

DOROTHY WORTHINGTON

NEW YORK

February 11, 1937.

Miss Ida Tarbell,
120 East 19th Street,
New York City.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

I just want to let you know that I am opening my own little office for lectures and radio within a very few days - at 501 Madison Avenue - and that when you are well I am hoping you will drop in and let's have a real talk. I feel confident that I shall be able to get you as many radio appearances as you feel equal to taking on.

My office will be at 501 Madison Avenue, right near Columbia Broadcasting Company - and it will surely be in order by March first - but I hope considerably before that.

I do hope that you are feeling better. You know we want you on the "Magazine of the Air" again - as soon as you are able to make it.

Cordially,

Dorothy Worthington

151 East 49th Street.
Plaza 3-9129.