Mr. William C. Lane
Harvard College Library
Cambridge, Mass.

My dear Mr. Lane:

It was very good of you to take the trouble to answer the inquiry that I sent a short time ago to Dean Benedict about a possible letter of letters to the College from President Lincoln at the time that his son Robert was a student.

I thought that there was little hope of finding anything yet I knew it was not impossible there might be some such communication so I ventured to ask you to go to the trouble of looking. I do appreciate your courtesy in satisfying me.

Sincerely yours
