My dear Mr. Lamb:

Maureis

One of my friends is trying to arrange for Andre' Maureis, the French writer, to see something of life in New York City. Mr. Maureis has mentioned among other things in which he is interested the Negro and my friend was asking what suggestions I could make. I made only one, and that is that if you were willing to give me the address of that distinguished colored minister whom I met in your studio a few months ago - I had come to look at the window in which he was so deeply interested - I might get permission for a meeting. I knew it would be worth Mr. Maureis' while for the man evidently was unusually intelligent.

Would you be willing to give me his name and address so that I could see that a meeting is arranged.

I hope, dear Mr. Lamb, I am not imposing upon your good will in asking this.

Very sincerely yours

Mr. Chas. R. Lamb
