THE BLUE AND GOLD DOWNS WESTMINSTER

A GLORIOUS BATTLE.

Westminster Starts Off to Win, but Fails to Keep Pace With Allegheny's Marvellous Spurt—A Significant Exhibition of Clean, Fast Sport—Final Score 21-13.

Closed on the stroke of the half hour after ten Friday night the old college bell sent the news ringing out over the expectant city that Allegheny's five had won the game and humbled Westminster. The excited voices of the hurrying spectators and the monster demonstration of the student-body later in the evening, are all witnesses to the fact that staid old Allegheny was stirred to its very heart by her team's great victory. All the different avenues of college life and interest seemed suddenly to have merged into one broad, bright high-way of patriotic enthusiasm. Saturday morning every face on the campus was brighter for the victory of the night before. Friends seemed dearer, and enemies almost friends in the warm atmosphere of general rejoicing. The old students found a renewed interest awaiting them in the lecture rooms and a stronger love for the alma mater enshrined in their hearts when they came to blend their voices in the chapel service and the new sons and daughters realized as never before the high privilege which is theirs as fellow students. The supreme interest of the game so dimmed any thing, which at ordinary times might have proved itself a bore, that all united in placing the evening at the head of all enjoyable evenings. The band was missed, the score boards were sought in vain, the game didn't begin until very late, but when once the playing started, band, score boards, and the tiresome delay were all forgotten in the whirl and rush of the game. The Westminster men played with terrific energy, and for a time, carried all before them in their mad rushes. Four points were theirs before Allegheny scored. They were in perfect condition and appeared well able to hold the pace, which seemed too fast to allow of the hope that the local men could surpass it. But a team through whose veins the blue blood of Allegheny courses can always be depended upon for one last heroic, heart-breaking, supreme effort. In the first half their endurance and skill seemed taxed to the utmost. Hair dark with perspiration and temples throbbing with the rush of blood from straining hearts, it seemed impossible that they still had reserves of strength and speed, yet such was the case. When called upon in the second half by every loyal son of the college to win, they responded in a manner that brought the crowd on its feet to a man in enthusiastic recognition of their consummate skill as players and unsurpassed endurance as men.

The game was won and the amateur team had proved itself the equal of Allegheny's old veterans. It was one of the cleanest games ever played on the local floor. The conduct of the team was above reproach and that of the visitors equally commendable. Two accidents, due to the unavoidable roughness of so fast a game, occurred in the second half.

Glessey got a bad blow in the mouth which could only be called accidental, by a gentlemanly blindness on Allegheny's part, but Comfort's bad bump against the iron pipes at the end of the gymnasium was, undoubtedly, purely a mishap. Aside from these two incidents the game was without an objectionable feature.

The work of the individual players was of such a uniformly high grade of excellence that it is impossible to point out any one man as the bright particular star of the team. Great things are always expected of the veteran Comfort and he seldom disappoints his admirers. If what we

PREPS LOSE GAME ON FOREIGN FLOOR

A ROUGH AND EXCITING CONTEST
Erie Y. M. C. A. Defeats the Prep. Five—The Score 24 to 14.

"Like so many mice in a cheese box" remarked someone as twenty-nine loyal Alleghenians entered Erie's decidedly small gym and watched the preliminary between "The Forty" and the "All Stars," two local teams in Erie, Saturday night.

At promptly 8:15 the game of the evening was called. Twenty Preparatory students, enthusiastic and full of the loyalty and spirit that brought such a delegation to the front, took up their position on the side lines and yelled themselves hoarse. Until the very last minute of play this patriotic bunch hurled defiant cheers at the large representation of Erie rooters.

The game started with a rush and was to all intents and purposes a scramble. Occasionally an Erie man would rise from the seething mass of arms and legs and drop in a basket. The small gym and the numerous posts, as well as the entirely new style of playing served at first to confuse the Preparatory team. The half ended 19-4 favor of Erie.

In the second half the team began to get used to their limitations and out-played the heavy Erie aggregation. The team work was excellent. The half ended 10-5 favor of the Preps. Final score 24 to 14.

All through the game our men were at a disadvantage through the fearful and wonderful construction of the basket and backboards. Altogether the first game of the Prep team on a foreign floor was most creditable. The defeat was due not to inferior playing, but to unfavorable conditions. Meanwhile we all wait eagerly for February 2, when Erie comes here.

The Prep. team starred, each man in his own position. The following was the line-up:

QUILL CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

IN FIRST M. E. CHURCH PARLORS.

Program Takes Form of a Modern Edition of the Spectator.

The Quill Club held a very profitable meeting last Thursday evening in the Methodist Episcopal church parlors.

The program was in charge of Prof. Brown, who in a delightfully clever way introduced the different speakers of the evening as the various departments of a modern edition of the famed "Spectator." Mr. Robertson and Mr. Darrow read editorials, Miss Cousins a poem, while Miss Spaulding and Mr. Jones had charge of an excellent "funny column." The idea was unique, and well executed, resulting in a program of unusual merit. Mr. W. P. Sturtevant will be in charge of the next meeting of the club.

THE GOVERNMENT OF THIS PUBLICATION

AS FINALLY AGREED UPON.

Articles of Agreement as Adopted in Final Form by a Representative Committee From Student-body and Faculty.

The various questions connected with the government of this publication in its administrative details have at last been settled to the general satisfaction of all concerned. A representative committee from student-body and faculty, called together before the Christmas recess, have for two months been hard at work solving the knotty problems which confronted them. The duties and powers of the editor-in-chief and his staff, the method whereby the staff is to be annually chosen, together with many less important matters of dispute, have been investigated pretty thoroughly and it seems probable that the solutions finally arrived at will prove satisfactory for many years to come. The Articles of Agreement, as finally amended and adopted by the committee are as follows:

Articles of agreement governing the Campus adopted January 17, 1906:
ARTICLE I.

Sec. 1. The editorial staff of the Campus shall consist of an editor-in-chief, an associate editor, an athletic editor, a literary editor, a local editor, an alumni editor, and an exchange editor.

Sec. 2. The editor-in-chief shall have full power over the matter and make-up of the paper, and direct responsibility therefor. He shall keep an accurate record of assignments made to his staff, and of the promptness with which such assignments are carried out. He shall keep three files of the Campus in which he shall mark with an appropriate symbol, agreed upon by the executive committee, the matter furnished each week by each competitor. He shall preserve in suitable envelopes, one for each com-

Entered as Second-Class matter October 30, 1904, at the Postoffice at Meadville, Pa., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

With college athletics for Friday's mally arraigned before Game. the great bar of public opinion under charges of a serious and significant nature, it is only natural that to the intelligent college man each succeeding athletic contest at which he is a spectator, should have a new and forceful meaning. Whether he express his opinion openly or not, he must in his own mind form a pretty definite personal idea of the evils and benefits, the failures and possibilities, of modern college athletics. He is compelled, for his own satisfaction, at least, to weigh the different sides of the question with a view to arriving at a fair, if conservative, judgment on the matter as a whole.

It appeals strongly to us that no thoughtful person could be present at such a game as last Friday's without coming away with a shade more of optimism and good hope regarding the future of our college sports. True, the game was no parlor exhibition. It was fast and furious from the start. The marring hand of the petty, effeminate whistle-blow was absent. Not the letter, but the spirit of the game, was the official creed, but this creed was adhered to with a decisive firmness that won the admiration of players and spectators alike. The sportsmanlike spirit which seemed to take its initiative from the two excellent officials, quickly spread to the players and to the crowd itself. The two centers faced each other with smiles, not scowls, before the throw of the ball; and the galleries, while applauding wildly in their intense excitement, never seemed to forget that they were watching a friendly contest and not a hostile engagement. All puerile expressions of disapproval were shouted down as soon as uttered, and good humor reigned supreme. And when at last Captain Comfort, having been cruelly bruised by what many considered a malicious act on the part of an opposing player, extended a gentlemanly hand to the offender, the building fairly rang with cheers and shouts of approbation.

It is such games as this that do much to foster in our college and all the colleges of our country the true sportsmanlike spirit that constitutes our highest athletic ideal. These are games at which no one can be present without feeling the better and broader for having seen them. Let us do all in our power to have in the future many more such clean, honorable contests on both gym floor, diamond and gridiron. They mean much for us.

The success of the college banquet on February 22 and 23nd. depends almost entirely upon the "stunts" performed by the separate college classes. In order to secure the best results preparations should be under way at an early date. A month is none too long a time to enable a class to thoroughly master a half dozen songs and as many wonderful linguistic creations called, for want of a better name, yells. The class presidents would do well to appoint their committees for the different features of the banquet at once. This most popular of Allegheny customs is too important to be neglected in the least particular.

THE BLUE AND GOLD DOWNS WESTMINSTER.

hear is true and he finishes his work here this semester, Allegheny will miss him sorely. Rossiter fully lives up to all that is demanded of a seasoned Allegheny player. Mason, although a new man on the local floor, is certainly making an enviable record for himself. Giesey bids fair to be a rival of Big Chief Lewis and Ferry is in class with McArthur. Their ability is no longer a matter of question; in the lime-light of a critical and exacting college, they have proven themselves worthy of their positions.

In the first half Rossiter was the only man on the local team who could hit the basket right, and he did it four times; but every player was in the game all the time and helped to win each basket. Allegheny got the best of it on fouls; but Comfort caged only one. Elliott, because of his great height, was able to score three goals on Ferry, who, by the way, has been unusually lucky this season in preventing his man from scoring. Deevers secured a field goal and one foul and Lambie added four more points, making the total 13 to Allegheny's 9.

Four points never looked larger than to the anxious crowd during the intermission, but at the beginning of the second half Allegheny took the lead and held it to the end. Giesey and Ferry changed positions and by this shift undoubtedly strengthened the defensive playing of the team. After ten minutes of play, Elliott went in at center against Comfort and Marks went to left forward. Comfort quickly took advantage of this change and threw two baskets. Mason also threw two and Rossiter added one more to his record in the first half. The two fouls thrown in this half raised the score to an even dozen. Westminster did not make a point in this half and the game closed with the score 21 to 13.

COMING ENTERTAINMENT

Under Auspices of Mission Study Class—Excellent Program Being Arranged.

During the third week of February under the direction of the Mission Study Class an entertainment will be given in the college chapel. The program will be miscellaneous consisting of selections from the Ladies' Glee Club, the College Mandolin Club, the male quartette and the College Band. Besides the above there will be a vocal solo by Miss Stolzenbach, a Japanese song by Mr. Yoshima, of the Preparatory School; a violin solo by Miss Beebe and a reading by Miss Mary McLaughlin. Other numbers will be added later. The admission will be twenty-five cents, proceeds to go toward a fund which is being raised to send delegates to a Missionary Convention to be held in Nashville, Tenn., during the latter part of next month.

NOTICES.

Classical Club will hold a regular meeting this evening in the Classical Room of the College Library at seven p. m. The principal paper will be read by Miss McAllister on "The Early Dress of Grecian Women."

The Campus Committee will meet on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock in the Chapel Oratory to discuss the organization of a College Council.

Mr. Curtis, an alumnus of Syracuse, has sent the university two collections of rare old coins presented to him by a Jewish Shlek.

The Alumni of Syracuse plan to donate their Alma Mater with an auditorium costing $250,000.

THE LITERARY MONTHLY.

The current number of the Literary Monthly shows steady improvement over the previous issues. The make up and quality of material shows faithful work on the part of the board.

"The Blackmailer," by H. K. Dennis, is one of the best stories that has appeared for some time. Mr. Dennis' work is always marked with originality and cleverness. There is a smack of local color about "The Blackmailer" that makes it especially interesting.

Mr. Sturdevant's love story has a good plot and is worked out well. Miss Adams has a neat story entitled "The Metamorphosis of Slats."

Another excellent article is contributed by R. R. Russell. It shows the work of one understanding and keenly interested in the subject. The sketch is entitled "Duke, the Blue Blooded Setter." Mr. Taft's second installment of "A Story of Napoleon," is a fit follower for the first part. It is noted with interest that the story will continue for some time.

Other articles worthy of honorable mention are "Ole Simon Peter," and "An Excursion Trip to Luray Caverns." Several short sketches do much to enhance the appearance of the magazine.

THE GERMAN CLUB.

The German Club held its first meeting after the holiday vacation on last Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 p. m. Although the attendance was small, the meeting was exceptionally interesting.

Prof. Francis A. Christie, of the Unitarian Theological School, read an exhaustive paper on Germany and her language, which was masterful and scholarly. His paper was highly appreciated. Mr. Henry Sartoris, an artist of the city, was also present and gave a short talk in German. Dr. Mulfinger stated that at the next meeting, which will be announced later, an excellent literary and musical program will be given. German games will be played and German refreshments served. These meetings are very helpful as well as entertaining and every student interested in German should take advantage of them.

Y. W. C. A.

Miss Batty, state secretary of the Y. W. C. A., visited the local association last week. Thursday evening she led the devotional services, giving a short talk on the city and industrial work.
