My dear Miss Tarbell:

Can you come up to our house for supper Sunday evening? We expect to reach home by six o'clock & will doubtless have supper by 6.30 as usual.
I'd like to see Sam's letters & prospects again, if you still have them & get at a basic understanding - I mean a mutual understanding - before

I see him.

I hope you will be free to come. If you are not want you please telephone the house about six - or if you should be going out you could telephone anytime & be sure word for us.

Yours faithfully
John S Phillips.

Thanks for your letter of yesterday
