follows:

Sunday, March 1—Canisius, at home.

Friday, March 6—Allegheny, at Meadville.

Sunday, March 8—Niagara, at home.

"I am uncertain as to the starting lineup, but it will probably include Youngblood and Utecht, forwards, Cannon, center, and Levey and Riley, guards. Utecht, who plays mostly at forward, is the team's leading scorer at present with 72 points on 25 field goals and 22 fouls."

A little analysis of that record reveals that one of the losses was by a single point, another by two points, and the third was administered by a team that was decisively defeated shortly after. In all, the Saints look a bit like tough competition.

March Edition of The Literary Magazine Is Distributed Monday

On Monday, March second, the third edition of the Allegheny Literary Magazine was distributed to the students directly after Chapel. This number of the magazine was covered with a pure white folder, upon which the printing was done in brilliant carmine. The contents were divided into the usual sections of Editorials, Fiction, Articles, Features, and Poetry. Many interesting articles appeared in this number including short stories, fish stories, freshman stories, and Hulings stories. The "Huling's Confession", as it might otherwise be named, was especially subject to much discussion both pro and con. Taken altogether, the issue was very well received.

trouble, averred Dr. Page. The substitute which Dr. Page advocated to replace the present policy is: "The government shall endeavor to protect property abroad by conciliation, by League rulings, by all peaceful methods. After all peaceful methods have been tried, the government will do nothing further. The citizens, when they invest money abroad, will be aware of the risk involved and will act accordingly."

The speaker admitted that such a policy as he advocated would involve loss of property. But, he argued, the loss of property will be less than that by war, not to mention the great saving in human life. The length of time it will take the United States to pay for the World War was estimated as 100 years, and the total cost to the American people was placed at $100,000,000,000.

The third step for preventing war was to aid the adoption of machinery for international government. Professors Gooch and Fay were quoted to the effect that no government of Europe wanted the World War, and that the reason they went to war was that they had the machinery of war, and not the machinery of peace.

Dr. Page declared emphatically, "The World Court and League record of the United States is terrible. Unless peace technique is created, war will come. The world must be organized on the basis of peace. The United States must take its share in this work."

QUILL CLUB HOLDS MEETING LAST WEEK

The Quill Club met for the first time this term on February 23 at 8 o'clock in the Quill Room of the library. Dr. Julian Ross was unable to preside over the meeting due to illness, and Miss Sullivan took charge of the meeting. The topic for discussion Monday evening was "The Evolution of the Detective Story" on which the following members gave excellent paper talks:

Anne Gilmore—Conan Doyle and Edgar Allen Poe as Pattern Makers.

Charlotte Merwin—The Tale of Horror.

Ruth Birkner—Devices of the Detective Story.

The Allegheny Alumni Club of Jamestown, New York, held a dinner and evening meeting at The Dellwood on February 19. Covers were laid for nineteen Alleghenians. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Francis Irvine, '08. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Virgil McConnell, '03; vice-president, Ruth Wood, '23; and secretary-treasurer, Hazel Dickson, '25.
