Dear Miss Tarbell:

We are planning to use your Lincoln pilgrimage article on June 20, and there are a couple of questions which have come up. We cannot identify New Salem, Massachusetts, as a landing place. There is a Salem on the coast, and I have been told there is a New Salem far inland, although I have not been able to identify the last named spot. Can you clear this up?

On page 9 you mentioned Redding. This is not the present Redding, is it?

If there are any changes in the pilgrimage plans, I trust you will let me know.

Sincerely yours,

G. H. Copeland
