

1542.0192
46. n. d.
1444 ST. JAMES COURT

LOUISVILLE, KY.

Wed. 5th Oct.

Julie dear -

I hope this will welcome you when you reach Lexington.
Cec sent a note to Mr. Desha Breckinridge, the editor, who knows every body in and around Lexington, and he answered that he would be delighted to give you some points about people.
Dr. McVey, pres. of the University of Ky. is soon away, but B. will send the Dean to see you.
Let me know as soon as you know the day you are coming to Louisville, and we will either come up or send the car for you. We are both very anxious to come as the country will be so pretty, and I think it will do me good if I can get a little stranger by that time - I am Even so much better, and able to get out every day.

Cec, too, is better, but should he not feel well on the day you are to come, he will not risk the long ride. I am writing you this in advance so you will know when the time comes.

My chauffeur, Grady, will call for you at the Lafayette as soon as he reaches there, say about 12 o'clock. Then you can tell him how soon after lunch you can start back, so you can get here for early dinner. This is all in case, one of us or both of us, do not come for you. But I am eagerly counting on coming's every day but Tuesday the 11th will suit. I have an important Cabbage Plot Settlement meeting that afternoon. But it does not suit you to come, come right, on any day, (or sooner or later, it's all right with us.)

Yours as always,

Reverend