Dear Miss Tarbell:

I am sending you some material that will be self-explanatory. I am by no means sure that you will be disposed to do this work for the Lincoln. Perhaps you will feel that without actual experience in teaching the subjects in the classroom it would require more of your time to do it that you could well spare. If that is so, I shall be glad to arrange with a competent teacher to prepare this supplementary material, but as the volume on School Classics in which these questions would be incorporated is going to press before long - probably before your Lincoln book will be completed - I should like to have the work done at once. We could get it done if we had a list of your selections, so that we knew exactly on what to base the work.

What can you do to help me out?

Sincerely yours,

C. H. Thurber

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
New York City.
