

CLARK H. GETTS

WALDORF-ASTORIA HOTEL • NEW YORK CITY

November 7, 1936.

Miss Ida Tarbell,
120 East 19th Street,
New York.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

The Heinz people are so delighted that you are going to speak on the "Magazine of the Air" - and today at a meeting they asked "Why can't we have Miss Tarbell tell us more about herself (following mor or less the biographical notes you gave me in your letter) instead of reading a more formal script?"

You said in your note to me - "I am 79 years old, and does that interest you?" It certainly does!

I clipped a newspaper story about you recently which told about your forthcoming books. You are accomplishing more than almost anyone I know. How do you do it? So many people feel today that the world is for the "Young". Won't you tell us honestly about the richness of your life?

Have you a copy of the biographical notes you sent me? Would you like me to drop in and talk with you about this? I'll be glad to do anything I can to make this easier for you.

Cordially,

Dorothy Worthington

Dorothy Worthington
For - CLARK H. GETTS