

Delineator

BUTTERICK BUILDING

NEW YORK

EDITORIAL OFFICES

October 13, 1933

Dear Miss Tarbell,

Mr. Graeve and I are completely enthralled with your article on Lincoln. It is splendid. In fact, I shall call you up and tell you so as soon as I have finished this letter.

In his delight, Mr. Graeve, has actually succeeded in stretching the budget and the article is being vouchered for one thousand dollars, and the address on the check is that of your own home. If you want me to change this and to pay you through your agent do please let me know.

It may be that we will ask you for a few additional sentences summarising Mary Todd more fully in her relation to Lincoln. This depends on the title which is yet to be definitely chosen. At present we have called it "The Three Women in Lincoln's Life" - which if retained would need a bit more about Mary Todd. If we give it a title emphasizing Mary Owens, Mary Todd facts would not be necessary. Have you yourself any suggestions for titles?

With highest praise for the Lincoln article and all good wishes to you.

Sincerely yours,

Eleanor Carroll
Associate Editor

Miss Ida M. Tarbell
120 East 19th Street
New York, N. Y.

ec r

