Dear Miss Bache:

I am writing a note to Mrs. Meloney asking if she would like to consider this article. She is so busy that I did not want to trouble her if she had already done something on the subject.

You are good enough to say that you will have the article copied so I am returning it enclosed.

I have changed the reference to camps to clubs. The Post seemed to think that I had been guilty of a major crime in referring to camp in an article which they expected to use in October. So we won't run that list with another editor!

As soon as you send back the article with corrections I shall get in touch with Mr. Chenery.

Faithfully yours
